SUPREME COURT OF COLORADO

STATE JUDICIAL BUILDING
2 EAST 14TH AVENUE
DENVER, COLORADO 80203-2116

MARY J. MULLARKEY
CHIEF JUSTICE

(303) 837-3771

November 1, 2005

As Chief Justice of the Colorado Supreme Court, I am pleased to present the Colorado Judicial Branch's Annual Statistical Report for Fiscal Year 2005. This report gives a detailed look at the cases filed and resolved in our courts during the fiscal year that ended on June 30, 2005.

The case numbers reflect on-going rapid growth in the workloads of the courts at all levels. In the two appellate courts, the supreme court's filings rose 11.3 percent and the court of appeals' new cases increased by 8.1 percent. Total new cases filed last year in the trial courts exceeded 738,000, representing a 3.5 percent addition in district court filings and 8 percent more cases filed in the county courts. In the past ten years, district court case filings have increased by one-third while county court filings have grown by 20 percent.

As the demands on the courts continue to escalate, meeting the needs of Colorado citizens gets more challenging. Staffing in the courts has not kept pace with the growth in cases. As I discussed in last year's report, a sharp decline in state revenues resulted in deep budget cuts. We have not fully recovered from losing 13 percent of our personnel in the 2004 fiscal year. Although we strive to provide good customer service, many court users encounter unfortunate delays in the handling of their cases.

Case growth historically results from strong growth in the state's population. Over time, more people living in Colorado simply means more cases filed in the courts. Some of the case growth, however, is directly related to the state's economic problems. Foreclosure actions, for example, have more than doubled in the past five years.

The number of judges did not change in the past year; although legislative funding for six new district court judges and associated staff took effect on July 1, 2005. We continue to search for ways to compensate for staffing shortages to mitigate the impact on the public. Electronic filing of court documents and other new technologies are critically important to improve our productivity.

As public servants, we are entrusted with the responsibility to fairly and impartially resolve the disputes that come before the courts. In these difficult times, we will continue to give priority to the matters of public safety, time-sensitive cases and those involving dependent and neglected children who are our most vulnerable population.

I hope the information contained in this report will help the citizens of Colorado explore the diverse, complex matters coming before the courts throughout the state.

Foreword

The Colorado Judicial Branch joins the Legislative and Executive branches to form the government for the State of Colorado. The Judicial Branch is charged with two responsibilities: resolving disputes and supervising offenders on probation.

On the Cover: FY 2004 marked a major milestone for jury reform in Colorado. It culminated nearly a decade of study and implementing improvements.

The jury system is an important component of the state court system. The opportunity to serve as a juror allows citizens to become better informed regarding courts and the law. About 95 percent of all jury trials in the world take place in the United States

In January of 1996, then Chief Justice Anthony Vollack appointed the Colorado Supreme Court Committee on the Effective and Efficient Use of Juries. The objective was to improve the jury system – largely, for citizens who serve as jurors. The sweeping reforms put in place since the report was initially released in 1997 have been significant. Some of these include:

- Respecting the use of the juror's time by conducting court proceedings in a timely manner and minimizing unnecessary delays;*
- Respecting the personal privacy of jurors by limiting public access to individual juror information and sealing juror questionnaire forms;*
- Reducing the burden of jury service by using the one-day/one-trial method of jury service;*
- Expanding the composition of the jury pool by using additional sources of juror names;*
- Permitting juror questions, note-taking/trial notebooks, and pre-deliberation discussions in many cases; and*
- Communicating with the jurors in plain English.*

Judicial Districts of Colorado

Organization Chart of the Judicial Department

The Colorado court system consists of the Supreme Court, an intermediate Court of Appeals, district courts and county courts. Each county has both a district court and a county court. Special probate and juvenile courts created by the Colorado Constitution exist in the City and County of Denver. Colorado statutes also authorize locally funded municipal courts with jurisdiction limited to municipal ordinance violations.

1 - Exclusive to the City and County of Denver. In the rest of the state, the district court is responsible for juvenile and probate matters.

2 - The Denver County Court functions as a municipal as well as a county court and is separate from the state court system.

3 - Created and maintained by local government but subject to Supreme Court rules and procedures.

Colorado Supreme Court

The Colorado Supreme Court is the state's court of last resort. Its decisions are binding on all County and District Courts, as well as the Court of Appeals.

The Supreme Court is composed of seven justices who serve renewable ten-year terms. The Chief Justice is selected from the membership of the body and serves at the pleasure of a majority of the justices. The Chief Justice also serves as the executive head of the Colorado Judicial Department and is the ex-officio chair of the Supreme Court Nominating Commission. The Chief Justice appoints the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals and the Chief Judge of each of the state's 22 judicial districts, and is vested with the authority to assign judges (active or retired) to perform judicial duties.

Requests to review decisions of the Colorado Court of Appeals constitute a majority of the Supreme Court's filings. The Supreme Court also has direct appellate jurisdiction over cases in which a statute has been held to be unconstitutional, cases involving decisions of the Public Utilities Commission, writs of habeas corpus, cases involving adjudication of water rights, summary proceedings initiated under the Election Code, and prosecutorial appeals concerning search and seizure questions in pending criminal proceedings. All of these appeals are filed directly with the Supreme Court, and, in these cases bypass the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court also has exclusive jurisdiction to promulgate rules governing practice and procedure in civil and criminal actions.

Colorado's attorneys are licensed and disciplined by the Supreme Court. The court's attorney regulation system, funded by attorney registration fees, regulates the profession. In addition, the court oversees the State Court Administrator, Board of Continuing Legal Education, Board of Law Examiners, Commission on Judicial Discipline, and Unauthorized Practice of Law Committee.

Oral arguments are open to the public and you are welcome to visit the court. The clerk's office can assist you in planning a court visit. For more information, please contact Susan J. Festag, Clerk of the Colorado Supreme Court, at 2 East 14th Ave., Denver, Colo. 80203; or call (303) 861-1111 or (800) 888-0001.

Case announcements, oral argument schedules, rules, Chief Justice Directives, protocols, links to committees and commissions, and general information about the court is available at <http://www.courts.state.co.us/supct/supctindex.htm>.

Colorado Court of Appeals

The Colorado Court of Appeals is the state's intermediate appellate court. Sixteen judges, who sit in panels or divisions of three, serve renewable eight-year terms. The mission of the Court of Appeals is to provide the citizens of Colorado with clear, impartial and timely resolution of appealed orders and judgments as provided by law.

The body was created by statute; accordingly, jurisdiction is limited to areas specified by statute, together with the inherent powers granted to all courts in the state. However, in cases of first impression, or where existing law is not dispositive, the Court of Appeals is a law-making court.

The Court of Appeals is generally the first court to hear appeals of judgments and orders in criminal, juvenile, civil, domestic relations and probate matters. In addition, the Court of Appeals has specific appellate jurisdiction over decisions originating from a number of state administrative boards and agencies, including the Industrial Claim Appeals Office. Its determination of an appeal is final unless the Colorado Supreme Court agrees to hear the matter.

Oral arguments are open to the public and you are always welcome to visit the court. For more information pertaining to the Colorado Court of Appeals, or to observe oral arguments, contact John Doerner, Clerk of the Court at (303) 837-3785 or (800) 888-0001, ext. 785. The Court of Appeals is located in the Colorado Judicial Building at Two East 14th Ave., Denver, Colorado 80203.

General information about the court and links to published opinions, oral argument schedules, rules, forms and policies are available on-line at <http://www.courts.state.co.us/coa/coaindex.htm>.

District Court

Colorado is sectioned into 22 Judicial Districts encompassing all 64 counties. Across the state, district boundaries are aligned with county lines – some districts include just one county, while others include as many as seven. Each district has at least one district court location. The Supreme Court Chief Justice appoints a Chief Judge for each district to serve as the Chief Judicial Officer. In addition, each district, with the exception of the Twenty-Second Judicial District (Dolores and Montezuma counties), has at least one other district court judge who may preside in more than one district court within that judicial district, particularly in rural areas of the state. There were 132 district judges during FY 2005. An additional six judges were allocated by the state legislature beginning July 1, 2005.

District judges preside over felony criminal matters, civil claims in any amount, juvenile matters (including adoption, dependency and neglect matters, juvenile delinquency, and paternity actions), probate, mental health, divorce proceedings, and water cases. Additionally, district judges preside over jury trials, handle appeals from Colorado's municipal and county courts, and review decisions of administrative boards and agencies. District decisions may be appealed to the Colorado Court of Appeals and/or to the Colorado Supreme Court.

In Fiscal Year 2005 there were 183,512 case filings at the district court level (excluding water cases). Colorado's district courts were able to terminate 179,995 cases during that same 12-month period. During the past ten years, district court filings have increased 32.2 percent, rising from 138,782 cases to the current level of filings, with the greatest area of increase occurring in civil filings.

Information specific to each of the 22 Judicial Districts, including contact information, is available at <http://www.courts.state.co.us/district/districts.htm>.

County Court

Colorado's county courts serve the citizens of each of the state's 64 counties. Every county has a county court served by one or more judges. County judges handle cases involving serious public safety issues such as misdemeanor cases, felony advisements, setting bonds, and preliminary hearings. County judges also issue search warrants and protection orders in cases involving domestic violence, preside over traffic cases, civil actions involving no more than $15,000, and conduct jury trials. Appeals from the county court may be made to the district court.

Small claims courts are divisions of county court. Individuals are allowed to argue their own cases and to have speedy decisions on civil matters involving no more than $7,500. Court sessions are held during the day or evening to accommodate the public. There are no jury trials in small claims courts, and magistrates sometimes hear these cases rather than a judge. No plaintiff may file more than two claims per month or eighteen claims per year in small claims court.

In Fiscal Year 2005, Colorado county courts had 555,447 cases filed and were able to terminate 525,575 cases during that same period. During the past ten years, county court filings have increased 21.3 percent, rising from 457,754 to the current level of cases filed, with the greatest area of increase occurring in civil filings.

Specific information regarding each of the county courts is available at <http://www.courts.state.co.us/district/counties.htm>.

(a) Felony complaints represent the number of criminal cases, docketed as (CR), that begin in county court. The processing of felony cases varies between locations. The counties processing CR cases hear advisements. Some counties do preliminary hearings in county court before moving the case to district court for completion of the felony process. The case can also be reduced to a misdemeanor and remain in county court. The cases retain the same docket number in either county or district court.

(b) Does not include felony complaints.

Water Court

The Water Right Determination and Administration Act of 1969 created seven water divisions based upon the drainage patterns of major rivers in Colorado: South Platte, Arkansas, Rio Grande, Gunnison, Colorado, White and San Juan Rivers. Each water division is staffed by a division engineer, appointed by the state engineer; a water judge, appointed by the Colorado Supreme Court; a water referee, appointed by the water judge; and a water clerk, assigned by the district court.

Water judges are district judges who have jurisdiction in the determination of water rights, the use and administration of water, and all other water matters within the jurisdiction of the water division. There are no jury trials in water courts, and all appeals are filed directly with the Colorado Supreme Court.

All water courts operate under a standard case definition approved by the Colorado Supreme Court in 1981. This made possible the establishment of water court filing standards, which have been reported annually by water divisions since July 1, 1981.

Specific information regarding each of the seven water divisions is available at <http://www.courts.state.co.us/supct/supctwaterctindex.htm>.

The Office of Dispute Resolution

The Office of Dispute Resolution

The Office of Dispute Resolution (ODR) was created by the Colorado Dispute Resolution Act in 1983. The ODR's mission is to establish or make available dispute resolution programs and related services throughout the state, as designated by the Chief Justice of Colorado's Supreme Court. The courts were encouraged to expand use of the Dispute Resolution Act by HJR 97-1020.

ODR assists the courts in designing, implementing, and administering dispute resolution programs, including multi-door courthouse programs which provide case screening to assist in matching cases to an appropriate dispute resolution process. ODR also provides dispute resolution services, including mediation and other services; provides information to the public regarding dispute resolution and Colorado's dispute resolution programs; collaborates with other individuals and organizations, including governmental units, such as bar associations, community mediation centers, schools, private and public dispute resolution programs, and others to increase access to dispute resolution services; consults with state and local governments regarding the design, implementation, and administration of dispute resolution programs; and provides dispute resolution education and training.

ODR first began mediating cases in FY 1985, with 54 domestic relations cases. In FY 2005, an estimated 4,301 domestic relations, civil, juvenile, dependency and neglect, truancy, county court, and probate cases were filed with ODR from 19 of the state's 22 judicial districts. Of these, 3,371 were mediated or provided other ADR services, such as parenting coordination or arbitration. The remaining cases were withdrawn by the parties for a variety of reasons, including settlement prior to mediation.

From the early 1990's through FY05, ODR was cash funded by the fees paid for ADR services. Beginning in FY06, ODR will instead receive a general fund appropriation for program/administrative costs, and the parties will pay the mediators directly for their services. ODR will continue to provide free mediation services for indigent parties and subsidized mediation services for low-income parties in cases involving parenting issues, and will expand its free ADR services for other indigent parties and for dependency and neglect cases, based on its general fund appropriation and its continuing receipt of the federal Access and Visitation Program grant funds. Beginning in FY06, ODR will also begin offering mini-grants for community conflict resolution and restorative justice services. General information regarding the Office of Dispute Resolution is available at <http://www.courts.state.co.us/chs/court/mediation/odrindex.htm>.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In Fiscal Year 2005, the Judicial Branch had a budget of $230 million ($165 million in general funds and $65.5 million in cash and federal funds) and 2,929.1 full-time equivalent staff. This reflects a net increase of $6 million over the original FY 2004 appropriation. This increase was primarily due to a 2% salary increase and partial restoration of the 14% staff cut in FY2004.

In FY2005, personnel costs of $143.1 million comprised the largest portion of the $230.5 million budget. Benefits accounted for $28.3 million, operating costs $9.3 million, victims' compensation and assistance programs $20 million dollars and $12.6 million was appropriated to mandated costs for court appointed counsel, jury and court costs. The remaining $31.6 million was appropriated in various areas including federal funds and grants, the collections and alternate dispute resolution programs, training, courthouse furnishings, leased space and other miscellaneous items.

JUDICIAL BRANCH COLLECTIONS

In Fiscal Year 2005, the state courts throughout Colorado collected $22.5 million in restitution for victims of crime along with $111 million in other statutory fines, fees, and costs. Collection efforts are concentrated in Collections Investigator offices in the local courts and probation departments. Under this statewide program, the Judicial Branch has implemented a variety of proactive strategies and procedures to maximize the collection of restitution, fines and fees. Examples include: investigating offender assets and earnings; issuing wage attachments; locating offenders who are trying to avoid their financial obligations to the court; intercepting state income tax refunds and lottery winnings; bank account garnishments; suspensions of drivers licenses; and referrals of accounts to private collection agencies. Besides Collections Investigators, other personnel also play key roles in collections including judges, clerks, probation officers, court administrators, district attorneys and other criminal justice agencies. The chart below shows the restitution recoveries over the last ten years.

Glossary of Terms

Supreme Court Glossary of Terms

- Civil Appeal: A written request to modify or reverse the judgment of a trial court or intermediate level appellate court in a civil case.
- Criminal Appeal: A request to modify or reverse the judgment of a trial court or intermediate level appellate court in a criminal case.
- Habeas Corpus: (Habeas corpus ad subjiciendum) “An independent civil action to determine not the guilt or innocence of the person held in custody, but whether the custody is unlawful. Common grounds for relief under the writ include a conviction based on illegally obtained evidence, a denial of effective assistance of counsel, or a conviction by a jury that was improperly selected and impaneled. Use of the writ is not limited to criminal matters. It is also available in civil matters, as, for example, to challenge a person’s custody of a child or the institutionalization of a person declared incompetent.” ((<http://dictionary.lp.findlaw.com>))
- Interlocutory: An interlocutory appeal is one which is not determinable of the controversy, but which is necessary for a suitable adjudication of the merits. Colorado Appellate Rule 4.1 governs interlocutory appeals in criminal cases and provides that the state may file an interlocutory appeal in the Supreme Court from a district court ruling granting a motion in advance of the trial by the defendant for the return of property and to suppress evidence or to suppress an extra-judicial confession or admission. This is only one example of an interlocutory appeal.
- Interrogatories: Pursuant to Article VI, section 3 of the state Constitution, the Court may be required to answer “important questions upon solemn occasions” propounded by the Governor, the Senate, or the House of Representatives. These questions are called “interrogatories.”
- Judicial Discipline or Disability: Judges who are alleged to have engaged in misconduct or to be suffering from a disability which is or is likely to become of a permanent character may be subject to judicial discipline. The Colorado Commission on Judicial Discipline investigates such allegations and, if it concludes that the judge has engaged in misconduct or is disabled, it may recommend to the Supreme Court a range of sanctions, including removal of the judge from office, retirement of the judge for a disability, reprimand or censure of the judge, or assessment of costs against the judge.
- Original Proceedings: Colorado Rules of Civil Procedure 21 provides the Colorado Supreme Court with discretion to exercise original jurisdiction in extraordinary circumstances where no other remedy is available. Original proceedings are used to test whether the trial court is proceeding without jurisdiction or in excess of its jurisdiction and to review a serious abuse of discretion when an appellate remedy would be inadequate. The remedy in an original proceeding takes the form of a special mandate from the Supreme Court addressed to an individual, official body, or lower court and may be used to restrain or compel the acts of a trial court. The Court issues a “rule to show cause” why the relief requested in the petition should not be granted. After considering the written briefs, the Supreme Court either makes the rule absolute (grants the relief requested) or discharges the rule (denies the relief requested).
- Petitions in Certiorari: A writ of common law origin issued by a superior to an inferior court requiring the latter to produce a certified record of a particular case tried therein. The writ is generally issued so that the issuing court may inspect the proceedings and determine whether there have been any irregularities. Like the United States Supreme Court, the Colorado Supreme Court uses the writ as a discretionary device to choose which cases it wishes to hear. Colorado Appellate Rules 49-58 govern writs of certiorari.
- Reapportionment: Article 5, section 48 of the state Constitution provides that after the decennial federal census, the senatorial districts and representative districts shall be established, revised, or altered, and the members of the senate and the house of representatives apportioned among them, by a Colorado reapportionment commission. The commission must publish a preliminary plan for reapportionment of the members of the general assembly and shall hold public hearings thereon. After the completion of such hearings, the commission must finalize its plan and submit the same to the Colorado Supreme Court for review and determination as to whether the plan meets constitutional standards. The Supreme Court must either approve the plan or return the plan and the court's reasons for disapproval to the commission. If the plan is returned, the commission shall revise and modify it to conform to the court's requirements and resubmit the plan to the court. If the plan is approved by the court, it shall be filed with the secretary of state for implementation.

Request for Stay Pending Appeal:

A stay is a suspension of the case or some designated proceedings within it. Colorado Appellate Rule 8 governs stays pending appeal.

Rule 21.1:

This rule of appellate procedure governs certification of questions of law to the Colorado Supreme Court by the United States Supreme Court, federal courts of appeals, federal district courts, and the federal Court of Claims. Under the rule, a certifying court may request that the Colorado Supreme Court answer a question of law if there is involved in any proceeding before the certifying court a question of state law which may be determinative of the cause pending and to which it appears that there is no controlling precedent in the Colorado Supreme Court's decisions.

Special Concurrences:

An opinion in which a justice expresses agreement with the particular result in a given case while objecting to a line of reasoning. The special concurrence may relate to the majority opinion in its entirety or to the result only.

Statutory Reviews:

Section 1-40-107, C.R.S., provides a mechanism by which registered electors who meet certain criteria and who believe that a ballot title contains multiple subjects may petition the Supreme Court to review the title board's action or decision.

Unauthorized Practice:

The practice of law by one who is not licensed as an attorney in Colorado. The Supreme Court has the exclusive jurisdiction to define the practice of law and to prohibit the unauthorized practice of law within the state (see C.R.C.P. 229 through 240.1).
