Foreword

The Colorado Judicial Branch Annual Statistical Report for Fiscal Year 2000 provides information about Colorado state courts. Profiled in this report are caseload statistics for the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, District Courts, County Courts, Water Courts, Probation, as well as summarized financial information for the Judicial Branch.

All references to years in this report refer to fiscal years (July 1 through June 30) unless specified otherwise. This report can also be viewed by accessing the Judicial web site at www.courts.state.co.us. If you need additional information, contact the State Court Administrator's Office, Planning and Analysis Division at (303) 861-1111.

Organization Chart of the Judicial Branch

The Colorado court system consists of the Supreme Court, an intermediate Court of Appeals, district courts and county courts. Each county has both a district court and a county court. Special probate and juvenile courts created by the Colorado Constitution exist in the City and County of Denver. Colorado statutes also authorize locally funded municipal courts with jurisdiction limited to municipal ordinance violations.

1 - Exclusive to the City and County of Denver. In the rest of the state, the district court is responsible for juvenile and probate matters.

2 – The Denver County Court functions as a municipal as well as a county court and is separate from the state court system.

3 – Created and maintained by local government but subject to Supreme Court rules and procedures.

THE SUPREME COURT

The Colorado Supreme Court is composed of seven justices serving ten-year terms and is the Colorado court system's court of last resort. The Chief Justice is selected from the membership of the Supreme Court and serves at the pleasure of a majority of the Supreme Court. The Chief Justice serves as the executive head of the Colorado Judicial System and is the Ex officio chair of the Supreme Court Nominating Commission. The Chief Justice also appoints the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals and the Chief Judge of each judicial district, and is vested with authority to assign judges (active or retired) to perform judicial duties.

Requests to review decisions of the Colorado Court of Appeals constitute a majority of the Supreme Court's filings. The Supreme Court has direct appellate jurisdiction over cases in which a statute has been held to be unconstitutional; cases involving decisions of the Public Utilities Commission; writs of habeas corpus; cases involving adjudication of water rights; summary proceedings initiated under the Election Code; and prosecutorial appeals concerning search and seizure questions in pending criminal proceedings. All of these appeals are filed directly with the Supreme Court, and, therefore, bypass the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court also has exclusive jurisdiction to promulgate rules governing practice and procedure in civil and criminal actions.

The Supreme Court also licenses and disciplines Colorado attorneys. The court's attorney regulation system, funded by attorney registration fees, polices the profession. In addition, the court oversees the State Court Administrator, the Board of Continuing Legal Education, the Board of Law Examiners, the Commission on Judicial Discipline, and the Unauthorized Practice of Law Committee.

For further information, please contact Mac V. Danford, Clerk of the Colorado Supreme Court, at Two East 14th Avenue, Denver, Colorado 80203; or call (303) 861-1111. Oral arguments are open to the public and you are welcome to visit the court. The clerk's office can assist you in planning a court visit.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

The Colorado Court of Appeals, composed of 16 judges serving 8-year terms, is the state's intermediate appellate court. The mission of the Court of Appeals is to provide citizens with impartial, clear and timely resolution of appealed judgments and orders as provided by the law. It is a statutory, not a constitutional court. As such, the appellate court's jurisdiction is limited to the areas delineated by statute, together with the powers granted to and inherent in all courts. However, in cases of first impression, or where existing law is not dispositive, it is a law making court.

The Court of Appeals is usually the first court to hear appeals of decisions from the state district courts as well as the Denver juvenile and probate courts. In addition, the court has the jurisdiction over appeals from a number of state administrative agencies and the Industrial Appeal Claims Office.

In FY 2000, 2502 new cases were filed in the Court of Appeals, including a mix of criminal, civil, agency, juvenile, domestic relations, worker's compensation and unemployment insurance appeals. The court disposed of 2613 cases during the year. Of the cases terminated, 291 had published opinions, 1,432 had unpublished opinions, 886 were dismissed before submission to the judges, and 4 cases were transferred to the Supreme Court. Actual production of opinions is an average of 90-95 cases per year, per judge.

For further information on the court and oral argument schedules, please contact Patrick Stanford, Clerk of the Court of Appeals, at 2 East 14th Avenue in Denver, or call 303-837-3785.

DISTRICT COURT

Colorado's district courts serve citizens of each county in the state. During Fiscal Year 2000, there were 118 district judges serving Colorado's 22 judicial districts. District judges preside over felony criminal matters, civil claims in any amount, juvenile matters (including adoption, dependency and neglect matters, juvenile delinquency, and paternity actions), probate, mental health, divorce proceedings, and water cases. Additionally, district judges preside over jury trials, handle appeals from Colorado's municipal and county courts, and review decisions of administrative boards and agencies.

In Fiscal Year 2000, there were 159,596 case filings at the district court level (excluding water cases), and Colorado's district courts were able to terminate 171,562 cases during that same time period. Over the past ten years, district court filings have increased 16 percent, rising from 137,279 to 159,596 cases. The growth has occurred primarily in criminal and juvenile matters, including delinquency, and dependency and neglect matters.

In the past ten years...

?? Criminal filings increased 70 percent, standing at 35,770 annual case filings.

?? Juvenile cases increased 54 percent to 36,601 cases filed annually.

COUNTY COURTS

Colorado's county courts serve citizens of each county in the state. County judges handle cases involving serious public safety issues such as misdemeanor cases, felony advisements, setting bonds and preliminary hearings. County judges also issue restraining orders in cases involving domestic violence arrest and search warrants, preside over traffic cases and civil actions involving no more than $10,000, and handle jury trials.

In Fiscal Year 2000, Colorado county courts had 446,725 cases filed. Over the past ten years, county court filings have increased 18 percent, rising from 377,332 to 446,725. The growth has occurred primarily in felony complaints, misdemeanor and civil case filings.

In the past ten years...

?? Felony complaints increased 81 percent to 20,010 cases.

?? Misdemeanor cases increased 85 percent to 73,853 cases.

?? Civil cases increased 30 percent to 127,017 cases.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In Fiscal Year 2000, the Judicial Branch had a budget of over $216 million and about 2,700 full-time equivalent staff. Of this budget, 85 percent directly funded the courts and the probation departments (with the trial courts at 55%, the appellate courts at 6% and the probation departments at 25%). The remaining 15 percent funded support functions (with central administration at 4%, information services at 3%, and insurance and wage survey costs for the Branch's employees at 8%).

Personnel costs of $125 million comprised the largest proportion of the $216 million budget, while operating costs of $8 million comprised the smallest proportion. About $25 million supported victims compensation and assistance programs, and $16 million in mandated costs was appropriated to pay for court-appointed counsel and jury and court costs. The remaining $42 million was appropriated in various areas including federal funds and grants, the collections and alternate dispute resolution programs, training, courthouse furnishings, leased space and other miscellaneous items.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

The Colorado Court of Appeals, composed of 16 judges serving 8-year terms, is the state's intermediate appellate court. The mission of the Court of Appeals is to provide citizens with impartial, clear and timely resolution of appealed judgments and orders as provided by the law. It is a statutory, not a constitutional court. As such, the appellate court's jurisdiction is limited to the areas delineated by statute, together with the powers granted to and inherent in all courts. However, in cases of first impression, or where existing law is not dispositive, it is a law making court.

The Court of Appeals is usually the first court to hear appeals of decisions from the state district courts as well as the Denver juvenile and probate courts. In addition, the court has the jurisdiction over appeals from a number of state administrative agencies and the Industrial Appeal Claims Office.

In FY 2000, 2502 new cases were filed in the Court of Appeals, including a mix of criminal, civil, agency, juvenile, domestic relations, worker's compensation and unemployment insurance appeals. The court disposed of 2613 cases during the year. Of the cases terminated, 291 had published opinions, 1,432 had unpublished opinions, 886 were dismissed before submission to the judges, and 4 cases were transferred to the Supreme Court. Actual production of opinions is an average of 90-95 cases per year, per judge.

For further information on the court and oral argument schedules, please contact Patrick Stanford, Clerk of the Court of Appeals, at 2 East 14th Avenue in Denver, or call 303-837-3785.

DISTRICT COURT

Colorado's district courts serve citizens of each county in the state. During Fiscal Year 2000, there were 118 district judges serving Colorado's 22 judicial districts. District judges preside over felony criminal matters, civil claims in any amount, juvenile matters (including adoption, dependency and neglect matters, juvenile delinquency, and paternity actions), probate, mental health, divorce proceedings, and water cases. Additionally, district judges preside over jury trials, handle appeals from Colorado's municipal and county courts, and review decisions of administrative boards and agencies.

In Fiscal Year 2000, there were 159,596 case filings at the district court level (excluding water cases), and Colorado's district courts were able to terminate 171,562 cases during that same time period. Over the past ten years, district court filings have increased 16 percent, rising from 137,279 to 159,596 cases. The growth has occurred primarily in criminal and juvenile matters, including delinquency, and dependency and neglect matters.

In the past ten years...

- Criminal filings increased 70 percent, standing at 35,770 annual case filings.
- Juvenile cases increased 54 percent to 36,601 cases filed annually.

*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporarily inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

COUNTY COURTS

Colorado's county courts serve citizens of each county in the state. County judges handle cases involving serious public safety issues such as misdemeanor cases, felony advisements, setting bonds and preliminary hearings. County judges also issue restraining orders in cases involving domestic violence arrest and search warrants, preside over traffic cases and civil actions involving no more than $10,000, and handle jury trials.

In Fiscal Year 2000, Colorado county courts had 446,725 cases filed. Over the past ten years, county court filings have increased 18 percent, rising from 377,332 to 446,725. The growth has occurred primarily in felony complaints, misdemeanor and civil case filings.

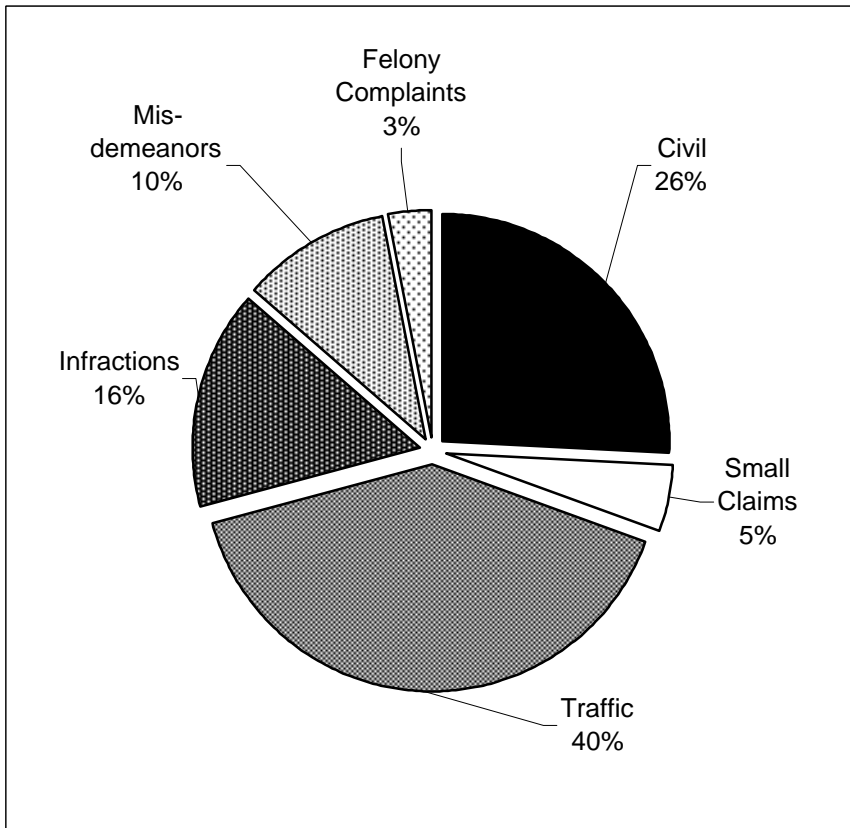

In the past ten years...

- Felony complaints increased 81 percent to 20,010 cases.
- Misdemeanor cases increased 85 percent to 73,853 cases.
- Civil cases increased 30 percent to 127,017 cases.

*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporarily inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

(a) Felony complaints represent the number of criminal cases, docketed as (CR), that begin in county court. The processing of felony cases varies between locations. The counties processing CR cases hear advisements. Some counties do preliminary hearings in county court before moving the case to district court for completion of the felony process. The case can also be reduced to a misdemeanor and remain in county court. The cases retain the same docket number in either county or district court.
(b) Does not include felony complaints.

*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporarily inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

(a) Felony complaints represent the number of criminal cases (docketed as CR) that begin in county court. The processing of felony cases varies between locations. The counties processing CR cases hear advisements and/or do preliminary hearings before moving the case to district court for completion. The case can also be reduced to a misdemeanor and remain in county court.

(b) Denver County Court filings are based on calendar year and are not included in the totals.

WATER COURT

The Water Right Determination and Administration Act of 1969 created seven water divisions according to drainage patterns of various rivers in Colorado. Each water division is staffed with a division engineer, appointed by the state engineer; a water judge, appointed by the Supreme Court; a water referee, appointed by the water judge; and a water clerk, assigned by the district court.

Water judges are district judges appointed by the Supreme Court and have jurisdiction in the determination of water rights, the use and administration of water, and all other water matters within the jurisdiction of the water divisions.

The Supreme Court approved a standard case definition for all water courts in May 1981. This resulted in annual reporting of water division filings since July 1, 1981, and made possible the establishment of water court staffing standards.

PROBATION

Several years ago, Colorado Probation boldly shifted its operational philosophy from traditional offender management to embracing principles of "Restorative Justice." This commitment to restorative justice has not meant that we have abandoned the innovative practices of offender assessment and effective supervision methods but rather those practices grounded in the knowledge of effective treatment and supervision are the foundation of improved public safety.

Colorado Probation has embarked upon a wide range of energetic efforts to address traditional and creative forms of offender case management, victim services and community involvement.

This year's annual statistical report reflects the overarching commitments to provide improved outcomes, protect the public, reduce the overall cost of the correctional system and to increase services to the victims of crime.

Probation Programs

The Colorado Judicial Department administers adult and juvenile probation in the state's 22 judicial districts. The department publishes guidelines and standards for regular probation supervision and all specialized probation programs. Within the limits of state standards, each district is free to develop and structure programs that address the needs of the local court and the community.

The number of adult offenders sentenced to probation in Fiscal Year 2000 was 19,188; this was a decrease from FY1999. Also in Fiscal Year 2000, of all adult probationers terminated, 69% did so successfully.

In Fiscal Year 2000, 7,650 juvenile offenders were sentenced to probation. Seventy four percent of all juveniles completing probation were successful.

Private Probation

Chief Justice Directive 96-05, which sets probation priorities, explains the use of Private probation supervision for appropriate low risk cases. Part III of the directive states that districts may enter into agreements with public or private entities for the provision of probation services including investigation services and the supervision of lower risk probationers. On June 30, 2000 there were 7,373 offenders being managed by private probation services. By utilizing private probation for these low risk offenders, it has enabled State probation services to dedicate more resources to offenders of higher risk, which provides greater public safety.

Specialized Programs

Specialized programs are valuable probation resources, which provide the court with community sentencing options for high-risk or high-need offenders. The focus of specialized probation programming is to assess the offender's criminal risk to the community; to target the offender's needs which are served by criminal activity; and to identify appropriate treatment and resources to impact the criminal behavior. All applicants for specialized probation programs are screened for appropriateness by local internal boards. Specialized probation programs offer specialized assessments, home detention, electronic monitoring, cognitive skills training, educational assessments, literacy programs and employment programs.

Intensive Supervision Probation

The adult Intensive Supervision Probation (ISP) offers intensive monitoring and treatment to high-risk offenders that would otherwise receive prison sentences. At the end of FY 2000, 1,581 offenders, who might otherwise be serving sentences in the Department of Corrections, were supervised on ISP.

Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation

The Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation (JISP) is in place in 18 of the 22 judicial districts. At the end of FY 2000, 490 juveniles, who might otherwise be serving sentences in the Department of Youth Corrections, were supervised on JISP.

Specialized Drug Offender Program

The Specialized Drug Offender Program (SDOP) was developed in FY 1991, as a response to an increase in the number of drug offenders and offenders with severe substance abuse problems. SDOP is operational in 16 of the 22 judicial districts. At the end of FY 2000, there were 322 offenders in SDOP.

Female Offender Program

The Female Offender Program (FOP) was developed in FY 1992, to intervene in the lives of female offenders who are experiencing problems, especially substance abuse problems. At the end of FY 2000, there were 185 female offenders in FOP.

Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation

The Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation (SOISP) was developed in response to statutory requirements of lifetime supervision for certain sex offenders. The program combines monitoring, treatment and high levels of accountability to contain offenders safely in the community. The program became available in November of 1998, and at the end of FY 2000, 62 offenders are supervised on SOISP.

Drug Court

In the Drug Court, non-violent offenders may undergo treatment and counseling and are monitored closely for probation compliance with swift consistent and firm action for serious drug abusing offenders. Last year (FY1999) only Denver District Court maintained a separate court to process drug related criminal cases. However, FY 2000 has brought more Drug Courts to the Colorado Judicial system. This year the 11th, 4th, 7th, and 8th (Juvenile) Districts will introduce Drug Courts. In addition to these districts, the 6th, 7th, 22nd and an Adult Drug Court in the 8th Judicial District will open in January of 2001.

Key: Successful Terminations : This number equals the total successful terminations (TERM) and private successful terminations. Cases supervised by a private provider were sent through probat and terminated on ICON or were sentenced to a private provider and were reported by local private providers as a successful termination.

Revocations : This column includes revocation from probation supervision for a technical violation, new misdemeanor, or a new felony. A revocation to community corrections is NOT included in this table.

These offenders are not included on this table as they are still under the supervision and jurisdiction of probation.

Absconion : This column includes offenders that may have absconded from supervision and a warrant issued. In rare circumstances, an offender could be terminated as an absconder but no warrant issued.

Community Corrections Discharge : This column is the number of Community Corrections clients discharged from community corrections probation supervision. The outcome of these cases are calculated by the community corrections agencies.

Admin Closure : Includes death of an offender, deportation or no services provided to an offender (i.e. in custody in another jurisdiction).

Total Terminations : This total does not include "Courtesy Closure sent back to original jurisdiction". Those terminations are included in the appropriate category of the originating district.

Closure Types for Interstate offenders supervised by Colorado Probation are included in the above table.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In Fiscal Year 2000, the Judicial Branch had a budget of over $216 million and about 2,700 full-time equivalent staff. Of this budget, 85 percent directly funded the courts and the probation departments (with the trial courts at 55%, the appellate courts at 6% and the probation departments at 25%). The remaining 15 percent funded support functions (with central administration at 4%, information services at 3%, and insurance and wage survey costs for the Branch's employees at 8%).

Personnel costs of $125 million comprised the largest proportion of the $216 million budget, while operating costs of $8 million comprised the smallest proportion. About $25 million supported victims compensation and assistance programs, and $16 million in mandated costs was appropriated to pay for court-appointed counsel and jury and court costs. The remaining $42 million was appropriated in various areas including federal funds and grants, the collections and alternate dispute resolution programs, training, courthouse furnishings, leased space and other miscellaneous items.

In Fiscal Year 2000, the court and probation departments throughout Colorado collected a record $96 million in various statutory fines, fees, surcharges and restitution. These funds are earmarked by statute to go to the General Fund, Highway Users Trust Fund, Victim Funds, Drug Offender Surcharge Cash Fund, and numerous other state and local funds and programs. Through the use of Collections Investigators in every district, the Judicial Branch has implemented a variety of proactive collection strategies and procedures to maximize revenues, particularly in the collection of court fines and restitution from offenders. Victims of crimes are important stateholders in this, and as indicated by the chart below, recoveries of restitution for victims have risen sharply over the last ten years.
