The Colorado Judicial Branch annual report for fiscal year 1999 provides information about Colorado state courts. Profiled in this report are case load statistics for the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, District Courts, County Courts, Water Courts, Probation, as well as summarized financial information for the Judicial Branch.

All references to years in this report refer to fiscal years (July 1 through June 30) unless specified otherwise. This report can also be viewed by accessing the Judicial web site at www.courts.state.co.us. # Organization Chart of the Judicial Branch

The Colorado court system consists of the Supreme Court, an intermediate Court of Appeals, district courts and county courts. Each county has both a district court and a county court. Special probate and juvenile courts created by the Colorado Constitution exist in the City and County of Denver. Colorado statutes also authorize locally funded municipal courts with jurisdiction limited to municipal ordinance violations.

1 - Exclusive to the City and County of Denver. In the rest of the state, the district court is responsible for juvenile and probate matters.

2 – The Denver County Court functions as a municipal as well as a county court and is separate from the state court system.

3 – Created and maintained by local government but subject to Supreme Court rules and procedures.

THE SUPREME COURT

The Colorado Supreme Court is composed of seven justices serving ten-year terms and is the Colorado court system's court of last resort. The Chief Justice is selected from the membership of the Supreme Court and serves at the pleasure of a majority of the Supreme Court. The Chief Justice serves as the executive head of the Colorado Judicial System and is the Ex officio chair of the Supreme Court Nominating Commission. The Chief Justice also appoints the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals and the Chief Judge of each judicial district, and is vested with authority to assign judges (active or retired) to perform judicial duties.

Requests to review decisions of the Colorado Court of Appeals constitute a majority of the Supreme Court's filings. The Supreme Court has direct appellate jurisdiction over cases in which a statute has been held to be unconstitutional; cases involving decisions of the Public Utilities Commission; writs of habeas corpus; cases involving adjudication of water rights; summary proceedings initiated under the Election Code; and prosecutorial appeals concerning search and seizure questions in pending criminal proceedings. All of these appeals are filed directly with the Supreme Court, and, therefore, bypass the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court also has exclusive jurisdiction to promulgate rules governing practice and procedure in civil and criminal actions.

The Supreme Court also licenses and disciplines Colorado attorneys. The court's attorney regulation system, funded by attorney registration fees, polices the profession. In addition, the court oversees the State Court Administrator, the Board of Continuing Legal Education, the Board of Law Examiners, the Commission on Judicial Discipline, and the Unauthorized Practice of Law Committee.

The court disposed of 1,609 cases in FY 1999, which represents the highest total of terminations in the court's history.

For further information, please contact Mac V. Danford, Clerk of the Colorado Supreme Court, at Two East 14th Avenue, Denver, Colorado 80203; or call (303) 861-1111. Oral arguments are open to the public and you are welcome to visit the court. The clerk's office can assist you in planning a court visit.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

The Colorado Court of Appeals endeavors to provide citizens with impartial, clear and timely resolution of appealed judgments or orders as provided by law. Sixteen Court of Appeals judges sit in panels of three. The Court of Appeals is usually the first court to hear appeals of decisions made by Colorado district courts and Denver's probate and juvenile courts. In addition, the Court of Appeals is responsible for reviewing the decisions of several state administrative agencies.

In FY 1999, 2,647 new cases were filed in the Court of Appeals, which represents a 10% increase in filings over FY 1998. During that year, the court terminated 2,458 cases. Of the cases terminated, 313 had published opinions, 1,354 had unpublished opinions, 787 were dismissed before submission to the judges, and four cases were transferred to the Supreme Court. Actual production of opinions is an average of 90-95 cases per year, per judge.

In FY 1997, the court terminated 1,588 cases by opinion. In FY 1998, terminations by opinion fell to 1,484 and in FY 1999, opinion terminations rose to 1,667, an all-time high for the court.

DISTRICT COURT

Colorado's district courts serve citizens of each county in the state. There are currently 118 district judges serving Colorado's 22 judicial districts. District judges preside over felony criminal matters, civil claims in any amount, juvenile matters (including adoption, dependency and neglect matters, juvenile delinquency, and paternity actions), probate, mental health, divorce proceedings, and water cases. Additionally, district judges preside over jury trials, handle appeals from Colorado's municipal and county courts, and review decisions of administrative boards and agencies.

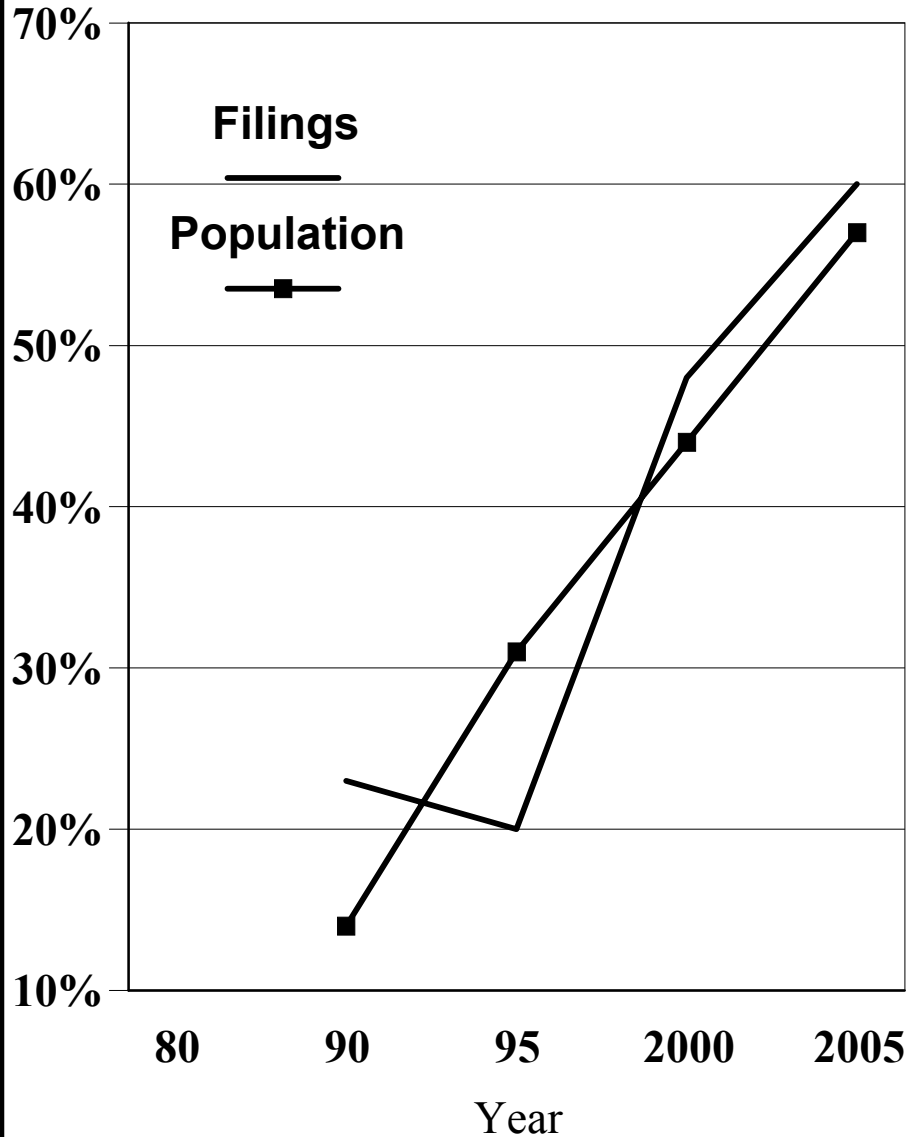

In Fiscal Year 1999, there were 161,341 case filings at the district court level (excluding water cases), and Colorado's district courts were able to terminate 165,436 cases during that same time period. Over the past ten years, district court filings have increased over 13.5 percent, rising from 142,102 to 161,341 cases. The growth has occurred primarily in criminal and juvenile matters, including delinquency, and dependency and neglect matters.

- Felony filings rose 85 percent since FY 1989 to 37,538 annual case filings.
- Juvenile cases increased 68 percent since FY 1989 to 37,214 cases filed annually.

* Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, causing a temporarily inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

(a) The Denver County Court functions as a municipal as well as a county court and is separate from the state court system.

COUNTY COURTS

Colorado's county courts serve citizens of each county in the state. County judges handle cases involving serious public safety issues such as misdemeanor cases, felony advisements, setting bonds and preliminary hearings. County judges also issue restraining orders in cases involving domestic violence arrest and search warrants, preside over traffic cases and civil actions involving no more than $10,000, and handle jury trials.

In Fiscal Year 1999, Colorado county courts had 451,897 cases filed, and county courts were able to terminate 451,118 cases during that same time period. Over the past ten years, county court filings have increased 20 percent, rising from 375,184 to the current level of cases filed. The growth has occurred primarily in felony complaints, misdemeanor and civil case filings.

- Felony Complaints increased 70 percent since FY 1989, to 20,301 cases.

(a) Pending case count was verified on 10/5/99 by counting all open cases on the ICON system.

(b) Felony complaints represent the number of criminal cases, docketed as (CR), that begin in county court.

The processing of felony cases varies between locations. The counties processing CR cases hear advisements, and some counties do preliminary hearings in county court before moving the case to district court for completion of the felony process. The case can also be reduced to a misdemeanor and remain in county court; the cases retain the same docket number in either county or district court.

WATER COURT

The Water Right Determination and Administration Act of 1969 created seven water divisions according to drainage patterns of various rivers in Colorado. Each water division is staffed with a division engineer, appointed by the state engineer; a water judge, appointed by the Supreme Court; a water referee, appointed by the water judge; and a water clerk, assigned by the district court.

Water judges are district judges appointed by the Supreme Court and have jurisdiction in the determination of water rights, the use and administration of water, and all other water matters within the jurisdiction of the water divisions.

The Supreme Court approved a standard case definition for all water courts in May 1981. This resulted in annual reporting of water division filings since July 1, 1981, and made possible the establishment of water court staffing standards.

PROBATION

Several years ago, Colorado Probation boldly shifted its operational philosophy from traditional offender management to embracing principles of “Restorative Justice.” This commitment to restorative justice has not meant that we have abandoned the innovative practices of offender assessment and effective supervision methods but rather those practices grounded in the knowledge of effective treatment and supervision are the foundation of improved public safety.

Colorado Probation has embarked upon a wide range of energetic efforts to address traditional and creative forms of offender case management, victim services and community involvement.

This year’s annual statistical report reflects the overarching commitments to provide improved outcomes, protect the public, reduce the overall cost of the correctional system and to increase services to the victims of crime.

Probation Programs

The Colorado Judicial Department administers adult and juvenile probation in the state’s 22 judicial districts. The department publishes guidelines and standards for regular probation supervision and all specialized probation programs. Within the limits of state standards, each district is free to develop and structure programs that address the needs of the local court and the community.

The number of adult offenders sentenced to probation in Fiscal Year 1999 was 21,762; this is a 3.6% increase from Fiscal Year 1998. Also in Fiscal Year 1999, of all adult probationers terminated, 57% did so successfully.

In Fiscal Year 1999, 8,607 juvenile offenders were sentenced to probation; this is a slight decrease from Fiscal Year 1998. Seventy seven percent of all juveniles completing probation were successful.

Specialized Programs

Specialized programs are valuable probation resources, which provide the court with community sentencing options for high-risk or high-need offenders. The focus of specialized probation programming is to assess the offender’s criminal risk to the community; to target the offender’s needs which are served by criminal activity; and to identify appropriate treatment and resources to impact the criminal behavior. All applicants for specialized probation programs are screened for appropriateness by local internal boards. Specialized probation programs offer specialized assessments, home detention, electronic monitoring, cognitive skills training, educational assessments, literacy programs and employment programs.

Intensive Supervision Probation

The adult Intensive Supervision Probation (ISP) offers intensive monitoring and treatment to high-risk offenders that would otherwise receive prison sentences. At the end of FY 1999, 1,226 offenders, who might otherwise be serving sentences in the Department of Corrections, were supervised on ISP.

Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation

The Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation (JISP) is in place in 18 of the 22 judicial districts. At the end of FY 1999, 390 juveniles, who might otherwise be serving sentences in the Department of Youth Corrections, were supervised on JISP.

Specialized Drug Offender Program

The Specialized Drug Offender Program (SDOP) was developed in FY 1991, as a response to an increase in the number of drug offenders and offenders with severe substance abuse problems. SDOP is operational in 16 of the 22 judicial districts. At the end of FY 1999, there were 333 offenders in SDOP.

Female Offender Program

The Female Offender Program (FOP) was developed in FY 1992, to intervene in the lives of female offenders who are experiencing problems, especially substance abuse problems. At the end of FY 1999, there were 173 female offenders in FOP.

Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation

The Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation (SOISP) was developed in response to statutory requirements of lifetime supervision for certain sex offenders. The program combines monitoring, treatment and high levels of accountability to contain offenders safely in the community. The program became available in November of 1998, and at the end of FY 1999, 9 offenders are supervised on SOISP.

Drug Court

Currently, only Denver District Court maintains a separate court to process drug related criminal cases. In the Drug Court, non-violent offenders may undergo treatment and counseling and are monitored closely for probation compliance with swift consistent and firm action for serious offenders. At the end of FY 1999, 2,047 offenders were supervised in the Denver Drug Court.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In Fiscal Year 1999, the Judicial Branch had a budget of over $193 million and about 2,500 full-time equivalent staff. Of this budget, 86 percent directly funded the courts and the probation departments (with the trial courts at 59%, the appellate courts at 5% and the probation departments at 22%). The remaining 14 percent funded support functions (with central administration at 5%, information services at 3%, and insurance and wage survey costs for the Branch's employees at 6%).

Personnel costs of $117 million comprised the largest proportion of the $193 million budget, while operating costs of $7 million comprised the smallest proportion. About $25 million supported victims compensation and assistance programs, and $18 million in mandated costs was appropriated to pay for court-appointed counsel and jury and court costs. The remaining $26 million was appropriated in various areas including federal funds and grants, the collections and alternate dispute resolution programs, training, courthouse furnishings, leased space and other miscellaneous items.

In Fiscal Year 1999, the courts and probation departments throughout Colorado collected a record $89 million in various statutory fines, fees, surcharges and restitution. These funds are earmarked by statute to go to the General Fund, Highway Users Trust Fund, Victim Funds, Drug Offender Surcharge Cash Fund, and numerous other State and Local funds and programs. Through the use of Collections Investigators in every district, the Judicial Branch has implemented a variety of proactive collection strategies and procedures to maximize revenues, particularly in the collection of court fines and restitution from offenders. Victims of crime are important stakeholders in this process, and as indicated by the chart below, recoveries of restitution for victims have risen sharply over the last ten years.

Pilot projects are currently underway whereby the courts will be contracting directly with private collection companies to handle accounts after internal collection efforts have been exhausted. As offenders are held accountable for payment of their fines, restitution and other financial obligations, the overall integrity of the Judicial System is enhanced.
