COLORADO FARM FRESH DIRECTORY

2025

Your guide to farmers' markets, roadside stands, u-picks, restaurants and agritourism activities!

Welcome!

I know you're going to find something you love in the 2025 Farm Fresh Directory. Colorado's rich and diverse agricultural landscape supports a wide array of crops and livestock. From the iconic Pueblo chiles and juicy Palisade peaches to the sweet Rocky Ford melons, crisp Olathe sweet corn, and a bounty of cherries, honey, lamb, potatoes, and countless other delicacies, our state is a haven for healthy, delicious food.

One of the greatest strengths of Colorado's agricultural communities is their unwavering commitment to quality and consumer satisfaction. Our farmers and ranchers take pride in what they produce, and this dedication shines through in every bite. This directory will help you connect with these passionate producers, no matter where you are in Colorado.

By choosing to buy directly from local farms and ranches, you are doing more than just purchasing food. You are building relationships with the people who grow and raise your food, shortening the distance your food travels, and supporting your neighbors. This direct connection strengthens our communities and fosters a greater appreciation for the hard work that goes into producing our food.

Inside these pages, you'll discover a wealth of resources, including farmers markets, Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) programs, u-pick farms, wineries, and other opportunities to engage with Colorado agriculture. By participating in these local food systems, you are investing in a more resilient future for our state. You are helping to build strong communities, support local economies, and ensure that fresh, healthy food remains accessible to all Coloradans.

I encourage you to use this directory as a guide to explore the many charming small towns and rural landscapes that make Colorado so special. As you enjoy the beauty of our state, be sure to visit a local farmers market or farm stand and experience the vibrant flavors of the season firsthand.

At the Colorado Department of Agriculture, we are committed to supporting our agricultural communities, promoting farmer-led stewardship practices, and ensuring the continued success of Colorado's agricultural legacy.

Enjoy the taste of Colorado!

One of our public Summer offerings includes tours of the 150 year old Hutchinson Homestead where history of the land comes to life to serve current and future generations. The site bridges the past of agriculture to the future in our community. With a visitor's learning center, 13 structures, 3 corrals, and surrounding acreage there is much to explore!

Another of our public offerings is access to our Community & School farm where one can purchase produce and experience our local farm. Here, also during the Summer, kids make lifelong memories while working with growing produce and learning farming, as well as ranching practices at the Guidestone Historical Homestead location. ## ROOTED IN TRADITION, GROWING TOGETHER

No matter where you are in the world, food brings you home. Home to the land where your family and your food first took root, and to the table where you and your ancestors shared the same meals. All across the state, Coloradans take inspiration from their roots to grow, raise and make the food and agricultural products at the heart of their traditions. Through the love and labor of their hands, they make our state a home to all.

Colorado Proud raises awareness for local businesses, from farms to markets, to help bring families and communities together.
