FOREWORD

The Colorado Judicial Department Annual Statistical Report for Fiscal Year 2004 provides information about the Colorado State Courts. Profiled in this report are case load statistics for the Colorado Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, District Court, County Courts, Water Courts, Probation, as well as summarized financial information for the Judicial Department.

All references in this report reflect data gathered for Fiscal Year 2004 (July 1, 2003 through June 30, 2004), unless otherwise specified. This report can also be viewed by accessing the Colorado Judicial Department website at www.courts.state.co.us. If you need additional information regarding this document, please contact the Office of the State Court Administrator, Division of Planning & Analysis or Division of Probation Services at (303) 861-1111.

Organization Chart of the Judicial Department

The Colorado court system consists of the Supreme Court, an intermediate Court of Appeals, district courts and county courts. Each county has both a district court and a county court. Special probate and juvenile courts created by the Colorado Constitution exist in the City and County of Denver. Colorado statutes also authorize locally funded municipal courts with jurisdiction limited to municipal ordinance violations.

1 - Exclusive to the City and County of Denver. In the rest of the state, the district court is responsible for juvenile and probate matters.

2 - The Denver County Court functions as a municipal as well as a county court and is separate from the state court system.

3 - Created and maintained by local government but subject to Supreme Court rules and procedures.

COLORADO SUPREME COURT

The Colorado Supreme Court is the state's court of last resort. Its decisions are binding on all County and District Courts, as well as the Court of Appeals.

The Supreme Court is composed of seven justices who serve ten-year terms. The Chief Justice is selected from the membership of the body and serves at the pleasure of a majority of the justices. The Chief Justice also serves as the executive head of the Colorado Judicial Department and is the ex-officio chair of the Supreme Court Nominating Commission. The Chief Justice appoints the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals and the Chief Judge of each of the state's 22 judicial districts, and is vested with the authority to assign judges (active or retired) to perform judicial duties.

Requests to review decisions of the Colorado Court of Appeals constitute a majority of the Supreme Court's filings. The Supreme Court also has direct appellate jurisdiction over cases in which a statute has been held to be unconstitutional, cases involving decisions of the Public Utilities Commission, writs of habeas corpus, cases involving adjudication of water rights, summary proceedings initiated under the Election Code, and prosecutorial appeals concerning search and seizure questions in pending criminal proceedings. All of these appeals are filed directly with the Supreme Court, and, in these cases bypass the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court also has exclusive jurisdiction to promulgate rules governing practice and procedure in civil and criminal actions.

Colorado's attorneys are licensed and disciplined by the Supreme Court. The court's attorney regulation system, funded by attorney registration fees, regulates the profession. In addition, the court oversees the State Court Administrator, Board of Continuing Legal Education, Board of Law Examiners, Commission on Judicial Discipline, and Unauthorized Practice of Law Committee.

Oral arguments are open to the public and you are welcome to visit the court. The clerk's office can assist you in planning a court visit. For more information, please contact Susan J. Festag, Clerk of the Colorado Supreme Court, at 2 East 14th Ave., Denver, Colo. 80203; or call (303) 861-1111 or (800) 888-0001.

COLORADO COURT OF APPEALS

The Colorado Court of Appeals is the state's intermediate appellate court. Sixteen judges, who sit in panels or divisions of three, serve eight-year terms. The mission of the Court of Appeals is to provide the citizens of Colorado with clear, impartial and timely resolution of appealed orders and judgments as provided by law.

The body was created by statute; accordingly, jurisdiction is limited to areas specified by statute, together with the inherent powers granted to all courts in the state. However, in cases of first impression, or where existing law is not dispositive, the Court of Appeals is a law-making court.

The Court of Appeals is generally the first court to hear appeals of judgments and orders in criminal, juvenile, civil, domestic relations and probate matters. In addition, the Court of Appeals has specific appellate jurisdiction over decisions originating from a number of state administrative boards and agencies, including the Industrial Claim Appeals Office. Its determination of an appeal is final unless the Colorado Supreme Court agrees to hear the matter.

Oral arguments are open to the public and you are always welcome to visit the court. For more information pertaining to the Colorado Court of Appeals, or to observe oral arguments, contact John Doerner, Clerk of the Court at (303) 837-3785 or (800) 888-0001, ext. 785. The Court of Appeals is located in the Colorado Judicial Building at Two East 14th Ave., Denver, Colorado 80203.

DISTRICT COURT

Colorado is sectioned into 22 Judicial Districts encompassing all 64 counties. Across the state, district boundaries are aligned with county lines – some districts include just one county, while others include as many as seven. Each district has at least one district court location. The Supreme Court Chief Justice appoints a Chief Judge for each district to serve as the Chief Judicial Officer. In addition, each district has at least two district court judges who may preside in more than one district court within that judicial district, particularly in rural areas of the state. There are currently 132 district judges.

District judges preside over felony criminal matters, civil claims in any amount, juvenile matters (including adoption, dependency and neglect matters, juvenile delinquency, and paternity actions), probate, mental health, divorce proceedings, and water cases. Additionally, district judges preside over jury trials, handle appeals from Colorado's municipal and county courts, and review decisions of administrative boards and agencies. District decisions may be appealed to the Colorado Court of Appeals and/or to the Colorado Supreme Court.

In Fiscal Year 2004 there were 177,358 case filings at the district court level (excluding water cases). Colorado's district courts were able to terminate 176,306 cases during that same 12-month period. During the past ten years, district court filings have increased 32.2 percent, rising from 134,160 cases to the current level of filings, with the greatest area of increase occurring in civil filings.

*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporary inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

COUNTY COURT

Colorado's county courts serve the citizens of each of the state's 64 counties. Every county has a county court served by one or more judges. County judges handle cases involving serious public safety issues such as misdemeanor cases, felony advisements, setting bonds, and preliminary hearings. County judges also issue search warrants and protection orders in cases involving domestic violence, preside over traffic cases and civil actions involving no more than $15,000, and conduct jury trials. Appeals from the county court may be made to the district court.

Small claims courts are divisions of county court. Individuals are allowed to argue their own cases and to have speedy decisions on civil matters involving no more than $7,500. Court sessions are held during the day or evening to accommodate the public. There are no jury trials in small claims courts, and magistrates sometimes hear these cases rather than a judge. No plaintiff may file more than two claims per month or eighteen claims per year in small claims court.

In Fiscal Year 2004, Colorado county courts had 514,094 cases filed and were able to terminate 493,563 cases during that same period. During the past ten years, county court filings have increased 19.5 percent, rising from 429,919 to the current level of cases filed, with the greatest area of increase occurring in civil filings.

(a) Felony complaints represent the number of criminal cases, docketed as (CR), that begin in county court. The processing of felony cases varies between locations. The counties processing CR cases hear advisements. Some counties do preliminary hearings in county court before moving the case to district court for completion of the felony process. The case can also be reduced to a misdemeanor and remain in county court. The cases retain the same docket number in either county or district court.

(b) Does not include felony complaints.

*Termination levels have fluctuated over the past several years as districts have continued to address issues created by computer conversion. In some instances, conversion caused previously terminated cases to reopen, resulting in a temporary inflated termination count at the time districts reclosed them.

WATER COURT

The Water Right Determination and Administration Act of 1969 created seven water divisions based upon the drainage patterns of major rivers in Colorado: South Platte, Arkansas, Rio Grande, Gunnison, Colorado, White and San Juan Rivers. Each water division is staffed by a division engineer, appointed by the state engineer; a water judge, appointed by the Colorado Supreme Court; a water referee, appointed by the water judge; and a water clerk, assigned by the district court.

Water judges are district judges who have jurisdiction in the determination of water rights, the use and administration of water, and all other water matters within the jurisdiction of the water division. There are no jury trials in water courts, and all appeals are filed directly with the Colorado Supreme Court.

All water courts operate under a standard case definition approved by the Colorado Supreme Court in 1981. This made possible the establishment of water court filing standards, which have been reported annually by water divisions since July 1, 1981.

PROBATION

Colorado Probation is committed to public safety, victim and community reparation through offender accountability, skill and competency development and services to the communities of Colorado.

This statement of common ground has helped to focus all parts of the probation system on the critical functions of justice that are our mission and our responsibility. Especially with the fiscal constraints under which we are now operating, our commitment to these practices requires innovative approaches to offender assessment, supervision methods, victim involvement and community development. As new research becomes available, as best practices evolve, we build and adapt our system to better serve the public and increase public safety for the residents of Colorado.

Colorado Probation has embarked on a wide range of energetic efforts to incorporate both traditional and creative forms of offender case management, victim services and community involvement.

This year's statistical report reflects our commitment to improve results, protect the public, reduce the overall cost of the correctional system and increase services to victims of crime.

We begin FY 2005 still recovering from the cutbacks of past years. It is projected that Colorado Probation will exceed 240 adult offenders per officer, far beyond the national average of 130-150 offenders per officer. We will strive to continuously improve our efforts to maximize the use of the resources available to supervise offenders, serve victims and protect the community.

Probation Programs

The Colorado Judicial Department administers adult and juvenile probation in the state's 22 judicial districts. The Division of Probation Services publishes guidelines and standards for regular probation supervision and all specialized probation programs. Within the limits of these state standards, each district is free to develop and structure programs that address the needs of the local court and the community.

The number of adult offenders sentenced to probation in FY 2004 was 22,972. As of June 30, 2004 there were 39,207 adult offenders on supervision. Of all adult probationers terminated in FY 2004, sixty-three percent did so successfully.

In Fiscal Year 2004, 6,823 juvenile offenders were sentenced to probation. As of June 30, 2004 there were 7,869 juvenile offenders on supervision. Sixty-nine percent of all juveniles completing probation were successful.

High Risk Offender Programs

Specialized programs provide the court with community sentencing options for high-risk offenders. Three main goals drive specialized probation programs. They are to assess criminal risk; target offenders' service needs related to ongoing criminal activity; and identify appropriate treatment and resources to reduce criminal behavior. All applicants for specialized probation programs are screened for appropriateness by local internal boards. Specialized probation offers specialized assessments, electronic monitoring, cognitive skills training, educational assessments, literacy programs and employment programs.

Intensive Supervision Probation

The Adult Intensive Supervision Probation (ISP) offers intensive case management to high-risk offenders as an alternative to prison. At the end of FY 2004, 1,901 offenders were supervised on ISP. The program successfully diverted 520 offenders from the Department of Corrections in FY 2004, resulting in $14.7 million in cost avoidance to the state. Due to budget reductions the program caseloads remain 33% higher than in FY 2002, increased from 20 offenders to 35 offenders per officer. The success rate decreased from 54% in FY 03 to 44% in FY 2004. Continued observation of this program will occur during FY 2005.

Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation

The Juvenile Intensive Supervision Probation (JISP) Program was in place in 17 of the 22 judicial districts during FY 2004. At the end of FY 2004, 545 juveniles, who might otherwise be serving sentences in the Division of Youth Corrections, were supervised on JISP. In FY 2005, the JISP program was restored to its full capacity which will allow officers to supervise 25 JISP offenders per officer compared to 25 JISP offenders plus 10 maximum risk offenders in FY 2004. The success rate slightly decreased from 52% in FY 2003 to 51% in FY 2004. The Division of Probation Services will closely follow the impact of this program change during FY 2005.

Specialized Drug Offender Program

The Specialized Drug Offender Program (SDOP) was developed in 1991 in response to an increase in the number of offenders with severe substance abuse problems and had a 50% success rate over the 12 year life of the program. The program was eliminated in fiscal year 2004 as a result of budget reductions.

While there is not a plan to restore SDOP, there are current efforts to develop new supervision/treatment case management strategies for this population. Colorado Model Drug Court Guidelines that incorporate evidence-based practices have been developed for drug courts and districts interested in developing drug courts in their jurisdiction. Case management strategies, similar to those supported in the Drug Court Guidelines are also being developed for non-drug court jurisdictions. Both approaches seek to reduce substance abuse, crime, and recidivism; improve the health of offenders; and to restore victims and communities harmed by these offenders. The result will be a reduction in social and economic costs to the people of the state of Colorado.

Drug Court

In Drug Courts, non-violent serious drug abusing offenders who receive probation sentences are assessed, matched to the appropriate level of treatment, tested frequently for abstinence, monitored closely by a case manager and have frequent reviews in front of a Judge or Magistrate where sanctions or incentives can be immediately delivered. It is this intensive approach that has yielded impressive long-term results. In Colorado, there are adult drug courts in the 2nd, 4th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 11th, 12th Judicial Districts and juvenile drug courts in the 2nd, 6th, 8th, 11th and 22nd Judicial Districts.

Female Offender Program

The Female Offender Program (FOP) was developed in 1992, to intervene in the lives of high risk, substance abusing female offenders. At the end of FY 2003 the program was eliminated because of necessary budget reductions. These offenders were transferred to other probation programs to finish their supervision requirements. The probation officers associated with FOP were reassigned to regular probation caseloads. This program maintained over ten years of successful outcomes, with over 56% of all offenders successfully completing the program. In the program's last full year of operation it successfully diverted 55 women from the Department of Corrections at a cost avoidance of $1,740,090, and showed a 0% recidivism rate for two years after program discharge.

Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation

The Sex Offender Intensive Supervision Probation (SOISP) was developed in response to statutory requirements of lifetime supervision for certain sex offenders. The program combines monitoring, treatment and high levels of accountability to contain offenders safely in the community. The program became available in November of 1998, and at the end of FY 2004, 905 offenders were supervised on SOISP. Due to the public safety interest the judicial department chose not to reduce the capacity of this program for FY 2004.

Private Probation

Chief Justice Directive 04-03, which sets probation priorities, explains the provisions under which districts may contract with private probation supervision for appropriate low risk cases. Part III of the directive states that districts may enter into agreements with public or private entities for the provision of probation services, including investigation services and the supervision of lower risk probationers. On June 30, 2004 there were 10,572 offenders being managed by private probation services. By utilizing private probation for these low risk offenders, State probation departments can dedicate more resources to high risk offenders, which provides greater public safety.

DUI Offenders

The Alcohol and Drug Driving Safety (ADDS) Program conducts alcohol/drug evaluations and makes treatment recommendations for offenders convicted of driving under the influence with drugs or alcohol. In FY 2004 the program completed nearly 29,000 evaluations and monitored compliance with treatment and other court orders for Colorado's county courts.

Victim Services

In 1993 Colorado's General Assembly enacted victim rights legislation for victims of personal crime. In 1996, the Victim Rights Act was amended to require Colorado Probation departments to provide victim services. Since FY 1999, each of the state's 23 probation departments has provided services to victims whose offender is placed on probation. In FY 2004, Probation Victim Assistance Coordinators sent 10,934 letters to victims of crime informing them of their right to receive notification, and of these victims twenty-four percent (2,635) requested receipt of the statutorily required notification. There were a total of 14,792 critical notification events in which victims were notified.

Key: Successful Terminations : This number includes the state successful terminations and private successful terminations.

Unsuccessful Terminations : This column includes revocations and absconsions. A revocation is defined as a termination from probation supervision for a technical violation, new misdemeanor, or new felony. A revocation to Community Corrections is NOT included in this section. These offenders are not included on this table as they are still under the supervision and jurisdiction of probation.

Total Terminations : In this table only, the total terminations include: revocations, absconsions and successful terminations from probation supervision. Additional types of probation closures are included in Table 43.

Key: Successful Terminations: This number includes private successful terminations only.

Unsuccessful Terminations: This column includes revocations and absconsions. A revocation is defined as a termination from probation supervision for a technical violation, new misdemeanor, or new felony. A revocation to Community Corrections is NOT included in this section. These offenders are not included on this table as they are still under the supervision and jurisdiction of probation.

Total Terminations: In this table only, the total terminations include: revocations, absconsions and successful terminations from probation supervision.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In Fiscal Year 2004, the Judicial Branch had a budget of $222 million ($156 million in general funds and $65.5 million in cash and federal funds) and 2,847.7 full-time equivalent staff. This reflects a net decrease of $10 million over the original FY 2003 appropriation. This decrease was primarily due to a $20 million general fund cut in all personal services line items which was partially offset by a legislatively authorized civil filing fee increase that generated $10 million in new cash funds revenues. This decrease resulted in the elimination of 14% of non-judge staff.

Personnel costs of $140.1 million comprised the largest portion of the $222 million budget, while operating costs ($4.2 million) and employee health benefits ($6 million) comprised the smallest. In Fiscal Year 2004 $20 million dollars supported victims' compensation and assistance programs and $14.8 million was appropriated to mandated costs for court appointed counsel, jury and court costs. The remaining $36.7 million was appropriated in various areas including federal funds and grants, the collections and alternate dispute resolution programs, training, courthouse furnishings, leased space and other miscellaneous items.

JUDICIAL BRANCH COLLECTIONS

In Fiscal Year 2004, the state courts throughout Colorado collected $20.5 million in restitution for victims of crime along with $101.8 million in other statutory fines and costs. Collection efforts are concentrated in Collections Investigator offices in the local courts and probation departments. Under this statewide program, the Judicial Branch has implemented a variety of proactive strategies and procedures to maximize the collection of restitution, fines and fees. Examples include: investigating offender assets and earnings; issuing wage attachments; locating offenders who are trying to avoid their financial obligation to the court; intercepting state income tax refunds and lottery winnings; bank account garnishments; suspensions of drivers licenses; and referrals of accounts to private collection agencies. Numerous other individuals also play key roles in collections including judges, clerks, probation officers, court administrators, district attorneys and other criminal justice agencies. The chart below shows the restitution recoveries over the last ten years.
