Comments on General Conditions

A resume of business conditions during the past two years is highly creditable to the State of Colorado, both from the point of financial and general business situation. The year nineteen hundred and thirty brought one of the best crops of several years, but unfortunately the decline in prices of general farm products was somewhat disheartening to the farmers. However, in general it is conceded the larger crop brought practically the money returns of former years with the additional average. Instead of abundant crops in segregated districts the returns were bountiful throughout the state which gave every district a generous distribution of the ultimate returns.

A review of conditions throughout the United States based upon positive facts obtainable from other banking departments must be conceded to show that Colorado has certainly been favored during the past year and regardless of a general depression throughout this country it can be stated that with Wyoming and Montana, Colorado stands in the position of being prosperous and subject to very few failures in the banking line.

We will casually refer to the report of R. N. Sims, Secretary of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, submitting a few facts from release for publication as of July 22, 1930. At that time there was released a compiled statement of all banking institutions of the United States which is an interesting comparison in favor of state banks and trust companies with that of the federal department. Said statements shows the total resources of all national banks to be $27,348,498,000, while a similar statement of state banks and trust companies shows an aggregate of $44,690,068,270. For the past five years the increase in favor of state banks has been from two to three billions of dollars each year, which has been the source of considerable annoyance to the Comptroller of the Currency as it evidently tends to show that under the unit system there still remains a responsibility providing the business is handled by experienced people.

Regardless of the fact that there is a material decrease in the number of operating institutions this is not entirely occasioned by failures but a large percentage of this reduction in numbers may be accorded to consolidations, mergers or voluntary liquidations.

Mr. Sims further states as follows:

"The figures given are very gratifying and reflect, as a whole, a healthy condition of the Banking Institutions of our country. These figures show the great and increasingly important part which the State Banking Institutions play in our great Federal Reserve System, through their voluntary membership.

Both classes of banks perform equally useful and necessary functions and I do not make comparisons for the purpose of disparagement, but to emphasize the colossal size of the two great banking systems and to direct attention to the importance and need of both in the development and handling of our country's business."

The past two years have been practically free from failures in the State of Colorado and in those which were placed in the hands of the Commissioner it was due to lack of judgment or experience with one or two instances of possibly criminal manipulations.

In view of the general statements which are submitted above we would consider that not for several years has the banking situation in Colorado been on as firm a basis as with the closing of the year nineteen hundred and thirty. The above statements are submitted without prejudice and for the consideration of the banks of this state.
