REPORT OF THE ADJUTANT-GENERAL.

HEADQUARTERS COLORADO NATIONAL GUARD,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT,

DENVER, December 30, 1882.

To His Excellency FREDERICK W. PITKIN,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR:—In conformity with law I have the honor to submit my report for the term ending December 31st, 1882.

The past two years have been marked by unprecedented activity in military circles of the State. For the first time in the history of Colorado the entire personal Staff of the Governor, as well as several of the general officers of the National Guard, have given their personal attention to matters relating to their positions, have provided themselves with uniforms and appeared on parade on all proper occasions, thus encouraging the line officers and rank and file to greater exertions in the direction of more efficient drill and discipline.

The organization of a State Militia is necessarily a work of time. Many of the older States of the Union, after more than a century of labor, have but few effective military organizations. In fact, with the exception of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio, California and two or three others, the militia forces of the United States are neither ornamental nor useful. Those, then, who are inclined to sneer at the efforts of the military of Colorado in the direction of thorough and effective organization should consider the fact that our infant State has accomplished more in this direction during its six years of existence than many of the older States have in one hundred and six. In the face of a poverty-stricken military fund, the opposition of many members of the General Assembly and the sneers of the ignorant, the work of recruiting and drilling the militia force of the State has progressed, and at present Colorado can boast of several companies which in point of drill and discipline would do honor to New York or Pennsylvania.

Within the past two years the battalion organizations projected by my predecessor have been perfected. The Legislature of 1881 increased the military poll tax to one dollar, and the fund so obtained has done much toward relieving the financial pressure under which the military have so long labored, though, owing to the lack of legal means to enforce its collection, not more than one-fourth of the amount of poll tax due ever finds its way into the hands of the State Treasurer. If means were provided for the proper collection of this tax, the militia would be placed on a solid basis.

ORGANIZATION.

Notwithstanding the difficulties in the way, such as lack of arms, clothing, money, etc., four battalions of infantry and one battalion of cavalry have been organized during the past two years, partly from companies already in service and partly from new organizations. The commanding officers in nearly every instance are men who have seen active service, and the members of the various battalion staffs are thoroughly posted as to their duties. During the period above mentioned seven companies of infantry and one of cavalry have been mustered into the service of the State. Numerous applications have been made by companies to be accepted, but the scantiness of the military fund and the lack of arms, accoutrements and clothing have caused their rejection. Six companies have been disbanded, leaving the effective force of the State at present four companies of cavalry, one battery of artillery and eighteen companies of infantry.

CLOTHING AND ARMS.

The militia law provides that the Adjutant-General shall furnish uniforms for the troops. Owing to the lack of funds I have been able to issue uniforms to but two companies and two bands. Five companies are wholly without uniforms, and two are supplied with non regulation clothing. In several instances private individuals have been good enough to advance money for the purchase of uniforms, waiting for repayment until the military fund is in condition to reimburse them. But one organization is provided with overcoats, and the State does not own a blanket, a knapsack, a tent or a canteen. The supply of arms and ammunition now on hand is meagre.

MILITARY POLL TAX.

The attention of the General Assembly should be called to the inadequate means for the collection of the military poll tax. The law provides that every citizen except active members of the National Guard, or some Volunteer Fire Department, shall pay a military poll tax of one dollar, annually. Previous to the session of the Legislature of 1881, when a bill was passed imposing heavy penalties for neglect of duty upon the Commissioners of the various counties of the State, these gentlemen, in spite of the requirements of the law, in several counties refused to levy the military poll tax. All of these counties, however, with the exception of Pueblo, have since paid up their indebtedness. That county, in spite of the provisions of the law of 1881, still withholds the military poll tax for the years 1877, 1878, 1879 and 1880, amounting to $1,981. The following table shows the number of votes cast for Governor in November, 1880, and the number of polls returned by each of the County Assessors for the year 1881:

	No. of Votes Cast.	Military Tax Assessed.
Arapahoe	7,880	$ 3,468

Totals	53,420	$23,475

If every citizen except those who are active members of the National Guard, or of a volunteer fire department, were assessed one dollar per capita, as the law requires, then most of the counties of the State must be tolerably well provided with soldiers and firemen. The total vote cast in the State was 53,420, and the total amount of military poll tax assessed was $23,475, or in other words, 23,475 of the voting population of the State are assessed with military poll tax, while 29,945 are exempt! To make matters worse, $14,600.77 only of this $23,475 was returned to the State Treasurer for the benefit of the military fund, instead of $50,000, which could have been realized if any means were provided by law for enforcing the payment of this tax. Those who own no real property, as a general thing decline to pay the poll tax, and there is no means of collecting it. In many of the older States non-payment of poll tax is a good ground for the challenge of a vote, and hence that tax is promptly paid. A provision of this kind formed part of the bill for the present militia law, but the Legislature in their wisdom saw fit to strike it out.

ENCAMPMENTS, ETC. *

With the exceptions of a dash made after a band of hostile Utes by Captain Klee's company, E, of the Second Infantry, and a few hours' service by Captain Johnson's company, H, of the Third Infantry, called out by the sheriff of Chaffee county, no troops have been ordered for active duty during the past two years. Owing to the fact of there not being sufficient funds on hand for the purpose, no general encampments have been held, as required by law. The estimated expense of such encampment for the year 1882 was $30,000, more than double the entire income of the military fund for that year. In the absence of encampments, I have encouraged, as far as lay in my power, parades at Denver and other points, where the military from various sections of the State were brought together, thus causing a healthy rivalry in matters of drill and discipline. The first of these parades was held at Denver, July 4th, 1881, and was participated in by the staff of the commander-in-chief, the major general of the First Division and staff, the major general of the Second Division and staff, the brigadier general of the First Brigade, Second Division, and staff, companies B and D of the First Cavalry, the Chaffee Light Artillery, the First Battalion of Infantry, and the Third Battalion of Infantry. A parade also took place on the occasion of the opening of the National Mining and Industrial Exhibition, August 1st, 1882, which was participated in by nearly all of the uniformed military organizations of the State. This was conceded by competent military authorities to be the finest display of the kind ever made west of the Missouri river. In no instance has one dollar of the expense of these parades been paid out of the military fund of the State.

COMPETITIVE DRILLS.

Competitive drills have been held on several occasions between various companies of the State, and the subject is at present attracting considerable attention among the troops. These drills have an excellent effect and should be encouraged by all means. A premium of some kind, presented annually by the State, to the best drilled company, would have the effect of greatly increasing the efficiency of the National Guard.

BANDS.

In accordance with the provisions of the militia law, two bands have been organized and uniformed, and mustered into the service of the State. One of them belongs to the First Infantry and the other to the First Cavalry. Heretofore great difficulty has been experienced in obtaining good military music, but that trouble has now been overcome, as far as these two organizations are concerned, both bands being far above the average of similar organizations formed in the West. It is to be hoped that the officers of these two battalions will continue to manifest the interest heretofore taken by them in their bands, so that the services of these excellent musicians may be retained.

ARMORIES.

During the past summer a large and commodious building was erected in Leadville by private parties and leased to the State for an Armory for the various companies located at that point. It furnishes accommodations for four companies of infantry and two of cavalry and is provided with everything needful for the comfort and convenience of the troops. The Armory accommodations at Denver are not sufficient for the number of troops now in service, and it has been found necessary to rent an Armory for one of the companies. It would be advisable to procure a place to be used as a store-house for arms, etc., belonging to the State. At present those articles are stored in the Armory at Denver, and are liable to be handled and carried off by unauthorized parties. All of the companies throughout the State are provided with comfortable Armories, none of them, however, the property of the State.

COLLECTING ARMS.

During the Indian troubles of 1879 it became necessary to issue arms and ammunition to the settlers on various portions of the exposed frontier. These articles were usually shipped in great haste, rendering it impossible to obtain any security for their safe keeping and return. After all danger from Indian raids had disappeared, every effort was made to recover the stores so issued, with fair success. In most instances some few of the arms were missing, but the bulk of them have been recovered and issued to regularly organized companies.

RECORDS.

The muster rolls of the Colorado regiments called into the service of the United States during the war of the Rebellion are in many instances defective. Some of the company rolls are missing and others are badly torn and ready to drop to pieces. As there are daily applications made to this office by men who served in these regiments for certificates of service, to take the place of lost discharges in making applications for pensions, it would be an act of justice to the men who fought and bled to preserve the Union that the Legislature make a small appropriation to have the missing rolls replaced and the damaged ones copied before they are entirely destroyed.

WAR RELICS.

There are now deposited in my office the colors of the First Colorado Cavalry, the Independent Battery, and a Rebel flag, captured in Missouri by Capt. West's company of the Second Colorado Cavalry. These flags are fast dropping to pieces and, unless some means are provided for their preservation, will soon be worthless. I would respectfully urge upon the members of the Legislature the necessity of making a small appropriation for cases for these relics of our great struggle. I have tried by all means in my power to obtain the colors of the Second and Third Colorado Regiments, but have been unsuccessful.

I desire to call your especial attention to the report of Col. A. H. Jones, Inspector General, which is transmitted herewith. It contains several valuable suggestions, which, if adopted, would add much to the efficiency of the National Guard.

In August next the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will hold its session in Denver. At least forty thousand old soldiers will be present at that time, accompanied by as many more of their friends. The State Militia will be called upon to do honor to the occasion, and it is to be hoped that the Legislature will make an appropriation sufficient to place our troops on a proper footing.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

R. M. STEVENSON,

Adjutant General.

HEADQUARTERS INSPECTOR GEN'L COLO. NAT'L GUARD, }
 DENVER, COLORADO, Dec. 15, 1882. }

Brig. Gen. R. M. Stevenson, Adj't. Gen'l State of Colorado :

GENERAL:—I have the honor to submit the following report relating to the National Guard of the State of Colorado :

Since my appointment as Inspector General, Feb. 14th, 1881, and in pursuance of Special Orders Nos. 35 and 56, from your headquarters, I have in accordance with the law personally and critically inspected every organized company in the State, with one exception, viz., Company —, Infantry, Pueblo, it having been inspected and mustered under your personal supervision. Am pleased to report that I have found nearly all the companies and battalions in good condition, well organized, the officers and men interested in their duties and anxious for improvement.

Since my report of July 7th, 1881, considerable has been done in the way of uniforming and equipping the militia of the State, and the recent inspection has demonstrated a very marked improvement in the drill, discipline, and general appearance of nearly all companies reporting.

The entire National Guard of the State (with the exception of the Chaffee Light Artillery), is without overcoats, while all are destitute of blankets, knapsacks, haversacks, and everything else in the shape of camp equipage, necessary in field operations, or a State encampment. It is to be hoped that some means will be devised for the relief of this pressing necessity, and that in the near future the Inspector General may have at his command the necessary means to enable him to perform the various duties imposed upon his office by the military laws of the State.

The Colorado National Guard is under obligations to our senators and representative in Congress for their efforts to obtain additional arms and equipments, and to the Hon. Secretary of the Interior (Henry M. Teller), they are particularly grateful for his personal efforts in procuring two long, ten-barrel, forty-five-calibre Gatling field guns, with other necessary equipments, thus giving the State a complete and effective four gun light battery.

I am pleased to notice the increasing interest in rifle and target practice, and would respectfully recommend that a time be fixed by law, for an annual encampment, that a certain number of cartridges be allowed each arm for target practice, and that all officers and men in camp be allowed the rations provided by the United States Army Regulations, or their equivalent in cash.

The National Guard is to the State government what the United States army is to the general government, and should therefore be encouraged and sustained.

Its annual expense is but a small part of what it may save in case of riot or other disturbance, and in a great State like ours, with a long extended and exposed frontier, a perfect National Guard organization is absolutely necessary in all our cities, towns, and larger mining camps.

As the members of the National Guard receive no pay for their services, except when ordered out for active duty (and not always then), I would suggest that some determined effort be made to collect the military poll tax, and thus insure the prompt payment of all necessary military expenses, a measure that would add very materially to the strength and efficiency of many companies in the State. I would also respectfully recommend that a bill be presented to our next Legislature, offering such amendments to our military laws as will provide for a single brigade organization in the State, until such time as our military strength shall demand another. The brigade to be commanded by a competent military officer, to rank as brigadier general, the same to be elected by a vote of commissioned officers of the companies, troops, batteries and battalions composing the brigade. His term of service to be three years or until his successor may be elected, unless sooner removed for misconduct, or in case of the vacation of his office by resignation duly accepted.

I regard the present system of political military appointments as exceedingly detrimental to the best interests, military order and discipline of the Colorado National Guard.

Furthermore, it is a gross injustice to the officers and men in line, there being no chance for promotion above the rank of colonel save by political preferment, our major and brigadier generals being selected and promoted from the political ranks, thus ignoring true military merit that may be developed by years of service in the National Guards of our country. The law provides that no officer of companies shall be commissioned without the certificate of the Inspector General, or of some board appointed by the commander-in-chief, as to their fitness and qualifications for such commission, after a full and fair examination, whereas a major, or brigadier general can be commissioned without examination, and totally regardless of their fitness or qualifications for the positions to which they may be appointed. As good citizens, as well as soldiers, the Colorado National Guard ask nothing unreasonable or extravagant; they are made up of all political complexions and creeds, and only ask the great, growing and prosperous State of Colorado to do them justice, and make them what they should be, strictly military in every sense of the word!

I would also respectfully recommend, that our senators and representative in Congress be urged to present and pass a law to enable the State to settle its ordnance accounts with the national government, prior to 1870, we having in the State armory a considerable amount of ordnance stores which are absolutely worthless to the present military organization, and which were issued to the Territory of Colorado at a time when it was entitled to government protection! In conclusion I would ask that, in addition to the suggested amendments to our military laws, already most respectfully submitted, provision be made for a penalty to be enforced, in any criminal court, or before any authorized justice of the peace, for the removal of any State arms, ammunition, or equipments, for other than military purposes, from any State armory, depository, warehouse or camp, unless by order of the commander-in-chief.

There is a very considerable quantity of arms, ammunition, etc., scattered about the State, in the hands of unauthorized and irresponsible parties (the result of the threatened Ute Indian outbreak). I would suggest that the Inspector General be authorized to detail a competent officer to look after said arms, etc., and have them returned to the custody of the Adjutant General.

In the absence of proper returns from the First and Third battalions of Infantry, I regret my inability at present to submit a detailed report of the last inspection, in pursuance of Special Order No. 56, from your headquarters.

Referring to detailed report of July 7th, 1881, and presuming that the Adjutant General's report will furnish, for the information of his excellency the Governor and the State Legislature, all necessary details, showing the present location, number, and equipment of all the companies in the State, and hoping that our National Guard will always be an honor to Colorado and the Union, I remain,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

ALBERT H. JONES,

Colonel and Inspector Gen'l Colo. Nat'l Guard.
