2013 Colorado Farm Fresh Directory

Your guide to farmers' markets, roadside stands, u-picks, wineries and agritourism activities!

www.coloradoagriculture.com

Welcome!

The Colorado Department of Agriculture is pleased to present the 29th edition of the Colorado Farm Fresh Directory, your complete guide to farmers' markets and roadside stands in the state. It is our pleasure to help you locate fresh, locally-grown fruits and vegetables, along with other farm products.

This year's Farm Fresh Directory is the biggest ever and lists more than 200 farms, roadside stands, Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) programs and u-picks, over 30 wineries and features over 110 farmers' markets across Colorado. These farms and farmers' markets feature the highest-quality, Colorado grown and raised products. Inside you will also find information about county fairs, agricultural festivals, extension offices as well as a crop calendar.

The directory also features agritourism information such as corn mazes, wineries, and farm/ranch vacations. Our goal is to encourage residents and visitors to experience Colorado agriculture. We hope you find this directory helpful and use it throughout the year.

What's New? There are more than 30 new listings this year, so be sure to find them by looking for the "New" icon.

In addition to the numerous farms and farmers' markets listed in this directory, the Colorado Department of Agriculture would like to acknowledge the following organizations for their generous support of Farm Fresh:

Colorado Farmers' Market Association, Colorado Fresh Markets, Colorado MarketMaker, Colorado Wine Industry Development Board, Delta County Tourism, DeVries Produce Stand, Douglas County Farm Bureau, Longmont Dairy Farm, Metro Denver Farmers' Market, Miller Farms, Rock Creek Farm, and Royal Crest Dairy.

Colorado State University Extension for contribution of information and assistance in publicizing and distributing this directory.

Colorado's many libraries, welcome centers, chambers of commerce and private businesses including Royal Crest Dairy and Longmont Dairy Farm who helped get this directory into your hands.

Farms that are currently certified organic are marked with this icon

New listings are marked with icon. Wineries and tasting rooms are marked with icon, and farms and ranches with a icon offer agricultural tours. Suppliers of two highly-requested seasonal items, pumpkins and Christmas trees  $\blacktriangle$ , are also marked with special icons.

Every effort has been made to locate farms, ranches and farmers' markets that sell direct to the public. If you know of an outlet that we have missed, please contact:

There are 3.8 million hens in Colorado producing more than 1 billion eggs every year.

Eggs are a nutrient dense food, containing every major vitamin and mineral except vitamin C. The surface of an egg shell has over 10,000 pores, and there is no nutritional difference between a brown and a white egg.

Our meat is processed by a local USDA packer and marketed directly to the public, both locally and via the internet, as well as to area stores, restaurants and our local farmers' market. ### Marketing Your Livestock as Processed Meat

In Colorado, there are two types of meat processing facilities. It is important to choose the right type of facility for the manner you wish to market your animal.

United States Department of Agriculture Official Establishment This type of establishment operates under a grant of continuous inspection by the USDA. Meat products produced under inspection can be sold to individuals, restaurants, retail stores, and can be marketed over the internet. The meat products produced in this manner will bear the USDA mark of inspection and will be properly labeled. Keep in mind that these plants may also custom kill animals outside of inspection, so be sure to discuss with the plant operator that you wish to have your animal slaughtered and processed under inspection. For more information regarding the USDA's inspection activities, contact the Food Safety Inspection Service at (303) 236-9800.

Custom Processing Facilities This type of plant must operate in a sanitary manner, and is subject to risk based inspection by the Colorado Department of Agriculture. Custom Exempt plants may only process meat animals for the owner of the animal, and all products produced in this plant must be labeled not for sale. These products may only be consumed by the animal owner or his non-paying guests. If you wish to market your livestock utilizing a custom exempt plant, the animal must be sold while live, and you should provide the plant operator with the name and address of the person(s) purchasing the animal when it is delivered to the plant. For more information regarding custom exempt plants, contact the Colorado Department of Agriculture's Meat Inspection Program at (303) 867-9208.

Food Safety Tips for Farmers' Markets

By Colorado State University Extension

Colorado farmers' market vendors take pride in the quality of the foods they offer. To enjoy safe and delicious products, here are a few practical tips.

Select

- Purchase from vendors that follow safe food handling practices. Samples should be provided in a clean and sanitary manner.
- If processed foods are purchased, check to see that they are labeled properly and provide contact information.

Chill

- Foods that need to be refrigerated at home, such as cheese and eggs, should be kept at refrigerated temperatures at the market.
- Make the market the last stop. Don't leave food in the car while you run errands. Bacteria can grow readily at the temperature inside your vehicle or car trunk, causing a decrease in quality and safety. Once at home, refrigerate or freeze perishable foods immediately.
- If you live a distance from the market, bring along a cooler with ice packs to transport perishable items such as prepared foods, leafy greens, and dairy products.
- Most fruits and vegetables store best in the refrigerator at 32 to 40° F.

Wash

- Wash your hands well with soap and water before handling fruits and vegetables. Clean countertops, cutting boards, and utensils with hot soapy water before peeling or cutting produce.
- Bacteria from the outside of raw produce can be transferred to the inside when it is being cut or peeled. Always wash fresh fruits and vegetables before use.
  - Scrub tough produce (melons, potatoes, and carrots) with a clean firm brush under cold running water.
  - Placing cantaloupe in a colander in your sink as you clean with a brush under running water will make it easier to handle.
  - Keep unwashed melon rinds and fruit peels away from edible or washed portions of fruit.
  - When washing hot peppers, wear gloves and keep hands away from eyes and face.
  - Wash berries right before use but separate and discard spoiled or moldy fruit before storing.
  - Rinse leafy vegetables under plain cold water, leaf by leaf.
  - Immerse fresh herbs in a clean bowl filled with water and dry with paper towels.
- Separate washed and unwashed produce as well as raw and processed foods to prevent cross contamination.

Enjoy

- Vendors are good sources of information for handling and preparation instructions for the fresh produce you buy.
- Most fresh produce has a short shelf-life and will only be at peak quality a few days.

More information about Colorado produce is available from the CSU Farm to Table Food Safety website: http://farmtotable.colostate.edu/.

Preservation: Canning, Freezing, or Drying Food at Home

If you're planning on preserving fresh produce, be sure to follow USDA food preservation guidelines with needed adjustments for altitude. Fact sheets with this information are available through your local Extension Office. They can also be accessed online at the Colorado State University Extension website: http://www.ext.colostate.edu

Tips for Picking Colorado Produce

Know what to look for when selecting fresh Colorado produce!

Apples. Choose apples that are firm to the touch, without bruises, with good color and a pleasant smell. Avoid fruit with bruises or broken skin. Apples are sodium free, fat free and a good source of fiber. Most Colorado apples are harvested in September, however you can find them from August through June.

Cantaloupe. Ripe cantaloupe will have a distinctive aroma and the blossom end should yield to gentle pressure. Cantaloupes that were kept on the vine until fully ripe will have a clean depression where the stem was attached. Avoid cantaloupes that are shriveled, bruised or that have punctured or cracked rinds. Cantaloupe are very low in sodium, fat free and are high in Vitamins A and C. Look for ripe Colorado cantaloupe August through mid-October.

Carrots. Carrots should be vibrant orange and well shaped with firm, smooth exteriors. Avoid soft or wilted carrots or those with growth cracks or splits. Carrots are low in sodium, fat free, high in the antioxidant Vitamin A and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado carrots August through November.

Cherries. Look for cherries that are plump with firm, smooth and brightly colored skins. Good quality cherries should have green stems attached. Avoid cherries with blemishes, rotted or mushy skins, or those that are shriveled and dull. Cherries are low in fat, sodium free, a good source of fiber and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado cherries mid-June through mid-July.

Leaf Lettuce. Leaf lettuce should be crisp and well colored. Avoid leaf lettuce with yellow leaves or with leaves showing cracked ribs. Lettuce is fat free, very low in sodium and high in the antioxidant Vitamin A. Look for Colorado leaf lettuce June through October.

Onions. Good quality dry onions should be firm and hard with short, tight necks and dry papery skins. Slightly loose outer skin is common and should not affect quality. Avoid onions that show mold, decay, or blemishes. Onions are fat free, very low in sodium, a good source of fiber and high in the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado onions August through March.

Peaches. Peaches should be picked when the background color (not the red side toward the sun, but the backside of the fruit) has changed from green to white or yellow. If the peaches are to be eaten quickly, the best possible peach is one that has already started to soften on the tree, however, if they are to be stored then they should still be firm, but with the light background color.

Potatoes. All potato varieties should be uniformly sized, fairly clean, firm and smooth. Avoid potatoes with wrinkled skins, soft dark spots, cut surfaces or green appearance. Potatoes are fat free, sodium free, a good source of fiber, high in potassium and high in the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for a variety of Colorado potatoes including Yukon Gold, Russet, Fingerling and Purple year-round.

Sweet Corn. Sweet corn should have fresh green husks with silk ends that are free of decay or worms. Ears should be evenly covered with plump, consistently sized kernels. Avoid corn with discolored or drylooking husks, stem ends, or kernels. Sweet corn is sodium free, low fat, a good source of fiber and a good source of the antioxidant Vitamin C. Look for Colorado sweet corn mid-July through mid-October.

Tomatoes. Tomatoes should have bright, shiny skins and firm flesh. Avoid tomatoes that are soft or mushy, lacking in color, or have blemishes or growth cracks. Tomatoes are low fat, very low in sodium, a good source of potassium and high in antioxidants Vitamins A and C. Look for fresh Colorado tomatoes mid July through mid-October and greenhouse tomatoes year-round.

Watermelon. Choose a symmetrical watermelon that is heavy for its size. Watermelons are fat free, very low in sodium and high in the antioxidants Vitamins A and C. Look for Colorado watermelons August through September.

What is Organic Certification?

Organic certification means that an independent third party has verified that the requirements of organic production and handling have been met. Under the National Organic Program (NOP), all products sold as organic in the United States must be certified by an NOP accredited certification agency.

What is the National Organic Program?

The National Organic Program oversees the United States Department of Agriculture's standard to which all products intended to be sold in the United States as "organic" must be produced.

Who has to be Certified?

Except for businesses indicated as exempt or excluded from certification under the National Organic Program Rules (205.101), all producers and handlers of organic food must be certified.

Exemptions:

- Businesses that sell less than $5,000 of organic products annually.
- Retail food stores.
- Processors whose products contain less than 70% organic ingredients.
- Processors who limit their organic claims to the information panel.

Exclusions:

- Handlers that handle only packaged products.
- Retailers with in-store bakeries, delis, salad bars or ready to eat food.

Who do I contact to find out more about organic certification?

Colorado Department of Agriculture Division of Plant Industry 700 Kipling Street, Suite 4000 Lakewood, Colorado 80215-8000 (303) 239-4136 www.colorado.gov/ag/dpi
