LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

OFFICE OF THE
STATE BOARD OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS,
STATE CAPITOL, NOVEMBER 30, 1912

To His Excellency,
JOHN F. SHAFROTH,
Governor of Colorado.

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith the biennial report of the State Board of Charities and Corrections for the biennial period ending November 30, 1912, as required by law.

Respectfully submitted,

ELLA S. WILLIAMS,
President.

Attest:

WILLIAM THOMAS,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BOARD

To His Excellency,

JOHN F. SHAFROTH,

Governor of Colorado.

Since making the last biennial report, the personnel of the Board has been changed by the retirement of two members, Mrs. Stanley M. Caspar and Mr. William Thomas, who were succeeded by Elizabeth Cassidy, M.D., of Denver, and Mr. Elmer F. Beckwith, of Longmont.

During this period Miss Jessie Farrar and Miss Jeanette Leslie were selected as office assistants. Later Miss Farrar resigned, her place being filled by Miss Jewell Gould. Early in the summer of 1912 Miss Leslie was called to a position in the office of the Tax Commission, and later Miss Frances Farrar was appointed to fill the existing vacancy.

Seldom has greater attention been paid to sociological subjects by our law-making bodies than was given by the Eighteenth General Assembly. Among the many acts passed, two were for the better administration of the affairs of this Board, one regulated the sentencing of offenders to the State Reformatory, and two dealt with the matter of deadly weapons. Acts relating to child labor, drinking-cups, employment of prisoners in jails, factory inspection, hours of labor, defining heads of families (being a further protection of dependent children and parents), lying-in hospitals, making non-support a felony, vital statistics, and establishing a commission to draft a working-men's compensation bill, were placed upon the books.

At the general election of 1912 several measures touching social questions were voted upon and adopted; among which were a mothers' compensation act; an eight-hour law for women, which limits the hours of employment of women and girls to not more than eight hours in any calendar day; a more extended civil-service law, with a continuing appropriation; and an eight-hour law for employes of underground workings and other occupations. All of these bear a certain relation to the work of this Board.

During this biennial period the inspection of state, county, municipal, private, charitable, and semi-charitable institutions has been systematically made. Definite reports have been required of them; this has enabled the public to obtain an insight into their management and methods. The operation of the law requiring all private, eleemosynary, and other charitable institutions to report to, and be licensed by, this Board has been the means of keeping us advised as to their number and purposes.

While duplication of philanthropic efforts has been discouraged, the Board has assisted in the organization of several associations intended to fill existing gaps in this field. Blank report forms requesting information concerning finances, scope of work, etc., have been distributed, and complete returns have been received, which are presented in this report.

The increased interest of the public in the semi-annual conferences of the Board has been a source of gratification. These sessions were arranged in order that those in control of both public and private institutions might have an opportunity to exchange experiences and opinions, to discuss methods, and to arouse general interest in the social welfare of the state.

An active campaign has been inaugurated to improve the physical condition of the county, municipal, and other institutions coming within the scope of the Board's jurisdiction. This includes the bedding contained in these places, and, under the present ruling of the Board, it is hoped that the comforts now in use will be eliminated by the first day of July, 1914.

A circular letter has been issued and generally distributed, pertaining to the evil of sending hopelessly sick, indigent tuberculars to Colorado. Press notices and comments upon the same have been numerous and have attracted much attention. A conference was called by the governor of Texas to meet at Waco, for the purpose of discussing this subject, so far as it concerns the southwestern states. The report of this conference undoubtedly reached your Excellency.

All plans for proposed charitable or correctional buildings erected by the state, counties, or municipalities are required to be submitted to this Board for approval. This has been insisted upon, and all plans presented have received careful attention, and the many changes suggested have been adopted.

The act relating to any aliens who may be liable to deportation under the regulations of the United States Bureau of Immigration has been fully complied with, and every effort has been made to discover those affected by this law.

Quarterly bulletins, containing matter of interest to those concerned in social conditions, are issued by the Board, and it is hoped through this medium to unify the aims and encourage the co-operation of those who are working for social betterment.

Notwithstanding that many of the appropriations made by the last General Assembly for the improvement of the state charitable and correctional institutions were not available, much has been done to improve the physical condition of many of the institutions. The enlightened policies of the past have been continued and, wherever possible, strengthened by the introduction of advanced methods.

The State Home still continues to perform its functions as a clearing-house for dependent and neglected children. The management has exerted every effort to fill all requirements of the law. Deep personal interest has been taken in each individual case. Careful and efficient supervision has been exercised over those placed out, and everything done to further the best interests of those who through peculiar characteristics or unfortunate physical defects have not been acceptable to those seeking children. The record of children received and disposed of is admirably kept. Everything should be done to strengthen the institution's ability to carry out the duties assigned to it by the Mothers' Compensation Act. A nursery building is sadly needed.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Home is in excellent condition. The commander and his subordinates are doing all possible for the comfort of the veterans. With advancing age, physical disability becomes more pronounced, and before long this institution will practically assume the function of a hospital or infirmary. While for many years to come the direction and advisory supervision may still be exercised as now provided, we feel that soon the immediate management and superintendency must fall upon younger shoulders, with, perhaps, medical experience. The hospital quarters should be enlarged.

The Workshop for the Blind has kept its doors open for the training of a very scanty number of the blind of the state. Since its inception, appropriations have been either small or not fully available, which has militated against an economical administration of its affairs, as supplies should be purchased in large quantities and when prices are low. From the nature of the cause which brings people to seek the benefits of this institution of training, the item of waste figures very considerably in its maintenance. Sufficient funds should be allowed to enable the management to reorganize the institution, and broaden its scope and efficiency.

As in the past, the accommodations at the State Asylum are not equal to the demands made for the reception of those committed from all parts of the state. The premises are in excellent condition, and careful management is evident in each department. This being the largest of the charitable institutions, its wants are many, but the need of a hydrotherapeutic apparatus, and of an institutional farm of ample acreage and water privileges, is apparent to all who are in close touch with this institution.

The State Home and Training School for Mental Defectives has opened its doors and is destined soon to receive its full quota of inmates. The building at present occupied is temporarily used for dormitory and other purposes. It is hoped that a sufficient appropriation will be made to build cottages to accommodate three hundred patients, thus allowing the present building to be devoted to the uses for which it was originally designed and erected; viz., an administration building, with workshops and schoolrooms attached. All improvements made should be in conformity with the cottage system adopted, and should be modern in all their appointments. The future of this institution should receive the careful attention of the General Assembly.

The State Penitentiary still maintains its efficiency as a high-grade reformatory institution, and continues to return to society many regenerated men. In order to further this work, liberal appropriations should be granted and a large tract of agricultural land secured.

The State Reformatory is still in the same unsatisfactory condition heretofore reported. A radical departure should be made in the method of dealing with those received. The minimum term of imprisonment should not be a day less than fifteen months. An efficient parole system should be inaugurated. The original plan of housing should be completed. Land should be acquired and ample water rights secured. Until this is done, this institution will continue to be the most unsatisfactory in the state.

It is a pleasure to commend the excellent work performed by the Girls' Industrial School. It is a noble example of what can be done in character-saving. Its very modest request for appropriations should be fully complied with.

The Boys' Industrial School continues its high standard and its educational efficiency. We feel that under no circumstances should the name of this institution be allowed to carry with it any suggestion that it is reformatory, rather than educational, in character. The question of securing water to irrigate the land now owned by this school should receive the careful consideration of the General Assembly.

Besides the granting of appropriations suggested for the state institutions, the following laws are recommended for legislative enactment:

An act to prevent basements in court-houses or other buildings being used as jails, and to prohibit the confining of prisoners in basement jails.

To require that all plans for reformatories, penitentiaries, state prisons, and all buildings to be erected by any of the public charitable institutions under the control of this Board; all county, city, and town jails, almshouses, hospitals, and similar buildings, be submitted to this Board for criticism and approval before the same shall be adopted by the state, county, or municipal authorities, and to provide a penalty for neglecting or refusing to do so.

That the act creating the State Home be so amended as to allow this Home to receive maimed and crippled children.

That a reasonable appropriation be allowed the Board of Pardons for traveling expenses.

An act to abolish all private employment agencies, and substitute therefor free employment bureaus.

To place all county jails and prisons, having persons serving sentences therein for the violation of the laws of the state, under the commissioners and warden of the State Penitentiary.

To submit to the people an amendment to abolish the payment of county and other officers by fees, and to substitute therefor a stated salary.

In respectfully submitting the foregoing, and in closing, we desire to thank your Excellency, and all concerned in advancing the welfare of our delinquent, defective, and dependent citizens, and for the many courtesies extended.

THE STATE BOARD OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS.

By ELLA S. WILLIAMS,

President.

At the close of November 30, 1910, there remained in the institution 152 boys and 90 girls; total, 242. New admissions: 201 boys and 131 girls; total, 332. Forty-six boys and 43 girls were adopted—total, 89; 35 boys and 33 girls—total, 68—were indentured; 75 boys and 1 girl were declared self-supporting; 10 were returned to counties; 21 boys and 20 girls were returned to counties by order of the court; 24 boys and 22 girls were returned to parents—total, 46; 1 girl became of age at the Home; 3 girls married, with the consent of the Board of Control; 29 boys and 11 girls died; 8 were placed in other institutions; leaving a total of 157 boys and 95 girls in the Home on November 30, 1912.

The average age of those adopted was 4.31; of those indentured, 11.08; of those present, 9.82. The average daily attendance was 245.

Since the opening of the Home in March, 1896, 1,530 children have been received, of whom 46 are in homes on trial, 117 in homes on indenture, 357 have been adopted, 29 in homes on special contracts, 149 have been restored to parents, 306 have attained their majority and are self-supporting; 145 died, 86 were returned to counties from which they came, and 43 temporary commitments also returned.

During the past two years there have been epidemics of measles, chicken-pox, diphtheria, and whooping-cough, from which there were but two deaths. From the very nature of the institution, many received are in such bad physical condition that no skill in treatment, care, or nursing can save life.

As recorded in the years past, the physicians on the visiting staff give their services gratuitously and faithfully attend to every case.

Through the kindness of the officers of the Children's Hospital, children from the Home are cared for during operations, free of charge. The free Dental Dispensary treats children needing its services.

As in the past, after-supervision of those placed out has received special attention of the field agent. During this period 605 visits were made to children in homes, and 304 visits to applicants for children. In doing this, 45,375 miles were traveled by railroad and 3,579 by other means of conveyance.

Three hundred and thirty-one applications for children were received, of which 202 were approved. Twenty-five applications were not acted upon.

The educational work of the Home continues under the supervision of the public-school system of Denver, and extends from the kindergarten through the eighth grade. The staff consists of a principal and eight teachers.

It is hoped to extend the scope of the industrial work of the Home by increasing the farm and other equipment, and taking up carpentry, shoemaking, and special work; to supplement the training already given in domestic science, dairying and gardening.

Religious instruction is not overlooked. There are regular sessions of a well-organized Sunday school, besides other instruction given by denominational visitors.

Many entertainments have been given by organizations and individuals, and, in general, the period has been one of comfort and contentment.

In considering the future needs of the Home, the operation of the Mothers' Compensation Act must be reckoned with. Under the provisions of this law, the Home will be made the clearing-house for the courts of the state, and there will undoubtedly be a large increase in the children temporarily committed. Not only will these children be fed and sheltered, but clothing must be provided. In this connection, it appears as though the erection of a nursery, and an increase in the force of field officers, will be imperative.

To cover the increased demands upon the Home recently made by legal enactment, the following request for appropriations is made:

At the close of the biennial period ending November 30, 1911, 209 inmates remained at the Home; 36 were on furlough, 133 new members were received, and 83 were readmitted. During this term 140 were discharged and 58 died; 182 remained at the Home at the close of November 30, 1912. The average daily attendance at the Home was 191.

In 1911 an act was passed providing for the admission of the wives of the soldiers and sailors to the Home, and also for the admission of Confederate soldiers who have been honorably discharged.

To provide housing for veterans with wives, the Eighteenth General Assembly made an appropriation for cottages. Seven four-room cottages are now under construction. Many applications are on file for admission to these.

With those incoming and outgoing, the Home is kept well filled, the hospital quarters especially receiving a large number of those present at the Home. In view of the admission of women, additional hospital facilities should be supplied for any who may need attention.

Under the law, the veterans are allowed to perform all the work at the institution that they are able to do; for which they are paid. Increasing age has incapacitated the majority of the inmates, so that in the future outside help must be added.

Divine services are held at the institution chapel every Sunday in the year.

Interest still continues in the library. Many additions have been made during the last two years.

Good discipline has been maintained, and all possible has been done to make the veterans comfortable and contented.

The state appropriations are supplemented by an annual grant of $100 per annum from the United States for each man maintained in the institution.

The general management of the institution meets with the approval of the federal government, by which it is regularly inspected.

The following appropriations are requested:

Maintenance	$100,000.00
Hospital	30,000.00
Monument	$1,500.00 to 2,000.00
Sufficient funds to complete cottages.

THE COLORADO INDUSTRIAL WORKSHOP FOR THE BLIND

During the biennial period ending November 30, 1912, an average of a little over 11 persons were in daily attendance, and given instruction and employment in broom-making. During the first twelve months of the period there were employed 12 blind men and 4 blind women, to whom $3,125.32 was paid as wages for manufacturing 27,294 brooms, for which the workshop received $6,085.71 from November 30, 1911, to November 30, 1912. Eleven men and 4 women were employed, to whom $4,377.34 was paid for manufacturing 38,522 brooms, 34,629 of which were sold for $8,174.05.

The cost to the state of operation, for the biennial period, was $7,500, of which $2,300 was paid for salaries; $3,562.17 was expended for materials, and $1,637.83 for office rent and other expenses; $900 was spent for equipment, and $600 was paid for land upon which to erect permanent shops; $197.04 was spent for plans and specifications for proposed buildings; but, owing to the unfortunate classification of appropriations for this institution, the remainder of the $10,000 appropriation for permanent improvements was not available.

It is to be hoped that the forthcoming General Assembly will place all the appropriations for the maintenance and improvement of the state charitable and correctional institutions on the same footing. If the workshop is to do effective work, this is imperative.

As before reported, were this institution able to afford a temporary home to such as are unable to pay their expenses while learning broom-making, many more persons could avail themselves of the privilege. The uncertainty as to the amount of the appropriations which may become available has deterred the extension of this work and the number of those in training.

The shortage of funds has also hampered the purchase of materials in large quantities.

The present quarters are small, cramped, and unsanitary. A properly arranged building would aid materially in improving the conditions of this institution. This could be accomplished through an appropriation of $10,000, which is required to supplement a working appropriation of $15,000 for maintenance and material during the coming biennial period.

The number of patients in this institution at the close of the 30th day of November, 1910, was 676 men and 455 women; total, 1,131. There have been admitted during the period 251 men and 133 women; total, 384. The whole number treated during the period was 1,515.

There were discharged during the two years ending with November 30, 1912, the following: Recovered, 46 men, 28 women; total, 74. Improved, 32 men and 14 women; total, 46. Unimproved, 18 men and 3 women; total, 21. Died, 136 men and 65 women; total, 201. Not insane, 5 men and 3 women; total, 8. Remaining in the institution at the end of the term, 690 men and 475 women; total, 1,165.

As in the past, this institution remains crowded. More room for the accommodation of such patients as will be committed during the next two years is needed.

The health of the patients is good, there being but few cases of typhoid fever and no epidemics of any kind.

A great many senile and paretic cases have been received, and a large number of those transferred from other institutions were not in good condition physically, which accounts for the death-rate being in excess of that of the previous biennial period, the number being 201.

Two hospital wards, of fifty beds each, are constantly filled with bedridden subjects, most of them being cases of paresis.

senile dementia, and other forms of hopeless mental troubles. These wards are in charge of experienced hospital nurses, who bestow every attention upon the patients.

There appears to be an increasing tendency to place decrepit members of families in institutions of this character. This asylum has received cases of ages from eighty to ninety years. Death comes to all such cases in course of a short time, owing to age, and not one of these cases has an opportunity to improve. However, the recovery rate has been good.

As many patients as possible are used in all industrial pursuits, such as working on the farm, in the garden, laundry, kitchen, lawns, carpenter shop, dairy, stables, etc. Work is not only conducive to good health, but, if the patient is susceptible to restoration, it assists in bringing about a rapid recovery. Suitable amusements are provided for the patients in giving weekly dances and moving-picture exhibitions, card games, dominoes, and other diversions.

Divine services are held each Sunday, the minister who renders the service usually bringing the choir with him.

The criminal insane are still being held here, greatly to the detriment of the other patients. Permanent and separate provisions should be made for this class.

During this biennial period no new buildings have been erected, although much has been done in the way of improvement. The hot-water system has been entirely remodeled; the central water tank is now kept hot by the exhaust steam of the plant. This does away with separate heaters, results in a great saving of fuel, and enhances the convenience and comfort of all concerned.

The boilers and their settings have been thoroughly overhauled and the boiler-room floor cemented. Additions have been made to the fire apparatus, by the purchase of new hose, a fire wagon, etc.

Lathes and other machinery have been installed in the institution shops. An additional steam washer has been placed in the laundry, and other improvements have been made in and about the institution. An unknown benefactor presented a moving-picture machine, which has been a source of great pleasure to the patients.

The Seventeenth General Assembly appropriated $35,000 for the purchase, grading, and fencing of eighty-eight lots, adjacent to the asylum grounds. These lots have been acquired and enclosed, and the ground has been laid out and staked off for improvement. Trees will be planted, grass and flowers grown, and, in time, the appearance of this addition will be in keeping with the main grounds, which are not only beautiful, but conducive to the welfare of the patients.

When considering the future of this institution, it is hoped that a change in the name to "State Hospital" will receive the favorable consideration of the General Assembly. This change would work for the benefit of both patients and their friends.

For the forthcoming biennial period the appropriations for the following are requested by the Board of Control and superintendent.

Maintenance (not including the one-fifth mill levy).....	$250,000.00
Artesian well	5,000.00

STATE HOME AND TRAINING SCHOOL FOR MENTAL DEFECTIVES

(Established by Virtue of an Act Approved March 5, 1909.)

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS

H. A. La Moure, M.D., Acting Superintendent

The State Home and Training School for Mental Defectives was opened for the reception of inmates on July 1, 1912. From the date of opening this institution has received 25 boys and 21 girls; total, 46. Of these, one girl died and there have been no discharges. Number remaining at the close of the fiscal year ending with November 30, 1912: 25 boys and 20 girls; total, 45. Daily average attendance for five months: 17 boys and 12 girls; total, 29. The average number of officers during the five months this institution has been opened has been 7 men and 11 women.

Owing to the lack of facilities, and in order to emphasize the school and training features of the institution, the commissioners decided to admit only those within school age, fixing the limit at from five to fourteen years. This was later raised to twenty-one years. This will bring into training a group whose services will be of great assistance to the management in the near future.

As the name implies, this institution has two chief purposes: first, to offer a home to those unfortunates who cannot be properly cared for by their relatives or friends, and, when grown, cannot cope with the world; and, second, to intelligently train those capable of receiving instruction, that they may be made happier for having been kept busy, as well as partially self-supporting. Those received here will never become normal men and women. They must be kept under constant supervision and be protected from vicious influences.

In the training department regular school work was begun in the early part of November, one teacher being employed. There are about thirty children in attendance, the remainder being incapable of deriving any benefit. These children, while ranging in age from six to twenty years, are, in reality, equivalent to children of from three to eight years, most of them having had no previous training.

Experience has shown that their progress in the regular branches of instruction, as given in the public schools, is unsatisfactory. In reading, writing, spelling, and number work they cannot be taken beyond the limit of their impaired faculties. On the other hand, it is often wonderful what results can be accomplished in nearly all the branches of manual-training work. In other words, their hands can be trained to a greater degree than their minds. As soon as the facilities of the institution are increased, much will be done by the manual-training department. Already the children are taught housework, keeping the wards clean, making beds, laying the table, and washing dishes. A start has been made in basket-weaving. A few assist in the laundry and on the farm. With a farm of 310 acres, a great deal of work can be done, when the Home and Training School becomes fully organized.

The institution's pressing need is more accommodation for the inmates. With additional cottages, a large number of persons now at the Insane Asylum can be transferred here, who could be used to an advantage on the farm and about the buildings.

A hospital building is absolutely necessary, as a large number of those mentally weak are physically afflicted. Children especially are susceptible to contagious diseases, and steps should be taken to provide for this contingency.

In order to get the Home and Training School in good working order, the following appropriations are required:

Maintenance, including repairs and furnishings.....	$ 90,000.00
Cottages to accommodate 200 inmates.....	100,000.00
Erecting and fitting up hospital building.....	30,000.00
Improving the grounds, providing farm utensils, stock, barns, and cow-sheds, and necessary appurtenances for the farming of the land and the operation of the same	20,000.00
Drilling additional well.....	5,000.00
	<hr/>
Total	$245,000.00

COLORADO STATE PENITENTIARY

(Established at Canon City in 1868.)

BOARD OF PRISON COMMISSIONERS

	Term Expires
Helen Grenfell, Denver	1913
Joseph H. Maupin, Canon City.....	1915
Jesse Harris, Fort Collins.....	1917
Term, six years. No salary.

 Allen Jamison, Deputy Warden

 J. G. Blake, Chaplain
 James K. Dye, Parole Officer

At the close of the biennial period, November 30, 1910, there remained in the prison 722 men and 22 women; total, 744. During the two years ending November 30, 1912, 655 men and 9 women were received from sentence of court in Colorado, and 3 from the State of Wyoming; 19 escaped prisoners, and 32 who violated their parole, were returned. There were 46 men and 1 woman whose sentences expired; 8 men and 2 women—total, 10—were released by order of the court. One Wyoming woman prisoner was pardoned; 582 men and 22 women—total, 604—were paroled; 35 escaped; 16 men and 3 women died, and 1 man was executed. The total population November 30, 1912, was 736 men and 9 women; total, 745.

Through this period the daily average number of prisoners in the penitentiary was 768; 334 of whom worked on the outside as trust and honor men. Eliminating the women confined, the insane, and the mentally and physically defective men in the institution, there was more than one-half of the male population on the trusty list. In all, 986 prisoners worked under this system. Of these, 35 made escapes; 19 of whom were recaptured. With more men working out, the percentage of escapes during this biennial period was slightly less than the preceding period. There were no escapes from the prison proper.

Road-work was the largest item of labor performed by the prisoners, the construction of highways having been followed in Mesa, Fremont, Larimer, Weld, Boulder, Jefferson, El Paso, and Pueblo Counties. In all, 157 miles of good road have been built during the period.

It has been impossible to obtain from the various counties the cost of materials, such as cement, lumber, steel, tools, powder, etc., used in the construction of roads. Hence, the value of the labor employed in this work cannot be given.

Thirty-two cents per day, per man, has been the average expense to the counties. As this includes Sundays and holidays, the total cost of labor for the number of days they were employed during this biennial period—731 days—is $36,725.44. Twenty-one state teams were used on the roads, at a cost to the counties of $20 per month; a total cost of $10,080, which, when added to the labor item, will bring the labor cost to $298.12 per mile of road construction.

The cost of much of this work would be prohibitive, if any other labor were employed, as some of the work would require an expenditure of at least $25,000 per mile to complete. During the entire time much expensive rock-work has been done, and from the labor furnished from this institution the roads of the state have been benefited by at least $270,285, and this not in order to compete with free labor.

During the last two years an average of twenty-one men have been employed daily on the ranches leased by the institution, and eleven have worked in the penitentiary gardens. The products of both have materially aided in the item of maintenance. Much has been done in raising hogs, dairy stock, sheep, and poultry.

Many permanent repairs have been made, and a great deal has been accomplished in the erection of new buildings. A cut-stone stable, 70 by 130 feet, two stories high, with a capacity for sixty animals, and provided with many convenient and labor-saving devices, has been built, at an actual cash expenditure of $4,048.59. A modern dairy barn has also been erected.

A tract of twenty acres of land on the penitentiary reservation has been reclaimed and is now a valuable asset to the state. The hitherto vacant land across the street from the main entrance to the penitentiary has been filled in, leveled, and seeded to grass, and about 100 young trees have been planted. This will soon be one of the beauty spots of the city.

The religious and educational welfare of the prisoners has not been neglected. Chapel services are held regularly. The prison school has maintained its usual excellent standard. Nineteen teachers and assistants have been directing the efforts of a hundred or more men who are availing themselves of school privileges. The library is well maintained. There has been an increased demand for books dealing with higher-grade subjects, such as history, biography, science, etc. Many magazines and other reading matter have been distributed.

The installation of a moving-picture machine has done much in an educational way, as the films have been carefully selected along educational lines, with an introduction of comedy, which brings a beneficial mental relaxation.

At this time the cells have but one occupant each. The discipline maintained during the period has been good, the health of the prisoners excellent, and, as heretofore, the effect of the trust reposed in the individual has done much toward preserving his self-respect, enabling him to go forth into the world with a firm intention of following the path of right thinking and industry.

The parole officer's report is satisfactory. Much has been done in placing men where they will not be brought in contact with the evils of city life, as the rural communities are conducive to the moral and physical welfare of the paroled men.

One of the great needs of this institution is a farm of sufficient acreage within a convenient distance. Upon this farm many men could be worked, and the value of the produce gathered would materially reduce the cash expense of maintenance. In the prison proper an administration building is badly needed, and proper sanitary appliances should be installed in each cell.

The free transportation heretofore granted the parole officer by the railways has been canceled; consequently more funds are needed to make this work effective. This is the least expensive form of state supervision.

To further the splendid work now performed by this prison, it is necessary that the following appropriations (which does not include the much-needed farm) should be allowed:

Maintenance	$245,000.00
Parole officer	8,000.00
Steel closets	7,000.00
Administration building	20,000.00
Total		$280,000.00

At the end of the last biennial period, November 30, 1910, there were 161 prisoners. From December 1, 1910, to November 30, 1912, inclusive, 518 were received from the several courts of the state, 598 were discharged or died, and the number present at the close of November 30, 1912, was 81.

It is much to be regretted that another two-year period has passed without bringing any improvement in the condition of this institution. The unfortunate situation described before still exists. The lack of facilities, want of room for proper grading and segregation of prisoners, the absence of proper means for teaching trades or useful pursuits, and the lack of cell-room, all sadly hamper the introduction of such methods as would tend to strengthen the character and return the prisoners capable of earning an honest living when liberated.

The site, shortage of funds, and need of appropriate buildings, all militate against its success. It has been said by those familiar with reformatory work that "It is a matter of public duty not only to bring the youthful criminal to account, and restrain and punish him, but to afford him every opportunity to rehabilitate himself as a citizen." To attain this desirable end there must be more favorable conditions, adequate means, and proper methods.

The attitude of the state toward this institution should be changed, and such industrial training as would be of practical service should be made a part of the work of the institution. A farm of not less than 1,200 acres should be acquired, where general crops may be raised and an agricultural course followed, with opportunities to engage in practical irrigation.

In short, the warden should have at hand all that is necessary to the work of the regeneration of those who come under his charge. As it is now, he is seriously handicapped, the purpose of the institution has been defeated, and it is a reformatory in name only.

Notwithstanding the limitations imposed upon the management, much is done in the cultivation of the hardier grains and root vegetables. Good work has been done on the highways, and a day school has been maintained.

To further the interests of this institution, the following appropriations are requested by the management:

Maintenance	$125,000.00
New buildings	100,000.00
Additional land	5,000.00
For closets in cells.....	5,000.00
Total		$235,000.00

This institution has no greater need than that of the services of a permanent parole officer. He should have sufficient funds at his command to properly oversee those conditionally liberated.

The population at close of November 30, 1910, was 107. Girls received in two years, 115; paroled, 100; returned from parole, 14; second parole granted, 8; transfers to Crittenton Home, 7; 78 were honorably discharged; 1 escaped; on parole November 30, 1912, 32. The population November 30, 1912, was 112.

This school is for the training of juvenile delinquent girls between the ages of eight and twenty years. It is supported by county and state institutions.

Upon entering the school, each girl is taken to the hospital, where she is examined as to her physical condition. There she must stay for two weeks, to make sure that she is not bringing in any infection or disease. During this time the superintendent is able to judge into which cottage the girl should be placed, and she then takes up her duties as a member of that family.

In the matter of discipline, more thought is given to preventive than corrective work. It is the aim of the institution to raise the girls' ideals by having their surroundings and teachings of the best possible type, and to aid them in forming habits that are pure and helpful. They are treated as unfortunates, whose early training has been greatly neglected.

The fact that many girls keep up a correspondence with the superintendent long after they have passed from the control of the school proves that to them this was indeed a home and not a place of punishment. The cottage life of the school reproduces, as far as possible, the methods of a good home.

Special attention is given to the work of which all the girls should have a knowledge; namely, housekeeping, sewing, and cooking. Thus equipped, the girls are sent out with every opportunity for living useful lives. All girls are required to attend school during one session each day. Special attention is given to reading, language, arithmetic, letter-writing, and such other lessons as will be most helpful to them when they leave school.

There are regular sessions of Sunday school, and frequent religious services are held by clergymen of the several religious denominations.

Healthful recreation has not been overlooked, and as much time as possible is spent out of doors. Upon several occasions the girls have been entertained by visitors from the city.

Great care is exercised in the after-supervision of those paroled from the school. If, after a year's probation or parole, it is found that they have been amenable to the rules of the institution, and demonstrated their ability to manage themselves in the right direction, they are finally discharged.

Their future home, when paroled, is selected by the school management, and every endeavor is made to enable them to see the better side of home life, from the beginning of their probationary term. The girls from the institution are in demand; there is usually a large waiting list of places for them.

During the period just ended a new cottage has been erected, which will increase school accommodation and relieve the congestion in the hospital building. A new root-cellar has just been finished.

For the coming period the following appropriations are requested:

Maintenance	$ 10,000.00
Artesian well	5,000.00

Total	$ 15,000.00

THE STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS

Term of six years. No salary.

At the close of the last biennial period there were 365 in the school. Three hundred and seventy were admitted; 43 paroles returned; 2 escapes returned; total, 415. One died; 17 were discharged; 4 escaped; 19 boys from Wyoming were pardoned; 337 were paroled; 5 were returned into court; total number leaving the institution during the term, 383. The total number remaining November 30, 1912, was 397; average number, 387. There were 8 less new boys received than during the last biennial period.

The school department of this institution was never in better condition. There are nine grades, but one grade being allowed in any schoolroom during each day. There are few pupils in the first and second grades, while some of the other grades have as high as sixty-five. Half of the boys attend school each day, the alternate day being devoted to other duties.

There are no vacations, though actual holidays are observed. Saturday-morning sessions are held, and school hours are slightly longer than those of the public schools. Much of the time lost by boys before entering is made up. There are no truants or tardy pupils; good work is insisted upon, and results are obtained.

Religious services, including Sunday-school work, are conducted each Sunday. A good band and an orchestra supply music for the institution, as well as at many functions on the outside, and the singing of the entire school is creditable and has been favorably commented upon.

Military drill is a feature of the school. The boys present a smart appearance on dress parade; evolutions are executed in a lively manner which, when accompanied with music, present an inspiring sight.

Entertainment, amusement, and recreation are not overlooked, and a great deal is done to promote the mental and physical welfare of those sent here.

The printing department has been the means of training many boys to a useful and profitable trade. Seventeen boys are employed at this work. The woodworking shop receives a larger number of boys than any other section of the institution, as all the younger boys are able to take part in manual training, and the instruction here given will prove useful when taking up trades. Heavier carpentry work occupies the attention of the older pupils, and they do a great deal of the construction work around the school premises. One hundred and four boys are occupied here.

Eighteen boys receive instruction in the machine-shop, and the same number are being trained for blacksmiths. A large part of the work done in these two departments is of a permanent nature. Eighteen boys are engaged in making and repairing shoes, harness, etc. They also knit hose. Twenty-four of the inmates devote their energy to tailoring, manufacturing, and repairing clothing, and making underwear, bedding, and other articles. The laundry employs fifteen boys. Thirteen concern themselves in masonry work, and fourteen are in the heating, power, and pumping plant, in this department. Much is done in a mechanical line, including electric wiring, pipe-fitting, and plumbing. The bakery employs ten, and many, after leaving, take up this trade for a livelihood. In the culinary department the training received is of great benefit to those who are assigned to kitchen work. A night chef of one of the large hotels of the state received his preliminary training here. Twenty-two work in the department.

Out-of-door work is not neglected, and enables all to receive the benefit of the fresh air and the stimulus which goes with working the soil. A good garden is maintained, general farming done, and some fruit raised. Stock-raising receives considerable attention. The fine horses, cattle, and hogs attract the boys, who delight in handling and caring for them.

During their stay the pupils are enabled to realize the uplifting influence of discipline and rightly directed industry, which brings with it happiness and comfort. Seventeen months is the average time of a boy's stay. After-supervision is maintained, though a larger force is needed to do this thoroughly.

The increasing population requires more room; new cottages are needed. With more water for irrigation purposes, a large tract of agricultural land could be worked to advantage.

The following appropriations are requested for the forthcoming biennial term:

For maintenance and current expenses.....	$175,000.00
For cottage	25,000.00
For two cottages.....	20,000.00
For water for irrigation purposes and pipe line.....	50,000.00
Total		$270,000.00

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

To the President and Members of the State Board of Charities and Corrections.

Ladies and Gentlemen: Herewith is submitted the secretary's report for the biennial period ending November 30, 1912.

During this period there has been a systematic series of visits and inspections to all such public and private charitable and correctional institutions of the state as come under the jurisdiction of this Board.

Nearly 200 visits were made by the president and members of the Board, 230 by the assistant secretary, and 182 by the secretary; besides a large number of visits made to county and other officials, and to individuals interested in matters pertaining to social welfare. There were thirty-six meetings of the Board during the biennial period.

Much has been done by means of circular letters; many of them dealing particularly with the questions of the alien dependent, defective, and delinquent population of the state, the fly pest, and in relation to sending tuberculous indigents to this state.

Many letters were written in aid of the Esch or Match Bill, and in securing second-class postal rates for the distribution of the bulletins issued by the Board, which are now entitled to be mailed at the rate of one cent per pound.

A great deal has been done in the way of preparing reports and statistics for publishers of periodicals relating to social work; for sociological investigators, university students, and other interested persons, who have desired information particularly relating to this state. No small amount of attention has been given to the investigation of complaints and charges, and to the management of institutions; all of which has entailed a large amount of research, correspondence, and time.

The greater part of the forms used for reports have been prepared and copied in the office, to avoid the expense of printing.

The following table shows the respective population of the several state institutions at the close of the biennial periods ending—

The detailed reports from the several institutions show that $1,236,104.60 from state appropriations was expended for the maintenance of the nine state charitable and correctional institutions.

In compliance with the requirements of Chapter 111 of the Revised Statutes of Colorado, 1908, diligent and frequent inquiries have been made of all the state and county charitable institutions regarding the presence of any alien who may be subject to deportation under the United States regulations concerning alien paupers. Of those reported none were found to come under the statute; but from time to time the several county, municipal, and private charities reported directly to the local office of the United States Bureau of Immigration eight cases which came under this head.

The National Conference of Charities and Corrections was held at Boston in 1911 and at Cleveland in 1912. Rev. Dr. W. S. Friedman, Dr. Elizabeth Cassidy, and the secretary representing the Board at Cleveland. These conferences were well attended, and the subject-matter discussed was well prepared and proved deeply interesting.

The Prison Congress held at Omaha was attended by a large number of delegates from Colorado; Miss May Henderson, clerk to the Board of Pardons, and the secretary representing this office. The educational value of these meetings cannot be overestimated.

During the last year four bulletins have been issued by this Board. These have contained items of interest and value to those concerned in the social welfare of the entire state, and are a medium of communication from the Board to those in control, and to the heads, of institutions concerned in public charitable and correctional work.

An endeavor has been made to distribute these bulletins among all who would appreciate literature of this nature, and to whom the matter published would be of interest.

For many years the welfare of children has received the consideration of both public and private agencies, which are efficient to a degree, and the field is well covered. Illiteracy has been reduced to a minimum, and cases of child labor are rare—so few as to be notable exceptions. However, additional paid field officers for the Bureau of Child and Animal Protection and the State Home for Dependent and Neglected Children could be used to advantage.

The series of semi-annual conferences inaugurated by this Board at the beginning of the last biennial period has been continued. The interest in them has been sustained, and the attendance has been satisfactory. During the biennial period three conferences have been held, and the fourth is being arranged for December 3, 1912—a few days later than the close of this biennial period.

At these meetings addresses were made and discussions had upon the following subjects:

“Existing Conditions.”

“The Remedy.”

“Advertisements Relating to Maternity Homes and Kindred Work.”

“Employment.”

“Charity and Our Taxes.”

“County Hospitals.”

“County Jails.”

“County Farms.”

“General Report upon the Waco Conference.”

(The Waco, Texas, conference was convened “to discuss the ways and means of aiding poor consumptives from other states, who have come to Arizona, California, Colorado, Kansas, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Utah, in the hope that a change of climate will be beneficial to them.”)

The fourth semi-annual conference of the year is to be held December 3, 1912, at which time required legislation from the viewpoint of the several charitable and correctional state institutions will be considered.

At the evening session “The Founding and Endowment of the Myron Stratton Home” and “The Mothers’ Compensation Bill” will be discussed.

The farms and hospitals of the following counties have been visited during this biennial period: Bent, Boulder, Chaffee, Clear Creek, Delta, Denver, Eagle, El Paso, Fremont, Garfield, Jefferson, Lake, La Plata, Larimer, Montrose, Otero, Pueblo, Summit, Teller, and Weld.

On June 30, 1911, there were in the state fifteen county farms, with a total of 1,872 acres, of which 687 acres are in cultivation. In the several buildings upon the farms there are 205 rooms and wards, with 473 beds. The total population of these institutions on June 30, 1911, was 354, of which 299 were males and 55 females. There were 13 children, 18 adult blind, 47 insane, and 23 feeble-minded persons.

There were fourteen county hospitals, with 331 rooms and wards, and 670 beds, with a total population on June 30, 1911, of 479, of which 343 were males and 136 females. There were 11 children, 11 adult blind, 109 insane, and 13 feeble-minded persons.

At the close of June 30, 1912, there were sixteen county farms, with a total of 1,807 acres, of which 695 were under cultivation. There were 251 wards and 565 beds. Upon the above date there were 398 male and 63 female inmates, 6 children, 21 blind, 21 insane, and 52 feeble-minded persons.

In the ten county hospitals open at the above date there were 100 wards and rooms, with 533 beds. On June 30, 1912, the inmates numbered 292 males and 150 females, 15 children, 8 blind, 107 insane, and 2 feeble-minded. The largest number of insane were at the Denver County Hospital.

While many of the buildings housing these institutions were not built for the purpose, yet they afford a comfortable shelter for those who seek a place to tide them over sickness or old age. With one exception, these places are kept clean, and there is every evidence of humane treatment being afforded the inmates.

It is noticeable that at most of the county farms no attempt is made to cultivate the land, for the reason that inmate help is out of the question. Few men or women drift into these places who are capable of manual labor. The farms are usually leased out to the superintendent or some other person.

The following figures, duly certified and returned by the county commissioners and county clerks of the state, represent the cost of the maintenance of the poor:

For the twelve months closing with June 30, 1911, the total amount expended by fifty-nine out of sixty counties of the state (La Plata not reporting) was $437,499.25. Of the above amount, $19,584.18, being slightly less than 4.5 per cent, was returned to the counties from produce sold by the county farms, expense of maintenance reimbursed by relatives and friends, and from miscellaneous items.

Of the $437,499.25, $14,676.75, or 3.36 per cent, was paid to the superintendents and overseers of the poor for their services, and $34,334.06, or nearly 8 per cent, was paid as salaries to the several county physicians.

Upon the fifteen county farms and homes of the state, $80,626.01, or 18.43 per cent, was expended; while $125,728.22, or nearly 20 per cent, was expended for the support of the fourteen county hospitals of the state, and $182,134.21, or 41.64 per cent, was distributed in the way of outdoor relief.

During the corresponding period closing with June 30, 1912, complete returns show that a total of $553,523.99 was expended for the care and maintenance of the poor. Of the above amount, $7,476.55, or slightly over 1 per cent, was returned to the counties from produce sold, etc.

Of the above total, $12,877.84, or 2.32 per cent, was paid to superintendents and overseers of the poor for their services; $34,266.22, or 6.19 per cent, was paid to county physicians; and the sixteen county farms of the state cost $115,167.85, or 20.80 per cent. The county hospitals required $151,275.05, or 27.30 per cent; while the remainder, $239,937.03, or 43.34 per cent, went for outdoor relief.

Thirty-three blind persons were reported as receiving public relief.

Returns received from the several counties of the state show that for the twelve months ending June 30, 1911, 280 persons were adjudged insane, of whom 233 were committed to the State Asylum. One hundred and nine were being cared for in the several county hospitals, and 47 cared for elsewhere. Fifty-four thousand nine hundred and seven dollars and seventy-nine cents was expended for the care of the 156 insane persons not provided for by the state. During this period, 62 feeble-minded persons were cared for either in county or in private institutions.

The total returns from the county institutions show that 26 blind persons are being provided for.

For the year ending June 30, 1912, there were 191 insane persons maintained by the several counties of the state, outside of the State Asylum, at an expense of $44,394.66. One hundred and twenty-four (of whom 109 were cared for by Denver County) were kept in county hospitals, and 67 were cared for by private institutions and elsewhere.

During the above period there were 40 feeble-minded persons maintained by the several counties of the state.

Reports covering the work of the juvenile courts have been received from all the counties of the state.

The following figures show the number of petitions filed, and the disposition of the same, for the twelve months ending June 30, 1911, and the twelve months ending June 30, 1912:

A comparison of the foregoing table shows that during the twelve months ending with June 30, 1912, the number of petitions filed before the court was 115 more than for the preceding twelve months. The increase was in the number of dependents dealt with, there being 107 fewer petitions filed for delinquency, while 271 more were considered for dependency. There was a decrease of 149 of those found delinquent, while the dependent exceeded the preceding year by 176. Ten more boys were sent to the Industrial School and 14 girls to the Girls' School. Thirty-five more boys and 25 more girls were sent to the State Home.

There was an increase of 15 dependents adopted from the courts into private homes. The number sent to other institutions remains the same as last year.

Fifty-six of the 58 county jails of the state have been inspected. Elbert, Jackson, Crowley, and Moffat Counties have none, and the jails of Baca and Park counties were not reached. Seventeen of the jails inspected were located in the basements of court-houses, 9 were separate structures of stone, 18 of brick, 5 of concrete, 3 of frame, 2 were log buildings, and 2 were in court-houses above the basement floor.

In the several jails inspected there were found 209 men and 16 women held for trial, and 113 men and 11 women serving sentences.

The energetic and persistent campaign waged by the Board against the insanitary and obsolete type of jail has borne fruit. During this biennial period two antiquated and objectional jails have been replaced by those of modern design. Plans have already been prepared for jails in three of the larger counties, while a movement in this direction has been made in several more, all intended to do away with the basement dungeons now in use by those contemplating improvements.

The alterations recommended for the San Miguel jail were promptly made, and the same is now well lighted. The jails in Archuleta and Phillips Counties are still the veritable fire-traps previously reported, and it will be nothing short of a miracle if human lives are not sacrificed in these places.

Taken as a whole, there is a manifest improvement in the condition of the county jails of Colorado, but they are far from satisfactory. As in the last biennial report, testimony must be given to the humane temperament and kindly disposition of those who have immediate charge of this class of institution. Little or no work is performed by prisoners confined to serve sentences.

Complete reports of the jail population of the state from July 1, 1910, to June 30, 1911, show a total population, month by month, of 5,726. A total of 3,377 men and 246 women were detained to serve sentences, and 1,974 men and 120 women were held pending trial. The average monthly population was 477 1-6, of whom 301 11-12 were serving sentences and 175 1-4 were awaiting trial. The highest number confined was in April, being 586, and the lowest number was 346 in December—a difference of 239.

On the first day of July, 1911, there were 487 persons in the several county jails of the state, three of whom were under sixteen years of age. During the year 72 insane men and 21 women were held. The total population, month by month, of the period covered between July 1, 1911, and June 30, 1912, was 6,103. A total of 3,296 men and 261 women were serving sentences, and 2,403 men and 143 women were kept for trial. The average monthly population was 508 7-12, of whom 296 5-12 were serving sentences and 212 2-12 were to be tried. The highest number confined was in February, being 590, and the lowest, 411, in June—a difference of 178.

On the first day of July, 1912, there were 401 persons in the jails of the state, 9 of whom were under sixteen years; and 5 insane persons. The number of insane held during preceding months was 112.

It is to be hoped that the basement jail may soon be a thing of the past. It is in no way suited to the purpose intended. The reformatory influences of a dark place beneath the ground, where sunlight and air are largely excluded, cannot be great, and such jails are inconvenient for those who have them in keeping. If they cannot be banished any other way, they should be legislated out of existence.

Too little attention is paid to the matter of jail sites. In the larger counties this is important and should be considered with a view to the beneficial use of the plant and of its occupants. In at least one state the prisoners serving sentences are employed in performing labor upon the farm where public dependents are housed. This adds to the comfort of the infirm and physically unfortunate, and conduces to the better moral and bodily welfare of the prisoners. Perhaps later, out of this combination, a scheme for the payment of a wage to sentenced men may be evolved, which will prove a benefit to the public, the prisoner, and his family.

From investigation and the experience of this Board in approving jail plans, improvement in jail architecture seems to be slow. No great departure from the lines laid down many years ago appears to have been made, except perhaps in the matter of light and sanitation. The promiscuous mixing of prisoners of all grades and degrees of degradation is still permitted, and there is no single-cell system where men or women possessing any degree of self-respect may be kept from further contamination, or where several members of a gang may be kept apart until tried and sentenced. As it is now, prearranged testimony may be concocted and the ends of justice defeated.

Jails should not merely be places of safekeeping, but it is here that the first effort for the reclamation of the delinquent should be made. This effort should be centralized and well directed to the end that few or none should graduate to the more extensive and expensive state penal institutions. All persons serving sentences in county jails should be placed under the commissioners of the State Penitentiary and the warden thereof.

During the last two years forty-eight city and town jails have been inspected.

There has been little pretense toward making these places reformatory, convenient, clean, or in any degree comfortable. With but two exceptions, little or no attention has been paid to gaining any architectural benefit in their location and construction. While in the larger cities these places are fairly well kept, the usual town jail is in bad condition.

It is to be hoped that a modern and well-planned building will soon replace the present dungeon in use in the city of Pueblo; and that the authorities of Denver will see their way clear to improve the cramped and undesirable quarters now used as a city prison.

In obedience to the desire of the Board, everything possible has been done by the official staff to bring about a better condition in respect to city and town jails.

It is noticeable that few prisoners are required to serve sentences in these places.

Energetic measures have been taken to eliminate the use of comforts from public and other institutions, and the stand taken by the Board has been rewarded in more than one instance by a complete abandonment of this objectional form of bed-covering. Steps have been taken to put into effect the order of the Board, intended to do away with the use of comforts by the first day of July, 1914. This will give ample time to allow those now in service to fulfill their period of usefulness, and to provide for the gradual introduction of institution blankets. The latter will not only make the bed more comfortable, but will improve appearances wherever used.

When the public employment offices of the state were established, it was hoped that they would prove a boon to the moneyless unemployed; but, the greater call for labor being in the hands of the larger employers in construction work, the purpose of the public employment office has failed, for the reason that the subordinates doing the actual hiring do this from the private agencies, to which a fee is paid by those engaged. This fee is then divided between the agency and the employing foreman or superintendent. To make the State Employment Bureau really effective, private agencies should be abolished by law.

Contractors demand a hospital fee from each employe, and the practice of deducting this fee from the first few days' wages of the men, engaged without regard to the length of time they are to be retained, is an abuse that should be corrected.

Thirteen statistical blank forms, requesting information from state and county officers and institutions, also from private charitable institutions and associations, have been prepared and distributed. Complete returns have been received from all concerned.

The subject-matter contained in many of these forms is incorporated in this report.

In the two years last past much has been done by the private charities of the state. An insight into the magnitude of this work may be gained from the annexed report of the assistant secretary.

This field appears to be well covered, though there seems to be a scarcity of temporary housing for men and women.

The care of working-girls who require to be tided over periods of unemployment should receive the earnest consideration of those engaged in philanthropic endeavor.

From the reports on file in this office it appears that $828,166.57 was collected and disbursed in this work. The two Jewish sanatoria for tuberculous patients received the greater portion of the amount expended—$394,062.91—from sources outside the State of Colorado, leaving a total of $434,103.66, or over two hundred thousand dollars annually, raised within the commonwealth for the support and maintenance of the philanthropies listed in the report mentioned.

At this time the office force consists of four members, besides the secretary. Mrs. Martha Coates and Miss Frances Farrar are identified with the work of the Board of Charities and Corrections; Miss May Henderson, assisted by Miss Jewell Gould, performing the duties of the pardon department.

Following this report is an account embracing the respective proceedings of the Board, and also a statement of expenses incurred.

In closing, I wish to thank the president and members of the Board for their assistance and encouragement during the period just past. My thanks are also due to the office staff for their loyalty and diligence. At this time I wish to express my appreciation for the many courtesies received from the Boards and heads of the state charitable and correctional institutions; to the county officers with whom I have come in contact; also to the heads of the county institutions throughout the state; and last, but not least, to the press.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM THOMAS,
Secretary.

Report of the Assistant Secretary

To the Secretary of the State Board of Charities and Corrections:

During the biennial period ending with November 30, 1912, the several private charitable and semi-charitable institutions, associations, and societies of the state have been regularly visited and thoroughly inspected. Individual reports of the same are incorporated in this volume.

Sixty-two licenses have been issued to eleemosynary institutions. Three are held awaiting the compliance with recommendations recently made.

Visits were also made to the medical and dental clinics, with a view to determining the amount of aid rendered by these, free of charge, to the poor. Some of these dispensaries do not keep a record of cases, but it is safe to say that over 30,000 cases have been treated. This does not include the dispensary maintained by the city of Denver.

Private boarding homes for children were also visited, in order to obtain a knowledge of their condition and of the causes which lead to their existence.

Such recommendations have been made as were deemed for the betterment of those housed or assisted. The spirit in which these suggestions were received by superintendents and members of boards of directors, and their prompt compliance therewith, have been gratifying in the extreme. In more than one instance a complete renovation of the entire premises, including the purchasing of new beds and bedding, has followed a demand for the same made by an investigating committee of this Board.

The field covered by the private charities is very broad, embracing provisions for the needy of both sexes from infancy up; relieving temporary wants, restoring self-respect, and training the youth into useful citizens and to be of value to the world. A protecting arm is also thrown around the wayward and erring girl.

Homes for women earning a small wage, or who need a shelter between periods of employment, rooming-houses where working-men may lodge comfortably for a nominal sum, temporary accommodations for homeless men and women (the men being in the majority), and bureaus whose purpose it is to find employment for these, are maintained in various sections of the state.

Every endeavor is made to meet the needs of such aged men and women, especially couples, as are mentally and physically capable of maintaining shelters of their own, thus relieving the necessity for separation in their declining years; and a home is also maintained for such aged women as can, in a small way, aid financially in their maintenance.

For the sick, and those whose lives are ebbing away, exist sanatoria, hospitals, hospital and visiting nurse associations, dispensaries, and clinics.

Some of the churches are conducting general settlement work in their immediate vicinity, realizing that the first step in the saving of souls is to relieve temporal needs and to provide a wholesome environment.

The business man has also interested himself in the question of practical philanthropy, and there are organizations in various cities, officered by practical and experienced persons, to deal with the maintenance of organized charities, temporary relief, street begging, and indiscriminate canvassing for subscriptions for charitable purposes, to avoid duplication, and incidentally to determine, as near as possible, the best methods of eliminating the causes that lead to conditions requiring such extensive and expensive work.

The reports from the various private charities for the biennial period are as follows:

For the year ending June 30, 1911:

Seventeen child-caring institutions have received 2,742 children, 1,981 free; expenditures, $121,597.83.

Three strictly charitable hospitals: 641 patients free; expenditures, $138,533.16.

Children's Hospital, semi-charitable: 261 patients, 53 free; expenditures, $16,400.21.

Visiting Society for the Aged: Nearly 800 men and women over sixty-five years of age on list, all free; expenditures, $2,066.33.

Old Ladies' Home: 67, one-third free; expenditures, $12,114.94.

Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association: 344, free; expenditures, $5,945.95.

Three refuge homes for women: 376, 212 free; expenditures, $13,468.52.

Five settlements: 64,999; expenditures, $11,406.48.

Seven charity organizations: expenditures, $26,687.30. (This does not include the amount appropriated by the United Charities of Denver to the private charities, which amounts to $32,150.)

Three Salvation Army and Volunteers of America: 38,900 persons assisted; expenditures, $35,831.04.

Three people's missions and working-men's homes: 40,124 persons assisted; expenditures, $11,126.30.

Free Dispensary: 1,778 free; expenditures, $300.

Boys' Club: 350 free; expenditures, $1,700.

Making a total expenditure of $397,994.04.

From this amount, $67,623.22 has been covered back from such fees and charges as could be collected, leaving a balance of $329,948.09 to be secured by subscription, etc. The institutions belonging to the United Charities of Denver receive from that association about one-fourth of their revenue; and the bulk of the income of the two Jewish hospitals for consumptives, amounting to $135,862.14, is received from outside the state.

According to the reports for the year ending June 30, 1912, the seventeen child-caring institutions housed on that date 1,043 children; total received for the year, 2,457; of these 203 were paying, 495 partly paying, and the remainder free: 75 adoptions, 44 deaths; expenditures, $114,296.43.

The twelve associated charities and relief associations assisted 11,804 persons; expenditures, $66,756.88.

The nine religious relief agencies gave aid to 35,528 persons, expending $31,329.84.

The five settlements helped 66,456 persons, expending $22,378.61.

The five semi-charitable hospitals received 918 patients, expending $280,190.64.

The three refuge homes provided a shelter and care for 193 girls; expenditures, $17,111.34.

The three institutions for delinquents housed 1,734 persons; expenditures, $29,823.72.

The two visiting nurse associations assisted 2,038 sick persons; expenditures, $10,264.88.

The Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association gave hospital care to 310 persons; expenditures, $7,200.

The Boys' Club provided instruction and entertainment for 411 boys; expenditures, $2,024.41.

The Ladies' Relief Society provided a home for 66 old ladies; expenditures, $14,287.74.

The Visiting Society for the Aged paid rent for and otherwise assisted 1,216 old men and women; expenditures, $3,493.82.

The two homes for working-girls gave, at a nominal cost, shelter and board to 968 girls or young women; expenditures, $12,848.66.

The Coal Guild furnished fuel to 500 families; expenditures, $1,370.19.

The Needlework Guild distributed 7,482 new garments; expenditures, $143.54.

Total, $613,620.70. Of this, $89,036.97 was covered back from fees, charges, and other sources, leaving a balance of $524,583.73 to be raised by subscriptions, etc. The United Charities of Denver furnished $26,365.25 of this sum to the societies constituting its membership. The greater portion of the income of the two Jewish hospitals, amounting to $258,200.77 is received from outside the state.

These tables are of interest, since they show that the private charities endeavor to keep pace with the growing demands.

On the whole, the private charities are well conducted and the money at their disposal wisely expended.

It is a fact worthy of note that, in proportion to the population, very few deaths occur in the orphanages. The reports from the seventeen such institutions show a total of 2,457 inmates for the year ending June 30, 1912, and 44 deaths for the same period; 20 of these being infants in refuge homes, born with almost no vitality. This low death-rate may be attributed to regularity in meals and hours for sleep and recreation, and the plain, substantial food served. From the general appearance of the children, it would seem that they are sufficiently nourished. Ample playgrounds are provided and, in most instances, are well equipped.

Physically these children are above the normal. However, there is a tendency on the part of the smaller orphanages to overcrowd, and to attempt to care for more children than their buildings and finances will properly allow. It would seem a wiser plan to receive fewer children and care for them in a more thorough manner.

A cook who understands food values is a necessity in a children's home. Too often this person is prone to serve that which is easiest to prepare, without regard to the nourishing qualities. The prevailing custom of serving tea and coffee to small children should be abandoned.

Associated charities, supported by public subscription, are organized and in successful operation in Boulder, Canon City, Colorado Springs, Delta, Denver, Fort Collins, Greeley, Pueblo, and Trinidad, supplementing the work performed by the commissioners of the various counties, who administer outdoor and other relief. Aside from this, the more extensively organized private charitable work, so far as we are aware, is confined almost wholly to Denver, Pueblo, and Colorado Springs, the orphanages and other institutions being located in or near these cities.

Charitable and semi-charitable hospitals are, with one exception, well equipped with modern appliances, and are maintained on a par with the paying institutions of this character.

The work begun during the previous biennial period toward the control and elimination of the undesirable places and persons offering advertisements relating to and conducting lying-in hospitals has continued with unabated interest; and, through the concerted action of the various boards engaged in the work, much has been accomplished and at the present writing there are but four strictly private lying-in hospitals operating under a state license.

There are three refuge homes where this class of unfortunates may be properly cared for at much less expense, and where training is given which tends to strengthen character and to mold them into purer womanhood, and where infants are legitimately provided for.

The matter of certain advertisements appearing in some of the daily papers, relative to the care of women during confinement and the subsequent disposition of their offspring, was taken up with the city editors, with the result that the phraseology has been materially modified and only those persons licensed by the State Board of Health may advertise. However, while these advertisements may conform to the letter of the law, they are in reality, a violation in intent. The words "adoption," "confidential," etc., convey to the expectant mother the information she desires, and that she may shirk all responsibility as to the future of her child.

There seems to be some difficulty in securing permanently competent directors or heads of a few of the eleemosynary institutions, and the frequent changes are detrimental to both institution and inmates. It is most important to have in this capacity a thoroughly competent, trained person, either through experience or in a school for this purpose. We are pleased to note the recent addition to Colorado institutions of several such workers, and also to say that the superintendents of some of the private charities so conduct their institutions as to place them in the first rank in the United States.

One of the needs of the Rocky Mountain section is a school for the training of social workers. Philanthropic work is fast becoming a profession, and training schools are too far removed to be of advantage to many in the work in Colorado.

In order that the State Board of Charities and Corrections may keep in touch with the financial status of the eleemosynary institutions and associations, and have a knowledge of the distribution of funds, and obtain the data required for reports, etc., a uniform system of bookkeeping should be adopted by all these institutions, embracing detailed records of each inmate, and as nearly as possible information as to his parents, relatives, or friends. In this way the burden of their maintenance might be made to fall upon the proper individuals, and in some measure preserve the unity of the home.

Better sanitation should obtain in some of the semi-charitable lodging-houses, and better housing and sanitation for dispensaries and clinics, as well as a centralization of effort. Each dispensary and clinic should have one or more visiting nurses to assist in case of illness, to instruct the members of the family in the care of patients, and to teach the necessary precautions in regard to contagious diseases. This practice is not so generally followed as it should be.

Through being obliged to earn a livelihood, many mothers sometimes find it necessary to board out their children. Since the orphanages have not the required equipment for caring for children under three years of age, the mothers place their little ones in boarding homes. This Board has no jurisdiction over these homes, except the right of visitation, which has been fully exercised.

At the close of the year ending June 30, 1912, there were fourteen of these homes, with a capacity of 222. The buildings used for this purpose are usually small, and in some instances the equipment and sanitary conditions are not such as should exist for the proper care of children.

In this connection, the matter of illegitimacy was especially considered, and it was found that this is one of the least of the causes for the boarding out of children. This is to be accounted for from the fact that those who have the care of unmarried women at the time of their confinement dispose of the infants soon after their birth, either by adoption, giving away, or placing in the State Home. It seems apparent that more than one illegitimate child is so placed that it may be deserted or die on other hands.

Authority to exercise the same supervision over these children's boarding places as prevails over eleemosynary institutions should be granted.

It is to the interest of the public that causes of dependency be studied in all their details; that the reasons for our orphanages being filled to overflowing be ascertained. As well as caring for dependents, the elimination of the conditions bringing about the dependency has received much consideration from this Board. If philanthropists ever eliminate sin and crime, it must be by beginning with the child and the home. The inalienable right of the child is home environment and mother-love, and some plan must be put in operation to prevent it being deprived of this right. Since investigations prove that one-third of the children housed in orphanages and boarding homes are so placed through divorce or separation of parents, it well behooves us to combat this growing evil.

Desertion of the family is another fruitful source from which institutions draw children, and the law applying in these cases should be more rigidly enforced.

Crime, and the subsequent arrest and imprisonment of the father, disrupt the home. The providing of work for the prisoner and the payment of even a nominal sum for his service, the money to go to his family, would keep more than one child out of an institution.

Poverty causes many mothers to place out their children, and it is hoped that the Mothers' Compensation Act will relieve this phase of the situation, and enable the worthy mother to keep the home intact.

These are grave questions, and the getting at the causes and the working for their elimination demand the continued attention, not only of this Board, but of all students of sociology.

In closing this report, I wish to express my appreciation of the courteous treatment accorded by members of the boards, superintendents, matrons, county officials, and the other individuals interviewed, who were ever ready to give of their valuable time, advice, and assistance. In unity there is strength, and a hearty co-operation the very best means of obtaining results.

MARTHA O. COATES,
Assistant Secretary.

MEETINGS OF THE BOARD

December 13, 1910. Regular monthly meeting. Present: Mrs. S. M. Caspar, presiding; Mrs. James Williams, Rev. W. S. Friedman, Mr. Lafayette M. Hughes, Mr. William Thomas. Reports of committees submitted. Communication from Cyrus Turner referred to Mrs. Williams for investigation. Complaints regarding the Norma Home heard. Secretary instructed to write to Dr. Garwood, secretary of the board of this institution, calling his attention to recommendations, and also to Home League Orphanage, recommending changes in fire escapes.

January 3, 1911. Special meeting. Present: Mrs. S. M. Caspar, presiding; Mrs. James Williams, Rev. Dr. W. S. Friedman, Mr. Lafayette M. Hughes, Mr. William Thomas. Mrs. Williams reported that investigation shows there is every reason to believe that Cyrus Turner is mentally unbalanced and that the charges of cruelty are unfounded. The secretary was instructed to write to Mrs. M. Reno, at Bunch, Iowa, a sister of Mr. Turner, inquiring further as to his mental condition. The secretary was instructed to report the matter of fire escapes at the Home League Orphanage to the Fire and Police Board, since no action had been taken by the board of that institution. The assistant secretary reported that the board of directors of the Norma Home had signified its willingness to consider recommendations made by this Board. Appropriations asked for by the various institutions for the coming biennial period were considered.

January 10, 1911. Regular meeting. Present: Mrs. S. M. Caspar, presiding; Mrs. James Williams, Rev. Dr. W. S. Friedman, Rev. William O'Ryan, Mr. William Thomas. Appropriations for the various state institutions, and the bills to be presented to the legislature, were considered.

January 14, 1911. Adjourned regular meeting. Present: Mrs. S. M. Caspar, presiding; Mrs. James Williams, Rev. Dr. W. S. Friedman, Rev. William O'Ryan, Mr. William Thomas. The financial needs of the state institutions, and the presentation of bills to the legislature, considered.

January 18, 1911. Adjourned regular meeting. Present: Mrs. S. M. Caspar, presiding; Mrs. James Williams, Rev. Dr. W. S. Friedman, Rev. William O'Ryan, Mr. William Thomas. Bills were delivered to those members of the legislature who had consented to introduce them.

February 16, 1911. Regular monthly meeting. Present: Mrs. S. M. Caspar, presiding; Mrs. James Williams, Mr. Lafayette M. Hughes, Mr. William Thomas. Mr. W. E. Collett appeared and requested the co-operation of the Board in the matter of furnishing to discharged paroled prisoners, by the warden, of money, clothing, and transportation. Mr. Collett also brought up the matter of duplication in private charitable institutions.

March 1, 1911. Special meeting. Present: Mrs. S. M. Caspar, presiding; Mrs. James Williams, Rev. Dr. W. S. Friedman, Rev. William O'Ryan, Mr. Lafayette M. Hughes, Mr. William Thomas. MYRON STRATTON HOME
Colorado Springs

D. H. Rice.....	Trustee
Tyson S. Dines.....	Trustee
William Lennox.....	Trustee
William Lloyd, Secretary
H. W. Cowan, Superintendent

To quote from the will of Mr. Stratton:

"The purpose for which said corporation shall be created and to which this bequest is devoted is and shall be the erection, furnishing and maintenance of a free home for poor persons who are without means of support and who are physically unable by reason of old age, youth, sickness or other infirmity to earn a livelihood, and who are not by reason of disease, insanity, gross indecency or immorality unfit to associate with worthy persons of the condition in life above named. The inmates of said home shall be selected by the Board of Trustees of said corporation, first from poor persons of the condition above stated, who are actual residents of the County of El Paso in the State of Colorado, and second from any poor persons of the condition above stated who are at the time of their selection actual residents of any other County in the State of Colorado, who shall be admitted thereto in the order of priority of their application up to the full capacity of said Home to accommodate and provide for them without serious inconvenience to persons who shall at the time of their application be inmates of said Home."

Ten years' residence in the state is required of all old people who are otherwise eligible for admission under the terms of the will.

It is the intention of the trustees, in compliance with the wish of the testator, not only to provide for and make comfortable the aged, but to domicile the youth of all ages under fourteen years, and to retain guardianship of the same until they are thoroughly educated and prepared for good citizenship and the various vocations of life above that of ordinary day labor.

Plans and specifications for the Home are completed and ready for inspection by contractors who wish to bid upon the construction of buildings. Bids will be opened January 21, 1913.

A contour of the building site has been made and the grounds platted, a photograph of which is framed and in the office of the State Board of Charities and Corrections.

The first unit consists of four three-room and six four-room cottages for old couples, one cottage for a family of twenty boys from six to ten years of age, and one for girls from six to ten years of age, and a cottage for the family of the superintendent.

Each of the cottages for the aged couples is located on a lot about 100 by 150 feet; sufficient ground to provide a lawn, a garden spot, and a poultry yard. The cottages are to be fully furnished, and all necessary fuel, food, and clothing provided.

The children in each cottage will be in the care of a competent matron, with an assistant and a cook.

The young people will, for their instruction, assist in every detail of household duties, such as planning and preparing the meals, doing the family washing and ironing, formulating and executing ideas for the comfort and pleasure of the members of each, and in every way possible create a home atmosphere.

An extension of over two miles of water-pipe line supplies an abundance of pure mountain water for domestic use, and the completion of Spring Run Reservoir No. 2 largely increases the capacity of the irrigation system.

Being the only institution known which provides for both sexes, without an age limit, a home and a thorough education, the trustees, after careful thought and research, are yet faced with many difficult problems which experience alone will solve.

The governor shall be ex officio a member of said board. Appointments to fill vacancies caused by death, resignation or removal before the expiration of such terms may be made by the governor, to hold until next meeting of the general assembly. The governor may at any time remove any member of said board upon causes to be specifically stated.

496. BOARD ROOM—MEETINGS—RULES.

Sec. 2. It may make, adopt and enforce, for the regulation of its own proceedings, such rules and orders as are necessary to carry into effect the purposes for which this board is created and maintained. It shall have the power to investigate the whole system of public charities and correctional institutions, to examine into the condition and management of all prisons, jails, reformatories, reform and industrial schools, hospitals, infirmaries, orphanages, public and private retreats and asylums for the insane, and any of such institutions which derive their support wholly or in part from state, county or municipal appropriations, and the officers of the various institutions named herein, shall, without necessary delay, when so requested, in writing, furnish to the board such information, statistical or otherwise, as may be demanded, and said board shall in all cases require from such institutions an annual report to be made as of June 30th of each year and filed with the board within twenty (20) days thereafter, containing such matters and in such form as may be prescribed by the board. Failure to so report or to report in full shall render every person or persons having charge or control of such institution liable to a penalty of five dollars per day for each day in default, to be recovered by the secretary of the board for the board as a debt in any court having competent jurisdiction of the amount and the persons.

All accounts and expenditures shall be paid in the same manner as the expenditures of the executive departments of the state are paid.

498. BOARD INVESTIGATE METHOD OF CONDUCTING SIMILAR INSTITUTIONS IN OTHER STATES.

Sec. 4. Whenever the board shall deem it advisable and expedient to obtain information in respect to the condition and practicable workings of charitable, penal, pauper and reformatory institutions in other states, the governor may authorize or designate any member or members of said board, or the secretary thereof, to visit such institutions in operation in other states; and by personal inspection to carefully observe and report to said board on all such matters relating to the conduct and management thereof as may be deemed to be interesting, useful and of value to be understood in the government and discipline of similar institutions in this state.

499. MEMBERS OF BOARD NOT TO BE INTERESTED IN CONTRACT.

Sec. 5. No member of said board or their secretary shall be directly or indirectly interested in any contract for building, repairing or furnishing any institution, which by this act they are authorized to visit and inspect; nor shall any officer of such institution be eligible to appointment on the board hereby created.

THE MOTHERS' COMPENSATION ACT

AN ACT TO AMEND AN ACT ENTITLED, AN ACT CONCERNING DEPENDENT AND NEGLECTED CHILDREN, APPROVED APRIL 2, 1907.

Be It Enacted by the People of the State of Colorado:

Section 1. That Section 7 of an Act entitled An Act Concerning Dependent and Neglected Children, approved April 2, 1907, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 7. Any dependent child committed to the State Home for Dependent and Neglected Children shall, as to its care and disposition by said home, be subject to any special order of the court making such commitment, provided such order be made at the time of such commitment. If the parent or parents of such dependent or neglected child are poor and unable to properly care for such child, but otherwise are proper guardians, and it is for the welfare of such child, to remain at home, the court may enter an order finding such facts and fixing the amount of money necessary to enable the parent or parents to properly care for such child, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Board of County Commissioners, and in those cities and counties operating under Article XX of the Constitution it shall be the duty of the department and authority performing that part of the functions of a board of county commissioners, or vested with power for the relief of the poor, to pay such parent or parents, or, if it seems for the best interest of the child, to some other person designated by the court for that purpose, at such times as said order may designate, the amount so specified, or when so ordered by the court, its equivalent in supplies and assistance, for the care of such dependent or neglected child until the further order of the court. The juvenile court in counties of over 100,000 population, and the county court in all other counties, shall appoint proper persons for the purpose of investigation, visitation, the keeping of records and the making of reports in cases requiring relief under this act. The details as to the number of such investigators, their rights, duties and powers in addition to that of investigators of such cases, their compensation, the limitations thereon and the authority of the county or city and county required to provide for such compensation shall be as provided by law for the employment of probation officers in such juvenile or county courts. It shall be the duty of the clerk of such juvenile or county courts, on or before December 1, 1912, and on or before the first day of July of each year thereafter, to submit to such county board or other proper authority a report of all cases receiving relief under this act and an estimate of the sum necessary to be placed at its disposal for complying with the provisions of this act. A copy of such report shall be filed with the State Board of Charities and Corrections. If the state home is unable to provide any child with a family home through voluntary adoption within six months from the time of its commitment, then as far as possible and if for the best interest of the child it shall be its duty to provide for the boarding out of said child in a suitable family home until such time as it may be adopted or shall have reached the age of sixteen years. Petitions and commitments under this act shall state the religious belief of parents, if known, and if not known the court shall endeavor to ascertain such fact, and family homes to which children are committed shall, as far as practicable, conform to such religious belief. On or before December 1, 1912, and on each July 1st next thereafter, before the convening of the succeeding general assembly, it shall be the duty of the superintendent of said home to submit to the governor and the state board of charities and corrections a detailed report of such boarding out of said children in family homes and an estimate as near as may be of the annual sum necessary for the maintenance of said boarding out system and visitation officers employed by said State Home in connection therewith. The governor shall transmit such estimate to such succeeding general assembly, which is hereby directed by the people of this State to appropriate from the state treasury a sum sufficient for the boarding out and visitation of said children, and otherwise carrying into effect the provisions of this act. Any of said courts enforcing the provisions hereof shall have the right to proceed as for contempt of court against officials who wilfully refuse to comply with its orders directing their compliance with the provisions hereof; provided the sums paid out under this act shall not exceed in any year the amount appropriated for such purposes by the county, city and county, or state authorities respectively. In counties having a population of over 20,000 the boards of county commissioners, and in cities and counties operating under Article XX of the constitution, the authority performing like duties to those of county commissioners, shall establish and maintain workhouses or proper facilities for the detention and employment of men convicted of non-support of women and children. Any sums of moneys earned by them or collected for their labor by the authorities in charge of such workhouses or facilities shall be used for the maintenance of the fund necessary to be expended by the county or city and county in carrying out the provisions of this act. The board of commissioners of the state penitentiary and reformatory shall make such similar provision as to said board seems most practicable to profitably employ all persons committed to such prisons for non-support of women or children, and any sums received for such labor shall be used for the maintenance of the fund provided by the state for compliance with the provisions of this act. This act shall be liberally construed for the protection of the child, the home and the state, and in the interest of public morals and for the prevention of poverty and crime."
