

Colorado Farm Fresh

Your guide to Colorado farmers' markets, roadside stands, u-picks and agritourism activities

WELCOME!

CELEBRATING 25 YEARS!

The Colorado Department of Agriculture is pleased to present the 25th Anniversary edition of the Colorado Farm Fresh Directory, your complete guide to farmers' markets and roadside stands in the state. It is our pleasure to help you locate fresh, locally-grown fruits and vegetables, along with other farm products.

This year's Farm Fresh Directory is the biggest ever and lists more than 240 farms, roadside stands, CSAs and u-picks and features 110 farmers' markets across Colorado. These farms and farmers' markets feature the highest-quality, Colorado-grown produce. Inside you will also find information about county fairs, agricultural festivals, extension offices as well as a crop calendar.

The directory also features agritourism information such as corn mazes, wineries, and farm/ranch vacations. Our goal is to encourage residents and visitors to experience Colorado agriculture. We hope you find this directory helpful and use it throughout the year.

In addition to the numerous farms and farmers' markets listed in this directory, the Colorado Department of Agriculture would like to acknowledge the following organizations for their generous support of Farm Fresh:

Colorado Apple Administrative Committee, Colorado Farmers' Market Association, Colorado Fresh Markets, Colorado Wine Industry Development Board, Delta County Tourism, Metro Denver Farmers' Market, Mile High Marketplace, Miller Farms, Rock Creek Farm and Royal Crest Dairy.

Colorado State University Extension for contribution of information and assistance in publicizing and distributing this directory.

Colorado's many libraries, welcome centers, chambers of commerce and private businesses who helped get this directory into your hands.

Using this Directory

Farm Fresh listings are organized by five major regions of the state: Denver Metro Area, Northeast, Southeast, Southwest and Northwest. Within each region, farms and markets are listed alphabetically by county.

Farmers' markets are identified with a special icon , and there is also a separate listing of farmers' markets at the center of the book (44-45).

Farms that are currently certified as organic are marked with this icon .

Wineries and tasting rooms are marked with  icon, and farms and ranches with a  icon offer agricultural tours. Suppliers of two highly-requested seasonal items, pumpkins  and Christmas trees , are also marked with special icons.

Every effort has been made to locate farms and farmers' markets that sell direct to the public. If you know of an outlet that we have missed, please contact:

With over 100 years of Colorado fruit growing experience, our fourth generation family farm offers certified organic fruits and fruit products at farmers' markets, at our farm, direct to buyer groups, as fruit shares to other CSA farms and at select retail stores, coops and restaurants. We grow month watering organic peaches, pears, apples, cherries, plums, berries and heirloom tomatoes. We make our own fruit into enticing jams, fruit butters, apple sauces, dried fruit and fruit leathers, and cider. Look for us on Saturdays at the Boulder Farmers' Market, Old Town Fort Collins Farmers' Market, and Golden Farmers' Market. On Sundays find us in Denver at the Old South Pearl St. Farmers' Market, City Park Esplanade (East High School) Farm Market, and Stapleton Farm Market. We sell wholesale to farm stands, stores and restaurants in the Denver/Boulder to Fort Collins area and the I-70 corridor west to Grand Junction. Tips for Picking Colorado Produce

Know what to look for when selecting fresh Colorado produce!

Apples

Choose apples that are firm to the touch, without bruises, with good color and a pleasant smell. Avoid fruit with bruises or broken skin. Apples are sodium free, fat free and a good source of fiber. Most Colorado apples are harvested in September, however you can find them from August through June.

Cantaloupe

Ripe cantaloupe will have a distinctive aroma and the blossom end should yield to gentle pressure. Cantaloupes that were kept on the vine until fully ripe will have a clean depression where the stem was attached. Avoid cantaloupes that are shriveled, bruised or that have punctured or cracked rinds. Cantaloupe are very low in sodium, fat free and are high in Vitamins A and C. Look for ripe Colorado cantaloupe August through mid-October.

Carrots

Carrots should be vibrant orange and well shaped with firm, smooth exteriors. Avoid soft or wilted carrots or those with growth cracks or splits. Carrots are low in sodium, fat free, high in the antioxidant Vitamin A and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado carrots August through November.

Cherries

Look for cherries that are plump with firm, smooth and brightly colored skins. Good quality cherries should have green stems attached. Avoid cherries with blemishes, rotted or mushy skins, or those that are shriveled and dull. Cherries are low in fat, sodium free, a good source of fiber and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado cherries mid-June through mid-July.

Leaf Lettuce

Leaf lettuce should be crisp and well colored. Avoid leaf lettuce with yellow leaves or with leaves showing cracked ribs. Lettuce is fat free, very low in sodium and high in the antioxidant Vitamin A. Look for Colorado leaf lettuce June through October.

Onions

Good quality dry onions should be firm and hard with short, tight necks and dry papery skins. Slightly loose outer skin is common and should not affect quality. Avoid onions that show mold, decay, or blemishes. Onions are fat free, very low in sodium, a good source of fiber and high in the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado onions August through March.

Peaches

Peaches should be picked when the background color (not the red side toward the sun, but the backside of the fruit) has changed from green to white or yellow. If the peaches are to be eaten quickly, the best possible peach is one that has already started to soften on the tree, however, if they are to be stored then they should still be firm, but with the light background color.

Potatoes

All potato varieties should be uniformly sized, fairly clean, firm and smooth. Avoid potatoes with wrinkled skins, soft dark spots, cut surfaces or green appearance. Potatoes are fat free, sodium free, a good source of fiber, high in potassium and high in the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for a variety of Colorado potatoes including Yukon Gold, Russet, Fingerling and Purple year-round.

Sweet Corn

Sweet corn should have fresh green husks with silk ends that are free of decay or worms. Ears should be evenly covered with plump, consistently sized kernels. Avoid corn with discolored or dry-looking husks, stem ends, or kernels. Sweet corn is sodium free, low fat, a good source of fiber and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado sweet corn mid-July through mid-October.

Tomatoes

Tomatoes should have bright, shiny skins and firm flesh. Avoid tomatoes that are soft or mushy, lacking in color, or have blemishes or growth cracks. Tomatoes are low fat, very low in sodium, a good source of potassium and high in antioxidants Vitamins A and C. Look for fresh Colorado tomatoes mid July through mid-October and greenhouse tomatoes year-round.

Watermelon

Choose a symmetrical watermelon that is heavy for its size. Watermelons are fat free, very low in sodium and high in the antioxidants Vitamins A and C. Look for Colorado watermelons August through September.

8 Great Reasons to Buy Local!

1. Enjoy Seasonal Diversity

Experience seasonal and regional favorites such as Palisade Peaches, Rocky Ford Melons and Olathe Sweet Corn!

2. From the Field to Your Fridge

Instead of traveling an average of 1500 miles from the farm to your plate, local produce is harvested and delivered immediately. Spending less time in transport means fresh products that retain more of their nutritional value.

3. Savor the Flavor

Since local products don't need to travel far, produce is allowed to ripen on the trees and in the fields ensuring the best flavor.

4. Support the Local Economy

Buying local maintains jobs, sustains family farms and ranches, and contributes nearly $16 billion to the state economy annually.

5. Learn About Your Food

Local farmers and ranchers are right here in your backyard! They are readily available to answer questions about their fresh products.

6. Preserve Our Heritage

The beauty of farms and ranches enriches the Colorado landscape and supports the state's western heritage.

7. Invest in the Future

Buying local preserves the strength and character of communities for generations to come.

8. Preserve Open Space and Wildlife Habitat

Buying local is better for the environment because it helps keep farms and ranches profitable, thereby maintaining open space and wildlife habitat.

GrassRoots Meats is located in southwestern Colorado, at the base of Wolf Creek Pass in Pagosa Springs. It is owned by Allan and Lois Higgins, residents of the area since 1976. Lisa Hammer, Lois and Allan's daughter, has joined GrassRoots meats to help with sales and shipping. GrassRoots Meats produces all natural, grass-finished beef and lamb raised without added hormones or antibiotics. We are deeply committed to providing the finest quality meat at prices that any family can afford. We work hard to produce the highest quality product - one that we are proud of, and we get a great deal of satisfaction from knowing that our animals are living their lives on lush grasses, moving freely and soaking up the sunshine. These animals are processed by a local packer and are marketed directly to area stores, restaurants and families, as well as shipped and delivered throughout the country. We like to think of the folks who enjoy our meat not as "customers" but as family, friends and neighbors. We hope that once you try our meat you will be glad you got back to your "GrassRoots."

Safe Food Facts for Farmers' Markets

by Colorado State University Extension

Farmers' Market vendors take pride in the quality of the foods they offer.

To enjoy safe and delicious products, here are a few practical tips.

At The Market

- Purchase from vendors that follow safe food handling practices. If samples are provided, make sure they are offered in a clean and sanitary manner.
- If processed foods like salsa and honey are purchased, check to see that they are labeled and processed in a facility that follows Good Manufacturing Practices.
- When buying prepared foods such as hot dogs and potato salad, make sure hot foods are kept hot (above 140°F), cold foods are served cold (below 40°F), and everything is kept clean.
- Ask the vendor for specific handling instructions for the foods you buy. Products may need to be refrigerated, particularly if they contain no preservatives.

On The Way Home

- Make the market the last stop. Don't leave food in the car while you run errands. Bacteria can grow readily at the temperature inside your car or trunk, causing a decrease in quality and safety.
- If you live a distance from the market, bring along a cooler with ice packs to transport perishable items such as fresh, prepared foods and dairy products.

At Home

- Refrigerate or freeze perishable foods immediately.
- Keep raw and processed foods separate.
- Always wash fresh fruits and vegetables just before use.
- If you're planning on canning or freezing your market produce, be sure to follow USDA food preservation guidelines with needed adjustments for altitude.*

Storing

- Most fruits and vegetables store best in the refrigerator at 32 to 40° F.
- Pears keep well at 32°F, but must be taken out to ripen at 65 to 70°F.
- Not all fresh produce stores well together. Apples, tomatoes and melons give off ethylene gas and cause carrots to develop a bitter taste.

Canning

- Fruits, tomatoes and pickled vegetables may be canned in a boiling water bath using USDA recommended processing times.*
- To adjust boiling water bath times for altitude, add 1 minute for each 1,000 feet above sea level if the time is 20 minutes or less. If the processing time is more than 20 minutes, increase by 2 minutes per 1,000 feet.
- Vegetables, meats, poultry and fish (low-acid foods) must be canned in a steam pressure canner at 240°F for the appropriate time to destroy heat-resistant bacteria.*
- When using steam pressure canners at altitude, increase the processing pressure by ½-pound per 1,000 feet above sea level (12.5 lbs for 5,000 feet; 13.5 lbs for 7,000 feet; 15 lbs for 10,000 feet) if using dial gauges. If using a weighted gauge, use the 15-pound weight between 1,000 and 10,000 feet elevation.

*Fact sheets with this information are available through your local Extension Office. They can also be accessed through Food and Nutrition Online Fact Sheets at Colorado State University Extension's website:

What is Organic Certification?

Organic certification means that an independent third party has verified that the requirements of organic production and handling have been met. Under the National Organic Program, all products sold as organic in the United States must be certified by an NOP accredited certification agency.

What is the National Organic Program?

The National Organic Program oversees the United States Department of Agriculture's standard to which all food intended to be sold in the United States as "organic" must be produced.

Who has to be Certified?

Except for businesses indicated as exempt or excluded from certification under the National Organic Program Rules (205.101), all producers and handlers of organic food must be certified.

Exemptions:

- Businesses that sell less than $5,000 of organic products annually.
- Retail food stores.
- Processors whose products contain less than 70% organic ingredients.
- Processors who limit their organic claims to the information panel.

Exclusions:

- Handlers that handle only packaged products.
- Retailers with in-store bakeries, delis, salad bars or ready to eat food.

Who do I contact to find out more about organic certification?

COLORADO APPLE FACTS

"Taking Flavor to New Heights"

-  Colorado's high-altitude apples taste better!!!
Their mile-high flavor consistently wins taste tests in supermarkets and at trade shows.
-  Colorado apples are a powerhouse of nutrition:
A medium apple provides part of your daily requirements for potassium, iron, fiber, Vitamin A, Vitamin C, and important antioxidants--all with less than 80 calories!
-  Pesticide use on Colorado apples is greatly reduced because of natural, high-altitude growing conditions and Integrated Pest Management (IPM) practices. Many apples are being grown completely organically.
-  Apples consumed soon after picking have superior crispness.
-  Premium grade apple varieties include Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, Jonathan, Gala, Fuji, Granny Smith, Jonagold, Cameo, Braeburn, Honeycrisp and Rome. Several other varieties are also produced.
-  Apple production is centered on the Western Slope of the Continental Divide. Over 75% of Colorado's apple crop is produced in Delta County.

Colorado Potato Bacon Chowder

- 1/4 cup Olive Oil
- 10 oz. Applewood Bacon, raw, diced
- 1/2 Tbsp. Fresh Garlic, chopped
- 1 Tbsp. Fresh Shallots, chopped
- 1/2 cup Yellow Onion, diced small
- 1/2 cup Celery with Leaves, diced small
- 3/4 cup Carrot, peeled, diced small
- 1/2 Tbsp. Thyme, dried leaf
- 3 Bay Leaves, broken
- 1-1/2 cups Colorado Russet Potato, diced with skin on
- 1-1/2 cups Colorado Yukon Gold Potato, diced with skin on
- 8 cups Chicken Stock or Broth
- 4 cups Heavy Whipping Cream
- Cornstarch Slurry (equal parts water and cornstarch) as needed
- 2 cups White Cheddar Cheese
- Kosher Salt to taste

Prepare all vegetables as instructed and put aside. Heat large stock pot and add the oil. Sauté the bacon until half cooked, add the garlic and shallots and cook until slightly browned. Add the carrots, celery and onions and sauté until tender then add thyme and bay leaves. Add the potatoes and sauté for approximately 3 minutes. Add the chicken stock and bring to a boil, cook until potatoes are fork tender. Add the heavy cream and bring to a boil, adjust seasoning with the salt and white pepper as needed. Puree half of this mixture using a hand held stick blender; result should produce a very smooth soup with some chunks of potato. Peak to Plains Alliance

Southern Colorado has a rich agricultural history and a promising future. In 1853, the first commercial farming enterprise in Colorado was founded at the confluence of the Arkansas and Huerfano Rivers in present day Pueblo County. Early farms and ranches in the Arkansas and Fountain Creek valleys provided much of the food that allowed Colorado City to become a service town for miners and the first capitol of Colorado Territory.

The Peak to Plains Alliance (PPA) formed as a coalition of community and agricultural leaders in Southeastern Colorado seeking to collaborate on myriad projects related to local agriculture and conservation. PPA strives to increase business for its members and to sponsor joint marketing and educational projects, including tours, pertaining to agriculture, food and working landscapes in Southeastern Colorado.

If you would like to know more about how you can participate by taking a tour, visiting any one of the facilities, or by becoming a member or supporter, please contact us at number or email address below.

Marketing Your Livestock as Processed Meat

In Colorado, there are two types of meat processing facilities. It is important to choose the right type of facility for the manner you wish to market your animal.

United States Department of Agriculture Official Establishment This type of establishment operates under a grant of continuous inspection by the USDA. Meat products produced under inspection can be sold to individuals, restaurants, retail stores, and can be marketed over the internet. The meat products produced in this manner will bear the USDA mark of inspection and will be properly labeled. Keep in mind that these plants may also custom kill animals outside of inspection, so be sure to discuss with the plant operator that you wish to have your animal slaughtered and processed under inspection. For more information regarding the USDA's inspection activities, contact the Food Safety Inspection Service at (303) 236-9800.

Custom Processing Facilities This type of plant must operate in a sanitary manner, and is subject to risk based inspection by the Colorado Department of Agriculture. Custom Exempt plants may only process meat animals for the owner of the animal, and all products produced in this plant must be labeled not for sale. These products may only be consumed by the animal owner or his non-paying guests. If you wish to market your livestock utilizing a custom exempt plant, the animal must be sold while live, and you should provide the plant operator with the name and address of the person(s) purchasing the animal when it is delivered to the plant. For more information regarding custom exempt plants, contact the Colorado Department of Agriculture's Meat Inspection Program at (303) 477-0054.

Better for you. Better for Colorado.
