COLORADO PROPERTY TAX

OVERVIEW

The Colorado property tax system provides revenue exclusively for local government services. The largest share of property tax revenue (52.9%) goes to support the state's public schools. County governments claim the next largest share (25.3%), followed by special districts (15.5%), municipal governments (5.4%), and junior colleges (0.9%).

The authority for property taxation is both constitutional and statutory. Article X of the Colorado Constitution provides that all property is taxable unless declared exempt by the Constitution, and that the actual value of taxable property shall be determined under the general laws to secure just and equalized valuations. The specific statutes pertaining to property taxation are found in Title 39, Articles 1 through 14, Colorado Revised Statutes.

Under the general laws of Colorado, county assessors are required to value all taxable property within their territorial jurisdictions. The State Board of Equalization (state board) has supervision over the administration of all laws concerning the valuation and assessment of taxable property and the levying of property taxes. The Division of Property Taxation (Division), under the leadership of the Property Tax Administrator (administrator), coordinates and administers the implementation of property tax law throughout the sixty-four counties.

Revenue derived from 2003 property taxes (payable 2004) will increase statewide for every local government type except for junior colleges. The combined revenue increase from taxes payable in 2004 is 5.06 percent. Table 1 lists the percentage increases in property tax revenue between taxes payable in 2003 and taxes payable in 2004.

Taxing Entity	2002-2003 % Increase
School District K-12	+ 3.90%
Junior Colleges	- 0.63%
Counties.....	+ 7.04%
Municipalities	+ 4.02%
Special Districts	+ 6.59%
Combined Increase.....	+ 5.06%

Although the table above indicates that Colorado property tax revenue increased for 2003, at the local level, the percentage change of tax revenue varied greatly, and hundreds of taxing entities experienced a decline in their property tax revenue. This is discussed in more detail on page II-11

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

The State Board of Equalization consists of the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, or their designees, and two members appointed by the Governor with consent of the Senate. Each appointed member must be a qualified appraiser, a former assessor, or a person who has knowledge and experience in property taxation. The state board members for 2003 were Lyle C. Kyle, Chairperson and appointee of Governor Bill Owens; Heather Witwer, Vice-Chair and designee of Governor Owens; Senator Terry Phillips, designee of John Andrews, President of the Senate; Representative Michael May, designee of Lola Spradley, Speaker of the House of Representatives; and JoAnn Groff, appointee of Governor Owens.

Duties and Responsibilities

The state board has various duties concerning the administration of property tax laws and equalization of the values of classes and subclasses of taxable property. Duties of the state board are found primarily in Article X, Sections 3 and 15 of the Colorado Constitution and in Title 39, Articles 1 and 9, Colorado Revised Statutes.

Among its duties, the state board reviews the findings and conclusions of the annual study contractor and orders reappraisals in counties found not in compliance. The annual study was initiated by a 1982 amendment to the Constitution to ensure that all assessors value property at the same level of value using standardized procedures and statistical measurements. The study is conducted by an independent auditing firm contracted by the Director of Research, Legislative Council, § 39-1-104(16), C.R.S. The study and the resulting orders of reappraisal are the primary means of achieving statewide equalization.

The state board's equalization function is important due to the relationship that exists between assessed values and state aid to schools. Generally, if the property in a school district is under-assessed, it is likely that the district will receive more state revenue than it is entitled. When a reappraisal order results in a determination that the affected school district(s) received too much state revenue, the state board will order the county (not the school district) to pay back the excess funding. During the 1980s and early 1990s this sometimes required the repayment of substantial revenue to the state. In more recent years, significant improvements in the quality of county assessments have resulted in far fewer reappraisal orders and far smaller repayments of excess state aid to schools.

The state board also reviews county Abstracts of Assessment, decisions of county boards of equalization (county board), and the policies and recommendations of the Property Tax Administrator.

A brief history of enforcement actions by the state board follows:

2003 Enforcement and Repayment

On October 14, 2003, the state board met to review the findings and conclusions of Rocky Mountain Valuation Specialists, Inc.,

annual study contractor for Legislative Council.

After considering all evidence and testimony, the state board concluded that 2003 class values for all 64 counties were in compliance with Colorado assessment law, and no orders were issued requiring the reappraisal of a class or sub-class of property.

2002 Enforcement and Repayment

On October 7, 2002, the state board met to review the findings and conclusions of Thos. Y. Pickett & Co., Inc., annual study contractor for Legislative Council.

After considering all evidence and testimony, the state board concluded that 2002 class values for all 64 counties were in compliance with Colorado assessment law, and it issued no orders requiring the reappraisal of a class or sub-class of property.

However, the state board issued an order to the Mesa County Board of Equalization that it rescind its decision to remove the possessory interest valuations from two properties. The order, and related correspondence with other counties, are discussed in more detail on page II-32.

2001 Enforcement and Repayment

On October 15, 2001, the state board met to review the findings and conclusions of Thos. Y. Pickett & Co., Inc., annual study contractor for Legislative Council.

The report by the annual study contractor recommended that two counties receive reappraisal orders. The recommendations were for the reappraisal of the commercial and industrial classes in Conejos County and the natural resources class in Routt County.

In response, the counties testified that they had resolved the problems identified in the report. Their testimony was supported by a representative of the annual study contractor, who confirmed that the company reviewed the revisions of both counties and that they were in compliance with the standards established by the state board. Based on the testimony, the state board determined that the values for the two counties, and Colorado's 61 other counties, were in compliance with Colorado assessment law, and no reappraisals were ordered.

2001 Possessory Interest Orders

Pursuant to the Colorado Supreme Court's decision in Board of County Commissioners, County of Eagle, State of Colorado v. Vail Associates Inc. and the Board of Assessment Appeals and Allen S. Black et al. v. Colorado State Board of Equalization, 19 P.3d 1263 (Colo 2001), the state board unanimously voted on November 21, 2001, to order county assessors that were not parties to the case to value possessory interests beginning with tax year 2001. The order is discussed in more detail on page II-32.

2000 Enforcement and Repayment

On October 10, 2000, the state board met to review the findings and conclusions of Thos. Y. Pickett & Co., Inc., annual study contractor for Legislative Council.

After considering all evidence and testimony, the state board concluded that 2000 property values for all 63 counties were in compliance with Colorado assessment law, and no reappraisals were ordered.

The state board also reviewed the results of reappraisals ordered the prior year for vacant land in Park and Saguache Counties. The state board determined that the reappraisals in both counties were successfully completed, and it ordered the counties to make the following paybacks and reimbursements.

County	Supervision Reimbursement	State Aid to Schools Payback
Park	$ 6,602.07	$63.72
Saguache	$15,159.79	$90.43

Since 1988, the state board has allowed counties to choose an alternative method for the repayment of the supervision costs. Rather than paying the money to the state, counties are allowed to apply the supervision repayment to the budgets of their assessors' offices, for the purpose of enhancing their operational effectiveness.

The Saguache County Commissioners chose to employ the alternative method, and submitted a plan detailing how the money would be used to enhance the effectiveness of the assessor's office. The Park County Commissioners chose not to employ this method of repayment, and were ordered to pay the supervisory costs.

1999 Enforcement and Repayment

The vacant land reappraisal orders for Park and Saguache Counties were issued during the October 12, 1999, meeting of the state board. At the meeting, the state board also determined that Fremont County's irrigated farm land was out of compliance. The state board's decisions were based on the 1999 findings and conclusions of annual study contractor Thos. Y. Pickett & Co., Inc.

Vacant land values for Park County were found out of compliance because the reappraisal achieved a 26.46 percent coefficient of dispersion. That figure exceeds the vacant land standard of 20.99 percent. Saguache vacant land was out of compliance because the median sales ratio of 93.06 percent fell outside the allowable range of 95.0 to 105.0 percent.

A reappraisal of Fremont County's irrigated land was ordered because the crop yield used for valuing the subclass was 125 percent of the ten-year average yield reported by the Colorado Agricultural Statistics Service (CASS). This fell outside the state board's compliance standard of 90 to 110 percent. Upon receiving the order, the county made a uniform adjustment to its irrigated land values, to achieve compliance with the state board standard prior to publishing the tax warrant.

On December 3, 1999, the state board met and approved the plans for reappraisal submitted by Park and Saguache Counties. The state board rescinded the reappraisal order for Fremont County upon receiving testimony from the Division of Property Taxation that Fremont's adjusted values for irrigated land were in compliance. The state board did not consider repayment actions for 1999, because all 1998 values were found to be in compliance.

1998 Enforcement and Repayment

On October 5, 1998, the state board met to review the findings and conclusions of annual study contractor Thos. Y. Pickett & Co., Inc.

After considering all evidence and testimony, the state board concluded that 1998 property values for all 63 counties were in compliance with Colorado assessment law, and no reappraisals were ordered. The prior year, the state board determined that the 1997 values for three counties were out of compliance, and issued the following reappraisal orders:

County	Property Classes
Lake	Vacant land
Routt	Agricultural subclasses
Hinsdale.....	Single family residential, Vacant land, Commercial/ Industrial, Agricultural Improvements

Upon recommendation of the auditor, the state board concluded during its 1998 meeting, that the 1997 orders were justified and successfully completed. It ordered the counties that received 1997 orders to make the following paybacks and reimbursements.

County	Supervision Reimbursement	State Aid to Schools Payback
Lake.....	$10,599.00	$ 0.00
Routt.....	$ 878.23	$81.79
Hinsdale.....	$ 959.30	$ 7.47

The counties chose the alternative repayment method of applying the supervisory costs to the budgets of the assessor's offices.

DIVISION OF PROPERTY TAXATION

Under the general laws of Colorado, the Property Tax Administrator heads the Division of Property Taxation. The administrator is appointed by the State Board of Equalization to serve for a five-year term and until a successor is appointed and qualified.

One primary responsibility of the Division is to administer the implementation of property tax law throughout the 64 counties so that valuations are fair, uniform, and defensible, thereby ensuring that each property class contributes only a fair share of the total property tax revenue. In other words, the Division's goal is equalization of valuation and proper distribution of property taxes throughout the state.

The Division is comprised of four sections: Administrative Resources, Appraisal Standards, Exempt Properties, and State Assessed Properties.

Administrative Resources

The Administrative Resources section acts as liaison to the 64 county assessors in determining existing and future needs for assistance from the Division. In addition, the section serves as a liaison and coordinator with a variety of other agencies having an interest in property taxation.

The staff conducts all courses dealing with statutory reporting and the administration of an assessor's office and provides workshops in specialized areas of assessment administration such as parcel mapping, severed mineral assessment, title conveyance, tax increment financing, certification of values to taxing entities, and tax increment financing. All administrative courses are approved for continuing education by the Colorado Board of Real Estate Appraisers.

The staff also publishes manuals on assessment procedures and legal references, publishes the Annual Report to the Governor, publishes the Mobile Equipment Manual for county clerks and recorders and ports of entry, completes a documented study that estimates the residential assessment rate for each level of value period, and provides administrative services for the Division. It conducts research projects for the Division and the legislature and provides administrative assistance to the State Board of Equalization and the Statutory Advisory Committee to the Property Tax Administrator. It also responds to taxpayer complaints and processes abatement petitions while providing technical consultation and assistance to county staff.

Appraisal Standards

The Appraisal Standards Section acts as liaison to the 64 county assessors in determining existing and future needs for assistance from the Division primarily in the appraisal field. It also serves as a liaison and coordinator with a variety of other appraisal agencies and companies having an interest in property taxation.

The staff conducts courses dealing with all aspects of appraisal including the three approaches to value. It also conducts workshops in specialized areas such as standards and ethics for appraisers, sales ratio studies, agricultural valuation, vacant land discounting procedures, and the valuation of possessory interests. All appraisal courses are approved for licensing credit by the Colorado Board of Real Estate Appraisers.

Appraisal Standards also publishes manuals on appraisal procedures for both real and personal property.

Exempt Properties

The Exempt Properties Section examines all applications for exemption from property taxation for property claimed to be owned and used solely and exclusively for religious worship, private schools, or charitable purposes, and makes determinations on the applications. Annual reports of exempt properties are reviewed to determine continuations of the exemptions. The Exemptions Section reviews approximately 700 applications and 9,700 annual reports for exemption each year.

State Assessed

The State Assessed Properties Section values all public utility properties in Colorado. The staff sets values on approximately 530 companies each year using unitary valuation procedures. It also defends the values when they are appealed by the property owner or the county.

2003 VALUE INFORMATION

Statewide Assessed Values for 2003

Colorado assessed values increased by $1.38 billion, or 2.3 percent, between the 2002 and 2003 tax years. The increase reflects the reappraisal of taxable property in Colorado from the 2000 to the 2002 level of value. It also includes property constructed in 2002 and personal property placed in service during 2002. Table 2 displays the percentage changes by property class.

Table 2
2002-2003 Percentage
Change of Total

Class	2002-2003 Change	Percentage of Total
Vacant Land	+ 13.2%	7.0%
Residential	+ 2.2%	47.7%
Commercial	+ 4.6%	29.2%
Industrial	+ 1.1%	4.5%
Agricultural	- 2.3%	1.3%
Natural Resources	+ 2.8%	0.4%
Producing Mines	+ 27.5%	0.1%
Oil & Gas	- 21.4%	3.5%
State Assessed	+ 0.5%	6.3%
Net Total	+ 2.3%	100.0%

The 2.3 percent increase is much smaller than statewide increases experienced in the prior four reappraisal cycles. These ranged from 8.8 percent in 1995 to 20.6 percent in 2001. Furthermore, the 2.3 percent increase resulted entirely from new construction. If new construction is removed, 2003 values decreased by 0.48 percent from the prior year.

The size of the increase is attributable to the recession of 2001-2002 and its effect on the values of non-residential property, especially property classified as commercial, industrial, state assessed and oil and gas. Under a constitutional provision known as the "Gallagher Amendment," this rate of increase had a corresponding influence on the total assessed value of residential property.

The Gallagher Amendment, requires that the residential assessment rate be recalculated during years of reappraisal to maintain a consistent balance over time between the statewide tax burdens on residential and non-residential property. It effectively limits a change in the total assessed value of residential property to the rate of change experienced by non-residential property. Although the 2003 actual (market) values of residential property increased much more dramatically than those of non-residential property, the increase was offset by a reduction of the residential assessment rate. The residential assessment rate was adjusted from 9.15 percent for tax years 2001-2002 to 7.96 percent for tax years 2003-2004.

As a result, the assessed value of residential property increased by only 2.2 percent, when the actual (market) value of residential property increased by 17.5 percent. The residential assessment rate adjustment is discussed in more detail on page II-15.

The disparity between the rates of increase to the market values of residential and non-residential property can be explained, in part, by the slowdown of the economy. The actual (market) values of commercial, industrial and state assessed property tend to react more quickly to changes in the economy than do the market values of residential property. The recession of 2001-2002 resulted in higher vacancy rates and lower demand for commercial and industrial property as many companies downsized to remain competitive. It also affected the profitability of many state assessed companies, which are valued each year as a corporate unit for property tax purposes. As a result, the substantial increases previously observed in the values of these classes did not occur when properties were revalued for 2003.

By comparison, market values of residential property tend to react slower to economic downturns, and the recent downturn also occurred at a time of record low interest rates for mortgage loans. The low interest rates contributed to a continuation of strong demand for residential property, and interest rates also contributed to the 13.2 percent increase in the total value of vacant land.

Oil and gas land is valued differently from the property classes discussed above. Rather than being appraised according to its market value, the value of land producing oil or gas is calculated as a percentage of the sale price obtained for the product at the wellhead. This makes oil and gas among the most volatile of classes because the market prices of natural gas and crude oil can change considerably from year to year. Often, their prices rise when the economy is strong and fall when the economy is weak. When they rise or fall, the production volumes of the commodities tend to increase or decrease in harmony with the changes in price, magnifying the effect of price changes on the assessed value of the property class. Between 2001 and 2002, the commodity prices of oil and gas fell considerably, resulting in a 21.4 percent decrease to the class.

The value of land classified as natural resources and producing mines is also based on the production volumes and prices of the commodities produced. Although the values of these classes are also volatile, the classes represent a very small portion of the state's total assessed value.

The value established for agricultural land is based on the earning or productive capacity of the land regardless of the property's market value or its highest and best use. As a result, the actual values of agricultural property are often much lower than their market values, and they tend to be very stable from year to year. The 2.3 percent decline to the class was influenced by the drought of 2002, which decreased agricultural production in portions of Colorado. It was also influenced by a slight reduction in the total acreage of land classified as agricultural.

Local Values in 2003

The modest statewide increase did not occur in a uniform manner. At the county level, the changes in value ranged from an increase of 20.15 percent in Fremont County to a decrease of 18.90 percent in La Plata County. Twenty-two of Colorado's 64 counties experienced a decline in total assessed value, and six others witnessed an increase of less than one percent. The range of value changes is even more dramatic when observed at the taxing district level.

For counties, school districts, municipalities and special districts, the direction and extent of the change depended both on local economic forces and on the percentage distribution of the total value among the different classes of property.

Although the statewide residential assessed value increased by 2.2 percent, 33 counties experienced a reduction in the total assessed value of residential property. This occurred because the market value increases of residential property in metropolitan Denver greatly outpaced the rate of increase in many other parts of Colorado. Because much of the total residential value is concentrated in metropolitan Denver, the area exerted a dominant influence over the residential assessment rate calculation. Residential market values in much of Colorado were not sufficient to offset the reduction to the residential assessment rate. In these areas, the total residential assessed value went down even though the market values went up or remained stable.

Taxing districts most vulnerable to a decline in residential assessed value are those that have a large portion of the total value classified as residential. The percentage of total value in the residential class varies greatly from county to county and district to district. At the county level, it ranges from 57.75 for Elbert County to 3.31 percent for Cheyenne County.

Oil and gas is another class of property responsible for reductions in the total assessed value of many taxing districts. Although the class comprises only 3.5 percent of the state's total assessed value, over 98 percent of that value is concentrated in 16 counties. Among the ten counties with the greatest reductions in total assessed value, five of them have at least 24 percent of total value in oil and gas. For example, Cheyenne County, which experienced a 6.36 percent reduction in total value, has 59.14 percent of its value classified as oil and gas. La Plata County, which was subjected to an 18.90 percent reduction in value, has 47.97 percent of its taxable assessed value classified as oil and gas.

Of the 22 counties that experienced a reduction in total assessed value, all but one had either a reduction in residential value or contain a sizable percentage of value in oil and gas. Table three, shown on the following page, lists the value changes for each county in 2003.

2004 PROPERTY TAX REVENUE

The Colorado Constitution and statutes impose several limits on the amount of money local taxing jurisdictions, and the state, can collect and spend. Among them is a limit found in the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights (TABOR), that prohibits a mill levy increase without voter approval. Under this restriction, when the total assessed value of a taxing jurisdiction goes down, property tax revenue is also forced down unless voters authorize an increase to the mill levy.

Many taxing jurisdictions that experienced reductions in total assessed value are facing similar reductions in property tax revenue. Among Colorado's 64 counties, 20 will see a reduction in total property tax revenue collected during 2004. When viewed by local government type, 30 counties will collect less property tax revenue for school districts, 19 will collect less for municipalities, 15 will collect less for special districts, 10 of the 15 counties in junior college districts will collect less for junior colleges, and 16 county governments will collect less. Table four provides a comparison of property tax revenue collectable in 2003 and 2004.

For most of the entity types, a reduction in property tax revenue results in budget cuts or the need to raise additional revenue from other sources. However, the Public School Finance Act of 1994, guarantees a per-pupil funding amount for each school district. The funding includes a base amount, currently $4,570 per pupil, and additional amounts for other cost related factors. Under a recent constitutional provision known as Amendment 23, the base amount must be adjusted each year by the rate of inflation plus one percent. The base funding and additional amounts are known collectively as the "Total Program."

RESIDENTIAL ASSESSMENT RATE

In 1982, the electorate passed Constitutional Amendment One. A portion of the amendment dealt with the residential assessment rate, and that part of the amendment is referred to as the "Gallagher Amendment."

The intent of Gallagher was to stabilize residential real property's share of the property tax base. Residential real property's share of total assessed value had increased from 29 percent in 1958 to 44 percent in 1982. By allowing the residential assessment rate to "float," residential real property would not continue to bear an ever-increasing share of the property tax burden. The floating rate would increase if residential real property's share of total taxable assessed value appreciably declined below 44.60 percent. Similarly, the rate would decrease if residential real property's share of total taxable assessed value appreciably exceeded 44.60 percent.

The 44.60 percent figure, which is now referred to as the "residential target percentage," was calculated based upon residential real property's share of total assessed value for 1986. The legislature (general assembly) provided for changes in the target percentage based upon growth or decline in various classes of property. The target percentage is adjusted during the year preceding each change in the level of value, i.e. during even-numbered years.

Property is reappraised by county assessors every odd-numbered year. In a reappraisal year, Section 3(1)(b) of Article X of the Colorado Constitution and § 39-1-104.2(5)(a), C.R.S., requires an adjustment in the residential assessment rate in order to maintain a balance between residential and all other property. The legislature must adjust the residential assessment rate to ensure that the percentage of residential real property assessed value (target percentage), when compared to the assessed value of all property, remains essentially the same as the preceding year. The adjustment is intended to stabilize residential real property's share of the property tax base. Section § 39-1-104.2(5)(c), C.R.S., requires the Property Tax Administrator to complete a documented study that estimates the residential assessment rate for each level of value period. Three major calculations are required (NOTE: our example will portray the calculation for the 2003-2004 level of value period):

2003 Residential Rate Calculation

Using the total actual 2001 assessed value for non-residential property, calculate what the total 2001 residential real property value should have been to exactly achieve the 2001 residential real property target percentage of 46.61 percent. Then, adjust the 46.61 percent target percentage to account for 2001 and 2002 net changes in new construction and the production volumes of producing natural resource properties, oil and gas wells, and earth and stone operations. The 2003 residential real property target percentage is calculated to be 47.08 percent.

Estimate the 2003 values and determine residential real property's share of the tax base assuming the residential assessment rate remains the same. The residential assessment rate for 2001 and 2002 was 9.15 percent. Based on our study of the reappraised values, if the assessment rate of 9.15 percent does not change, the estimated tax base share for residential real property would be 49.87 percent, instead of the required 47.08 calculated above.

Calculate the estimated residential assessment rate necessary to ensure that residential real property's share of the 2003 tax base is 47.08 percent of the total assessed value of all taxable property. In this calculation, the residential assessment rate would be adjusted to 7.96 percent. A history of changes to the residential assessment rate is shown in Table 5.

Shift of Assessed Values & Tax Burden

Table 6, on the following page, calculates the savings to residential taxpayers from the inception of the Gallagher Amendment through 2003. It does so by comparing the taxes paid by residential property owners to an estimate of the taxes they would have paid had the Gallagher Amendment not been enacted. The estimated savings to residential property owners is $7,855,066,600.

The table begins with 1987, because the residential assessment rate remained at 21% until 1987. The contents of each row in the table are described below.

- Row 1. Hypothetical residential assessment rate, 21%.
- Row 2. Actual residential assessment rate for each particular year.
- Row 3. Actual average mill levy.
- Row 4. Hypothetical average mill levy, had the residential rate been 21% every year. This is calculated by dividing the total actual revenue received in each year (Row 9), by the total assessed value, had the residential rate been 21% (Row 8).
- Row 5. Actual total residential assessed value.

- Row 6. Actual total statewide assessed value as certified by county commissioners when mill levies were certified.
- Row 7. Total hypothetical residential assessed value, had the residential rate remained at 21%.
- Row 8. Hypothetical total assessed value, had the residential assessment rate remained at 21%.
- Row 9. Total actual statewide property tax revenue.
- Row 10. Total hypothetical tax revenue attributable to residential property, had the residential rate remained at 21%. This is calculated by multiplying the hypothetical mill levy at 21% (Row 4) by the hypothetical residential assessed value at 21% (Row 7).
- Row 11. Total actual property tax revenue.
- Row 12. Savings to residential taxpayers, Row 10 minus Row 11.

Table 7, illustrates the effect of Gallagher on the statewide assessed value of residential property since 1983. As the table shows, the percentage of actual value attributable to residential property has increased dramatically during the last 20 years, from 53.10 percent in 1983 to 77.51 percent today. At the same time, the percentage of assessed value comprising residential property remained essentially stable, with only slight changes over time resulting from new construction and increased minerals production.

PROTESTS, APPEALS, ABATEMENTS

Protests and Appeals

Colorado statutes mandate a process that allows taxpayers the opportunity to challenge the actual value established by the assessor. The process begins with the taxpayer's protest to the assessor. Upon receiving a protest, the assessor reviews the issues raised, and based on a preponderance of the evidence, either adjusts or maintains the actual value established for the property. Taxpayers who disagree with the assessor's decision can appeal to the county board of equalization. Taxpayers who disagree with the county board's decision have three choices for further appeal; they can appeal to the State Board of Assessment Appeals (BAA), district court, or binding arbitration. Decisions of the BAA and district court can be appealed to the Colorado Court of Appeals and ultimately to the Colorado Supreme Court. Decisions of an arbitrator are final.

The number of protests and appeals varies greatly from county to county. During 2003 (the last reappraisal year), Larimer County received the greatest number of appeals with 17,275 while Kiowa County received none. For many counties, the protest process places a significant strain on the resources of the assessor's office, resulting in many hours of overtime or compensated time. Table 8 lists the protests and county board appeals for each county during the last three reappraisal years, organized according to the county officer pay categories established in § 30-2-102, C.R.S. For the purpose of this table, The Cities and Counties of Denver and Broomfield are placed in category one. Table 9 provides a summary of protest and appeal statistics.

Taxpayers can protest and appeal in both reappraisal years, odd numbered years, and in intervening years, even numbered years. However, the number of protests and appeals is higher in reappraisal years.

Abatements

Abatement petitions can be filed for taxes erroneously or illegally levied, for overvaluation, or for an assessment error. Taxpayers who filed a protest can file an abatement petition only for a clerical error or an illegality, but not for an overvaluation. The question of overvaluation involves appraisal judgment, which was reviewed during the protest, if a protest was filed.

Abatement petitions can be filed up to two years after the date the taxes are due. Because abatement petitions are filed on taxes already levied, the abated or refunded taxes constitute lost revenue to the affected local governments; however, § 39-10-114(1)(a)(I)(B), C.R.S., and case law, authorize local governments to recover abated taxes through an increase in mill levies. Table 10 displays the taxes abated during 2001, 2002, and 2003.

SENIOR CITIZEN EXEMPTION

In 2003, budget constraints forced the Colorado Legislature to temporarily suspend state funding for the senior citizen property tax homestead exemption, eliminating the tax benefit for assessment years 2003-2005. The exemption benefit is scheduled to return for 2006, taxes payable January 2007.

The exemption was enacted by voters in 2000 with the passage of Section 3.5, Article X of the Colorado Constitution. It became effective in 2002. As enacted, the exemption reduced the actual value of a residential property by 50 percent, up to a maximum reduction of $100,000. The amendment authorized the Colorado Legislature to adjust the amount of value to which the 50 percent exemption is applied. For tax years 2003-2005, Senate Bill 03-265 changed the exemption amount from 50 percent of the first $200,000 to 50 percent of $0. It returns to 50 percent of the first $200,000 for assessment year 2006.

Although funding has been suspended, counties and the state must continue to administer the program. Each year, the assessor is required to mail a notice to all residential property owners that explains the existence of the exemption. Qualifying seniors have until July 15 to apply for the exemption, and once granted, the exempt status remains in effect for future years until a change in the ownership or occupancy requires its removal. To qualify, a senior must be at least 65 years old on January 1, and must have owned and occupied the property as his or her primary residence for ten or more consecutive years.

In 2003, counties processed approximately 12,000 new applications, and the exemption was granted to most of them. Currently about 134,000 properties are approved for the exemption. Applicants denied the exemption have the right to appeal the denial to the county board of equalization, comprised of the county commissioners.

No later than October 10, the assessor is required to send the Division an electronic list of the exemptions granted, including the names and social security numbers of each person occupying the property. The Division then searches through the lists to identify individuals who were granted the exemption on more than one property, and denies the exemption on each. In 2003, the Division denied exemptions on 44 properties owned by 22 applicants.

In addition, four other properties were denied because of issues with social security numbers. In these instances, the applicant listed a social security number that was also submitted on a different application for a different person. The applicant then refused to provide documentation that would either confirm the accuracy of the number or enable it to be corrected.

The senior exemption program does not result in a loss of revenue to local governments. Instead, the state reimburses the local governments for the tax revenue exempted. No later than April 1, county treasurers send the State Treasurer an itemized list of the exemptions granted and taxes exempted. No later than April 15, the State Treasurer reimburses the local governments for the lost revenue. In 2003, the State Treasurer reimbursed local governments in the amount of $61,490,941 for exemptions granted in 2002.

AGRICULTURAL TIMBERLAND

In 1990, the Colorado Legislature passed HB 90-1229, expanding the definition of "agricultural land" to include forested land that meets certain requirements. The definition reads as follows:

"A parcel of land that consists of at least forty acres, that is forest land, that is used to produce tangible wood products that originate from the productivity of such land for the primary purpose of obtaining a monetary profit, that is subject to a forest management plan, and that is not a farm or ranch, as defined in subsections (3.5) and (13.5) of this section. "Agricultural land" under this subparagraph (II) includes land underlying any residential improvement located on such agricultural land."
 § 39-1-102(1.6)(a)(II), C.R.S.

Since the enactment of this law, numerous owners have taken advantage of it to secure significant tax reductions by developing "forest management plans" on what otherwise would generally be classified as vacant or residential improved land. This has resulted in a loss of revenue for the 2003 tax year to the following counties that have "agricultural timberland." The results are detailed in Table 11.

HISTORY OF POSSESSORY INTEREST

Overview

Generally, possessory interests constitute a right to the possession and use of government property for a period of time less than perpetuity. It represents a portion of the bundle of rights that would normally be included in a fee ownership; and its value, therefore, is typically something less than the value in perpetuity of the whole bundle of rights. For purposes of the procedures, the Division of Property Taxation defines possessory interest as: A private property interest in government-owned property or the right to the occupancy and use of any benefit in government-owned property that has been granted under lease, permit, license, concession, contract, or other agreement. A question of considerable concern to Colorado assessors has been whether a possessory interest in government owned property, such as a ski resort's permit to use Forest Service land, represents a taxable interest, even though the government's fee interest in the land is exempt.

The issue has evolved through a series of court decisions and legislation, culminating in the February 26, 2001, Colorado Supreme Court decision in the consolidated cases Board of County Commissioners, County of Eagle, State of Colorado v. Vail Associates Inc. and the Board of Assessment Appeals and Allen S. Black et al. v. Colorado State Board of Equalization, 19 P.3d 1263 (Colo 2001).

By a four to three majority, the Supreme Court reversed decisions of the Court of Appeals, and affirmed the taxable status of possessory interests in government-owned property. The court declared that portions of the recently enacted statute, § 39-3-136, C.R.S., were unconstitutional, because they created an exemption that did not fall within any of the exemption categories specified in Article X, of the Colorado Constitution. Section 3 of Article X is quoted in part as follows: "Each property tax levy shall be uniform upon all real and personal property not exempt from taxation under this article...."

To better understand the decision, the following narrative traces the history of the possessory interest debate, from the original Mesa Verde case to the court's recent decision in Vail Associates.

Mesa Verde I

In 1967, Mesa Verde Company filed an abatement/refund petition with Montezuma County seeking a refund of property taxes paid "under protest" since 1937. Mesa Verde claimed that the improvements on which the company was taxed were exempt, because they were owned by the federal government. The petition was denied by the county board of equalization, and the company appealed to district court. The court dismissed the appeal, ruling it must look "behind the shadow of the United States' title to the substantive ownership of plaintiff." The court ruled that Mesa Verde "had substantially all the incidents of ownership of these improvements" making them subject to taxation. Mesa Verde appealed the court's decision to the Supreme Court.

In Mesa Verde Company v. Montezuma County Board of Commissioners, et al., 178 Colo 49, 495 P. 2d 229 (Colo. 1972), the Colorado Supreme Court affirmed the district court's ruling. The court noted that the contracts with the Secretary of the Interior granted Mesa Verde "...a possessory interest in all concessionaire's improvements consisting of all incidents of ownership...." The court stated that based on "...the contracts' terms, the language of relevant statutes, and the actions of the parties while under contract..." it was able to conclude there was support in the record for the trial court's finding. Of significance is the court's finding that legal title vested in the United States only for collateral security purposes for performance conditions is not conclusive evidence of ownership by the United States. In addition, since significant incidents of the plaintiff's ownership exist, the property should not be exempt from taxation.

Enactment of § 39-3-112, C.R.S. (amendments followed)

The legislature entered the debate in 1975 with the passage of an act titled concerning the taxation of a possessory interest in property otherwise exempt from taxation. The act created § 39-3-112, C.R.S., which is quoted in part as follows.

“When any property which for any reason is exempt from taxation is leased, loaned, or otherwise made available to and used by a private individual, association, or corporation in connection with a business conducted for profit, the lessee or user thereof shall be subject to taxation in the same amount and to the same extent as though the lessee or user were the owner of such property,...”
§ 39-3-112(1), C.R.S.

Although § 39-3-112, C.R.S., clearly stated the legislature’s intention that most possessory interests be taxed, it exempted certain possessory interests, such as agricultural land and public utility easements, from the provisions of the statute.

During the years that followed, the legislature amended the statute with several new exemptions to possessory interest taxation.

- SB 76-029 amended § 39-3-112(4), C.R.S., to exempt, for the term of an existing lease, property owned by a municipality and leased to a private entity in connection with a business, when the lease was initiated prior to July 1, 1976.
- HB 79-1531 amended § 39-3-112(4)(c), C.R.S., to exempt possessory interests in publicly owned property when the use “...is by way of lease of or a concession in or relative to the use of public airport, park, market, fairground, or similar property which is available to the use of the general public.” Ski area property was specifically excluded from the exemption, and it continued to be valued by procedures stated in subsection six for federal lands used for recreational purposes.

- HB 79-1021 amended § 39-3-112(1), C.R.S., to exempt real property furnished to a government contractor that “...maintains permanent records substantiating the terms of such contract,” and to exempt possessory interests in property used by airline companies. The bill also amended § 39-3-112(5), C.R.S., to exempt possessory interests in land owned by the state of Colorado and managed by the State Board of Land Commissioners.
- HB 83-1575 amended the “public airport” exemption found in § 39-3-112(4)(c), C.R.S., to include property owned by an authority created by the Public Airport Authority Act, and to limit the exemption to property located “...within the boundaries of a public airport (that) is directly related to the ordinary function of the airport.”
- HB 88-1015 amended § 39-3-112(6), C.R.S., to specify that “the possessory interest, and only the possessory interest...” in federal lands used for recreational purposes be taxed. It also provided more detailed procedures for the valuation of possessory interests in recreational lands.

Rockwell Case

In 1980, the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in the United States of America v. State of Colorado, et al., 627 F.2d 217 (1980) (Rockwell Case), that management contracts do not create a possessory interest in property that is used in conjunction with the agreement. This case concerned the Rocky Flats Nuclear Weapons Plant and the operator/manager, Rockwell International. The court determined the relationship between the government and Rockwell was such that the company operated under a management contract and any use of the property was strictly delineated by the contract, making it not fall under the description of possessory interest.

Southern Cafeteria Case

In 1983, the Colorado Court of Appeals cited the "Rockwell Case" in Southern Cafeteria, Inc. v. Property Tax Administrator, et al., 677 P.2d 362 (Colo. App. 1983) (Southern Cafeteria) ruling that management contracts cannot be valued as a possessory interest. Once again, the court found that the taxpayer had no "incidents of ownership" over the property. The government provided essentially all equipment, fixtures, and real property, monitored the pricing structure, and maintained control over the amount of profit Southern Cafeteria could realize.

§ 39-3-112, C.R.S., Repealed and § 39-3-135, C.R.S., Enacted

As part of a 1989 recodification of article three, HB-1098 repealed § 39-3-112, C.R.S., and reenacted the statute as § 39-3-135, C.R.S. No substantive changes to the law were made.

Mesa Verde II

Mesa Verde Company reentered the debate in 1992 when, under an order from the Montezuma County Board of Equalization, the assessor placed an omitted property assessment on four parcels of land on which the company operated its concessions. Mesa Verde Company still operated under a contract with the United States Government to manage the improvements for the benefit of the general public. Mesa Verde protested, then appealed to the county board of equalization, but was denied. The taxpayer then appealed to district court, which ruled that: 1. "Mesa Verde (did) not enjoy a taxable 'ownership interest' in the subject land." (p. 3)
2. "Mesa Verde's use and possessory interest in the subject land was "...exempt from Colorado property tax under the plain language of sections, § 39-3-135(1) and § 39-3-135(4)(c)..." (p.3), and 3. Montezuma County had no standing to challenge the constitutionality of those portions of the statute. Mesa Verde Company v. the Montezuma County Board of Equalization et al., 898 P.2d 1 (Colo. 1995).

The Montezuma County Board of Equalization appealed the issue of standing directly to the Supreme Court. In Mesa Verde Company v. Montezuma County Board of Equalization et al., 831 P.2d 482 (Colo. 1992), the Supreme Court affirmed that the county board of equalization and assessor lacked standing to challenge the constitutionality of statute.

Mesa Verde III

The legislature passed SB 93-046 the following year, enacting § 30-11-105.1, C.R.S., to authorize counties or county officers, in defending an action in court, to contest the constitutionality of a statute. Subsequently, Montezuma County filed a motion in district court to vacate its judgment in Mesa Verde II. The court agreed to vacate part of its order regarding the county's standing, but kept other parts of the order in force until it could rule on the constitutionality of exemptions cited in § 39-3-135(1) and § 39-3-135(4)(c), C.R.S.

In October 1993, the district court denied the county's motion to vacate its judgment, and instead ruled that the entirety of § 39-3-135, C.R.S., was unconstitutional as applied to users of federal land because it violated the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution. The court held that neither the federal land nor any alleged interest of Mesa Verde in the federal land is subject to Colorado property taxation, and that the county had no authority to tax Mesa Verde's use and possessory interest. Montezuma County appealed to the Colorado Supreme Court.

On April 24, 1995, in Mesa Verde Co. v. Montezuma County Board of Equalization et al., 898 P.2d 1 (Colo. 1995), the Supreme Court reversed the judgment of the district court, ruling that:

- Mesa Verde Company's possessory interest was "real property" within the meaning of statutory provisions defining real property for property tax purposes.
- Mesa Verde Company's possessory interest fell within the Government Contractor Exemption and the Public Park Exemption. However, those exemptions were invalid; they represented attempts by the legislature to exempt real property that the Colorado Constitution did not authorize the legislature to exempt.
- The Supremacy Clause did not preclude the state's taxation of the concessionaire's possessory and usufructuary interests in federally owned land.
- The resulting tax was valid because the Ski Area Valuation Rule (and not the unqualified As-if owned Rule) applied to determine valuation, § 39-3-135(6), C.R.S.

In reaching its decision, the Supreme Court ruled that the second sentence of §§ 39-3-135(1) and all of (4)(c) were unconstitutional because they created exemptions not authorized by Article X of the Colorado Constitution. The court also stated: "...Furthermore, sections 9 and 10 of Article X specifically proscribe the legislative power 'to impair the financial base of government operations' by exempting corporate bodies, such as Mesa Verde, from their share of taxation. Allardice v. Adams County, 173 Colo. 133, 158, 476 P.2d 982, 995 (1970); see also Colo. Const. Art. X; Sections 9 & 10...." (p. 8)

§ 39-3-135, C.R.S., Repealed and § 39-3-136 and § 39-1-103(17), C.R.S. Enacted

In response to the Supreme Court's decision in Mesa Verde III, the legislature passed SB 96-218. The bill repealed § 39-3-135, C.R.S., and enacted § 39-3-

136 and § 39-1-103(17), C.R.S. The legislation had the following effect on the taxation of possessory interests in exempt property:

- It stated that possessory interests should not be taxed with the exception of: 1. equities in state lands, 2. mines, quarries, or minerals, including hydrocarbons, and 3. public utilities. § 39-3-136(1)(h), C.R.S.
- It repealed § 39-3-135, C.R.S., in its entirety and further stated that possessory interests in real or personal property exempt from taxation under § 39-3-136, C.R.S., shall not be subject to taxation unless specific statutory provisions are enacted directing the taxation of possessory interests.
- It established procedures for valuing possessory interests that take effect if possessory interests are found to be taxable under the Constitution, § 39-1-103(17), C.R.S.

The stated concern of the legislature was the Supreme Court's holding that certain possessory interests in land are "real property" and, therefore, subject to property taxation. The legislature felt the decision opened the door for a variety of possessory interests such as grazing leases, permits on government land, or government employees' parking spaces in government-owned garages becoming subject to property taxation. Further, those interests could be valued by different methods.

SB 96-218 was signed by Governor Romer on June 5, 1996, a month after the statutory date for mailing notices of valuation to taxpayers. When the state board met on October 16, 1996, eighteen counties had not yet removed possessory interest valuations because they believed the legislation was unconstitutional. The state board continued the hearing on possessory interests to October 28, 1996, so that counties had time to prepare presentations. The board also informed the counties of its intention to uphold § 39-3-136, C.R.S.

Counties' Challenge to 39-3-136, C.R.S.

When the state board met on October 28, 1996, fourteen counties had not removed the possessory interest valuations. The state board issued orders to each of the counties to remove the valuations, and it further ordered the counties to report back by November 13, 1996, that the order had been implemented.

The state board met on November 19, 1996, to review the counties' responses. Ten counties notified the state board that they had not removed the possessory interest valuations. To protect remedies, Boulder County filed an appeal in Denver District Court November 13, 1996; Clear Creek County filed in Denver District Court November 13, 1996, and seven counties filed an action November 25, 1996. The seven counties were Eagle, Grand, Jefferson, Montezuma, Pitkin, Routt, and Summit. Gunnison County chose not to file an appeal in anticipation of the state board's filing a petition for writ of mandamus with the Supreme Court.

In December, 1996, the state board filed a petition for writ of mandamus with the Supreme Court asking the court to order the ten counties to show cause why they should not comply with the state board's order to remove the possessory interest valuations from the county. The state board also requested the court to stay the proceedings pending in Denver District Court. On December 19, 1996, the court denied the petition without comment.

On August 11, 1997, Denver District Court ruled in favor of the state board and upheld the constitutionality of SB 96-218. The court based its ruling on the following points:

- The Supreme Court's decision in Mesa Verde Co. v. Montezuma is clearly based on a statutory definition of possessory interests as "real property." "The Supreme Court did not hold, or even suggest, that the subject land-use rights were inherently 'real property' as that term is defined in Article X, Section 3," of the Constitution. Subsequent to the Supreme Court's decision, the legislature enacted § 39-3-136, C.R.S., (SB 96-218) to exclude possessory interests from the statutory definition of "real property."

- The counties did not meet the burden to prove SB 96-218 unconstitutional beyond a reasonable doubt.
- There is no requirement in the Colorado Constitution to tax possessory interests.
- The state board did not abuse its discretion in ordering all counties with 1996 possessory interest assessments to remove them from their assessment.

The counties appealed to the Court of Appeals, and on December 24, 1998, the court issued its decision that affirmed the decision of the district court. In doing so, the court cited the reasoning in Vail Associates, Inc. v. Eagle County Board of County Commissioners, 983 P.2d 49 (Colo. App. 1998). This closely related case came before the court when Eagle County appealed the Board of Assessment Appeal's decision requiring it to remove Vail Associates' possessory interest value from the assessment roll.

In Vail Associates, the court based its decision on an understanding that the taxation of property requires implementing legislation; therefore, "the General Assembly has the discretion to determine questions of time, method, nature, purpose, and extent in respect to the imposition of taxes, the subjects upon which the taxing power is to be exercised, and the proceedings concerning taxation." (p. 54) The court said the Constitution is a document that sets the limits in which the legislature can operate, but there is no restriction against the legislature taking actions within those limits. In the court's opinion, the legislature recognized its limitations "noting that it could not create a class of property to be taxed and then exempt certain members of that class.” (p. 56) Therefore, the legislature “decided that it simply would not create that class consisting of possessory interests.” (p. 56)

The court also addressed the county’s objection that upon enacting § 39-3-136, C.R.S., the legislature did not amend §§ 39-1-102(14) or 111, C.R.S. These are the statutes cited in Mesa Verde III as defining possessory interests as real property subject to taxation. By not amending them, the county argued possessory interests were still defined by statute as real property. The court disagreed. “It is not for the reviewing court to determine that the legislature could have addressed an issue in a different or ‘better’ manner. Rather, the court’s function is to uphold the intent of the legislature and determine whether a statute is constitutional.” (p. 56) The counties appealed the decisions of both cases to the Colorado Supreme Court.

Vail Associates

The Supreme Court consolidated the two cases, and in Board of County Commissioners, County of Eagle, State of Colorado v. Vail Associates Inc. and the Board of Assessment Appeals and Allen S. Black et al. v. Colorado State Board of Equalization, 19 P.3d 1263 (Colo 2001), the court overturned the decisions of the Court of Appeals. In its decision, the court found that § 39-3-136, C.R.S., “unconstitutionally exempts some private possessory interests in tax-exempt property from taxation, contrary to Article X ... and (the court’s) controlling decision in (Mesa Verde III).” (p.1267) As previously stated, the Colorado Constitution provides that “...each property tax levy shall be uniform upon all real and personal property not exempt from taxation under this article....” COLO. CONST. art. X, § 3(1)(a).

The court agreed with the Court of Appeals, that the taxation of property requires implementing legislation, but it said the legislature’s authority is not unconstrained. “First, the General Assembly cannot refuse to exercise its taxation authority; it must enact tax statutes so that governmental operations may be funded.... Second, it cannot provide purely statutory exemptions from taxation that are not within the constitutional exemption categories of Article X.... Third, it must not enact provisions that exempt certain private interests from bearing their fair and proportionate burden of taxation.” (p. 1274)

The court found that the enactment of § 39-3-136, C.R.S., violated each of these constraints. Its decision rests in part on reasoning stated in Mesa Verde III, that possessory interests in real property are themselves real property as defined by § 39-1-102(14)(a), C.R.S.

“Real Property” means: (a) All lands or interests in lands to which title or the right of title has been acquired from the government of the United States or from sovereign authority ratified by treaties entered into by the United States, or from the state,.... 39-1-102(14)(a), C.R.S. (emphasis added by court) (p. 1274)

Although § 39-3-136(1)(g), C.R.S., is quoted as saying that provisions of § 39-1-102(14)(a), C.R.S., “...do not direct the taxation of possessory interests in exempt properties...,” the court disagreed with the appellate court’s opinion that its enactment removed possessory interests from the statutory definition of real property. “Defining property for taxation purposes and directing taxation of that property are different concepts...,” (p. 1275) the court said.

Instead, the court found that § 39-3-136, C.R.S., imposed the following changes on the taxation of possessory interests:

- The statute “defines a class of property known as ‘possessory interests.’” (p. 1277)
- It “prohibits taxation of a subclass of that property – possessory interests in otherwise tax-exempt property – from taxation while continuing taxation of other possessory interests.” (p. 1277)

- And it “carves out certain interests within the subclass for continued taxation.” (p. 1277)

“This disparate tax treatment within the same class of property is only permissible if the property exempted in the statute is also exempted in the constitution,” (p. 1277) the court said. However, the only constitutional exemption from the taxation of possessory interests in exempt property is specific to the taxation of non-producing unpatented mining claims. (p. 1278) Therefore, “the express language of section § 39-3-136 operates as a purely legislative exemption to taxation that is not authorized under Article X.” (p. 1278)

Accordingly, the court severed § 39-3-136, C.R.S., and the final sentence of § 39-1-106, C.R.S., and left in place the valuation provisions found in section § 39-1-103(17), C.R.S., that the legislature intended to apply if the court required the taxation of possessory interests in exempt property. (p. 1280) On March 30, 2001, the State Board of Equalization voted that upon receiving the remands from district court, appropriate orders would be issued to the counties.

State Board Orders Assessment of Possessory Interests

The Supreme Court’s decision affirmed the taxable status of the possessory interest property assessed by counties who were parties to Vail Associates. Their possessory interests were taxable for the years in which they were placed on the assessment rolls and for future years. However, the question remained as to whether other possessory interest property was taxable for the years in which the state board ordered its removal, or whether it was taxable beginning in 2001, the year the court issued its decision. This included possessory interests that had been removed by counties in response to the state board’s 1996 order and possessory interests, such as grazing rights that had not been previously assessed.

The state board addressed the question during its November 21 meeting, in which members voted unanimously to order “... all county assessors except those who were parties to (Vail Associates, to) value possessory interests for property tax years 2001, 2002 and forward.”

The order explained that the intent of the legislature was expressed in statute, including section § 39-10-101(2)(a)(II), C.R.S., (amended in 1996) that reads in part: “...the treasurer shall not treat any possessory interest in exempt property, as described in section § 39-3-136(1)(a), as taxable property omitted from the tax list and warrant for any year if the exclusion of the possessory interest from the assessment roll was based upon any provision of law created or repealed by Senate Bill 96-218....” The state board said “the courts will defer to clear legislative intent regarding the retrospective application of court decisions. Kuhn v. State Department of Revenue, 817 P.2d 101, 110 (Colo. 1991).”

During an October 7, 2002, hearing of the state board, several county assessors disclosed that they had not valued all of the taxable possessory interests in their jurisdictions. The counties were Delta, Eagle, Jackson, Jefferson, Moffat, Pitkin, and Rio Grande. On November 4, 2002, the state board sent the assessors a letter reminding them of their obligation to comply with the state board’s November 21, 2001, order and explaining the actions the board would take to enforce compliance if necessary. The assessors subsequently valued the taxable possessory interests in their counties for tax year 2002.

During the same meeting, the state board heard testimony from the Division of Property Taxation that the Mesa County Board of Equalization had incorrectly ordered the removal of possessory interest values placed on two properties by the Mesa County Assessor. The state board ordered the county board of equalization to rescind its decision and restore the actual values of $5,130 on one property and $80 on the other.

2003 Legislative Changes

Two bills were passed in 2003 that changed the valuation procedures for certain possessory interests. Senate Bill 03-167 affected the valuation of possessory interests in land leased by the state board of land commissioners. The bill amends § 39-1-103(17)(a)(II)(A), C.R.S., to say that the actual value of such land "...shall be the actual amount of the annual rent paid for the property tax year." This differs from most possessory interests, which are valued according to the "...present value of the reasonably estimated future annual rents or fees...through the stated initial term of the lease or other instrument granting the possessory interest," § 39-1-103(17)(a)(II)(A), C.R.S.

Senate Bill 03-347 concerns the valuation of possessory interests in land involving timber contracts. The bill amends § 39-1-103(17)(a)(II)(B), C.R.S., to exclude from the value calculation "any amount paid under a timber sales contract or similar agreement for the purchase of timber or for the right to acquire and remove timber." The bill effectively excludes from taxation a possessory interest created from a timber sales contract.

Concerning a flexible pay schedule that allows certain county employees to be paid more often than one time each month.

Section 1 amends § 30-2-104(1)(a), C.R.S., changing the time frame for compensation of employees of the county clerk and recorder, county treasurer, county assessor, and county coroner from monthly to at least once a month.

Section 2 amends § 30-2-106(1), C.R.S., changing the time frame for compensation of under sheriffs and deputy sheriffs from monthly to at least once a month.

Effective: July 1, 2003

Note: Some offices were already issuing paychecks more than once a month.

SB 03-032

Concerning the procedures for reviewing materials submitted by an owner claiming a property tax exemption for property used for religious purposes.

The bill changes the procedures the Division must follow in reviewing applications where the applicant is claiming exemption as a religious organization. SB 89-237 established the requirement that the Administrator get permission from the State Board of Equalization to request additional information from the organization or to challenge the declaration that sets forth the religious mission and purpose. This bill removes that requirement.

Section 1 amends § 39-2-117(1)(b)(II) and (3)(b)(II)(A), C.R.S., removing the requirement that the Property Tax Administrator gain permission from the State Board of Equalization to request additional information for purposes of determining the qualifying status of the property in question. The administrator may now directly request additional information, if the information is necessary to determine the exemption status of the property.

Section 2 repeals § 39-9-109, C.R.S., which gave the state board the power to authorize the administrator to require additional information from any owner claiming exemption under the statutes that govern religious organizations.

Concerning the categorization of Alamosa County for purposes of establishing salaries of county officers.

SB 03-067

Concerning procedures to be followed by county governments in connection with the merging of parcels of land.

Section 1 adds a new section (139) to article 28 of title 30, Colorado Revised Statutes. The new section provides procedures when a county ordinance, regulation, or resolution provides for the merger of two or more parcels of land for the purpose of eliminating interior lot lines or obsolete subdivisions.

The section affects the assessor in that, for the purposes of taxation, the merged parcels will be assessed as a single parcel of real property. The county commissioners are required to record a Notice of Merger with the clerk and recorder. The notice constitutes prima facie evidence that the requirements of subsection 1 were satisfied, that is, the notification process and conducting a hearing if necessary.

Section 2 addresses the effective date and additionally states that the assessment of merged parcels applies to mergers that take effect prior to, on, and after the effective date of the act, but shall not be construed to require a reassessment of property for property tax years prior to January 1, 2003.

Concerning modifications to the notice requirements applicable to the formation of certain political subdivisions that are authorized to levy ad valorem taxes.

The bill remedies ongoing issues between assessors and taxing entities (except Title 32 special districts) that argue they do not fall under § 39-1-110, C.R.S. Under the formation provision, the May 1 deadline was moved to July 1, as assessors said they could handle the later deadline and the change was beneficial to the entities. The deadline for filing documents pertaining to inclusions and exclusions to Title 32 special districts remain the same.

Section 1 of the bill amends §§ 39-1-110(1), (1.5), (1.8), and (2), C.R.S., changing most instances of the words "special district" to "political subdivision."

The bill also amends (1)(a) by removing the requirement that certain documents be filed with the Division of Local Government and instead requires the documents to be filed with the county commissioners and the assessor. The deadline for filing certain documents with the county is changed from May 1 to July 1. Under the current language, in order to levy a tax in the calendar year in which it was organized, the governing body must file official notice that a tax will be levied for such year, a legal description, and a map of the political subdivision with the assessor and the board of county commissioners by the July 1 deadline.

Additional amendments to § 39-1-110 (1)(a) include:

Removal of the requirement in (1)(a)(I) that the county must receive official notice from the Division of Local Government prior to October 15.

Removal of the requirement in (1)(a)(II) that an approved service plan and legal description be filed with the Division of Local Government.

Removal of the requirement in (1)(a)(III) that a copy of the budget for the special district be filed with the Division of Local Government.

References to real property in (1.5) and (1.8) were changed to include all property.

§ 39-1-110, C.R.S., was further amended by the addition of a new subsection (4) that defines special districts as those formed in accordance with the provisions of Title 32, C.R.S. The subsection clarifies that the deadlines pertain to Title 32 special districts with the addition of § 39-1-110(4), C.R.S.

The deadlines established in § 39-1-110(1.5), which pertain to the inclusion of property in the boundaries of a special district and (1.8), which pertain to the exclusion of property from the boundaries of a special district, were not changed by the bill.

SB 03-158

Concerning the sale of property of a school district.

Section 1 adds a new subsection (2) to § 22-45-112, C.R.S., which allows school districts to sell land, buildings, or land and buildings in order to have funds for the district.

Subsection 2, criteria:

- The board of education must declare a fiscal shortfall emergency. The fiscal shortfall occurs when the district:
 - Is denied a loan by the State Treasurer under § 22-54-110, C.R.S.
 - Or the district is unable to repay a loan obtained in the same state fiscal year that the loan was made.
- The board must then conduct at least one public hearing on the fiscal shortfall emergency.
 - At another public hearing held after the above meeting(s), at least 2/3 of the members of the board must approve a resolution declaring the fiscal shortfall emergency.
- The property must be sold to a lessor, which may include the State Treasurer, who will lease the property back to the school district under a lease-purchase agreement.
- The State Treasurer must approve the terms of the sale and lease-purchase agreement.

Section 2 adds a new paragraph (d) to § 22-54-110(2), C.R.S., which authorizes the lease-purchase agreements with the State Treasurer.

Paragraph (d)(I) requires:

- That the district has been denied a loan pursuant to § 22-54-110, C.R.S., and the fair market value of the property is equal to or greater than the purchase price,
- OR that the district is unable to repay a loan obtained in the same state fiscal year that the loan was made, and the fair market value of the property is equal to or greater than the outstanding balance of the loan.

Paragraph (d)(II) requires that the sale only may be made if:

- At the time of the sale, the State Treasurer leases the property back to the district under a lease-purchase agreement that is subject to an annual appropriation by the district.
- That the district pays any legal or other transaction costs of the State Treasurer related to the sale and the lease-purchase agreement.
- AND that the State Treasurer agrees to the sale and lease-purchase agreement

Paragraphs (d)(III), (IV), and (V) cover other issues such as statutes that do not apply to the lease-purchase agreements and what happens if the district defaults.

Section 3 adds a new section (111.5) to article 36 of title 24 that gives the State Treasurer the authority to invest in real property owned by a school district.

SB 03-230

Concerning the authorization for the Secretary of State to promulgate rules pursuant to the "Uniform Electronic Transactions Act," and making an appropriation therefore.

The bill establishes that each department, board, commission, authority, institution, or instrumentality of the state may determine the extent to which such body will send and accept electronic records and electronic signatures from other parties. The bill directs the Secretary of State to develop standards and rules for the use of electronic filings, documents, and signatures, and establish funding for the program.

The bill also states that a county, municipality, or political subdivision shall have the general power, in relation to the administration of the affairs of a county, municipality, or political subdivision, to determine the extent to which it will send and accept electronic records and signatures to and from other parties and rely upon those electronic records and signatures.

Concerning the date that refund interest begins to accrue where property tax was erroneously levied as a result of an error by the taxpayer in completing statements relating to oil and gas property.

The bill enacts an agreement reached by COGA and CCI relating to the payment of interest on oil and gas (real) property tax abatements when the refund is due to an error by the taxpayer (generally, failure to claim deductions).

Section 1 of the bill amends § 39-10-114(1)(b), C.R.S., by adding an exception that if the taxes were erroneously levied and collected as a result of an error or omission made by the taxpayer in completing the declaration schedule, the refund interest accrues from the date a complete a complete abatement petition is filed and the county pays the refund within the timeframe set forth in (1)(a)(I)(B) of section 110.

“ . . . Where a final determination is made granting an abatement or refund pursuant to the provisions of this section, the abatement or refund granted shall be payable at such time as determined by the board of county commissioners after consultation with affected taxing entities but no later than upon the payment of property taxes for the property tax year in which said final determination was made”

SB 03-261

Concerning fees assessed for the costs of administering programs in the Department of Local Affairs, and, in connection therewith, increasing certain fees collected by the bond allocations committee, the office of the Property Tax Administrator, and the Board of Assessment Appeals, and making an appropriation.

Section 2 amends § 39-2-125(1), C.R.S., by adding the requirement that appeals to the Board of Assessment Appeals be accompanied by a nonrefundable filing fee.

For any person other than a taxpayer pro se, the fee is 75 percent of the docket fee required to be paid by a plaintiff, petitioner, third-party plaintiff, and a party filing a cross claim or counter claim in a district court pursuant to § 13-32-101(1)(d), C.R.S. When calculated, the fee is $101.25. The Board of Assessment Appeals considers all companies, including limited liability companies in this category.

For a pro se taxpayer, there is no fee for the first two requests for a hearing per fiscal year. The fee for each additional request within such fiscal year is 75 percent of the docket fee required to be paid by a plaintiff, petitioner, third-party plaintiff, and a party filing a cross claim or counter claim in a court of record pursuant to § 13-32-101(1)(c)(I), C.R.S. When calculated, the fee is $33.75.

Section 3 amends § 39-2-117(1)(a), C.R.S., to change the application fee for exemption from $75 to $150. The annual report filing fee described in § 39-2-117(3)(a)(I), C.R.S., increases from $25 to $53; the annual report late filing fee described in (3)(a)(I) and (3)(a)(III) increases from $75 to $150. The bill instructs the state treasurer to create a fund for tracking the monies collected under the provision of this law.

Concerning the property tax exemption for qualifying seniors, and, in connection therewith, lowering the maximum amount of actual value of the primary owner-occupied residence of a qualifying senior that is partly exempt from property taxation, and making an appropriation in connection therewith.

The shortfall in the state's budget is the reason for the introduction and passage of this legislation. Even though the exemption will not be funded until 2006, assessors should continue notifying residential property owners, processing applications, and submitting data to the Division.

Section 1 amends § 39-3-203(1), C.R.S., by reducing the base amount for the senior exemption from 50 percent of the first two hundred thousand dollars of actual value to 50 percent of zero dollars of actual value for property tax years 2003 through 2005. Beginning with property tax year 2006, the base amount returns to 50 percent of the first two hundred thousand dollars of actual value.

Concerning the deferral of property taxes owned by active duty military personnel.

Section 1 of the bill amends § 39-3.5-101, C.R.S., with the addition of two new definitions in paragraph (1.8) for "person called into military service" and "active duty."

"Person called into military service" are members of the army national guard, army reserve, naval reserve, marine corps reserve, air national guard, air force reserve, and coast guard reserve who were ordered to active duty for a more than thirty consecutive days in a time of war or national emergency.

“Active duty” includes any period during which a person called into military service is absent from duty due to sickness, wounds, leave, or other lawful cause.

Section 2 of the bill defines the requirements for qualification. The person must have been called into military service between January 1, 2003 and June 30, 2003, and can defer the real property taxes payable in 2002. A claim may be filed in a subsequent year to continue the deferral of taxes. The claim had to have been filed by June 30, 2003.

Concerning the period in which an application for the property tax exemption for qualifying seniors may be filed.

Assessors and the Division received many telephone calls from seniors who either did not submit an application in a timely manner or who claimed they had filed an application that was never received by the assessor. The legislation provides a remedy.

Section 1 of the bill amends § 39-3-206(1)(a), C.R.S., adding a reference to new paragraph (2)(a.5), which provides an exception to the filing deadline.

Section 2 adds § 39-3-206(2)(a.5), C.R.S., which allows an assessor, at his/her discretion, to waive the application deadline and allow an individual to file a late application no later than September 15, if the applicant shows good cause for not filing by the July 15 deadline. HB 03-1077

Concerning the establishment of a process for the resolution of disputes among local governments arising out of a petition for annexation of land that is located within the boundaries of a development plan entered into by local governments through intergovernmental agreement.

Local governments may enter into Intergovernmental Agreements to plan land use and orderly development of land under § 29-20-105, C.R.S. Specifically, cities and counties may adopt Joint Comprehensive Development Plans that may set forth specific master plans, subdivision plans, zoning, and annexation plans. HB 1077 provides that, when two or more local governments sign such a plan, they must notify and send a copy of the plan to all other counties and municipalities within a three-mile radius ("neighboring jurisdictions").

Once such notice has been provided, if a municipality which is not a party to the IGA plan receives an annexation petition for territory that is within the Plan's boundaries, the municipality must notify the parties to the IGA before proceeding with the annexation. The obligation to provide notice of an annexation petition only arises if the parties to the IGA have provided notice and a copy of the IGA to all neighboring jurisdictions.

Notice of receipt of such an annexation petition must occur prior to the referral of the petition to the municipal clerk for certification. Within thirty days of receipt of such notice, the parties to the IGA may request the potential annexing municipality to participate in a mediation concerning the land use of the territory in question. If the parties do not request mediation, the annexation may proceed according to existing statute. If mediation is requested, the parties have 90 days to complete the mediation, unless both parties agree to a longer time period.

Upon a resolution of any issues, or on the 91st day, whichever comes first, the potential annexing municipality may proceed with the annexation. The party requesting the mediation bears the cost of the mediation, unless the parties agree otherwise.

Concerning real property instruments filed with a county clerk and recorder.

The original intent was to introduce legislation that would create an immediate remedy to title problems created by name variances; thus eliminating the three and 20-year wait. The bill was introduced with this language, plus additional language expanding the use of the affidavit, that at present is under debate by the Real Estate Section of the Bar Association. The main issue under debate is the definition of a scrivener's error. Can an affidavit be used to correct a problem when a lot number is incorrectly stated on a deed? For example, a grantor conveys Lot 2 and the intent was to convey Lot 32, can an affidavit correct this error? The question deepens when the grantor owns both Lot 2 and Lot 32.

Legislation may be introduced in 2004 to amend or eliminate the affects of this bill.

Section 1 amends § 38-35-116(1) and (2), C.R.S., and changes the allowed variance between instruments affecting the title to real property. The current language establishes that one or more of the following variances between any two instruments affecting the title to real property will be presumed to be the same person, until evidence to the contrary appears.

- (I) The full first name appearing in one and only the initial letter of that first name appearing in the other;

- (II) A full middle name appearing in one and only the initial letter of that middle name appearing in the other;
- (III) The initial letter of a middle name appearing in one and not appearing in the other; or

Section 2 of the bill amends § 38-35-107, C.R.S., excluding affidavits described in section § 38-35-109(5) from the list of documents that are accepted and received as prima facie evidence after being of record for a period of 20 years.

Section 3 amends § 38-35-109, C.R.S., by the addition of a new subsection, (5)(a). It allows a recorded affidavit executed under penalty of perjury to constitute prima facie evidence of one or more of the following facts:

- (I) The name, age, identity, residence, or service in the armed forces of any party;
- (II) Whether the land embraced in any conveyance or any part of such land or right therein has been in the actual possession of any party or parties within the chain of title;
- (III) If furnished by a registered surveyor, a statement or survey that reconciles conflicts and ambiguities in descriptions of land in recorded instruments;
- (IV) A scrivener's error.

An affidavit filed under subsection (5) shall state that the affiant has actual knowledge of, and is competent to testify to the facts in the affidavit and shall include a description of the land, the title that may be affected by facts stated in such affidavit, a reference to an instrument of record containing such description, the name of the person appearing by the record to be the owner of such land at the time of the recording of the affidavit, and an acknowledgement that the affiant is testifying under penalty of perjury. The recorder shall index the affidavit in the name of the record owner.

Concerning a modification to the statutory provisions regarding special districts to allow a municipality to agree to be the approving authority of a special district that was originally approved by a board of county commissioners but has since become wholly contained within the boundaries of the municipality by annexation.

When Title 32 districts are formed, statute requires that the special district receive approval of its service plan. When most of the district lies in a county, the county reviews and approves the plan. Once approved, the county has on-going jurisdiction to review and approve the actions of the special district.

If a special district becomes wholly contained within a municipality because of annexation or a boundary adjustment, the bill allows a municipality to assume the responsibilities performed by the county. The special district makes the request to the municipality to change the approving authority. The municipality is not required to accept. Typically, the municipalities do accept.

Concerning minor adjustments to the boundaries between certain contiguous counties.

The 1998 enactment of section 30-6-109.7, C.R.S., HB 98-1305, allows adjustments to limited areas of boundary between two contiguous counties without an election as long as one of the counties exceeds a population of 400,000. Section § 30-6-109.7(8), C.R.S., stated that not territory of a county that contains an occupied residential unit could be added to an adjoining county.

HB 03-1239 amends the above subsection (8) and adds a new subsection (8.5) that allows such property to be added to another county if the county to which the property will be added is bound by an intergovernmental agreement to use the property solely for park and open space purposes. The intergovernmental agreement must be negotiated pursuant to § 30-6-109.7(5), C.R.S.

Concerning the eligibility of a taxpayer who is a person with a disability to participate in a property tax work-off program.

Section 1 amends § 39-3.7-101, C.R.S., by the addition of a new subsection (1.5) that defines a person with a disability. "Person with disability" means any individual with a physical impairment, a developmental disability as defined in section § 27-10.5-102(11)(a), C.R.S., or mental retardation that substantially limits one or more of the major life activities of the individual.

Section 2 amends § 39-3.7-102, C.R.S., by the addition of a new subsection (6). The new subsection requires that any taxpayer with a disability who applies to participate in a property tax work-off program must submit a signed and dated letter from a Colorado Licensed Health Care Professional verifying that the taxpayer has a disability. Any taxing entity that establishes a property tax work-off program pursuant to the provisions of this section may further define the term "person with a disability” for purposes of determining eligibility for the property tax work-off program. The definition may restrict, but shall not expand, the class of individuals who are eligible to participate in the property tax work-off program.

Note: The provisions of the Act apply to property tax years commencing January 1, 2003.

Concerning clarification of the applicability of statutory provisions that enacted certain notification requirements affecting only those applications for development filed on or after July 1, 2001.

This is a continuation of the saga creating a streamlined procedure for providing notice to mineral owners of impending surface development. The bill clarifies the applicability of the mineral owner notification requirement enacted in HB 01-1088 to projects, which had filed land use applications but had not had the first public hearing prior to the effective date of July 1, 2001. It provides a similar clarification for those surface developments, including “linear” utility transmission facilities, exempted in the 2002 amendments to the law. HB 03-1302 was developed to respond to legal uncertainties related to the large wind farm project near Lamar.

Section 1 amends § 24-65.5-102(2)(b), C.R.S., mentioning that statutes are presumed to have only prospective effect, and under applicable case law, this presumption applies unless the general assembly’s contrary intent is clearly expressed. The bill also clarifies that the requirements of this article, established by HB 01-1088, apply to applications for development that were pending on July 1, 2001, even though the 2001 bill did not clearly express that intent.

Section 2 amends § 24-65.5-104(1), C.R.S., by the addition of a new subsection

(2.5). The new subsection addresses applications that were granted on or after August 7, 2002, for a change of use for an existing structure, a boundary adjustment, the platting of an additional single lot, a lot site plan, or with respect to electric lines, natural gas pipelines, steam pipelines, chilled and other water pipelines, or appurtenances to said lines or pipelines. A mineral estate holder who alleges that an applicant failed to provide proper notice is limited to the remedy described in (b) of this section.

Concerning the appointment of independent referees by a board of county commissioners to conduct a hearing related to a petition for an abatement or refund of property taxes.

Section 1 of the bill amends § 39-1-113, C.R.S., by adding language allowing the board of county commissioners (board) to appoint independent referees experienced in property valuation to conduct the abatement/refund hearing on behalf of the board, to make findings, and to submit recommendations to the board for its final decision.

Concerning the adjustment of the ratio of valuation for assessment for residential real property.

Section 1 of the bill amends § 39-1-104.2(3), C.R.S., by adding a new paragraph (i), which sets the residential assessment rate at 7.96 percent for property tax years 2003 and 2004.

(1) Average will not add to the Total Average County Levy because denominators (Assessed Valuation) are not common to all.

(2) Municipal Revenues are divided by the sum of Municipal Assessed Valuation.

(3) Special District Revenues are dividd by the sum of Special District Assessed Valuation.

* These figures include tax increment valuation, and all tax revenues attributable to the increment are allocated to the increment financing authority only.
