Foreword

The Colorado Judicial Branch Annual Statistical Report for Fiscal Year 2001 provides information about Colorado state courts. Profiled in this report are caseload statistics for the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, District Courts, County Courts, Water Courts, Probation, as well as summarized financial information for the Judicial Branch.

All references to years in this report refer to fiscal years (July 1 through June 30) unless specified otherwise. This report can also be viewed by accessing the Judicial web site at www.courts.state.co.us. If you need additional information, please contact the State Court Administrator's Office, Planning and Analysis Division at 303-861-1111.

Organization Chart of the Judicial Branch

The Colorado court system consists of the Supreme Court, an intermediate Court of Appeals, district courts and county courts. Each county has both a district court and a county court. Special probate and juvenile courts created by the Colorado Constitution exist in the City and County of Denver. Colorado statutes also authorize locally funded municipal courts with jurisdiction limited to municipal ordinance violations.

1 - Exclusive to the City and County of Denver. In the rest of the state, the district court is responsible for juvenile and probate matters.

2 - The Denver County Court functions as a municipal as well as a county court and is separate from the state court system.

3 -- Created and maintained by local government but subject to Supreme Court rules and procedures.

THE SUPREME COURT

The Colorado Supreme Court is composed of seven justices serving ten-year terms and is the Colorado court system's court of last resort. The Chief Justice is selected from the membership of the Supreme Court and serves at the pleasure of a majority of the Supreme Court. The Chief Justice serves as the executive head of the Colorado Judicial System and is the Ex officio chair of the Supreme Court Nominating Commission. The Chief Justice also appoints the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals and the Chief Judge of each judicial district, and is vested with authority to assign judges (active or retired) to perform judicial duties.

Requests to review decisions of the Colorado Court of Appeals constitute a majority of the Supreme Court's filings. The Supreme Court has direct appellate jurisdiction over cases in which a statute has been held to be unconstitutional; cases involving decisions of the Public Utilities Commission; writs of habeas corpus; cases involving adjudication of water rights; summary proceedings initiated under the Election Code; and prosecutorial appeals concerning search and seizure questions in pending criminal proceedings. All of these appeals are filed directly with the Supreme Court, and, therefore, bypass the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court also has exclusive jurisdiction to promulgate rules governing practice and procedure in civil and criminal actions.

The Supreme Court also licenses and disciplines Colorado attorneys. The court's attorney regulation system, funded by attorney registration fees, polices the profession. In addition, the court oversees the State Court Administrator, the Board of Continuing Legal Education, the Board of Law Examiners, the Commission on Judicial Discipline, and the Unauthorized Practice of Law Committee.

For further information, please contact Mac V. Danford, Clerk of the Colorado Supreme Court, at Two East 14th Avenue, Denver, Colorado 80203; or call (303) 861-1111. Oral arguments are open to the public and you are welcome to visit the court. The clerk's office can assist you in planning a court visit.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

The Colorado Court of Appeals, consisting of 16 judges who serve eight-year terms, is the state's intermediate appellate court. The mission of the Court of Appeals is to provide the citizens of Colorado with clear, impartial and timely resolutions of appealed orders and judgments as provided by law. The Court of Appeals was created by statute; accordingly, jurisdiction is limited to the areas specified by statute, together with the inherent powers granted to all courts. However, in cases of first impression, or where existing law is not dispositive, the Court of Appeals is a law-making court.

The Court of Appeals is usually the first court to hear appeals of judgments and orders from the district, juvenile and probate courts. These include matters in criminal, juvenile, civil, domestic relations and probate cases. In addition, the Court of Appeals has specific appellate jurisdiction over decisions originating from a number of state administrative boards and agencies, including the Industrial Claim Appeals Office.

For further information pertaining to the Colorado Court of Appeals, or to observe oral arguments, contact John Doerner, Clerk of the Court at 303-837-3785 or, 1-800-888-0001, ext. 785. Oral arguments are open to the public and you are always welcome to visit the court. The Court of Appeals is located in the Colorado Judicial Building at 2 East Fourteenth Avenue, Denver, 80203.

DISTRICT COURT

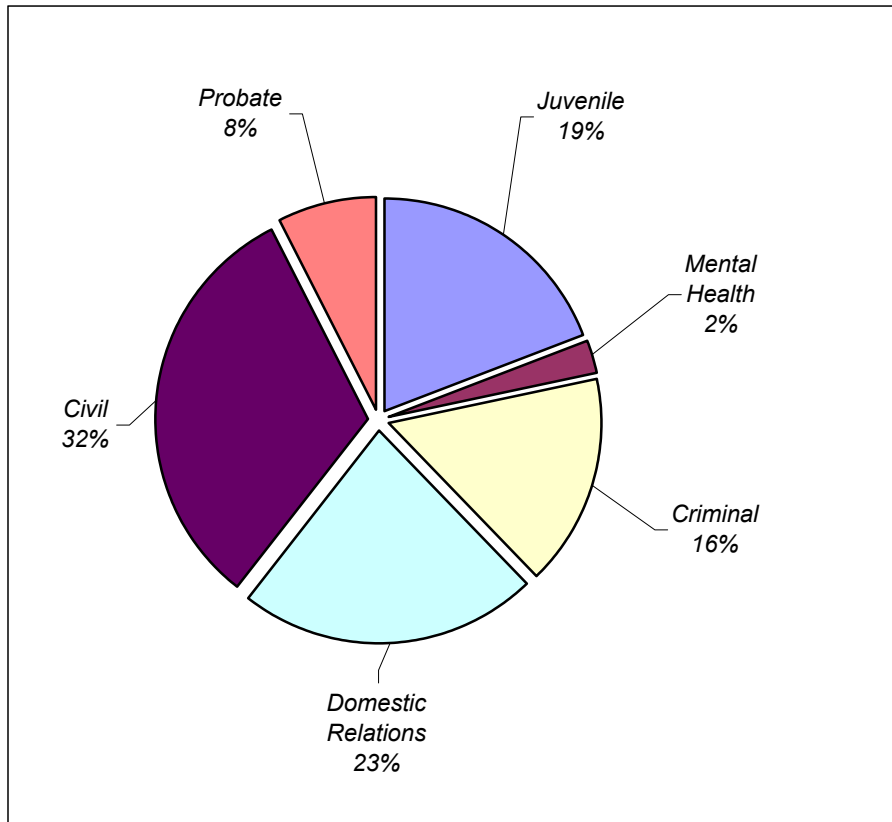

Colorado's district courts serve citizens of each county in the state. There are currently 126 district judges serving Colorado's 22 judicial districts. District judges preside over felony criminal matters, civil claims in any amount, juvenile matters (including adoption, dependency and neglect matters, juvenile delinquency, and paternity actions), probate, mental health, divorce proceedings, and water cases. Additionally, district judges preside over jury trials, handle appeals from Colorado's municipal and county courts, and review decisions of administrative boards and agencies.

In Fiscal Year 2001, there were 155,049 case filings at the district court level (excluding water cases), and Colorado's district courts were able to terminate 155,133 cases during that same time period. Over the past ten years, district court filings have increased 16 percent, rising from 133,317 cases to 155,099 cases. The growth has occurred primarily in criminal and juvenile matters, including delinquency, and dependency and neglect matters.

*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporarily inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

COUNTY COURTS

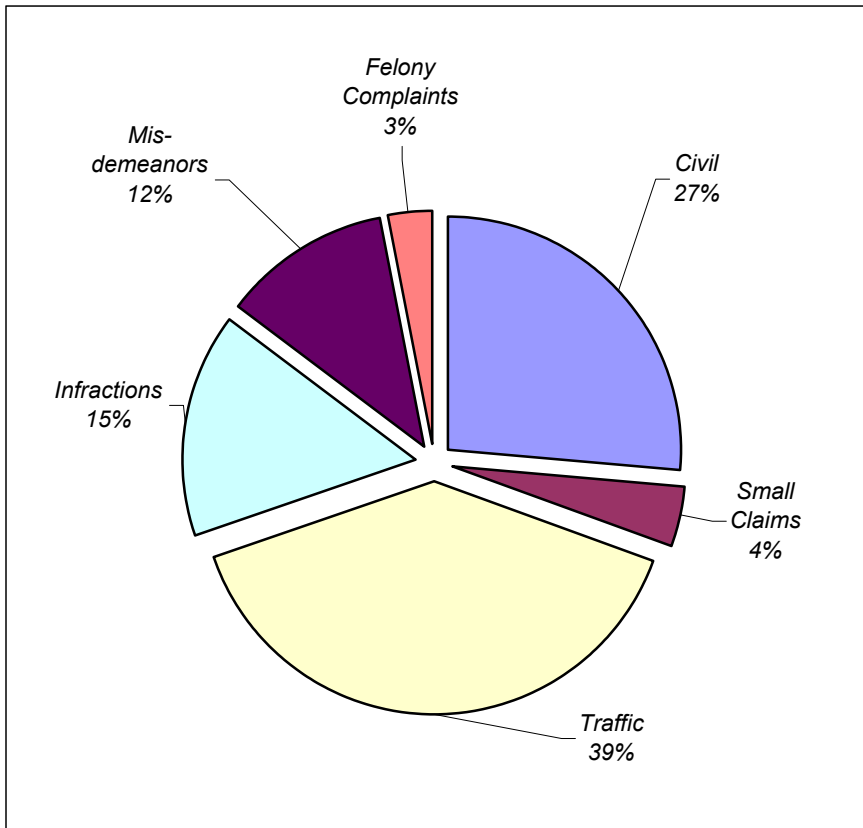

Colorado's county courts serve citizens of each county in the state. County judges handle cases involving serious public safety issues such as misdemeanor cases, felony advisements, setting bonds and preliminary hearings. County judges also issue restraining orders in cases involving domestic violence arrest and search warrants, preside over traffic cases and civil actions involving no more than $10,000, and handle jury trials.

In Fiscal Year 2001, Colorado county courts had 444,629 cases filed, and county courts were able to terminate 451,766 cases during that same time period. Over the past ten years, county court filings have increased 8 percent, rising from 410,421 cases to the current level of cases filed. The growth has occurred primarily in misdemeanor and civil case filings.

(a) Felony complaints represent the number of criminal cases, docketed as (CR), that begin in county court. The processing of felony cases varies between locations. The counties processing CR cases hear advisements. Some counties do preliminary hearings in county court before moving the case to district court for completion of the felony process. The case can also be reduced to a misdemeanor and remain in county court. The cases retain the same docket number in either county or district court.
(b) Does not include felony complaints.

*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporary inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

(a) Denver County Court statistics are based on calendar year 2000. (b) Does not include felonly complaints.
*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporary inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

(a) Felony complaints represent the number of criminal cases (docketed as CR) that begin in county court. The processing of felony cases varies between locations. The counties processing CR cases hear advisements and/or do preliminary hearings before moving the case to district court for completion. The case can also be reduced to a misdemeanor and remain in county court.

(b) Denver County Court filings are based on calendar year and are not included in the totals.

WATER COURT

The Water Right Determination and Administration Act of 1969 created seven water divisions according to drainage patterns of various rivers in Colorado. Each water division is staffed with a division engineer, appointed by the state engineer; a water judge, appointed by the Supreme Court; a water referee, appointed by the water judge; and a water clerk, assigned by the district court.

Water judges are district judges appointed by the Supreme Court and have jurisdiction in the determination of water rights, the use and administration of water, and all other water matters within the jurisdiction of the water divisions.

The Supreme Court approved a standard case definition for all water courts in May 1981. This resulted in annual reporting of water division filings since July 1, 1981, and made possible the establishment of water court staffing standards.

PROBATION

Colorado Probation continues to boldly shift its operational philosophy from traditional offender management to principles of “Restorative Justice.” This commitment to restorative justice has not meant that we have abandoned the innovative practices of offender assessment and effective supervision methods but rather those practices grounded in the knowledge of effective treatment and supervision are the foundation of improved public safety.

Colorado Probation has embarked upon a wide range of energetic efforts to address traditional and creative forms of offender case management, victim services and community involvement.

This year’s annual statistical report reflects the overarching commitments to provide improved outcomes, protect the public, reduce the overall cost of the correctional system and to increase services to the victims of crime.

Probation Programs

The Colorado Judicial Department administers adult and juvenile probation in the state’s 22 judicial districts. The department publishes guidelines and standards for regular probation supervision and all specialized probation programs. Within the limits of state standards, each district is free to develop and structure programs that address the needs of the local court and the community.

The number of adult offenders sentenced to probation in FY 2001 was 19,859; this was an increase from FY 2000. Also in FY 2001, of all adult probationers terminated, seventy percent did so successfully.

In FY 2001, 7,164 juvenile offenders were sentenced to probation. Seventy five percent of all juveniles completing probation were successful.

Private Probation

Chief Justice Directive 96-05, which sets probation priorities, explains the use of Private probation supervision for appropriate low risk cases. Part III of the directive states that districts may enter into agreements with public or private entities for the provision of probation services including investigation services and the supervision of lower risk probationers. On June 30, 2001 there were 7,793 offenders being managed by private probation services. By utilizing private probation for these low risk offenders, it has enabled State probation services to dedicate more resources to offenders of higher risk, which provides greater public safety.

Specialized Programs

Specialized programs are valuable probation resources, which provide the court with community sentencing options for high-risk or high-need offenders. The focus of specialized probation programming is to assess the offender's criminal risk to the community; to target the offender's needs which are served by criminal activity; and to identify appropriate treatment and resources to impact the criminal behavior. All applicants for specialized probation programs are screened for appropriateness by local internal boards. Specialized probation programs offer specialized assessments, home detention, electronic monitoring, cognitive skills training, educational assessments, literacy programs and employment programs.

Intensive Supervision Probation

The adult Intensive Supervision Probation (ISP) offers intensive monitoring and treatment to high-risk offenders that would otherwise receive prison sentences. At the end of FY 2001, 1,450 offenders, who might otherwise be serving sentences in the Department of Corrections, were supervised on ISP.

Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation

The Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation (JISP) is in place in 18 of the 22 judicial districts. At the end of FY 2001, 606 juveniles, who might otherwise be serving sentences in the Department of Youth Corrections, were supervised on JISP.

Specialized Drug Offender Program

The Specialized Drug Offender Program (SDOP) was developed in FY 1991, as a response to an increase in the number of drug offenders and offenders with severe substance abuse problems. SDOP is operational in 16 of the 22 judicial districts. At the end of FY 2001, there were 328 offenders in SDOP.

Female Offender Program

The Female Offender Program (FOP) was developed in FY 1992, to intervene in the lives of female offenders who are experiencing problems, especially substance abuse problems. At the end of FY 2001, there were 248 female offenders in FOP.

Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation

The Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation (SOISP) was developed in response to statutory requirements of lifetime supervision for certain sex offenders. The program combines monitoring, treatment and high levels of accountability to contain offenders safely in the community. The program became available in November of 1998, and at the end of FY 2001, 135 offenders are supervised on SOISP.

Drug Court

In the Drug Court, non-violent offenders may undergo treatment and counseling and are monitored closely for probation compliance with swift consistent and firm action for serious drug abusing offenders. In FY 1999, only Denver District Court maintained a separate court to process drug related criminal cases. However, FY 2000 brought more Drug Courts to the Colorado Judicial system. Currently, in FY 2001, the 11th, 4th, 7th, and 8th (Juvenile) Districts have begun to process drug related case in a Drug Court. In addition to these districts, the 6th, 7th, 22nd and an Adult Drug Court in the 8th Judicial District will open in January of 2001.

Key: Successful Terminations: This number equals the total successful terminations (TERM) and private successful terminations. Cases supervised by a private provider were sent through probation and terminated on ICON or were sentenced to a private provider and were reported by local private providers as a successful termination.

Revocations: This column includes revocation from probation supervision for a technical violation, new misdemeanor, or a new felony. A revocation to community corrections is NOT included in this table. These offenders are not included on this table as they are still under the supervision and jurisdiction of probation.

Absconion: This column includes offenders that may have absconded from supervision and a warrant issued. In rare circumstances, an offender could be terminated as an absconder but no warrant issued.

Community Corrections Discharge: This column is the number of Community Corrections clients discharged from community corrections probation supervision. The outcome of these cases are calculated by the community corrections agencies.

Admin Closure: Includes death of an offender, deportation or no services provided to an offender (i.e. in custody in another jurisdiction).

Total Terminations: This total does not include "Courtesy Closure sent back to original jurisdiction". Those terminations are included in the appropriate category of the originating district.

Closure Types for Interstate offenders supervised by Colorado Probation are included in the above table.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In Fiscal Year 2001, the Judicial Branch had a budget of $217 million and about 3,000 full-time equivalent staff. Of this budget, 85 percent directly funded the courts and the probation departments (with the trial courts at 55%, the appellate courts at 6% and the probation departments at 25%). The remaining 15 percent funded support functions (with central administration at 4%, information services at 3%, and insurance and wage survey costs for the Branch's employees at 8%).

Personnel costs of $128 million comprised the largest proportion of the $217 million budget, while operating costs of $8 million comprised the smallest proportion. About $25 million supported victims compensation and assistance programs, and $18 million in mandated costs was appropriated to pay for court-appointed counsel and jury and court costs. The remaining $38 million was appropriated in various areas including federal funds and grants, the collections and alternate dispute resolution programs, training, courthouse furnishings, leased space and other miscellaneous items.

In Fiscal Year 2001, the court and probation departments throughout Colorado collected a record $98 million in various statutory fines, fees, surcharges and restitution. These dollars are earmarked by statute to go to the General Fund, Highway Users Trust Fund, Victim Funds, Drug Offender Surcharge Cash Fund, and numerous other state and local funds and programs. Through the use of Collections Investigators in every district, the Judicial Branch has implemented a variety of proactive collection strategies and procedures to maximize revenues, particularly in the enforcement of court fines and restitution. Victims of crime are important stakeholders in this, and as indicated by the chart below, recoveries of restitution have risen sharply over the last ten years.
