The University of Colorado plays a profound role in the lives of individuals, businesses and communities throughout Colorado, across the country and around the world. More than half a million alumni are leaders in business, science, the arts, health care and their communities, and they're joined by some 15,000 more each year. In Aurora, Boulder, Colorado Springs and Denver, all four campuses are all for Colorado.

University of Colorado Boulder, 1876

At CU Boulder, undergraduate and graduate students put their knowledge to use in areas of study ranging from archaeological finds in the arctic to improving the classroom experience to working with NASA to conduct research in space. CU Boulder is a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities and is one of the most beautiful campuses in the nation.

University of Colorado Colorado Springs, 1965

UCCS is a residential academic and research mainstay in southern Colorado, partnering with major corporations and federal agencies to provide leading-edge education in areas including cybersecurity, business, theater and nursing outreach programs for rural areas.

University of Colorado Denver, 1973

CU Denver has strengths in business, engineering, public affairs, computer science, art and digital media, and is a leader in sustainability. Located in downtown Denver, CU Denver is a commuter campus with nearby housing options and a wide range of online course and degree offerings.

University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus, 2006

A state-of-the-art medical center, the CU Anschutz Medical Campus is globally recognized for its research, teaching and clinical programs in public health, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, physical therapy and nursing. The CU Anschutz Medical Campus is also home to University of Colorado Hospital and Children's Hospital Colorado. The CU School of Medicine's roots reach back more than 100 years, when it opened in Boulder.

- CU has more than 65,000 degree-seeking students plus nearly 7,000 more taking courses for credit.
- More than 200,000 alumni are living and working in Colorado and more than 450,000 worldwide.
- CU researchers received more than $1.034 billion in sponsored research funding in fiscal year 2016-17 to help support research, research-related capital improvements, scientific equipment and salaries for research and support staff and student assistantships.
- CU generates an economic impact of $12.35 billion annually for the state. This does not include the economic impact of CU alumni in Colorado.
- Universitywide, awards to students for academic excellence include five Marshall Scholarships, 19 Rhodes Scholars, eight Truman Scholarships, seven Goldwater Scholarships and three Udall Scholarships.
- CU South Denver is CU's newest facility, serving individuals, families and businesses in the fastest growing area in Colorado, the south metro region. Each of the university's four campuses offers quality programs, as well as certificates. CU South Denver also offers unique museum experiences, community and school outreach and special educational events.

Five Nobel Laureates:

- David J. Wineland, physics, 2012
- John Hall, physics, 2005
- Eric Cornell and Carl Wieman, physics, 2001
- Thomas Cech, chemistry, 1989

Other outstanding faculty include 10 MacArthur “genius” fellows; Pulitzer Prize winner Elizabeth Fenn, CU Boulder Department of History, 2015; Carnegie Foundation’s Professor of the Year honorees Carl Wieman, 2004, and Steven Pollock, 2013-14.

The University of Colorado boasts:

- 19 alumni astronauts and one teaching astronaut.
- 19 Rhodes scholars.
- Leading global experts in business, Alzheimer’s disease, space exploration and cancer treatment.

University of Colorado President

Bruce D. Benson became president of the University of Colorado in March 2008. Since taking the helm of his alma mater, Benson has enhanced CU's standing as one of the nation's leading teaching and research universities, advancing the economy, health and culture of Colorado and beyond.

During Benson's tenure, CU's research funding has reached record levels in each of the past five years, including $1.034 billion in 2016-17. He has led efforts to promote cross-campus collaboration that have resulted in cooperative academic programs and research initiatives.

CU has seen its seven best fundraising years (including a record $386.3 million in 2016-17) under his leadership. Benson and his wife, Marcy, chaired CU's $1.5 billion Creating Futures fundraising campaign, which exceeded its goal in November 2013. The campaign, the largest in university history, supported scholarships, endowed faculty positions, programs, research projects and capital improvements across CU's campuses.

Benson has guided efforts to successfully institute operational efficiencies, cut bureaucracy and improve business practices at the university. He has also established a number of public-private partnerships to make the university more entrepreneurial and meet the needs of businesses and organizations in Colorado and across the country. Benson is the longest serving CU president in the past 65 years.

Be a CU Advocate

CU alumni, friends and supporters are encouraged to join the volunteer network to be informed and empowered to influence public perception and policy affecting CU through grassroots advocacy. Advocates help convey the university's educational, research and economic contributions to their communities, media, elected officials and beyond, as well as raise awareness about issues affecting higher education.

- Some 3,500 people around the world are CU Advocates; more than 2,500 live in Colorado.
- The program hosts many educational forums across Colorado, including CU Advocacy Day at the Capitol, co-hosted by CU's Office of Government Relations.
- The program annually hosts nearly 40 advocacy-related programs across the state, reaching thousands of people.
- Monthly CU Pride Points.
