COLORADO PROPERTY TAXES

OVERVIEW

The Colorado property tax system provides revenue exclusively for local government services. The largest share of property tax revenue (55.8%) goes to support the state's public schools. County governments claim the next largest share (24.5%), followed by special districts (13.7%), municipal governments (5.1%), and junior colleges (0.9%).

The authority for property taxation is both constitutional and statutory. Article X of the Colorado Constitution provides that all property is taxable unless declared exempt by the Constitution, and that the actual value of taxable property shall be determined under the general laws to secure just and equalized valuations. The specific statutes pertaining to property taxation are found in Title 39, Articles 1 through 14, Colorado Revised Statutes.

Under the general laws of Colorado, county assessors are required to value all taxable property within their territorial jurisdictions. The State Board of Equalization has supervision over the administration of all laws concerning the valuation and assessment of taxable property and the levying of property taxes. The Division of Property Taxation, under the leadership of the Property Tax Administrator, coordinates and administers the implementation of property tax law throughout the sixty-three counties.

RESIDENTIAL ASSESSMENT RATE

For most property classes, assessors estimate the "actual value" of property, which is multiplied by an assessment rate or percentage to determine the "assessed (taxable) value." Until 1982, the assessment rate for both residential and non-residential property was 30 percent. However, beginning in the early 1970's, the market values of residential property increased much faster than values of non-residential property, shifting a greater percentage of the tax burden to residential property owners. Article X, Section 3(1)(b), of the Colorado Constitution, was enacted in 1982 to stabilize the tax burden on residential property. The amendment established a floating assessment rate for residential property while fixing the assessment rate for most other classes at 29 percent. The residential assessment rate is adjusted during years of reappraisal to maintain a consistent ratio between the total statewide assessed values of residential and non-residential property. The current residential assessment rate is 9.74 percent.

The General Assembly adjusts the residential assessment rate based on the findings of a study conducted by the Division of Property Taxation. The study begins with a calculation of the ratio of statewide residential to non-residential value for the prior reappraisal year. The ratio is then adjusted to account for new construction of residential and non-residential property that occurred during the prior two years. For the purpose of this study, new construction includes new real and associated new personal property, and the net change in production volumes of the natural resources, oil and gas, and producing mines classes. If the assessed value of residential new construction is greater than the assessed value of non-residential new construction, the residential side of the ratio is likely to increase; if it is lower, the residential side of the ratio is likely to decrease.

The new ratio, also known as the "target percentages," is the goal to be achieved through the establishment of the new residential assessment rate. The target percentages for 1999 were 46.49 percent residential and 53.51 percent non-residential. A proportion problem is created in which the estimated statewide assessed value for non-residential property is applied to the ratio to calculate the desired assessed value for residential property. The desired residential assessed value is compared to an estimated residential actual value to calculate the residential assessment rate.

Estimated values are used due to the timing of the study, which must be completed by April of each reappraisal year, prior to the establishment of new actual values by the assessor. For most property classes, two primary methods are used for making the estimates:

1. Weighted monthly median sales ratio regression studies are performed on lists of qualified/verified sales that occurred during the appropriate data gathering period.
2. In-depth interviews are conducted with county assessors and select staff.

The study conducted in 1999 was the first that did not result in a reduction of the residential assessment rate. Prior year rates are shown in table 1.

ASSESSED VALUES FOR 1999

Colorado assessed values increased substantially during 1999, with a total statewide increase of $6.55 billion, or 16.3 percent between 1998 and 1999. Table 2 breaks out this increase according to property class.

Table 2

Class	Percent Change 1998-1999
Vacant Land	+ 26.4%
Residential	+ 17.2%
Commercial	+ 21.1%
Industrial	+ 7.1%
Agricultural	+ 8.2%
Natural Resources	+ 7.0%
Producing Mines	+ 2.1%
Oil & Gas	- 12.6%
State Assessed	+ 9.1%
Net Total	+ 16.3%

The 16.3 percent increase in assessed value was the largest percentage change since 1987. The sharp increase was largely caused by the reappraisal of all properties from the 1996 to the 1998 level of value, reflecting market value increases attributable to the strength of the Colorado economy. The strong economy also resulted in new construction totaling $1.4 billion in assessed value. Three classes of property, vacant land, residential and commercial, accounted for 95.3 percent ($6.2 billion) of the total assessed value increase.

The increases to industrial and state assessed property are also attributable to the strength of the Colorado and national economies. The change in value for the agricultural class was largely caused by a higher ten-year average in commodity prices. Natural resources and producing mines increased due to higher prices for those commodities, and oil and gas property decreased due to lower market prices for crude oil and natural gas.

Although substantial, the bulk of the 16.3 percent increase occurred in the ten metropolitan counties located along I-25 between Fort Collins and Pueblo. These counties are Adams, Arapahoe, Boulder, Denver, Douglas, El Paso, Jefferson, Larimer, Pueblo and Weld. Substantial percentage increases also occurred in the seven major ski counties, while other rural counties experienced much smaller percentage changes. Table 3 illustrates the change in statewide assessed value by region.

Table 3

Region	$ change	% change
Metro Counties (10 counties)	$4,996,531,917	17.3%
Ski Counties (7 counties)	$922,344,150	20.7%
Other Mountain (29 counties)	$497,444,751	9.2%
Eastern Plains (17 counties)	$129,966,130	8.8%

TAXING ENTITIES

Revenue derived from 1999 property taxes (payable 2000) increased statewide for every type of local government. The combined revenue increase for taxes payable in 2000 is 9.26 percent. Table 4 lists the percentage increases in property tax revenue between taxes payable in 1999 and taxes payable in 2000

Table 4

Taxing Entity	% Increase 1999-2000
School District K-12	+ 8.01%
Junior Colleges	+ 3.35%
Counties	+ 7.91%
Municipalities	+14.36%
Special Districts	+15.84%
Combined Increase	+ 9.26%

As discussed in the overview, the largest share of local property tax revenue (55.8%) goes to support public schools. Schools, however, also receive a major portion of their funding from the state. Provisions in the state school finance act create a relationship between the distribution of state funding for schools and the assessed values within the individual districts. In general, districts with a greater assessed value per pupil receive less state aid than those with lower assessed values per pupil. The local property tax burden in those districts increases to fill the gap.

During the 1999-2000 budget year, funding from the state is expected to provide $2,834 per pupil, or about 57 percent of schools' total program funding.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Membership

The State Board of Equalization (state board) consists of the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, or their designees, and two members appointed by the Governor with consent of the Senate. Each appointed member must be a qualified appraiser, a former assessor, or a person who has knowledge and experience in property taxation. The state board members for 1999 were Lyle C. Kyle, Chairperson and appointee of Governor Roy Romer; JoAnn Groff, Vice-Chair and appointee of Governor Romer; Senator Ron Teck, designee of Ray Powers, President of the Senate; Representative Andy McElhany, designee of Russell George, Speaker of the House of Representatives; and Heather Witwer, designee of Governor Owens.

Duties and Responsibilities

The state board has various duties concerning the administration of property tax laws and equalization of the value of classes and subclasses of taxable property. Duties of the state board are found primarily in Article X, Sections 3 and 15 of the Colorado Constitution and in Title 39, Articles 1 & 9, Colorado Revised Statutes.

Among its duties, the state board reviews the findings and conclusions of the annual study and orders reappraisals in counties found not in compliance. The annual study was initiated by the 1982 amendment to the Constitution to ensure that all assessors value property at the same level of value using standardized procedures and statistical measurements. The study is conducted by an independent auditing firm contracted by the Director of Research, Legislative Council [39-1-104(16), C.R.S.]. The study and the resulting orders of reappraisal are the primary means of achieving statewide equalization. The state board also reviews county Abstracts of Assessment, decisions of county boards of equalization, and the policies and recommendations of the Property Tax Administrator.

1999 Enforcement and Repayment Actions

On October 12, 1999, the state board met to review the findings and conclusions of T.Y. Pickett & Co. Inc., audit contractor for Legislative Council.

After considering all evidence and testimony, the state board concluded that three counties were out of compliance with Colorado assessment law. Assessors of these counties subsequently received orders to reappraise the class or subclass of property found out of compliance. The counties are as follows:

County	Property Classes Ordered
Park	Vacant Land
Saguache	Vacant Land
Fremont	Irrigated Farm Land

Vacant land values for Park County were out of compliance because the reappraisal achieved a 26.46 percent coefficient of dispersion. That figure exceeds the vacant land standard of 20.99 percent. Saguache vacant land was out of compliance because the median sales ratio of 93.06 percent fell outside the allowable range of 95.0 to 105.0 percent.

A reappraisal of Fremont County's irrigated land was ordered because the crop yield used for valuing the subclass was 125 percent of the ten year average yield reported by the Colorado Agricultural Statistics Service (CASS). This fell outside the state board's compliance standard of 90 to 110 percent. Upon receiving this order, the county made a uniform adjustment to its irrigated land values to achieve compliance with the state board standard.

On December 3, 1999, the state board met and approved the plans for reappraisal submitted by Park and Saguache County. The board rescinded the reappraisal order for Fremont County upon receiving testimony from the Division of Property Taxation that Fremont's adjusted values for irrigated land were in compliance. The board did not consider repayment actions for 1999, because all 1998 values were found to be in compliance.

1998 Enforcement and Repayment Actions

On October 5, 1998, the state board met to review the findings and conclusions of T.Y. Pickett & Co. Inc.

After considering all evidence and testimony, the state board concluded that 1998 property values for all 63 counties were in compliance with Colorado assessment law, and no reappraisals were ordered.

The prior year, the state board had determined that the 1997 values for three counties were out of compliance, and issued the following reappraisal orders:

County	Property Classes Ordered
Lake	Vacant Land
Routt	Agricultural Sub-Classes
Hinsdale	Single Family Residential, Vacant Land, Commercial/ Industrial, Agricultural Improvements

Upon recommendation of the auditor, the state board concluded during its 1998 meeting, that the 1997 orders were justified and successfully completed.

As part of the 1982 amendment to the constitution, all counties that are ordered to reappraise are required to pay back the state for excess state equalization payments made to school districts. Excess state aid to schools can occur when counties are undervalued. The counties may be required to reimburse the costs of supervision as well. In 1998, the state board ordered the counties that had received 1997 orders to make the following paybacks and reimbursements.

	Supervision	State Aid to Schools Payback
Lake	$10,599.00	$0
Routt	$878.23	$81.79
Hinsdale	$959.30	$7.47

Since 1988, the state board has allowed counties to choose an alternative method for the repayment of the supervision costs. Rather than paying the money to the state, counties are allowed to apply the supervision repayment to the budgets of their assessors' offices, for the purpose of enhancing their operational effectiveness. No mill levy increases are allowed to fund the repayment. Each county that received a 1998 repayment order chose the alternative method.

DIVISION OF PROPERTY TAXATION

Under the general laws of Colorado, the Division of Property Taxation is headed by the Property Tax Administrator. The current Property Tax Administrator is Mary E. Huddleston. The Administrator is appointed by the State Board of Equalization to serve for a five-year term and until a successor is appointed and qualified.

The primary responsibility of the Division of Property Taxation (division) is to administer the implementation of property tax law throughout the sixty-three counties so that valuations are fair, uniform, and defensible, thereby ensuring that each property class contributes a fair share of the total property tax revenue. In other words, the division's goal is equalization of valuation and proper distribution of property taxes throughout the state.

The division is comprised of four sections: Administrative Resources, Appraisal Standards, Exempt Properties, and State Assessed Properties.

Administrative Resources staff serves as liaison to the sixty-three counties in determining existing and future needs for assistance from the division. In addition, the section serves as a liaison and coordinator with a variety of other agencies having an interest in property taxation.

The staff conducts all courses dealing with statutory reporting and the administration of an assessor's office and provides workshops in specialized areas of assessment administration such as parcel mapping, severed mineral assessment, and title conveyance.

The staff also researches, develops, and publishes manuals on assessment procedures and legal references, publishes the Mobile Equipment Manual for county clerks and recorders, and provides data processing coordination and administrative services for the division. It conducts research projects for the division and the General Assembly and provides administrative services for the State Board of Equalization and the Statutory Advisory Committee to the Property Tax Administrator. It also responds to taxpayer complaints and processes abatement petitions while providing technical consultation and assistance to county staff.

Appraisal Standards staff serves as liaison to the sixty-three counties in determining existing and future needs for assistance from the division primarily in the appraisal field. It also serves as a liaison and coordinator with a variety of other appraisal agencies and companies having an interest in property taxation.

The staff conducts courses dealing with all aspects of appraisal including the three approaches to value. It also conducts workshops in specialized areas such as standards and ethics for appraisers, sales ratios, agricultural valuation, contaminated property, and vacant land discounting procedures. All appraisal courses are approved for licensing by the Colorado Board of Real Estate Appraisers.

Appraisal Standards also researches, develops and publishes manuals on appraisal procedures for both real and personal property.

Exempt Properties examines all applications for exemption from property taxation for property claimed to be owned and used solely and exclusively for religious worship, private schools, or charitable purposes, and makes determinations on these cases. Annual reports of exempt properties are reviewed to determine continuations of the exemptions. The Exemptions Section reviews approximately 700 applications and 9,500 annual reports for exemption each year.

State Assessed Properties values all public utility properties in the state. The State Assessed Section sets values on approximately 600 companies every year.

POSSESSORY INTEREST

Overview

Possessory interest is a right to use government-owned property pursuant to a lease, license, permit or other right short of ownership. A question of considerable concern to Colorado assessors is whether such property, which would normally be exempt from taxation, should be subject to taxation due to the existence of a possessory interest.

Two cases currently pending before the Colorado Supreme Court may decide this question. The cases, known as Allen S. Black et al. v. Colorado State Board of Equalization and Eagle County Board of Commissioners v. Vail Associates, Inc., address the constitutionality of 39-3-136,

C.R.S. This statute was enacted in 1996 to prohibit the taxation of possessory interests in exempt property unless the authority to do so is specified in statute. The legislature enacted this statute subsequent to the Supreme Court's decision in Mesa Verde II that affirmed the taxable status of possessory interests. The following narrative traces the history of the possessory interest debate.

Mesa Verde I

In 1967, Mesa Verde Company filed an abatement/refund petition with Montezuma County seeking a refund of property taxes paid "under protest" since 1937. Mesa Verde claimed the improvements the company was taxed on were exempt because they were owned by the federal government. The petition was denied by the County Board of Equalization, and the company appealed to District Court. The court dismissed the appeal, ruling it must look "behind the shadow of the United States' title to the substantive ownership of plaintiff." The court ruled that Mesa Verde "had substantially all the incidents of ownership of these improvements" making them subject to taxation. Mesa Verde appealed the court's decision to the Supreme Court.

In Mesa Verde Company v. Montezuma County Board of Commissioners, et al., 178 Colo 49, 495 P. 2d 229 (Colo. 1972), the Colorado Supreme Court affirmed the District Court's ruling. The court noted that the contracts with the Secretary of the Interior granted Mesa Verde "...a possessory interest in all concessionaire's improvements consisting of all incidents of ownership..." The court stated that based on "...the contracts' terms, the language of relevant statutes, and the actions of the parties while under contract..." it was able to conclude there was support in the record for the trial court's finding. Of significance is the court's finding that legal title vested in the United States only for collateral security purposes for performance conditions is not conclusive evidence of ownership by the United States. In addition, since significant incidents of the plaintiff's ownership exist, the property should not be exempt from taxation.

Rockwell Case

In 1975, the Colorado Legislature passed Senate Bill 86, adding language to the statutes to affirm the taxation of possessory interest properties. The act stated in part:

"When any property which for any reason is exempt from taxation is leased, loaned, or otherwise made available to and used by a private individual, association, or corporation in connection with a business conducted for profit, the lessee or user thereof shall be subject to taxation in the same amount and to the same extent as though the lessee or user were the owner of such property,..." 39-3-112(1), C.R.S., repealed and reenacted in 1989 as section 39-3-135(1), C.R.S.

In 1980, the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in the United States of America v. State of Colorado, et al. (Rockwell Case), 627 F.2d 217 (1980), that management contracts do not create a possessory interest in property that is used in conjunction with the agreement. This case concerned the Rocky Flats Nuclear Weapons Plant and the operator/manager, Rockwell International. The court determined the relationship between the government and Rockwell was such that the company operated under a management contract and any use of the property was strictly delineated by the contract, making it not fall under the description of possessory interest.

In 1983, the Colorado Court of Appeals cited the "Rockwell Case" in Southern Cafeteria Inc. v. Property Tax Administrator, et al., 677 P.2d 362 (Colo. App. 1983) (Southern Cafeteria) ruling that management contracts cannot be valued as a possessory interest. Once again, the court found the taxpayer had no "incidents of ownership" over the property. The government provided essentially all equipment, fixtures, and real property, monitored the pricing structure, and maintained control over the amount of profit Southern Cafeteria could realize.

Mesa Verde II

The issue surfaced again in 1992 when, under an order from the Montezuma County Board of Equalization, the assessor placed an omitted property assessment on four parcels of land on which Mesa Verde Company operated its concessions. The company still operated under a contract with the U.S. Government to manage the improvements for the benefit of the general public. The taxpayer protested, then appealed to the County Board of Equalization, but was denied. The taxpayer then appealed to District Court, who ruled that: 1. "Mesa Verde did not enjoy a taxable 'ownership interest' in the subject land". 2. "Mesa Verde's use and possessory interest in the subject land was ... exempt from Colorado property tax under the plain language of sections 39-3-135(1) and 39-3-135(4)(c)..." and 3. Montezuma County had no standing to challenge the constitutionality of the statutes. Mesa Verde Company v. the Montezuma County Board of Equalization et al., 898 P. 2d 1, (Colo 1995).

The Montezuma County Board of Equalization appealed the issue of standing directly to the Supreme Court. In Mesa Verde Company v. Montezuma County Board of Equalization, et al., 831 P.2d 482 (Colo. App. 1992), the Supreme Court affirmed that the County Board of Equalization and assessor lacked standing to challenge the constitutionality of statute.

In 1993, the Colorado Legislature enacted 30-11-105.1, C.R.S., allowing counties or county officers, in defending an action in court, to contest the constitutionality of a statute. Based on this, Montezuma County filed a motion in District Court to vacate the judgment. The parties stipulated that the county now had standing, and the county's motion to vacate would be treated as a motion for summary judgment. The court agreed to vacate part of its order regarding the county's standing, but kept other parts of the order in force until it could rule on the constitutionality of 39-3-135, C.R.S.

In October 1993, the District Court denied the county's motion and ruled that 39-3-135, C.R.S., was unconstitutional as applied to users of federal land because it violates the Supremacy Clause of the U.S. Constitution. The court held that neither the federal land nor any alleged interest of Mesa Verde in the federal land is subject to Colorado property taxation, and that the county had no authority to tax Mesa Verde's use and possessory interest. Montezuma County appealed to the Colorado Supreme Court.

On April 24, 1995, in Mesa Verde Co. v. Montezuma County Board of Equalization et al., 898 P.2d 1 (Colo. 1995), the Supreme Court reversed the judgment of the District Court, ruling that:

- Mesa Verde Company's possessory interest was "real property" within the meaning of statutory provisions defining real property for tax purposes.
- Mesa Verde Company's possessory interest fell within the Government Contractor Exemption and the Public Park Exemption. However, those exemptions were invalid; they represented attempts by the Legislature to exempt real property that the Colorado Constitution did not authorize the Legislature to exempt.
- The Supremacy Clause did not preclude the state's taxation of the concessionaire's possessory and usufructuary interests in federally owned land.
- The resulting tax was valid because the Ski Area Valuation Rule (and not the unqualified As-if owned Rule) applied to determine valuation, 39-3-135(6), C.R.S. Thus, the result found unacceptable in the Rockwell case did not apply in this case.

In reaching its decision, the Supreme Court ruled that Mesa Verde's use and possession of federal land fell under the limitations in 39-3-135(1) and (4)(c), C.R.S. The court also ruled, however, that the second sentence of 39-3-135 (1) and all of (4)(c) were unconstitutional because they created exemptions not authorized by Article X of the Colorado Constitution. The court also stated: "Furthermore, sections 9 and 10 of Article X specifically proscribe the legislative power 'to impair the financial base of government operations' by exempting corporate bodies, such as Mesa Verde, from their share of taxation. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 158, 476 P.2d 982, 995 (1970); see also Colo. Const. Art. X; Sections 9 & 10."

Enactment of 39-3-136, C.R.S.

At the time of the Supreme Court's decision, HB 95-1071, titled Concerning Property Taxes, had passed through the House, and was in the Senate. HB 95-1071 was amended to repeal the possessory interest statute, 39-3-135, C.R.S., and the unit assessment rule statute, 39-1-106, C.R.S., and to place into statute valuation procedures if the Colorado Constitution was ever found to require possessory interest valuation. The reasoning behind repealing the possessory interest statute was that county assessors must have statutory permission to value possessory interests. This premise was partially based on a 1970 Supreme Court ruling that an assessor could not value a leasehold interest in otherwise exempt personal property without express direction from the Legislature, City and County of Denver v. Security Life & Accident Co., Colo. 173 Colo. 248, 477 P.2d 369 (Colo. 1970).

On June 5, 1995, Governor Romer vetoed HB 95-1071 stating more time should be dedicated to arriving at a solution. A group made up of possessory interest holders, their representatives, and governmental individuals met during the interim, but no agreement was reached.

The issue was debated again in 1996, resulting in passage of Senate Bill 96-218 and the enactment 39-3-136 and 39-1-103(17) C.R.S. The legislation did three things.

- Stated that possessory interests should not be taxed with the exceptions of: 1) equities in state lands, 2) mines, quarries, or minerals, including hydrocarbons, and 3) public utilities.
- Repealed 39-3-135, C.R.S., in its entirety and further stated that possessory interests in real or personal property exempt from taxation under 39-3-136, C.R.S., shall not be subject to taxation unless specific statutory provisions are enacted directing the taxation of possessory interests.
- Established procedures for valuing possessory interests that take effect if possessory interests are found to be taxable under the Constitution, 39-1-103(17), C.R.S.

The stated concern of the Legislature was the Supreme Court's holding that certain possessory interests in land are "real property" and, therefore, subject to property taxation. The Legislature felt the decision opened the door for a variety of possessory interest valuations such as grazing leases, permits on government land, or government employees' parking spaces in government-owned garages becoming subject to property taxation. Further, those interests could be valued by different methods.

SB 96-218 was signed by Governor Romer June 5, 1996, a month after the statutory date for mailing Notices of Valuation to taxpayers. When the State Board of Equalization (state board) met on October 16, 1996, eighteen counties had not yet removed possessory interest valuations because they believed the legislation was unconstitutional. The state board postponed the hearing on possessory interests to October 28, 1996, so counties had time to prepare presentations. They also informed the counties of their intention to uphold the law.

Counties' challenge to 39-3-136, C.R.S.

When the state board met on October 28, 1996, fourteen counties had not removed the possessory interest valuations. The state board issued orders to each of the counties to remove the possessory interest valuations, and it further ordered the counties to report back by November 13, 1996, that the order had been implemented.

The state board met on November 19, 1996, to review the counties' responses. Ten counties notified the state board they had not removed the possessory interest valuations. To protect remedies, Boulder County filed an appeal in Denver District Court November 13, 1996; Clear Creek County filed in Denver District Court November 13, 1996, and seven counties filed an action November 25, 1996. The seven counties were Eagle, Grand, Jefferson, Montezuma, Pitkin, Routt, and Summit. Gunnison County chose not to file an appeal in anticipation of the state board's filing a petition for writ of mandamus with the Supreme Court.

In December, 1996, the state board filed a petition for writ of mandamus with the Supreme Court asking the court to order the ten counties to show cause why they should not comply with the state board's order to remove the possessory interest valuations from the county assessment rolls. The state board also requested the court to stay the proceedings pending in Denver District Court. On December 19, 1996, the court denied the petition without comment.

On August 11, 1997, Denver District Court sided in favor of the State Board of Equalization and upheld the constitutionality of SB 96-218. The court based its ruling on the following points:

- The Supreme Court's decision in Mesa Verde Co. v. Montezuma is clearly based on a statutory definition of possessory interests as "real property." "The Supreme Court did not hold, or even suggest, that the subject land-use rights were inherently 'real property' as that term is defined in Article X, section 3," of the Constitution. Subsequent to the Supreme Court's decision, the Legislature enacted 39-3-136, C.R.S. (SB 96-218) to exclude possessory interests from the statutory definition of "real property."

- The counties did not meet the burden to prove SB 96-218 unconstitutional beyond a reasonable doubt.
- There is no requirement in the Colorado Constitution to tax possessory interests.
- The state board did not abuse its discretion in ordering all counties with 1996 possessory interest assessments to remove them from their tax rolls.

The counties appealed to the court of appeals, and on December 24, 1998 the court issued decisions that affirmed those of the district court. In doing so, the court cited the reasoning in Vail Associates, Inc. v. Eagle County Board of County Commissioners, Colo. App. No. 97CA0265, 10/29/98. This closely related case came before the court when Eagle County appealed the BAA's decision requiring them to remove Vail Associates' possessory interest value from the tax rolls.

In Vail Associates, the court based its decision on an understanding that the taxation of property requires implementing legislation; therefor, "the General Assembly has the discretion to determine questions of time, method, nature, purpose, and extent in respect to the imposition of taxes, the subjects upon which the taxing power is to be exercised, and the proceedings concerning taxation." The court said the constitution is a document that sets the limits in which the General Assembly can operate, but there is no restriction against the General Assembly taking actions within those limits. The General Assembly recognized its constitutional limitations "noting that it could not create a class of property to be taxed and then exempt certain members of that class." Therefor, the General Assembly "decided that it simply would not create that class consisting of possessory interests."

The court also addressed the BOE's objection to the enactment of 39-3-136, C.R.S., without the amendment of 39-1-102(14) and 39-1-111, C.R.S., the statutes cited in Mesa Verde as defining possessory interests as real property subject to taxation. "It is not for the reviewing court to determine that the General Assembly could have addressed an issue in a different or 'better' manner," it said. "Rather, the court's function is to uphold the intent of the General Assembly and determine whether a statute is constitutional."

The counties have appealed the decision to the Colorado Supreme Court. The court has consolidated oral arguments with those for Vail Associates Inc. and is expected to hear arguments as soon as May 2000. Jefferson County withdrew from the appeal in November 1999, and complied with the state board by removing its possessory interest valuations from the tax roll.

PROTESTS, APPEALS & ABATEMENTS

Protests and Appeals of Value

Colorado statutes mandate a process that provides taxpayers the opportunity to challenge the actual value established by the assessor. The process begins with the taxpayer's protest to the assessor. Upon receiving a protest, the assessor reviews the issues raised, and based on a preponderance of the evidence, either adjusts or maintains the actual value established for the property. Taxpayers who disagree with the assessor's decision can appeal to the County Board of Equalization (CBOE) comprised of the County Commissioners. Taxpayers who disagree with the CBOE's decision have three choices for further appeal; they can appeal to the State Board of Assessment

Appeals (BAA), district court or binding arbitration. Decisions of the BAA and district court can be appealed to the Colorado Court of Appeals and ultimately to the Colorado Supreme Court. Decisions of an arbitrator are final.

The number of protests and appeals varies greatly from county to county. During 1999, Larimer County received the greatest number of appeals with 9,769 while Kiowa County received none. For many counties, the protest process places a significant strain on the resources of the assessor's office, resulting in many hours of overtime or compensated time. Table five lists the protests and CBOE appeals for each county during the last three reappraisal years, organized according to the county officer pay categories established in 30-2-102, C.R.S. For the purpose of this table, The City and County of Denver was placed in category one. Table six provides a summary of protest and appeal statistics.

Abatements

Taxpayers who did not file a protest of value with the assessor can challenge the value through the abatement process. Abatement petitions can be filed for taxes erroneously or illegally levied due to an overvaluation or other assessment error. Taxpayers who did protest can still file an abatement petition for a clerical error or an illegality not involving appraisal judgement.

Abatement petitions can be filed up to two years after the date the taxes are due. Because abatement petitions are filed on taxes already levied, the abated or refunded taxes constitute lost revenue to the affected local governments; however, 39-10-114(1)(a)(I), C.R.S., authorizes local governments to recover abated taxes through an increase in their mill levies. Table seven displays the taxes abated during 1997, 1998 and 1999.

AGRICULTURAL TIMBERLAND

In 1990, the Colorado legislature passed HB 90-1229, expanding the definition of "agricultural land" to include forested land that meets certain requirements. The definition reads as follows:

"A parcel of land that consists of at least forty acres, that is forest land, that is used to produce tangible wood products that originate from the productivity of such land for the primary purpose of obtaining a monetary profit, that is subject to a forest management plan, and that is not a farm or ranch, as defined in subsections (3.5) and (13.5) of this section. "Agricultural land" under this subparagraph (II) includes land underlying any residential improvement located on such agricultural land." 39-1-102(1.6)(a)(II), C.R.S.

Since the enactment of this law, many owners have taken advantage of it to secure significant tax reductions by developing "forest management plans" on what otherwise would generally be classified as vacant or residential improved land. This has resulted in a loss of revenue for 1999 to the following counties that have "agricultural timberland."

SHIFT OF PROPERTY TAX BURDEN DUE TO GALLAGHER AMENDMENT

Table Number 9, on the following pages, shows the shift of property tax burden away from residential owners from the inception of the Gallagher Amendment through 1999. Residential taxpayers have saved approximately $4,410,647,474 since the amendment's inception.

The table begins with 1987, because the residential assessment rate remained at 21% until 1987. The contents of each row in the table are described below.

- Row 1. Hypothetical residential assessment rate, 21%.
- Row 2. Actual residential assessment rate for each particular year.
- Row 3. Actual average mill levy.
- Row 4. Hypothetical average mill levy, had the residential rate been 21% every year. This is calculated by dividing the total actual revenue received in each year (Row 9), by the total assessed value, had the residential rate been 21% (Row 8).
- Row 5. Actual total residential assessed value.
- Row 6. Actual total statewide assessed value.
- Row 7. Total hypothetical residential assessed value, had the residential rate remained at 21%.
- Row 8. Hypothetical total assessed value, had the residential assessment rate remained at 21%.
- Row 9. Total actual statewide property tax revenue.
- Row 10. Total hypothetical tax revenue attributable to residential property, had the residential rate remained at 21%. This is calculated by multiplying the hypothetical mill levy at 21% (Row 4) by the hypothetical residential assessed value at 21% (Row 7).

- Row 11. Total actual property tax revenue.
- Row 12. Savings to residential taxpayers, Row 10 minus Row 11.

HB 1244 Concerning the modification of the time period used to determine the level of value for classes of taxable real property when comparable valuation data is not available for the one and one half year period prior to July 1 immediately preceding any regular biennial property tax assessment date.

Beginning January 1, 1999, this bill changes the period of time used to determine the level of value for a class of taxable real property when adequate comparable valuation data is not available for the 18 month period prior to July 1 immediately preceding any regular biennial property tax assessment date. When the number of sales that occurred within the 18 month period is inadequate, the assessor may go back in six-month intervals to a maximum of five years.

HB 1311 Concerning the refunding of state revenues in excess of the constitutional limitation on state fiscal year spending by means of a credit against state taxes, and making an appropriation therefor.

This bill establishes a credit for qualified taxpayers against state taxes to refund state revenues that exceed the limitation on state fiscal year spending imposed by TABOR. A qualified taxpayer would include any natural person, C corporation, partnership, limited liability company that is not a C corporation, or S corporation that: (1) is domiciled or does business in the state for the entire fiscal year; (2) owns personal property in the state that is not otherwise exempt from the levy and collection of personal property tax; and (3) paid personal property tax on the property during the fiscal year for which the credit against state taxes is allowed.

The amount of the credit allowed by the bill for each qualified taxpayer during the state fiscal year immediately preceding the year in which the credit is claimed would be:

- The lesser of $500 or the aggregate amount of personal property tax paid by the taxpayer to all taxing jurisdictions in the state; plus
- 13.37 percent of the aggregate amount of personal property tax paid by the taxpayer that is in excess of $500.

Applicants for the credit must make a timely filing on a form prescribed by the Department of Revenue and include proof of payment of the aggregate personal property taxes paid no later than August 31 of the state fiscal year in which the credit against state taxes is allowed. The Department of Revenue would refund the credit against state tax using moneys in the reserve estimate prepared by the staff of the Legislative Council indicates that the aggregate amount of state revenues will exceed the TABOR limitation on state fiscal year spending for that fiscal year by $125 million. If the revenue limitation exceeds this amount, this credit will take priority over any other mechanism to refund excess state revenues.

This bill establishes a credit against state taxes paid for qualified taxpayers for fiscal years commencing on or after July 1, 1998. The credit is designed to refund approximately $100 million in FY 1999-00 to qualified taxpayers that pay personal property tax. The refund would grow to approximately $103.5 million in FY 2000-01. In order to accomplish this goal, the bill establishes the credit as; the lesser of $500 or the aggregate amount of personal property tax paid by the taxpayer to all taxing jurisdictions in the state, plus 13.37 percent of the aggregate amount of personal property tax paid by the taxpayer that is in excess of $500.

It is estimated that approximately 120,000 taxpayers will qualify for the credit annually. Based on a sample of schedules filed in 1997, it is known that 70 percent of all schedules listed personal property with an actual value of less than $25,000. This translates to average property taxes paid of approximately $570. It is estimated that for FY 1999-00, approximately $34.5 million will be refunded to companies based on the first $500 paid by each company in personal property taxes. In addition to the value of the credit on the first $500 in taxes paid, the bill will refund approximately $65.5 million to taxpayers that had a personal property tax liability in excess of $500. This is based on a credit equal to 13.37 percent of personal property taxes paid in excess of the $500 threshold.

(1) Averages will not add to the Total Average County Levy because denominators (Assessed Valuation) are not common to all.

(2) Municipal Revenues are divided by the sum of Municipal Assessed Valuation.

(3) Special District Revenues are divided by the sum of all Special District Assessed Valuation.

* These figures include tax increment valuation, and all tax revenues attributable to the increment are allocated to the increment financing authority only.
