

New Associated Equipment Supplier License Type Added in Colorado

Legislation passed in the spring of 2013 added a new license type, bringing the types of Gaming licenses from five to six. The addition is the "associated equipment supplier license." An associated equipment supplier license is required for a person who imports, manufactures, or distributes associated equipment in Colorado, or who otherwise acts as an associated equipment supplier.

"This new license fills a void we had previously," said Laura Manning, Division Director. "Particularly with rapid changes in technology, we need a license that allowed the Division to have regulatory authority over companies and individuals who sell or service devices, equipment, and systems used to monitor gaming transactions or collect data from machines."

Slot machine manufacturers or distributors who are licensed in this state and who import, manufacture, or distribute associated equipment need not obtain a separate associated equipment supplier license. The Division is in the process of creating rules for this new license, and a rules making workshop is scheduled for Tuesday October 22, 2013 at the Division's Golden office. The Commission is expected to promulgate the rules for this new license in December 2013.
