DESCRIPTION OF THE UNIVERSITY

The University of Northern Colorado is a multipurpose institution offering a wide range of graduate and undergraduate degree programs in five academic colleges: Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Health and Human Sciences, and Performing and Visual Arts.

The University offers more than 2,000 academic courses annually and enrolls approximately 11,000 students.

UNC is located in the city of Greeley, Colorado, about one hour north of the city of Denver and one hour east of Rocky Mountain National Park. Greeley is a city of 76,930.

The 236-acre UNC campus has two distinct, adjacent parts. Both have residence halls and classroom buildings. The central campus features tree-lined, older buildings while the west campus is distinguished by modern buildings.

A SHORT HISTORY

On April 1, 1889, the governor of Colorado signed the bill creating the State Normal School to train qualified teachers for the state's public schools. Greeley citizens raised the necessary money for the first building, and the cornerstone was laid on June 13, 1890. The school opened its doors on October 6 with a staff of four instructors and 96 students. Certificates were granted upon the completion of a two-year course.

In 1911 the school's name was changed to Colorado State Teachers College by the state legislature. The college was then offering four years of undergraduate work and granting the Bachelor of Arts degree.

In 1935 the name of Colorado State College of Education was adopted to recognize the fully developed graduate program, which was started in 1913. Early in 1957 the state legislature approved shortening the name to Colorado State College. Again to recognize the further growth of programs and offerings, in 1970 the name was changed once more, this time to the University of Northern Colorado.

STUDENT ACADEMIC RESOURCES

The Office of Extended Studies provides the coordination, with academic colleges, of off-campus state and cash funded degree and licensure programs in Colorado. Degree programs and licensure programs are provided state-wide by the academic departments. The Office of Extended Studies offers hundreds of graduate and undergraduate career and professional development courses. Contract courses for credit are offered in collaboration with school districts and other sponsoring agencies.

Independent study credit courses, offered by faculty in many departments, provide a flexible opportunity for students on and off campus to earn credit. Special professional and certificate programs are available and focus on skill development for individuals who are employed. These courses are offered in Greeley and throughout the state as non-credit courses or for Continuing Education Units (CEU's).

Information Technology Information Technology provides a number of services designed to assist students in the pursuit of their academic careers. Computer labs, open to all students, are strategically located throughout the campus with the flagship facility located in the University Center and open extended hours. Access to campus computing resources and the Internet is provided through direct connections in the residence halls via ResNet and from off campus through a dial-in modem pool (Slip/PPP). Telephone service and the student long distance calling program are provided in the residence halls by Telecommunications. Access to powerful statistical packages and specialized resources is provided through a state-of-the-art enterprise server. Information Technology also manages and operates Bear Logic, the campus computer store, where students, faculty and staff may purchase computer supplies, software and equipment at significant discounts. For complete information about any of the services provided by Information Technology or help with technical problems call User Support at 351-4357 (351-HELP).

The Summer/Evening Division, located in the Registrar's Office provides services to summer and evening students, and assists the campus community in summer and evening programming.

The University has hosted a nationally recognized Summer Session for more than 100 years. An integral part of the academic program, it allows students to accelerate completion of degree programs or participate in professional development and renewal. Summer semester is scheduled from mid-May to early August, and provides instruction in various course formats lasting from a few days to 12 weeks. Many of the same courses offered throughout the year are available, as well as summer institutes and workshops that feature special lecturers.

A significant number of courses within the UNC curriculum are conveniently offered during fall and spring semesters between the hours of 4 and 10 p.m., Monday through Thursdays and on weekends.

University Libraries

The James A. Michener Library, named for one of America's most popular authors (a UNC alumnus and former faculty member), maintains a primary collection of approximately 1.5 million units of hardbound volumes, periodicals, monographs, government documents, archival materials, filmstrips, slides, maps, software programs, videos, and microforms. Opportunities to borrow materials are available to all Colorado citizens. Services include bibliographic instruction in the state of the art Instruction Center, interlibrary loan, reference, circulation, reserves, and access to information via CD-ROM, on-line systems and the World Wide Web.

Access to library materials and resources is provided through The Source, an on-line Public Access Catalog. In cooperation with the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries, access is provided to the holdings of the UNC Libraries, and the collection of hundreds of libraries throughout the country. In addition, indexed access is provided to more than 3 million articles and databases, including full-text.

Through special arrangements, UNC students may borrow library materials from any state-supported college or university in Colorado, the University of Denver, and the Denver Public Library.

The Interlibrary Loan Service obtains library materials for UNC students and faculty from within the state and nation as well as from foreign libraries. The University Libraries has initiated a new service that allows students to request materials directly from Colorado libraries participating in Prospector. Through the online catalog The Source, Prospector provides the student direct access and the ability to borrow materials from all participating libraries in Colorado and Wyoming.

The Adaptive Technology Room, located on the main level of Michener Library, is available to individuals with disabilities who use assistive technology to retrieve and view information. The hardware/software includes: screen reading software, screen enlarging software, scan/read software, Braille translating software, Braille printer, trackball, large monitor, internet access, and closed circuit television. UNC students may be trained to use the technology at the Disability Access Center, 970.351.2289.

The University Libraries has been designated as the repository for the works of James A. Michener. The James A. Michener Special Collection includes manuscripts, personal papers, research materials and publications that are available to researchers, faculty, and students who want to further explore the works of the famous author. The University Archives provides materials dealing with the history and priorities of the University.

The Music Library building was completed in October of 1997. Services include a listening laboratory, a bibliographic instruction classroom, a group study room, study alcoves and carrels. Comprehensive holdings of scores, recordings, periodicals, and monographs are available to the academic community.

TUITION AND FEES, PAYMENT, FINANCIAL AID

EXPENSES

In-State and Out-of-State Classification

Students who are classified as in-state are permitted to enroll at the University at a significantly lower tuition rate because the University is assisted by the taxpayers of Colorado in addition to the student tuition and fees. The determination of a student's tuition status is provided for under State Law Title 23, Article 7, Colorado Revised Statutes 1997 Repl. Vol., 1994 Supplement.

A person who has been domiciled in Colorado for one year or more immediately preceding registration may be eligible for in-state tuition classification. A domicile is a person's true, fixed and permanent home and place of habitation. It is the place where the student intends to remain and where he/she expects to return to when he/she leaves, without intending to establish a new domicile elsewhere. It differs from the notion of residence or mere physical presence within the state. A person may have several places of residence, but may have only one true domicile at a given time.

A person is capable to begin establishment of a Colorado domicile if he/she is 22 years of age or if he/she has been emancipated. Evidence of emancipation includes the person's ability to meet all financial obligations including the cost of education, along with an affidavit from the student's parents stating their relinquishment of any claim or right to the care, custody and earnings of the minor.

Evidence that a Colorado domicile has been established includes the observance of all mandatory duties imposed on domiciliaries. State requirements concerning auto registration, driver's license and payment of state income tax must be met for the full one-year period.

A student's tuition classification is determined before or at the time of registration. If at a later date, the student thinks the classification is no longer correct, he/she may petition for a change in tuition classification.

Petitions can be submitted to the Tuition Classification Specialist in the Enrollment Services Office (University Center, Room 2205), or to the Registration Center (University Center), or to the Registrar's Office (Carter Hall, Room 3002) no later than the first day of classes for the given school term that the student desires a change in classification. Any student who is denied in-state classification after petitioning may appeal that decision in writing to the Tuition Classification Appeals Committee. The appeal must be submitted to the Tuition Classification Specialist in the Enrollment Services Office (University Center, Room 2205) no later than 10 days after the denial has been sent to the student. The decision rendered by the Tuition Classification Appeals Committee is the final University determination.

Petitioning for in-state tuition classification requires the student to complete a detailed form available at the Enrollment Services Office (University Center 2205), or the Registration Center (University Center), or the Registrar's Office (Carter 3002). This form and other relevant information will be reviewed and a decision rendered in accordance with the state law and authorized procedures.

Active duty Armed Forces personnel and their dependents stationed in Colorado on a permanent change-of-station basis may contact the Tuition Classification Specialist in the Enrollment Services Office (University Center 2205) for information regarding qualification for the lower in-state tuition rates.

Room and Board Withdrawal Costs

Students totally withdrawing from their classes during a semester will be assessed room and board charges according to the pro-rata percentage assessment in the Total Withdrawal Section of the appropriate Schedule of Classes.

Note that 100% of non-refundable fees will be assessed. Some federally-funded aid programs mandate a different withdrawal/cancellation computation.

See Schedule of Classes for each term for exact dates.

Other Fees

In addition to general tuition and fees, and room and board rates for students who choose to purchase those services, a number of other fees have been established by the Board of Trustees. Such fees relate to the academic program fee, fees assessed for employment opportunity assistance services, transcripts, etc. Refer to the current Schedule of Classes for more specific information on these fees.

PAYMENT

By applying for admission, registering for classes or allowing charges to be added to their account, the student represents to us that they have the intention and ability to pay and they promise to pay for all charges placed on their account as well as any service charges or collection costs, if any, that may be due.

The student will receive a billing statement. The first billing statement of the semester will be sent to the student's permanent address unless a billing address is provided. Subsequent billing statements for the semester will be sent to the student's local address unless a billing address is provided. Payment is due at the Cashier's Office on or before the Payment Due Date shown on the billing statement.

Payments from Financial Aid will be automatically posted to the billing account. Any excess funds will be deposited to the student's Wells Fargo account.

A service charge of 1.75% of the unpaid balance will be added to the student's account if payment is not received in the Cashier's Office by the due date. Service charges are figured on the student's account by applying the service charge rate to the previous balance owed at the billing date minus any credits made to the account during the previous billing cycle. The annual percentage rate (APR) that corresponds to this service charge is 21%.

The University will accept payment on the student's account by cash, check, money order, VISA, MASTERCARD, DISCOVER, direct payment through financial aid and through the Credit Available for Student Employees at UNC (CASE-UNC). To learn more about the CASE-UNC plan please contact the Office of Student Employment in Carter Hall. Payments are accepted in person at the Cashier's Office in Carter Hall. Payments can also be made in person at the satellite location in the University Center, Aspen Suite the first week of classes, until the tenth class day. Check or credit card payments can be dropped in collection boxes in the Carter Hall lobby and at the Card Office in the University Center until the tenth class day. Credit card payments are accepted in person at the Cashier's Office and can also be accepted 24 hours a day by calling the credit card line at 970.351.2838 and choosing option 4.

The University of Northern Colorado will not register a student, release a diploma, provide a transcript, or supply employment opportunity assistance and other University services to any student or former student who has an outstanding financial obligation to the University other than a loan that is not yet due or on which payments are up-to-date. Also, failure to pay a financial obligation to the University when it is due may result in your account being placed with a collection agency and such action reported to a credit bureau. In addition, the student's account may be charged legally allowable collection charges and attorney fees needed to collect or enforce the student's indebtedness.

Registration Cancellation. The last day to drop all advance registered classes, without being assessed a fee is the first class day of each semester. During the Drop period, if you drop all classes, you will incur a minimum charge of 10 percent (10%) of tuition and fees. When applicable, you will also pay the new enrollment fee and housing deposit. Therefore, it is strongly recommended to drop all classes by the first day of the semester to avoid a minimum 10% late withdrawal charge. The minimum 10% withdrawal charge does not apply if you drop individual classes as a part of your schedule adjustment process.

Fees for Class Withdrawals. Withdrawal from an individual class is permitted until the midpoint of the course. Students can withdraw from individual classes in person, by touch-tone system, or via the Web through Webster. The student must initiate the process of withdrawing from ALL classes in the Registrar's Office. A total withdrawal may be initiated through Friday of the 12th week of the term.

Changes in tuition, fees, and other charges can occur during the Add and Drop periods if the individual credit hours change from part-time to full-time or vice versa. After the Drop deadline, no changes in tuition and fees will occur unless the student totally withdraws from all classes. In this instance, the student is assessed a percentage of the tuition and fee costs based on the number of credits registered for and the date at the time of withdrawal.

To determine the actual percentages of tuition and fees and the varying withdrawal dates, refer to the Total Withdrawal Section in the appropriate Schedule of Classes.

Students who need to withdraw from all of their classes must do so by Friday of the 12th week (see Schedule of Classes for actual date). This is the LAST day that you can withdraw from all classes for the semester.

Note: 100% of non-refundable fees will be assessed. These fees include academic program fees, technology fees, course fees and online fees, Bookstore charges, graduation, health insurance, housing damages, ID card replacement, instructional fees, lab equipment not returned, library fines, lost athletic equipment, lost library books, new student fee, parking fines, phone features, returned check service charges, unpaid short term loans, etc. Some federally funded aid programs mandate a different withdrawal computation.

All amounts owed to the University are due and payable as of the date of the withdrawal. Only charges for tuition, general student service fees, room and board may be pro-rated based on the date of the withdrawal. All other charges are not pro-rated or refunded.

Individual classes may be dropped or added during the Add and Drop periods at no charge. Students with room and board are assessed amounts based upon rates, policies and procedures explained in the Residence Life contractual materials.

If a more complete explanation of the above policies is required or if individual circumstances warrant review, the student should contact the Bursar's Office.

FINANCIAL AID

Financial aid is awarded to assist students and parents with meeting college costs such as tuition, fees, books, food, housing and transportation. The Office of Student Financial Resources administers several types of state and federal aid programs including grants, loans, employment, scholarships and veterans' benefits. The following represents the types of assistance available as of this printing.

Educational Loans. UNC participates in the following programs: Federal Perkins Loans, Federal subsidized and unsubsidized Stafford Loans and Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS). Eligibility for Federal Perkins Loans and Subsidized Stafford Loans is based upon need, as determined by the completion of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). This application is available in the Office of Student Financial Resources. Loan funds plus interest must be repaid to the lending institutions, usually after graduation. Some loans have cancellation and deferment provisions.

Grant Funds. Grant funds are awarded on the basis of financial need. These funds do not require repayment unless the student does not complete the term in which the funds are received. Grant funds available at UNC include the Federal Pell Grant, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, Colorado Diversity Grant, Colorado Student Grant, Colorado Graduate Grant and the Colorado Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership Program.

Student Employment. UNC offers a number of employment opportunities. Federal and State Work Study programs provide on-campus and off-campus jobs to students demonstrating financial need. Colorado No-Need Work Study is available on a limited basis to undergraduate Colorado residents who do not qualify for other forms of financial assistance and apply by the priority deadline of March 1. For those students who do not qualify for the Work Study programs there are part-time hourly positions both at the University and off campus.

Scholarships. Scholarship funds do not have to be repaid and are usually awarded on the basis of academic performance, talent, athletic ability and other criteria determined by the donor.

Veterans' Benefits. Eligibility for veteran's benefits is certified by this office.

How to Apply for Aid

To qualify for "need-based" programs, the student must demonstrate "financial need" or a difference between the cost of education and what the family (both student and parents) can reasonably afford to pay toward that cost. The family's income and assets are reviewed to calculate the family contribution in a process called "Need Analysis." UNC uses the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to initiate this process. Completion of the FAFSA means the student is applying for all state and federal aid programs offered at UNC with the exception of scholarship programs.

The FAFSA form can be obtained from college financial aid and high school guidance counselor's offices or on-line at www.fafsa.ed.gov. To receive the maximum amount of funding, the application must be received by the need analysis service by March 1 preceding the award year. An application processed after March 1 will be considered late and the applicant will have limited funding opportunities.

To apply for a Federal Stafford or Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students, students must accept the loan on the Award Notification form. A pre-printed loan application will be sent to the student by the Colorado Student Loan Program (CSLP). This application must be completed and returned to CSLP in the envelope provided.

How To Apply for a UNC Scholarship

Incoming freshmen and transfer students must be admitted to UNC by March 1 to be considered for some scholarships for the upcoming academic year. Eligibility for scholarships is based on information obtained from the admission application. New freshman and transfer students should also complete the "UNC FA$T-APP" for scholarships. The priority deadline is March 1. The "UNC FA$T-APP" is available on-line at <http://sfr.unco.edu/>. A listing of scholarships offered through private sources is available for use in the Office of Student Financial Resources. Many local libraries offer a comprehensive list of local and national scholarships. The Pepsi Scholarship search is available in some of the computer labs on campus. Students are also encouraged to use the World Wide Web for scholarship listings.

The Award

Financial aid is awarded on the basis of "need" and may include a package of grants, loans and employment.

Students and parents are expected to contribute their share toward the costs of education. All students are expected to work during the summer and periods of non-enrollment and save a significant portion of their earnings.

Financial aid is available in limited amounts to help students finance school expenses. However, while college costs continue to rise, federal and state aid does not rise at the same rate. Consequently, families must increasingly rely upon their own funds to pay for school. Students are expected to arrive on campus with funds to use for books, tuition, fees, housing and utility deposits and other expenses associated with the beginning of the year.

Financial aid funds usually are available at the beginning of each semester as a credit to charges on the student's bill. A refund will be deposited to the student's Wells Fargo checking account if the aid exceeds all institutional charges.

Financial aid awards are offered for an academic year (Fall/Spring). A separate application is required for funding during the summer session. Contact the office for dates and more details.

Renewal of financial aid is not automatic. A new FAFSA must be completed and mailed by February 15 preceding each award year that aid is requested to meet our priority filing date of March 1. The student's academic progress as well as financial need determine the continuance of funding.

Voice Response. Information about a student's financial aid application may be accessed 24 hours a day through the Voice Response System at 970.351.2825. Service Code 3 provides the financial aid main menu.

Web Homepage. Visit our web site at <http://sfr.unco.edu/>.

Academic Progress Standards

The Office of Student Financial Resources is responsible under state and federal regulations for establishing and monitoring minimum acceptable progress for the continuation of financial aid eligibility. The standard of satisfactory progress must include a student's total academic history at UNC.

In order to be eligible to receive financial aid, the student must be making satisfactory progress toward a degree program, regardless of whether he/she has previously received financial assistance. For a more detailed explanation of these policies, refer to the Standards of Satisfactory Academic Progress available in the Office of Student Financial Resources.

Refund and Repayment

Tuition adjustments resulting from a complete withdrawal from the University may affect the financial aid the student has received. Credit balances are returned to financial aid accounts. Students can refer to Paying Your Account in the Schedule of Classes for more explanation.

Any student withdrawing totally from the University who has received her/his financial aid for that semester may be required to repay the financial aid. For a more detailed explanation of these policies, refer to the Repayment of Title IV Aid Policy available in the Office of Student Financial Resources.

REGISTRATION, UNDERGRADUATE/GRADUATE

REGISTRATION PROCEDURES

The University publishes a Schedule of Classes each semester, which serves as the basic guide for registering for classes. It provides information on drop/add/withdrawals, fee payment and other relevant policies, procedures, and deadlines for which students are responsible. The Schedule of Classes for the appropriate semester may be obtained from the Registration Center or the College Transition Center in the University Center, the Admissions Office or the Registrar's Office in Carter Hall. The Schedule of Classes is also available on our web site: www.registrar.unco.edu.

Registration is continuous. Students are assigned times during the last part of an academic semester when they may register for courses offered in the following semester. Registration consists of the following processes:

1. Obtaining your assigned registration date and advising.
2. Selection of courses.
3. Verification of courses.
4. Receipt of statement of account and change of address form.
5. Payment of student account.

New freshmen and transfer students for fall term are strongly encouraged to attend Discover UNC. Discover UNC is an orientation program for entering freshmen and transfer students that provides essential information about the University and special assistance in registering for classes. The College Transition Center conducts the Discover UNC program during June, July and August. The Graduate School conducts an orientation for new graduate students.

REGISTRATION METHODS

Voice response. Students may register using a touch-tone telephone by following directions in the Schedule of Classes or on our website: www.registrar.unco.edu.

In person. Students may register in person at the Registration Center in the University Center.

By Web. Students may register using WebRegistration. Go to www.registrar.unco.edu and follow the links for Webster.

SCHEDULE CHANGES (ADDS/DROPS)

During the beginning of each semester, students may add or drop courses from their schedule. Students may add a class during the first eight percent (8%) of the class term and may drop a class during the first fifteen percent (15%) of the class term. Any student seeking to add a class after the 8% period has lapsed must secure approval from the professor. Dates for the add/drop deadlines are listed in the Schedule of Classes. This procedure is handled in the Registration Center in the UC, Web Registration (www.unco.edu) and accessing Webster) or touch-tone telephone registration. After the deadline posted in the Schedule of Classes, students may not enroll in additional full term courses or drop full term courses in which they are currently registered.

The add deadline for a short-term class occurs when the class has held 8% of its class meetings. The drop deadline occurs when the class has held 15% of its class meetings. The number of credits for which a student is registered at the time of the add/drop deadline determines tuition and fee charges. Drops differ from withdrawals since drops are not recorded on the student's transcript and withdrawals are recorded on the transcript (see next section).

WITHDRAWAL FROM CLASS

When a student registers for a class, he or she is considered to be a member of the assigned class. Students are responsible for confirming their schedule by web, phone or in person.

The student may drop a class during the "drop" period, normally the first 10 class days of a semester for full-term courses. The dates of the drop period each semester are listed in the Schedule of Classes.

Students may withdraw from individual classes in person, by the touch-tone system, or on the web. The first date to withdraw from an individual course is the first class-day immediately after the drop deadline. The last date to withdraw from an individual course is the midpoint of the semester. Withdrawal deadlines for each semester are also noted in the Schedule of Classes. The withdrawal deadline for an individual short-term class occurs when the class has held 50% of its meetings. A "W" appears on the transcript for each class from which a student withdraws. Students may withdraw from all classes at the Registrar's Office through the twelfth week of the term.

TWO-CLASS-HOUR DROP REQUIREMENT

A faculty member may drop a student from a class during the Drop period if the student has not attended the first two 50 minute sessions. The student must notify the instructor if he or she cannot attend during this time. Not all instructors will exercise this option; thus, a student cannot expect that the failure to attend the class will automatically cause him or her to be dropped. Consequently, the student must follow the procedures listed in the Schedule of Classes.

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES, UNDERGRADUATE/GRADUATE

ACADEMIC FREEDOM, RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF STUDENTS

The University has established policies and procedures that reflect concern for student freedom, rights and responsibilities. Essentially, students can expect protection against improper academic evaluation and protection of the right to due process in academic and disciplinary proceedings. The student can also expect to be held responsible for performance and conduct in the classroom and on the campus.

For more information, students should obtain a copy of the Student's Rights and Responsibilities document from the Dean of Students' Office, Carter Hall.

ATTENDANCE

Regular attendance in all classes is assumed and encouraged. Each instructor determines the relationship between class attendance, the objectives of the class and the student's grade. The instructor is responsible for informing students of attendance policies and the effect of attendance on their grade. The student is responsible for knowing the policy of each course in which he or she enrolls.

Only the instructor can approve a student request to be absent from class. The student is responsible for requesting such approval when absence is unavoidable.

Attendance during the first two class sessions is required. The instructor has the option to drop a student from class if he or she does not attend the first two hours during which the class meets, in order to allow other students to enroll. Not all instructors will exercise this option; therefore, a student should not assume that non-attendance will automatically drop him or her from class.

COURSE DESIGNATIONS

Prefixes. Each course is assigned a prefix that identifies the discipline, field or department offering the course. For example, course numbers in Communication Disorders are preceded by CMDS; course numbers in Mathematics are preceded by MATH; and courses in Visual Arts are preceded by ART.

Numbers. Five groups are identified by course numbers, generally to indicate the difficulty of a course and its location on a continuum of study that leads to general mastery of the content and methodology of a discipline:

- Basic skills courses - 001 through 099 range are not counted in cumulative credits, total credits toward graduation or grade-point-average.
- Lower division courses - the 100 range for freshmen and the 200 range for sophomores.
- Upper division courses - the 300 range for juniors and the 400 range for seniors.
- Master's level courses - the 500 and 600 ranges. Juniors and seniors with a cumulative grade-point-average of 3.00 or higher may be admitted to 500-level courses by special permission of the instructor, but no undergraduates may be admitted to course numbers above the 500 range.
- Doctoral and Specialist level courses - the 700 range.

Occasionally, courses that do not appear in the Catalog may appear in the Schedule of Classes. These course numbers end in "98" and are considered experimental. For example, an experimental course in geology might be GEOL 398. Courses ending in "98" cannot be used to meet General Education requirements.

COURSE LOAD

For all students, nine credit hours is considered full time for health insurance requirements and tuition charges. For financial aid and verification of enrollment purposes (other than for health insurance), full-time enrollment is considered 12 credit hours for undergraduate students and nine credit hours for graduate students. (Some health insurance carriers require enrollment in a minimum of 12 credits.

Check with your health insurance company for their minimum enrollment requirement.) A normal undergraduate course load, however, is 15 credit hours of academic credit in each semester. This information may vary during summer terms; students should check the Summer Schedule of Classes for correct information. Undergraduate students are allowed to enroll for a maximum of 18 credit hours before the beginning of the semester.

More than 18 credit hours per semester for undergraduates and 17 credit hours for graduates is considered an overload (see Catalog section on Costs - more than 18 hours will increase tuition). Undergraduate students requesting overload credits must have a 3.00 or higher cumulative grade point average. (Graduate students see Graduate School Policies and Procedures section.)

- In addition to this policy, specific colleges, departments and programs may have additional conditions regarding overloads. It is the student's responsibility to meet these conditions.
- Overloads of more than 21 hours require approval by the department advisor and department chair. These approvals must be forwarded to the Registrar. The Registrar will assure that these procedures have been followed.
- Students who have lower than a 3.00 GPA but have extenuating circumstances may petition for an overload from the department advisor and department chair.
- Graduate students receive overload approval from their academic advisor.

Course load limitations for graduate students apply to all courses taken while an individual is enrolled as a graduate student in a graduate degree program, a nondegree certification program, or any combination thereof. The maximum load for a graduate student is 17 hours per semester.

During the summer term maximum credit loads may vary. Students should check the Summer Schedule of Classes for correct information. The course load limitations refer to work completed in either on-campus or off-campus programs or in a combination of the two types.

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT

The University maintains an educational record for each student who is or has been enrolled at the University. In accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, the following student rights are covered by the Act and afforded to all eligible students at the University.

1. The right to inspect and review information contained in the student's educational records.
Students should submit to the Registrar's Office written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The University official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected.
2. The right to request amendment of the contents of the student's educational records if believed to be inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy or other rights.
Any student who believes that his/her education records contain information that is inaccurate or misleading or is otherwise in violation of his/her privacy or other rights or who believes that his/her records have been or are being maintained or processed in violation of his/her privacy or other rights, may discuss his/her concerns informally with the Registrar's Office. If the decision of that person is in agreement with the student's request, the appropriate records shall be amended and the student shall be notified in writing of the amendment(s). If the decision is not in agreement, the student shall be notified within thirty (30) calendar days that the records will not be amended and the student shall be notified by the official of the student's right to a hearing.

Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. The right to prevent disclosure without consent, with certain exceptions, of personally identifiable information from the student's educational records. One exception which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. "School officials" shall mean any person who is a trustee, officer, agent or employee of the University. "Legitimate educational interest" shall mean any authorized interest or activity undertaken in the name of the University for which access to an education record is necessary or appropriate to the proper performance of the undertaking. It shall include, without limitation, access by a student's instructor, department or division head, dean, the chief academic administrator, the president, a trustee, the custodian of the University records, the alumni administrator, legal counsel, the financial aid administrator, administrators charged with maintaining education records, the staff and subordinates of the foregoing, and others authorized by the President to the extent the foregoing persons are acting within the course and scope of their employment or authority.
4. The right to file complaints with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the University to comply with the provisions of the Act. The name and address of the office that administers FERPA is: Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue S.W., Washington, D.C. 20202-4605

Each of these rights with any limitations or exceptions is explained in the University's policy statement, a copy of which may be obtained from the Registrar's Office.

The University may provide "Directory Information" in accordance with the provisions of the Act without the written consent of an eligible student unless it is requested in writing that such information not be disclosed (see below). The items listed below are designated as Directory Information and may be released about any student for any purpose at the discretion of the University unless a written request for nondisclosure is on file:

- Category I: Name, address(es), e-mail address, telephone number(s), dates of attendance, classification, enrollment status.
- Category II: The most recent institution attended, major field of study, honors, awards, degree(s) conferred and conferred date(s), degrees pursued or being pursued.
- Category III: Past and present participation in officially recognized sports and activities, physical factors of athletes (height and weight).

Currently enrolled students may prohibit general disclosure of this Directory Information by notifying the Registrar's Office in writing within 10 calendar days after the first scheduled class-day of each term. The University will honor the request until the student notifies the Registrar's Office in writing of intent to allow release of Directory Information. The student should carefully consider the consequences of any decision to withhold any category of Directory Information. Regardless of the effect upon the student, the University assumes no liability that may arise out of its compliance with a request that such information be withheld. It will be assumed that the failure on the part of a student to request the withholding of Directory Information indicates the student's consent to disclosure.

Directory information may be disclosed through a variety of methods including, but not limited to, paper, electronic, voice and other means.

Any questions concerning the student's rights and responsibilities under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act should be referred to the Registrar's Office.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS

All final examination periods are 150 minutes in length. Examinations are conducted in the same classroom used throughout the semester unless alternative arrangements are made with the scheduling department in the Registrar's Office. Faculty should alert students to changes in final examination times or locations before the testing date.

With the approval of the department chairperson, the final examination may be eliminated by an instructor who considers it unnecessary.

If no final examination is given, class will continue through the last week of the semester. In such cases, classes will meet at the times shown on the final examination schedule.

Each student registered for credit in a course must attend the final examination unless the student has made prior arrangements to be excused by the instructor.

In extreme instances, a final examination may be rescheduled by the instructor, provided the change is coordinated with the appropriate dean's office and approved by the department chairperson.

If a student has three or more final examinations scheduled for one day, the student may negotiate a time change with the instructors involved. This negotiation should take place not less than one week before the scheduled examinations. If the parties involved cannot find a mutually agreeable time, the Office of Academic Affairs will indicate courses for which a change must be made. Laboratory sessions will not meet during the final examination period. Laboratory examinations should be given before final examination week.

FULL-TIME AND PART-TIME ENROLLMENT STATUS

Full-time status for tuition purposes, health insurance requirement and verification of enrollment for health insurance purposes is nine credit hours for undergraduate and graduate students. (Some health insurance carriers require enrollment in a minimum of 12 credits. Check with your health insurance company for their minimum enrollment requirement.)

Full-time for financial aid purposes and enrollment verification (other than health insurance) is 12 credit hours or more for undergraduates and nine credit hours or more for graduates. Undergraduates enrolled in six to eleven credit hours and graduates enrolled in five to eight credit hours are classified as half-time. Part-time is five credit hours or less for undergraduates and four credit hours or less for graduates.

Grades

The University assigns alphabetical grades. Superior is indicated by "A," above average is "B," average is "C," below average but passing is "D," and failure is "F." A course in which a "D" is earned will not be counted toward graduate-degree credit.

Certain courses are graded "S/U" (satisfactory/unsatisfactory). Grades of "S" and "U" are also used for thesis, dissertations, and educational field experience courses. They may be used for certain workshops, practica, performance, or activity courses when indicated in the Schedule of Classes and in the course descriptions in the Catalog. "S/U" grades are not equivalent to any other letter grade and are not computed as part of the student's grade point average.

A "W" indicates an approved withdrawal from the course and is assigned only when the student has completed the official withdrawal processes outlined in this publication. This grade is not computed in the student's grade point average.

The grade of "UW" indicates an unauthorized withdrawal and is assigned when the student has never attended the class for which he or she enrolled. The grade is not computed in the student's grade point average.

A grade of "I" is assigned when course work is incomplete at the end of the academic term and is used only when a student cannot fulfill his or her academic responsibilities during the last week of a term or because he or she missed the final examination due to sickness, an emergency in the family, etc. To amend a grade of "I" with an earned grade on a student's transcript, the student must complete all incomplete course work by the last day of the next semester including summer term. Along with assigning an "I" grade, the instructor must include a written notice of the specific work that must be completed before the final grade is determined; the student and the department chair/unit director will be provided a copy of the notification. If a student does not complete the academic requirements within these time limitations, the grade will be recorded as "I/F" or "I/U" on the academic records. The "I/F" will be computed into the student's grade point average as an "F" grade.

The grade of "NR" indicates no report. This is used for honors courses, theses, dissertations and other courses that have been granted approval for NR grading. There is a difference between a grade of "NR" and "incomplete." The "NR" is assigned due to the unique nature of the course, i.e., completion of coursework requires longer than a semester to complete. The "I" grade is assigned due to unanticipated circumstances the last week of the term that make the student unable to complete course requirements within the allotted time.

The grade of "NC" indicates no credit was earned for this course because the student enrolled for no credit (audit).

GRADES-CALCULATING AVERAGES

The University operates on a 4.00 grade point system. A grade of "A" has a value of four grade points, "B" equals three points, "C" equals two points, "D" equals one point. No points are given for an "F."

"S" (credit granted) or "U" (no credit granted) and "W," "UW," "NR" and "NC" are not used in computing the grade point average. "I" is not used for computing the grade point average unless the time for completion of the work has expired. In this case the "I" is computed as an "F" and "I/F" is recorded on the transcript if the course is graded "A"- "F."

To compute a semester grade point average, first remove all basic skills courses (numbered 001 through 099) and all courses that carry the grades, "S," "U," "W," "UW," "NR," "NC." Then multiply the credit hours for each remaining class by the number equivalent to the letter grade. Add those numbers together to obtain the total number of points for the semester. Then divide the total number of points earned by the total number of credit hours attempted. For example, 3 credit hours of "A" (12 points) plus 5 credit hours of "B" (15 points) plus 3 credit hours of "C" (6 points) equals 33 points. If 11 credit hours were attempted (enrolled for), divide 33 points by 11 credit hours to find the grade point average of 3.00. If the same grades were received, but 14 credit hours were attempted (i.e., received an "F" for 3 credit hours), 33 points divided by 14 credit hours equals a grade point average of 2.35.

Compute the cumulative grade point average the same way. Add the total number of points earned in all classes except basic-skills courses (numbered 001 through 099) and all courses that carry grades of "S," "U," "W," "UW," "NR," and "NC." Divide this number by the total credit hours attempted. For example, 75 total grade points earned over two semesters divided by 30 credit hours attempted in the same two semesters equals a cumulative grade point average of 2.50.

GRADES-SUBMISSIONS AND CORRECTIONS

Faculty must submit grades to the Registrar's Office by 4 pm of the third working day after the end of a course. Grade changes or corrections must be submitted within the first two weeks of the following semester. Spring-term grade changes are also due the first two weeks of Summer term. Grade change requests are submitted on special grade report forms signed by the instructor and department chairperson. Forms are available from departmental offices. No grade change request forms delivered by students will be accepted.

IMMUNIZATION REGULATION

Colorado State law requires that students who were born after January 1, 1957, show proof of immunization prior to registering for classes. The required immunizations are against mumps (two doses), measles, (two doses), and rubella (two doses). All students who are admitted to UNC are sent a health history form and Certificate of Immunization form. Students must submit the completed Certificate of Immunization form to the Student Health Center before they will be allowed to register for classes. Students who fail to comply with this requirement will not be allowed to register for classes.

Individuals who are unable to be immunized due to medical, religious, or personal reasons are exempt from this regulation if they provide a signed Certificate of Exemption form. In the event of an outbreak of illness on campus, individuals who do not have proof of immunization or who have signed a Certificate of Exemption form will be subject to exclusion from classes and quarantine.

INSURANCE REQUIREMENT FOR ALL STUDENTS

UNC's Board of Trustees requires that all students registered for nine credit-hours or more have health insurance.

The UNC-sponsored health insurance policy is automatically assessed to all full-time students but can be waived if the student presents evidence of a comparable health insurance plan. The deadline for such waivers is the 10th class day of the semester. Nonpayment of the health insurance premium does not waive the insurance. A waiver form must be completed by the deadline.

Any student who enrolls in the University's health insurance plan during spring semester is automatically covered by that insurance during summer session with no additional premium. The University does not require students registered only for summer session to purchase its student health insurance plan or demonstrate possession of an acceptable insurance plan. However, students registered for summer sessions may purchase the insurance plan for the summer term only.

The University's health insurance is available to students' dependents and part-time students upon request.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION

Medical history report and medical examination report forms are sent to each accepted student. Students planning to participate in intercollegiate athletics are required to submit both forms. Students are encouraged, but not required, to submit a medical exam. Students must submit a Health History Report before they can receive services at the Student Health Center.

OFF-CAMPUS ACTIVITY AND FIELD TRIP DISCLAIMER

As part of the courses and extracurricular activities offered by the University, students will be encouraged to attend campus events or engage in off-campus activities as a supplement to their on-campus instruction and education. These activities may include travel to foreign countries or other states as well as in-state field trips. Students may be expected to provide their own transportation to and from such activities, or the University may arrange or otherwise provide transportation.

Under any circumstance, however, the University requires its students to maintain appropriate insurance and be responsible for their conduct and activities at all times, on or off campus. The University requires its students to comply with all laws and to assume all responsibility and liability for their actions and conduct while attending, being involved in or traveling to and from any off-campus activities, whether for required or voluntary activities.

PARKING REGULATIONS

The University of Northern Colorado's Parking Services mission is to provide and maintain a safe and uncongested means for the movement and parking of vehicular traffic on campus by utilizing parking regulations, sanctions for violations and monetary use charges. Students, faculty or staff who wish to park on campus should purchase a parking permit at Parking Services in Gray Hall. The University's parking program is self-maintaining. No tax revenue, student fees or tuition funds are received or used.

SEMESTER SYSTEM

The University of Northern Colorado follows the early semester system in which the academic year is divided into two instructional semesters of approximately 15 weeks each. The academic year (fall, spring) begins in late August and concludes in mid-May, with a vacation break between the semesters. A full slate of courses also is offered during the summer semester. Students enrolling in the University for the first time may do so before the beginning of any semester.

TRANSCRIPTS

Students may place official transcript requests through the Registrar's Office. There is a fee for each transcript ordered. Contact the Registrar's Office for appropriate request procedures and fee payment options.

WITHDRAWAL FROM THE UNIVERSITY

A student may withdraw completely from the University through the 12th week of the semester. Students must start the process at the Registrar's Office or Registration Center. Depending upon the date the withdrawal is initiated, a percentage of tuition and fees may be assessed. (See the description of Withdrawals, Drops, or Cancellation from Classes within the Costs, Payment, Financial Aid section of this Catalog.)

Students who receive financial aid and then withdraw during a semester that they received aid may be required to repay a proportionate amount to the financial aid account. Information about a specific repayment amount is available from the Office of Student Financial Resources.

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES: UNDERGRADUATES ONLY

ACADEMIC ADVISING

It is University policy that each student is entitled to academic advising. Advising expedites course selection and helps the student create a personal academic program suited to his or her needs and the University's graduation requirements.

Academic planning is best achieved when a student works with a qualified advisor. Students who declare majors are assigned advisors in their departments. Undergraduate students who have not yet declared majors are advised by the College Transition Center located in the University Center. Each advisor has access to a complete summary of a student's academic records, which are updated each semester.

Information provided by the Registrar's Office and information from advising sessions with the student equip the advisor to help with a variety of academic issues, procedures and opportunities.

All students are encouraged to make full use of the advising system including, but not limited to, a visit to an advisor before registration each semester. All undergraduate students must obtain a Personal Access Code (PAC) each semester from their academic advisors before registration unless the PAC is printed on their course selection forms. Appointments are encouraged for all students and are mandatory in most offices.

ACADEMIC APPEALS

Students may appeal any academic decision that they consider arbitrary or capricious, or contrary to University policy. The procedures of the Academic Appeals Board and the University Disciplinary Committee are published in the Student's Rights and Responsibilities statement and can be further explained by the Dean of Students Office.

Before initiating an appeal and between various appeals stages, the student is strongly encouraged to discuss her or his case with the Dean of Students Office and/or his or her academic advisor.

ACADEMIC RECOGNITION

Dean's List of Distinction. Students will be placed on the Dean's List of Distinction through the Dean of Students if they complete a minimum of 24 credit hours and achieve a 3.75 or above grade point average for any two of the three academic terms of the year (cumulative grade point averages are not considered).

Dean's Honor Roll. Students will be placed on the Dean's Honor Roll through the Dean of Students if they complete a minimum of 24 credit hours and achieve a 3.50 to 3.74 grade point average for any two of the three academic terms of the year (cumulative grade point averages are not considered).

Graduation with Honors. Graduation with honors (cum laude, magna cum laude, summa cum laude) is determined on the basis of a student's UNC cumulative grade point average. A student's academic record is reviewed for graduation with honors the semester before the semester that the student will graduate. To qualify for honors the semester before graduation, the student must have completed 50 semester hours of credit at UNC and have achieved the necessary cumulative grade point average. A student's record may also be reviewed at the end of the semester that he or she graduates. To qualify for honors at the time of graduation, the student must have completed 56 semester hours of credit at UNC and have achieved the necessary cumulative grade point average.

In either situation, the honors designation will be indicated on the student's transcript. However, the honors designation will be announced at graduation ceremonies only for those students who qualified for honors the semester before graduation.

The criteria for awarding honors will be determined by the graduating classes of a given college from the previous academic year. The criterion for cumulative grade point average for "summa cum laude" will be determined by the lowest cumulative grade point average of the students in the top two percent of the previous year's school/college graduating class; for "magna cum laude", by the lowest cumulative grade point average of students in the top four percent; and for "cum laude", by the lowest cumulative grade point average of students in the top six percent.

ACADEMIC STANDING

A student's academic standing is determined by the cumulative grade point average. In order to graduate, a minimum of 2.0 on a 4.0 scale must be earned at the University of Northern Colorado:

- Students are placed on academic probation up to the next 24 credit hours at UNC (excluding summer) if the cumulative grade point average falls below 2.00. At any time the cumulative GPA is raised to 2.00 or higher, the student will return to regular academic standing.
- Students on academic probation who do not raise their cumulative grade point average to the required level after the next 24 credit hours at UNC (excluding summer) will be suspended. Students suspended from UNC may not apply for readmission until the passage of at least one term, excluding summer, unless extenuating circumstances exist and are documented.
- Students seeking readmission to UNC must have successfully completed nine semester hours of a 2.00 cumulative grade point average at another accredited institution, have reached the necessary cumulative grade point average through enrollment in the UNC summer session, or have presented other evidence of potential future academic success if readmitted.

- Applications for readmission are available through the College Transition Center.
- All applications will be reviewed by the University Academic Review Board and the Board's decisions are considered final.
- A second academic suspension is considered a permanent suspension from future enrollment at UNC.

READMISSION AFTER ACADEMIC SUSPENSION

Students may immediately appeal their suspensions if extenuating circumstances exist. These circumstances include factors beyond the student's control (e.g., family emergency, serious illness, death, etc.) and must be documented. Appeal forms are available at the College Transition Center.

A student who has been suspended may not re-enroll at the University until at least one term, not including summer term, has passed. A readmission appeal form must be submitted to the College Transition Center at least 60 days prior to the start of the term in which the student wishes to re-enter UNC. The appeal should include the following:

- A detailed account of the reasons the student did not achieve his or her academic potential.
- A description of the circumstances that have changed to allow the student to perform at a satisfactory level.
- A specific plan of action that the student will follow to attain academic success.

BASIC SKILLS COURSES

These courses are designed to teach academic skills and general competencies necessary to succeed in college. Numbered 001 through 099, they do not count in term, cumulative or total credits and are not calculated into the grade point average. Credits earned in these courses will not count toward meeting financial aid minimum credit-hour requirements.

CLASSIFICATION STATUS

A student is classified as a freshman until successful completion of 30 semester hours of credit and as a sophomore until completion of 60 semester credit hours. A student is considered a junior until completion of 90 semester hours and then is classified as a senior until completion of a baccalaureate degree.

COURSE CREDIT

All credit toward graduation is computed in semester credit hours. "One semester hour" typically means a course is taught for approximately one hour one day each week throughout the semester of 15 weeks. Likewise, a two-credit-hour course usually meets twice a week and generates two semester hours of credit. Most courses are offered for three semester credit-hours.

Some UNC courses may be repeated for credit; they are specifically noted in the course description section of this Catalog with the maximum amount of credit allowed for each course.

For repeated courses, grades of "F," "U" and "I" that have not been completed within the allotted time, the credit hours are bracketed on the transcript and not included in total credits.

Students may register in a course for "no credit" but must pay the same tuition and fees as those taking the course for credit. No audit or visitor cards are issued. Students taking a course for no credit must enroll for 00 credit hours through the regular registration procedure before the add deadline. Students need not complete assignments or exams used to determine grades, but are expected to attend classes when enrolled for no credit.

Non-attendance may result in the assignment of a "UW" grade.

Course Repeat Policy. The Repeat Policy affects all courses. Repeated courses are recorded on the transcript for every individual registration; all letter grades count towards the cumulative grade point average. Repeated courses will be counted one time only in total credits toward graduation. A course may be taken for a maximum of three (3) times without written consent from the academic dean of the respective college. It may be repeated only two (2) times without written consent from the academic dean of the respective college. A mark of "W" does not count towards the maximum of three (3) times (not using the Grade Forgiveness Policy).

Grade Forgiveness Program. The Grade Forgiveness Program, which takes effect Fall semester 2002, affects only students that apply for the program. Undergraduate students may repeat a UNC course in an effort to attain a satisfactory level of achievement in courses in which they initially encountered difficulty, referred to as grade forgiveness, subject to the following conditions.

1. A course may only be applied to the grade forgiveness if the original grade was "D" or "F".
2. Grade forgiveness can only be applied once (1) per course for a maximum of four (4) courses, not to exceed 12 credits during the student's academic career.
3. Both the original and the second attempt at an individual course will be recorded on the student's transcript, but only the more recent grade will be calculated into the cumulative grade point average.
4. If a student enrolls and receives a mark of "W" in the second attempt of a course, that enrollment counts as the grade forgiveness opportunity and the original grade will stand.
5. Credits earned are used only once to fulfill graduation requirements.
6. A student receiving a letter grade can only replace such a grade in the cumulative GPA with another letter grade.
7. To be eligible for the grade forgiveness, students must submit an application to the Registrar's Office prior to registering for classes. Approval will not be given after the drop deadline.
8. Approved, repeatable courses, such as activity courses, clinicals, research, seminars and selected topics, do not qualify for grade forgiveness.

COURSEWORK MAY COUNT FOR THE NEXT HIGHER DEGREE

Students may, in the last semester of study for one degree, register for graduate courses that exceed the requirements for that degree, provided that their application for admission to the next higher degree program is accepted before the start of the final semester. If the student has been admitted to the program for the next higher degree, he or she must complete "A Petition to Count Work On the Next Higher Degree" that may be obtained from the Graduate School Office. Students will be accountable for the final examination in the courses taken for the next higher degree.

CREDIT BY EXAMINATION: AP, CLEP, CHALLENGE, PROFICIENCY

The University offers three options for credit by examination: A student may qualify for University credit or may exempt a specific course by demonstrating superior performance on the subject matter examinations administered through the Advanced Placement (AP) program of the Educational Testing Service. These are usually taken when the student is still in high school. Generally, an A test score of 3, 4, or 5 will result in college credit being awarded. Please consult the Office of Admissions for specific AP test score requirements.

The College-Level Examination Program (CLEP) offers

another opportunity to earn credit through demonstration of superior performance in subject matter examinations. CLEP credit is offered for certain introductory and select advanced courses. Arrangements are made at Career Services.

In addition, students who judge their current academic ability in a specific course to be sufficiently high to earn credit may take rigorous subject matter examinations. Several departments offer University challenge examinations that may be taken under the following conditions:

- The specific course must have been approved for challenge examination by the academic department that administers the course.
- The student must enroll in the course and pay the appropriate tuition and fees.
- The student must obtain approval from the course instructor to challenge the course through examination.
- The student must arrange for and pass a challenge examination designed and administered by the instructor or the department during the first two weeks of the semester that the specific course is offered.
- If a student passes the examination, he or she will not be required to attend the remaining class sessions. At the end of the semester that the examination was passed, the class credit and grade earned on the examination will be entered on the student's transcript.
- Should the student fail the examination or seek to earn a higher grade than attained on the examination, the student may either remain in the class and meet the course requirements or withdraw from the class before the withdrawal deadline for that semester and re-enroll in the class to attempt to earn credit by examination in a subsequent semester.
- Not all academic departments offer the credit-by-examination option. Students should contact the main office of any department to determine the policy of that particular department.

Proficiency Examinations. Certain required courses in some majors and minors offer proficiency examinations to determine whether or not a student may be excused from a requirement.

DIRECTED STUDIES

Directed Studies are available in most disciplines. These are identified within this publication by course numbers 422 and 622. The Directed Study course provides a vehicle that a qualified student may use to receive University credit for an individualized investigation under the direct supervision of a UNC faculty member. Because Directed Studies with the number 622 are at the graduate level, the faculty member providing the supervision must be approved to teach graduate-level courses.

The investigation must be on a specific topic that is not duplicated by an existing course within the University's curriculum. The following policies apply for registration in Directed Studies courses:

1. A Directed Study course may be for no more than four semester hours of credit per academic semester, with no more than six credits of Directed Studies taken in any semester.
2. The student should apply through the department in which he or she is doing the study.
3. Permission to engage in a Directed Study for credit must be approved by the student's program advisor, the faculty member supervising the study, and the department chairperson of the major department. The Non-Scheduled Course form to be presented at the Registration Center at the time of enrollment must bear the signatures of the supervising faculty member and the department chairperson. A rationale for course credit form should be completed and filed in the academic department. Forms are available only through the department in which the study is supervised.

Separate policies exist for distribution of critiqued and graded copies of a completed Directed Study, based on whether the study was completed at the graduate or undergraduate level.

A student interested in the appropriate policy should consult with either the Graduate School or the dean of the college in which the Directed Study is to be undertaken.

DOUBLE MAJORS AND CONCURRENT DEGREES

Students may complete the requirements for two majors (a "double major," the concurrent completion of the requirements for two majors), in which case both majors will be listed on the transcript. Undergraduate students who have two majors and have satisfactorily completed a minimum total of 150 semester hours of credit, will receive diplomas indicating the awarding of two degrees simultaneously. A student with less than 150 semester credit hours will receive one diploma and one degree appropriate for the major declared as the first major with both majors stated on the diploma.

Additional hours above the minimum requirement for a degree are incorporated into that degree program and may not be used to meet other requirements.

FRESH START PROGRAMS FOR FRESHMEN, CONTINUING STUDENTS

The Fresh Start Programs were created to provide a second chance or "fresh start" to students who experienced poor academic standing. Students who apply to and meet the requirements of the program are given the opportunity to recalculate their grade point averages without using some or all grades of "D" and "F".

The Fresh Start Program for Freshmen is for students who have earned less than 30 semester credits toward graduation and who have less than a 2.00 cumulative grade point average. To be eligible, a student must attend another institution and transfer a minimum of 24 semester credits (or 36 quarter credits) of transferable course work to UNC with a 2.50 grade point average for these credits. After returning to UNC, the Fresh Start Program for "Freshmen" can be invoked if the student earns a minimum of a 2.5 grade point average in the first 12 credits completed.

The Fresh Start Program for Continuing Students is for individuals who have grades of "D" and/or "F" that are at least four (calendar) years old based on the most recently completed term at UNC. In both programs, "D's" and "F's" earned during the terms covered by the Fresh Start Program are not used in the recalculation of the grade point average and no longer count for credit toward graduation. After the rules of the Fresh Start Program have been applied, students must complete 30 credits of UNC coursework before graduating.

For more information, students should contact the College Transition Center.

GRADUATION APPLICATION

Undergraduate students should apply for graduation upon completion of 90 semester hours of credit applicable to the degree program. Applications for graduation are accepted at the Registrar's Office through 4 pm Friday of the second full week of the semester that the student expects to graduate. There is a graduation fee assessed for the term the student initially plans to graduate.

After the application is filed, the student is required to inform the Registrar's Office of any change in graduation plans, (i.e., the proposed semester of graduation or course substitutions).

ON-CAMPUS LIVING REQUIREMENT

All freshmen with less than 20 semester hours earned and under 20 years of age are required to live in a residence hall. Undergraduate students must be enrolled in a minimum of six semester hours to live on campus.

ORIENTATION

Discover UNC is an orientation program for entering freshmen and transfer students that provides essential information about the University, its academic policies and requirements; academic advising, and assistance in registering for classes. By separate mailing, newly-admitted students are invited to attend the orientation program.

SECOND BACCALAUREATE

Students who received their first degree at UNC and wish to declare an intent to complete a second baccalaureate degree must complete a Change of Major form available in each academic department. Upon completion of the form and approval by the appropriate department, the student's records will be changed to reflect the intent to complete a second baccalaureate degree. In order for the classification change to be approved for a particular semester and, thus, allow the student to pay undergraduate rather than the graduate tuition rates, the form must be sent from the appropriate department to the Registrar's Office by Wednesday of the third full week of the first semester the student is enrolled in courses to count toward the second baccalaureate degree. Applications submitted after this point in the semester will not affect the student's classification (undergraduate, second baccalaureate degree) until the following semester. Students must complete a minimum of 30 semester hours in residence to qualify for the second bachelor's degree.

Students who have completed their baccalaureate degree at another institution and seek a second baccalaureate degree at UNC must complete an admission application through the UNC Admissions Office and are required to pay undergraduate tuition rates.

ADMISSION, UNDERGRADUATE

BASIS OF ALL UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSIONS

Admissions to the University is based upon academic criteria including the secondary school academic record, rank in class, standardized test scores (ACT or SAT) and the academic record from all previous colleges the student may have attended.

NEW FRESHMAN ADMISSION

Freshman applicants are expected to be high school graduates who have successfully completed a minimum of 15 secondary school units. The academic records of graduates from high schools that are not state approved will be examined in greater depth for admissions purposes.

Students who have not received a high school diploma may be admitted to the University upon receipt of a high school equivalency certificate obtained by satisfactorily completing the General Education Development Test (GED) with an average score of 55 or above.

Admission to UNC is based on standards developed by the Colorado Commission on Higher Education as measured by a selectivity index created from high school performance and standardized test score. Eighty percent of the freshmen admitted must have a selectivity index of 94 or above. An index of 94 represents a cumulative high school GPA of 2.9 and an ACT composite of 22 or an SAT combined score of 1,000. A higher ACT/SAT score can compensate for a lower GPA and a higher GPA can compensate for a lower test score.

Twenty percent of the freshmen admitted to UNC may have a selectivity index of 93 and below. Those applicants are evaluated on an individual basis.

Applicants for freshman admission are required to have earned the following secondary school credits:

- Mathematics - three units of higher mathematics of algebra or above.

and are expected to have earned at least the following distribution:

- English - four units with emphasis upon courses in composition.
- History/social science - two units.
- Natural science - two units including a laboratory course.

Freshman Application Procedures. Both applications and supporting credentials may be submitted at any time after completion of the junior year of high school. However, they should be received at the Admissions Office no later than three weeks before the academic semester in which the student intends to enroll.

Prospective students are encouraged to submit applications as early as possible. Applications can be submitted on-line at: www.GoBears.unco.edu.

The Application for Admission, the appropriate secondary school transcripts and a $30 non-refundable processing and evaluation fee must be submitted to the Office of Admissions.

An applicant should take the American College Test (ACT) or the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and have examination results forwarded to UNC.

Upon receipt and evaluation of the completed Application for Admission and the relevant academic support material, an admissions decision is made. Applicants who provide all required credentials at the time of application receive immediate processing and are notified at the earliest possible date.

Students planning to major in music are required to submit a separate application to the School of Music. The music application is provided by the School of Music upon request or upon receipt of an Application for Admission that specifically indicates a music major. Auditions are required of these applicants. Information concerning auditions may be requested from the School of Music or at www.arts.unco.edu.

Students planning to major in musical theatre are required to submit an additional application to the Musical Theatre Program. The application and appropriate instructions are provided by the College of Performing and Visual Arts. Auditions are required of all applicants to the Musical Theatre Program. Information concerning auditions may be requested from the Coordinator, Musical Theatre Program or at www.arts.unco.edu.

Freshman On-Campus Living Requirements. All freshmen with less than 20 semester hours earned and under 20 years of age are required to live in a residence hall and will be assigned a full meal plan (19 meals a week).

A student who has earned fewer than 20 semester credits is exempt from this requirement if he or she is:

- married or at least 20 years of age at the beginning of the contract period,
- is living at and commuting from the home of a parent or legal guardian who lives within a 30 mile radius of the campus throughout the contract period. The decision to commute must be made before the beginning of the contract period.

If one of the above exceptions is met, the freshman student must write in advance to the Coordinator for Contract Release, Housing and Residence Life, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colorado 80639. This letter should include name, social security number and detailed documentation supporting the request for an exemption, i.e., marriage certificate, or if living at home, a verifying letter from parent. A written response granting or denying the request will be made promptly. Additional information may be obtained from the Housing and Residence Life Office.

TRANSFER STUDENT ADMISSION

For admission purposes, a student can be a transfer student if transferable college hours have been completed beginning with the fall semester following high school graduation or thereafter. College credit completed while in high school is eligible to count towards a UNC degree but cannot alone classify a student as a transfer for admission purposes.

To be eligible to transfer, students must be in good academic standing at the college or university most recently attended.

Admission requirements to UNC as a transfer student are based upon the number of credit hours of collegiate work the student has attempted and the cumulative GPA from all schools attended. Students who have completed under 30 semester hours (45 quarter hours) of college work must submit an official transcript from each college attended, along with a high school transcript and ACT/SAT test scores. The admission decision will then be based on freshman admission requirements. Transfer applicants who have completed 12-29 semester hours (18-44 quarter hours) at other institutions are required to have maintained a cumulative grade point average of 2.50 or better and submit an official copy of their college transcripts. A student who has 30 semester credit hours (45 quarter hours) of transfer credit is required to have earned a cumulative grade point average of 2.00 or better to be admitted.

Transfer Application Procedures. An Application for Admission and a non-refundable processing fee must be submitted to the Admissions Office. Applicants also must submit an official transcript from EACH college or university previously attended. Final admission status cannot be determined until official transcripts have been received from each institution attended. Applications can be submitted on-line at www.GoBears.unco.edu.

No Portion of An Applicant's Previous Collegiate Record Can Be Disregarded. Should The Applicant Fail To List All Institutions Previously Attended, Admission To UNC May Be Denied Or Canceled.

Transfer students planning to major in music are required to submit an additional application to the School of Music. The music application is provided by the School of Music upon request or upon receipt of an Application for Admission that specifically indicates a music major. Auditions are required of these applicants. Information concerning auditions may be requested from the School of Music or at www.arts.unco.edu.

Students planning to major in musical theatre are required to submit an additional application to the Musical Theatre Program. The application and appropriate instructions are provided by the College of Performing and Visual Arts. Auditions are required of all applicants to the Musical Theatre Program. Information concerning auditions may be requested from the Coordinator, Musical Theatre Program or at www.arts.unco.edu.

Transfer students planning to major in Nursing are required to submit an additional application to the School of Nursing. Application information can be obtained by contacting the School of Nursing or at the UNC website www.unco.edu.

Transfer Credit. A maximum of 90 semester or 135 quarter hours of academic credit may be accepted from regionally accredited four-year institutions. No more than 64 semester or 96 quarter hours of credit earned at junior or community colleges may be applied towards UNC degree requirements.

A student who has earned a liberal-arts based Associate of Arts or Associate of Science degree from an accredited college will receive a full waiver of the content area in the General Education requirements. The skills requirements will be evaluated course by course. Completion of the Colorado Community College Common Core Curriculum will result in a full waiver of both the Skills and Content area of General Education. Associate of General studies degrees are not transferable to UNC.

Any credit earned by examination alone (e.g., CLEP credit) will be reevaluated by the Admissions Office. This may reduce the number of credit hours allowed for students who have completed a liberal arts-based Associate of Arts or Associate of Science degree.

College work earned 15 years before the baccalaureate degree is to be granted may be applicable toward the UNC degree at the discretion of the applicant's intended major and minor departments.

Previous grade point averages are used for admission and scholarship purposes only and are not carried forward on the student's academic record at UNC. New transfer students begin a new grade point average. Letter grades of "D" are not transferable.

To graduate with a baccalaureate degree from UNC, students must earn a minimum of 30 semester hours of credit on the UNC campus. This does not include attendance in UNC off-campus courses. If a community college program corresponds to the requirements of the first two years in a similar program at UNC, graduation after two additional years of study at UNC is possible.

Transfer Course Guide. UNC does not allow transfer of credit from institutions not accredited by a regional association of colleges and secondary schools.

Information concerning transfer to UNC from Colorado community and junior colleges is available in the UNC Transfer Guide. Copies of this publication are on file at each Colorado community or junior college and may also be obtained from the Admissions Office in Greeley or Denver, and on the web at www.unco.edu.

Transfer Status. Transfer students will use the Catalog in the Admissions Office at the time of their acceptance to find their General Education requirements.

For the student's major requirements, the Catalog in effect when the student declares or changes a major will be followed.

Major departments will inform the Admissions Office in writing of all major/minor Catalog changes for incoming transfer students.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT ADMISSION

An international student is one who is not a citizen of the United States or who is not classified by U.S. Immigration as a resident alien. International students must meet English proficiency, academic and financial requirements before being fully admitted. These requirements are met by providing all the normal documents required for admission (see description of admission requirements above).

The English proficiency standard may be met by:

1. Submitting either a Test of English as a Foreign Language

(TOEFL) with a score of 520 or above with a score of no less than 52 on any of the three sections (students applying to the College of Business Administration must score at least 550 on the TOEFL), or

2. Submitting test scores of at least 85 from the Michigan Test of the English Language.

Information about the TOEFL may be obtained from the Educational Testing Service for TOEFL, Box 899, Princeton, New Jersey 08541, or about the Michigan Test from the University of Michigan Press, Ann Arbor, Michigan 42104.

Individual schools or departments of the University may have higher proficiency requirements than those stated above. If a prospective international student is in doubt about these requirements, he or she should contact the Graduate School and International Admissions Office at 970.351.2831.

The Application for Admission and all related credentials (including $50 application fee) must be received by UNC no later than 90 days before the semester in which the student wishes to enroll. The scores for the English Proficiency Exam must be received no later than 40 days before the beginning of the student's initial semester at UNC.

Specific inquiries concerning undergraduate international student admission should be addressed to the Graduate School and the International Admissions Office.

The Center for International Education. One of the major goals of the Center for International Education is to enhance the intellectual development of the university community by providing our visiting students and scholars the best opportunities for educational advancement through assessment, advisement and acculturation. The support services provided by the Center.

- orientation activities and seminars,
- immigration document processing and counseling,
- tutorial services and
- supplemental language training.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS INCLUDING GENERAL EDUCATION, UNDERGRADUATE

BACHELOR'S DEGREE

A bachelor's degree is an academic title granted to a student who has completed a specific course of study. Degree titles are authorized by the Colorado Commission on Higher Education and programs leading to the degrees are administered by the University, a college, a department and sometimes a program board or coalition of faculty.

The faculty of UNC has established five general requirements that a student must meet to earn a baccalaureate degree:

1. Earn a minimum of 120 semester credit hours.
2. Have a University of Northern Colorado cumulative grade point average of at least 2.00. Certain programs or majors may have additional requirements (e.g., recommendation for teacher licensure requires a UNC cumulative grade point average of at least 2.50).
3. Have at least 40 credit hours in courses designated as General Education in the Catalog of the academic year in which the student first completes courses at the University. The UNC undergraduate Catalog expires after six years. The General Education program is described later in this chapter.
4. Meet all requirements for the bachelor's degree in the student's major field of study, as listed in the Catalog current when the first major is officially declared. If applicable, teacher licensure requirements must be satisfied.

UNC Catalog Requirements

Requirements for graduation are checked as follows: requirements for completion of General Education as designated in the Catalog in effect at the time of acceptance. The requirements for a major or minor are determined by the Catalog of the academic year in which the student declares a first major. The undergraduate student has six years to complete his or her academic program using the appropriate Catalog. When that Catalog has expired at the end of the six-year limit, the student may select any subsequent Catalog up to and including the current one, provided the student is or was in attendance at the University during that academic year.

Other Requirements

Minimum Residence. A student must have earned a minimum of 30 semester credit hours in UNC courses. For students who exceed the minimum 30 hour residence requirement, 20 of the last 30 semester credit hours of a degree program must be earned in UNC courses.

Previous Credit Earned. Any college work earned more than 15 years before the time a baccalaureate degree is granted at UNC may be applicable toward a degree at the discretion of the Registrar and the major and minor departments.

Correspondence Credit. A maximum of 30 semester hours of credit in correspondence and/or continuing education courses from UNC and/or any other institution will be accepted toward graduation.

All correspondence courses and/or transfer work must be completed, received, graded and recorded before the semester of graduation.

Official Transcripts. Transcripts from all colleges and universities containing transfer credit necessary for completion of degree requirements must be received by the Admissions Office before the semester of graduation.

Major and Minor Requirements

A major is a concentration of courses in a student's declared area of primary academic study which, when accompanied by appropriate supporting courses, leads to a degree. Majors are recorded on the student's permanent record. The requirements for a major are specified in the Catalog of the academic year in which the student declares a major.

A student must meet the General Education requirements as designated in the Catalog of the academic year in which the first term of completed on-campus courses occurs.

Certain courses are required for the major, but electives may be selected from a range of alternatives prescribed by the department. Students who are unsure of their major may enter the University as "undeclared." Students should choose a major by the time they have completed 30 credit hours. Undergraduate students may transfer from one major to another by filing a Change of Major/Minor form as long as they meet the requirements of the new department as listed in the Catalog of the academic year in which he or she declares a first major. Please note: a change of emphasis area constitutes a change of major.

An emphasis area includes specified courses that provide a particular focus within a major. Emphasis areas for majors are recorded on the student's permanent record.

In contrast with a major, an academic minor involves less extensive concentration in a discipline but still imposes specific requirements. An undergraduate minor is a specific set of courses in a subject area or academic discipline. A minor does not alone lead to an academic degree, but may be required by some majors. A minor differs from an emphasis area in that a minor is not a focus within the student's major. The requirements for a minor are specified in the Catalog of the academic year in which the student declares a first major.

To complete a major from UNC, a student is required to earn a minimum of nine upper-division UNC credits (300-400) in that major. To complete a minor, a student is required to earn a minimum of six upper-division UNC credits (300-400) in that minor. The student must meet all requirements and pass all courses required by the school/college or department from which he or she selects a major or a minor. These requirements vary and are specifically stated in the section of this Catalog that summarizes each academic department's offerings including its major and minor programs.

Each undergraduate student is strongly encouraged to work closely with his or her assigned faculty advisor in selecting General Education courses, major and minor offerings and elective courses from other disciplines.

Mathematics Requirements

The Department of Mathematical Sciences offers several different mathematics courses that may be appropriate starting points for students who need to take college mathematics. The department strongly desires that students begin their college mathematics by taking the most appropriate course.

The following are the most commonly followed sequences of mathematics courses. Choices depend on choice of major/minor and high school mathematics preparation.

1. If you have three full years of high school mathematics with a grade of "C" or better:

To satisfy General Education Category 2 only –
MATH 120 or STAT 150

To satisfy Business majors –
MATH 175-MATH 176 or MATH 124-MATH 176

To satisfy Elementary Education Teacher Licensure –
MATH 181 and MATH 182

Note: Students in the Mathematics Concentration should consult an advisor in the Department of Mathematical Sciences.

To satisfy Nursing and some Health Science majors –
STAT 250

Majors/minors needing the calculus sequence –
MATH 124-MATH 125-MATH 131-MATH 132-MATH 233 or

MATH 125-MATH 131-MATH 132-MATH 233 or MATH 127-MATH 131-MATH 132-MATH 233 or MATH 131-MATH 132-MATH 233

2. Other students will need to complete MAT 105 or MAT 100-105 through Aims Community College (taught on the UNC campus) with a grade of "C" or better, then follow 1. above.

THE GENERAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

The mission of the General Education program is to foster competencies and perspectives that enrich and enhance our life experiences. Liberal arts education at the University of Northern Colorado extends beyond the teaching and learning of vocational skills and the acquisition of specialized knowledge. The program provides skills and abilities which strengthen an individual's capacity to both make a living and to have a satisfying life. It promotes an understanding of the circumstances and events which may not have shaped our personal development but that may exert a strong influence on the ability of others to read, hear, or understand our viewpoints.

The skills component of General Education fosters growth in critical thinking, computational ability, self-expression in written, oral and graphic forms and physical competence. All of these skills improve your ability to understand or develop new ideas and to present them to others.

The content component of General Education deals with the complexity and integrated nature of knowledge. It focuses on the paradigms and patterns of inquiry of many disciplines and the fundamentally multidisciplinary character of true understanding. The many different approaches to subject matter and problem-solving practiced in the humanities, the social sciences, the natural sciences and mathematics all contribute to an appreciation of diversity and the value of inquiry. The interdisciplinary, multicultural and international courses provide a grounding in the wealth of human experience and the necessity of taking this diversity into account throughout our lives.

Collectively, the skills and content components of the General Education program provide the framework for lifelong learning and personal growth. They provide an understanding of and perspective on our history, current events and future challenges. This foundation increases the ability of students to apply the knowledge acquired in major, minor and other parts of their education program more effectively.

The courses included in the General Education program represent a variety of disciplines, but are designed to help all students reach some common goals. Each of the seven categories in General Education has its own set of criteria, which all courses offered in that category must meet. Each category of courses also has its own set of student performance expectations. As students complete general education courses their achievement of the expectations will be assessed. In turn, students are provided with the opportunity to comment on the effectiveness of the courses in helping to meet the performance expectations.

The requirements in the Skills Areas are intended to help you to develop:

- Correct and effective use of the English language in generating writing in a variety of formats.
- The ability to gather and interpret information from a variety of sources, including computerized retrieval systems.
- Numerical, statistical and algebraic skills required for the understanding and investigation of real world problems.
- The ability and confidence to interpret numerical and graphical data.
- Appropriate use of technology in support of mathematical studies.
- Successful strategies for group participation in physical activity.
- Skills and techniques necessary for participation in physical activity.

- Knowledge that will help you to enhance and maintain your personal fitness and health.

The requirements in the Content Areas are intended to help you to:

- Understand the historical frameworks of and interactions between diverse disciplines.
- Understand and apply research techniques from different disciplines. You will collect, organize and interpret data using current technology.
- Assess the validity of diverse sources of information.
- Understand Western and non-Western cultures and values.
- Understand the perspectives, contributions and concerns of different ethnic, gender and age groups.
- Be able to identify important issues involved in human welfare and survival.

Requirements. The General Education Program at UNC is divided into two areas: Skills Area — Category 1. - Category 3. and Content Area — Category 4. - Category 7.

- An overall minimum of 40 semester credit hours selected from the Skills and Content Areas (Categories 1.-7.)
- At least 30 semester hours must be taken in the Content area.
- Only 6 semester hours of general education courses may be courses carrying the students' major prefix (i.e. Music majors can only use 6 hours of courses with the course prefix of MUS).

Students enrolled in any Army ROTC course and who participate in organized ROTC physical training for at least one session a week during the entire semester may request a waiver to be exempt from the physical activity area (Skill 3).

A student may challenge a General Education course and receive an exemption by registering for the course and passing the challenge examination. Interested students should contact the appropriate department to determine the availability of a challenge examination.

Life of the Mind: General Education Option

Life of the Mind is an interdisciplinary project involving faculty members committed to the belief that the General Education curriculum should include courses that cross the boundaries of traditional academic departments to deal with broad intellectual concerns.

The "Life of the Mind" is the unifying theme of all the courses. Through them students are introduced to the great historical traditions of Western and Oriental thought and to the most provocative ideas of the 20th century. The faculty do not present these ideas as accepted truths, but instead faculty and students together explore them as possible answers to the central human questions. Through this exploration, students come to value the social, ethical and spiritual significance of intellectual activity - of the life of the mind.

Every Life of the Mind course is planned by an interdisciplinary team. Some courses are also team-taught, while others are individually taught, but offered by faculty members from several different departments. (For example, MIND 180 is offered by a history professor in fall and by a philosophy professor in spring.)

All courses involve study of key writings. During most class sessions the faculty and students engage in discussion of the meaning and importance of these writings, both in their own times and in the present. In MIND 181, Great Traditions of Asia, the class discusses the timeless message of the Indian Hindu classic, the Upanishads. In MIND 290, The Search for Meaning, the class debates the historical significance and contemporary relevance of Plato's Apology. Discussions are interspersed with lectures, slide presentations and films. Life of the Mind classes aim to build students' skills in critical thinking, discussion and writing.

Life of the Mind courses are open to both traditional and non-traditional, older students. Non-traditional students from the Greeley community are encouraged to enroll or audit.

In addition to the classes themselves, a public lecture series, featuring Colorado and national speakers, is an integral part of the Life of the Mind project. The lectures link the courses together and contribute to the intellectual life of the community.

PRESIDENT'S LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

The President's Leadership Program (PLP) is open to selected freshmen with demonstrated leadership experience and potential who are also accomplished scholars. PLP has courses of its own, in which scholars are engaged with leadership theory, and General Education choices where leadership dimensions are suggested. The program also sponsors guests to campus who are distinguished leaders in their own fields. The leadership mentor network is accessed through internship opportunities, and students are encouraged to study for a semester abroad. The PLP program can be taken with any major. In PLP 100 the Contract Learning Guide, the scholar's agreed PLP learning contract, is first introduced.

Program Narrative

Year one. The highlights of the first year are two classes, ID 108 and PLP 100. ID 108, to be taken in the first semester, will be a special section of the University's freshman orientation class highlighting campus and community leadership opportunities. The Career Center will assist with inventories of student aptitudes and interests, leading to matching of majors with careers.

PLP 100, Foundations of Leadership, will continue to build on the self-assessment inventories developed in ID 108. Students will be asked to begin a plan for their junior year internship, travel and study opportunities. Through readings and discussion with guests, leadership scholars will be asked to explore leadership as a creative process of creating, anticipating and molding change.

Year Two. In the second year, students gain a comprehensive introduction to theories of normative human development in PSY 265, and the opportunity to do further reading and writing on leadership issues in ENG 225.

PLP 200, explores the entrepreneurial mind, personality and achievement. Successful entrepreneurs will be invited to campus, and asked to share their perspectives on success and leadership with PLP students. "Entrepreneur" is defined in the broadest sense, and includes leaders who have successfully managed change in education, the arts and government. As the beginning exercise in this seminar, PLP students will be asked to share final plans for their junior year internship/study/travel project and its linkage to the senior paper.

Year three. In the junior year, the PLP student's match of junior project and senior paper is developed through an internship, and/or by study and travel abroad. PLP staff will develop correspondent relationships with universities abroad, in cities where Americans can comfortably live; staff will also develop internships in Denver and throughout Colorado so that students may experience the life of the career they've chosen. The project will be recorded in a final paper, formalized in a contract between the student and the PLP advisor. In the case of students concurrently enrolled in the Honors program, the paper's research design may be coordinated with an Honors advisor in the student's major field.

Year four. In the fourth year, the student finishes writing the senior paper in the seventh term, and presents results to colleagues in the capstone course. In the capstone experience, students again assess themselves as leaders, in charge of their own personal, residential and career-development transitions.

PROFESSIONAL TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAMS (PTEPs)

The University of Northern Colorado offers four Professional Teacher Preparation Programs that are designed to prepare teacher education candidates for Colorado Licensure. The 1999-00 PTEPs include: Elementary Education (K-6), Middle Grades Education in specific and support teaching areas (5-9), Secondary Education in specific teaching areas (7-12), and K-12 Education in the areas of Physical Education, Music Education, Visual Arts Education, and Special Education.

A student interested in obtaining a Colorado Provisional License to teach must apply, be admitted to, and complete one of the PTEPs. Students who have completed a baccalaureate degree, but do not hold a Colorado teacher license, are encouraged to contact the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education to receive information on post-baccalaureate programs for teacher licensure.

Application. All students preparing to be teachers must formally apply for admission to a Professional Teacher Education Program. Applications and more information about specific PTEPs may be obtained in the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education.

Please see "Professional Teacher Education Programs (PTEPs)" (on page 161)

PTEP ADMISSION

Full admissions requirements may include:

- benchmark experiences specific to each PTEP;
- portfolio review;
- demonstrated competence in written English (At this time, this requirement may be met with a "B" or better from general education category 1a or b);
- demonstrated competence in oral English. This requirement may be met with a "B" or better in SPCO 103. Students enrolled in a elementary, secondary, middle grades or K-12 PTEP also may demonstrate oral proficiency by making an oral presentation before a panel of judges. Contact the Speech Communication Department for information on the oral proficiency presentation. Students without an extensive background in public speaking are highly encouraged to enroll in SPCO 100/SPCO 103;
- recommendation of the program/major department(s) including compliance with program/major department minimum grade point average(s) and specific course and credit requirement.

Teacher Education candidates are not assured admission solely on the attainment of minimum course and grade requirements or test scores. See the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education for more information.

PTEP BASIC REQUIREMENTS

Standards of Professional Practice. Teacher Education candidates seeking admission or who have been admitted to a Professional Teacher Education Program are expected to maintain accepted standards of professional ethics in all aspects of their work in their program. These expectations are noted in the Professional Teacher Education Program Outcomes (http://www.unco.edu/coe/annual_sstte.htm) and the program standard of Professional Behavior. The PTEP faculty will periodically review the suitability of teacher education candidates for admission to and continuation in their program. Teacher Education candidates who do not attain or uphold such standards are subject to academic sanctions, including denial, suspension, or dismissal from the program.

Approvals for Student Teaching. UNC teacher education candidates must maintain program/major department requirements in their Professional Teacher Education Program. They must meet all PTEP requirements to be approved for a student-teaching placement.

Program Assessments. The State of Colorado has mandated that institutions of higher education undertake assessment of students and their academic programs. It is the responsibility of students to participate in any assessment activities that are determined by the PTEPs and the University to meet this state mandate.

Program for Licensing Assessments for Colorado Educators (PLACE). The Colorado Department of Education requires applicants for teacher education licensure to present scores at or above the qualifying score set by the State Board of Education on the PLACE Content Area assessment that has been adopted by the State Board of Education.

In compliance with federal guidelines (Title II) the performance of UNC students on the PLACE is detailed on the College of Education website at www.unco.edu/coe (click on "Links," then click on "PLACE.").

For more information on the state assessment dates and locations for testing, contact the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education, McKee 216.

APPLICATION FOR LICENSURE

Application for Colorado Provisional Licensure.

Recommendations are made when teacher education candidates have successfully completed an approved PTEP. Successful completion includes the following: 1) maintenance of program/major department GPA requirements; 2) completion of the PTEP requirements; 3) passing PLACE Content; and 4) any additional requirements imposed by state law or regulation.

Upon successful completion of these requirements, teacher education candidates are eligible for institutional recommendation to the Colorado Department of Education for licensure in the State of Colorado.

The teacher education candidate may apply for a license at the end of the semester in which the PTEP is to be completed. Application forms are available in the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education. Completed applications are processed as soon as official transcripts are received from the Registrar.

HONORS PROGRAM

The University Honors Program is designed to offer exceptional students both the resources of a comprehensive university and the individual attention traditionally associated with a small college. It asks that they be alive to the life of the mind and pushes them to raise the expectations they have for themselves and their education. It seeks to involve them in learning, heighten their critical awareness and stimulate them to ask: "How should I act?"

Students are urged to join the Honors Program as freshmen, but they may enter up to the second semester of their junior year. Entering freshmen should be in the top 10 percent of their graduating class academically, or should have scored in the top 10 percent on the ACT or SAT exams. Prospective Honors students already enrolled at UNC or transferring from another college need a minimum GPA of 3.25. All applications must be accompanied by two letters of recommendation from teachers and a written statement of intent. Students with a GPA of less than 3.25 may be accepted on provisional status. If, after two semesters of academic work, they have maintained a GPA of at least 3.25 and have received a grade of at least "B" in two MIND-designated courses, they can earn formal acceptance into the Honors Program even if their cumulative GPA is still below 3.25. Applications and inquiries should be directed to the University Honors Program.

The Honors Program of study has two general categories. First, the General Education core asks students to take 3 Life of the Mind (MIND) classes within the General Education Program. MIND classes emphasize an interdisciplinary approach to the analysis and discussion of great books and significant ideas. Students will also take one of two Honors Connections Seminars, which are open exclusively to Honors participants.

The second category of study for the Honors Program concerns enrichment work and a senior thesis within a student's chosen discipline.

RESERVE OFFICER TRAINING CORPS (ROTC)

Students may earn a minor in either Military Science (Army) or Aerospace Studies (Air Force). The programs are designed to prepare students to assume leadership as officers in the United States Army or Air Force.

The required courses are unique to each service and focus on the development of each cadet's leadership style. Leadership is learned, applied, and evaluated by cadre and cadets through practical exercises, laboratories, and participation in either the Army Advanced Camp or the Air Force Field Training Course. Numerous scholarships are available, and contracted cadets receive a monthly, tax-free allowance.

INTRODUCTION

Graduate Education at UNC. The first graduate degree, a master's degree, was offered by UNC in 1913. In 1929 the Doctor of Education was added, in 1934 the Doctor of Philosophy, and in 1975, the Doctor of Arts. Later, the University added the Doctor of Music Education and, the most recent degree, the Doctor of Psychology, was added in 1984.

Graduate study at UNC involves the graduate student studying under the direction of a qualified member of the Graduate Faculty. Thus, graduate credit is awarded for courses of study taught by duly appointed members of the Graduate Faculty who meet the criteria established by the Faculty Constitution and by the By-Laws of the Graduate Faculty. The exchange of information, ideas, and values that takes place between the Graduate Faculty and highly qualified students is the essence of graduate education.

Students seeking graduate credit must display evidence of superior academic aptitude, achievement, and motivation. Moreover, the demonstration of competence in the discipline as evidenced by written and oral exams, theses, research projects, directed studies, and internships is an integral part of the graduate education experience. Through cooperative efforts of the Graduate Faculty, the Graduate Council, and the Graduate School, the University seeks to establish an environment in which the graduate student and the Graduate Faculty can achieve the traditional goals of graduate education.

Rules and regulations contained herein are intended to help the Graduate Faculty and the graduate student to accomplish the intent and purposes of graduate education.

The Graduate Faculty. Graduate Faculty are appointed by the University President after being recommended by the academic unit, the academic dean, the Graduate Council, and the Graduate Dean.

Upon appointment, Graduate Faculty are authorized to teach graduate courses, act as program advisors for graduate students, serve on doctoral committees, and serve on other University committees pertaining to graduate education at UNC. Graduate credit is granted for courses taught by a faculty member who has been appointed to the Graduate Faculty or to the Graduate Lecturer Faculty. No graduate credit is granted for any course taught by a faculty member who is pursuing an advanced degree at this institution. Graduate Faculty members are noted in the listing of UNC faculty in this publication.

In addition to the activities established for Graduate Faculty, members may receive a Doctoral Research endorsement. Only faculty who have the Doctoral Research endorsement may serve as research advisors on doctoral student research committees.

Upon approval by the department/division, the academic dean, and the Vice President for Academic Affairs, the Dean of the Graduate School may appoint, for a two-year period, selected individuals as Graduate Lecturer Faculty. These faculty may teach specific courses that are approved and/or perform other designated graduate responsibilities.

The Graduate Council. The Graduate Council is a representative faculty council established to represent the Graduate Faculty. It is the responsibility of the Council to recommend policies governing graduate programs and requirements at the University. Members of the Graduate Council are elected from the Graduate Faculty and serve three-year terms.

The Graduate School. The Dean of the Graduate School is the administrative representative of the Graduate Faculty and the Graduate Council and is responsible for all graduate programs. Under the Dean's direction, the Graduate School monitors and enforces the policies and procedures related to graduate education, including those related to admissions, records and graduation.

DEGREES AND PROGRAMS

Master's degrees (M.A., M.M., M.P.H., M.S.) are awarded for a level of academic accomplishment substantially beyond that required for the baccalaureate degree. Programs consist of a coherent pattern of courses, seminars, and supervised learning experiences that culminate in a comprehensive examination and, in some cases, a thesis. Master's programs require a minimum of 30 semester hours beyond the baccalaureate degree plus additional time in preparation for comprehensive examinations and thesis writing.

Specialist in Education degrees (Ed.S.) are awarded for concentrated study and investigation beyond the master's degree. Programs are designed on an individual basis and are sharply focused on a particular academic goal. Specialist's programs may cut across departmental lines but are not offered in all discipline areas. Typically the degree requires a minimum of 30 semester hours beyond the master's degree.

Doctor of Arts degrees (D.A.) are awarded for completion of content-oriented programs to prepare the candidate for a career in college or university teaching. The student is expected to specialize in a specific field of study but is not expected to specialize in a single facet of the chosen field. General components of the program include coursework in the major area, supervised practica in college teaching, interdisciplinary seminars in college teaching, and a dissertation involving a significant teaching/education problem(s) or a traditional research topic. Students are offered considerable flexibility in program development. The degree is not research-oriented, but the recipient will demonstrate research competence by preparing a dissertation designed to support college/university teaching.

Doctor of Education degrees (Ed.D.) are awarded for completion of professional or practitioner programs designed to prepare candidates for positions of leadership in all fields including elementary and secondary education, higher education, business, industry, government, and the military. These doctoral programs prepare graduates for service in instructional, supervisory, and administrative capacities.

Doctor of Philosophy degrees (Ph.D.) are awarded for completion of the research degree granted only to students who have 1) mastery of definite fields of knowledge to the extent they are familiar both with what has been done in their specific field and with the potentialities and opportunities for further advances, 2) a demonstrated capacity to do original and independent scholarly investigation or creative work in their specific field, and 3) the ability to integrate their specific field or specialization with the larger domains of knowledge and understanding.

Doctor of Psychology degrees (Psy.D.) are awarded for completion of the professional psychology program. A Psy.D. in counseling psychology indicates that the degree holder has specialized training in the area of psychological aspects of counseling/therapy and human behavior. The degree is a professional/practitioner degree at the highest level of university training.

Post-Doctoral Programs

Programs of research and advanced study are available in selected areas to persons holding the earned Doctor of Arts, Doctor of Education, Doctor of Philosophy, or Doctor of Psychology degree. Work at the post-doctoral level may be taken in areas such as educational leadership and policy studies, educational technology, educational psychology, counseling psychology, elementary education, special education, applied statistics, and other disciplines.

The specific research project or program of study is planned by the post-doctoral student in conference with a faculty committee appointed to advise the student throughout the program and to assess the student's progress at the end of the program.

Admission information is available in the Graduate School. Post-doctoral admission is granted on an individual basis.

ADMISSION: GRADUATE POLICIES AND REQUIREMENTS

Admission Criteria

The Graduate Council, comprised of representatives from the Graduate Faculty, sets minimum standards for admission to the Graduate School at UNC. Faculty members in each degree program establish admissions standards for the specific degree program, which often exceed the minimum standards. Applicants should consult program brochures, departmental offices or faculty in the degree program(s) of interest to them for any additional admission requirements.

Master's Degree. Each applicant to a master's degree program must possess a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university and have a grade point average of 3.00 or better [4.00 point scale] on the most recent 60 semester hours.

If someone is recommended for admission who does not meet the Graduate School standard, a rationale must be provided stating the factors which were considered in recommending the student: GPA in the discipline, maturity, letters of recommendation, samples of their work, GRE scores or other compelling factors. All recommendations for admission below the 3.00 will be personally reviewed by the Graduate Dean.

Specialist Degree. Each applicant to a specialist degree program must possess a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university and have a grade point average of 3.00 or better [4.00 point scale] on the most recent 60 semester hours and an adequate academic background in the proposed area of specialization as defined by the program through which the specialist degree is to be awarded. In addition, the applicant must have completed at least 24 calendar months of appropriate work experience in the specialization as determined by faculty in the major. Those applicants having a GPA less than 3.00 may be considered for admission. If someone is recommended for admission who does not meet the Graduate School standard, a rationale must be provided stating the factors which were considered in recommending the student: GPA in the discipline, maturity, letters of recommendation, samples of their work, GRE scores or other compelling factors. All recommendations for admission below the 3.00 will be personally reviewed by the Graduate Dean and his/her representative.

Doctoral Degree. Each applicant for the doctoral degree must:

- Possess a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university,
- Submit three letters of recommendation confirming that the applicant has the ability to do doctoral work in the proposed discipline(s),
- Have a minimum level of achievement combining GPA and GRE performance (see section entitled "Use of GRE in Doctoral Admissions" below),

Consistent with the guidelines published by Educational Testing Service, the Graduate School does not apply a strict GRE cutoff score. Instead, it utilizes a decision matrix which combines GRE general test scores and GPA. This allows higher performance in one area to compensate for a lower performance in another. Although students may meet Graduate School criteria through multiple combinations of GPA and GRE scores, the following rule of thumb can be used to determine admission:

Doctoral applicants meet the Graduate School minimum criteria for admission if they have a GPA of at least 3.0 on a 4.0 scale on the most recently completed degree, scores of at least 400 on each section of the three sections of the Graduate Record Examination general test and a combined GRE score of at least 1500. The actual admission eligibility determinations for doctoral students are based upon the GPA/GRE matrix shown below.

If applicant has:

GPA	GRE scores	Admission Decision
3.0-3.19	Over 500 score on each test [over 1500 total]	Fully meets Graduate School requirements
3.20-3.49	400-499 score on one test; Over 500 on others [over 1350 total]
3.50 +	3.50 + Over 400 on all subtests [over 1350 total]
3.00	Over 500 on each test or combined [over 1600]
3.00-3.19	400-499 on one test; 500+ on two [between 1350 and 1500 total]	Does not fully meet Graduate School requirements but will be admitted with departmental recommendation
3.20-3.49	400+ on two or more subtests [over 1350 total]
3.50 +	less than 400 in subtests if overall between 1200 and 1350
If GPA is < 3.50	GRE is <400 on any test and overall <1350	Does NOT meet Graduate School requirements. Graduate School will consider departmental recommendation for admission. A written explanation must accompany the recommendation explaining circumstances and factors considered justifying acceptance of this applicant.
If GPA is <3.0

The doctoral programs at the University of Northern Colorado do not utilize quantitative rating systems and standard criteria weightings as sole determining factors for decisions concerning the acceptance of doctoral applicants. Quantitative information such as GPA or GRE or MAT scores is considered in combination with qualitative information derived from letters of recommendation, applicant goal statements, as well as past academic and professional accomplishments. Because of the specialized nature of doctoral work, it is incumbent on the faculty to utilize their professional judgment in determining to what extent a student is qualified for entry into a particular program. The information requested by each department/division/school upon which their decision is to be based, gives the faculty the opportunity to thoroughly and carefully evaluate the strengths and potential of each applicant.

Each application introduces a unique combination of qualifications for a program of doctoral study. Decisions to accept or not accept a potential doctoral student must thoroughly consider all of the information pertinent to the applicant's qualifications including sensitivity to diverse applicant backgrounds. Only in this way can strict adherence to and consideration of affirmative action policies be maintained. The doctoral student selection process thus avoids undesirable, restrictive, and potentially capricious decisions that can arise from over-reliance on purely quantitative selection criteria.

Departments/divisions/schools offering doctoral programs may recommend admission based upon supplemental/alternate criteria that have been established by the major department/division/school and approved by the Graduate Council.

Application and Admission

If departments/divisions/schools set deadlines for review of applications for admission for any term, they must allow sufficient time for Graduate School handling and evaluation. This typically means they must ask students to submit materials early enough to allow at least 20 working days for the Graduate School to complete all processing upon receipt of a completed application prior to sending it to the department/division/school for screening. It is particularly important for programs requiring GREs and having early admission deadlines to notify applicants of this requirement. While the Graduate School will not set standard priority admission deadlines, each program is encouraged to determine what program specific deadlines they will use and to work closely with the Graduate School to ensure that these deadlines are feasible.

Admission Expiration Policy

Admission to any graduate program will remain valid for one calendar year following the first day of the applicant's proposed semester of enrollment. If a student does not begin coursework during that year, the student will be required to submit a new application with the appropriate processing fee and satisfy the new admission requirements.

Conditional Admission Policy

Conditional admission refers to applicants admitted pending the receipt of application requirements specified by either the Graduate School and/or the major department/division/school. No student will be permitted to register for an additional semester, receive financial aid or take the comprehensive examination or its equivalent unless the specified requirement(s) is met during the first semester of the student's program.

International Student Admission Policy

An international student is a student who is not a citizen of the United States or classified by United States Immigration and Naturalization Service as a resident alien. International applicants must meet English proficiency requirements as well as academic and financial requirements before being fully admitted to the University.

All application materials and all related credentials must be received by the Graduate School no later than 90 calendar days before the semester that the student wishes to enroll. All international applicants must take these steps to be considered for admission:

- Obtain the appropriate International Application for Admission forms from the Graduate School.
- Complete the forms and return them along with a $50 non-refundable application fee.
- Submit the "Financial Statement for International Students" and "Affidavit of Support" forms (evidence of adequate financial support). These forms are attached to the application form.
- Submit all records of previous schooling such as mark sheets, official transcripts, diplomas, and certificates. These records must show courses taken, grades awarded, and degrees earned. An English translation must be included.
- International students who are not native speakers of English or who have not received their undergraduate degree from an American, British, Canadian, or Australian university are required to provide evidence of English language proficiency by submitting one of the following:
 1. Official score reports of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) (minimum score for regular admission is 550--CBT 213) or results of the IELTS (minimum score of 6.0). Additionally, subscores may not be lower than the equivalent total score.
 2. Completion of a bachelor's degree in the United States or one year of full time study at a regionally accredited college or university in the United States.

Note: Departments/divisions/schools may have higher or additional English proficiency requirements including departmental/divisional screening or testing for English proficiency. The applicant is responsible for determining whether the department/division/school has additional language requirements.

Upon application approval, international applicants will be sent a letter of admission and the proper immigration forms will be issued. If an applicant is granted conditional admission pending completion of English language schooling and receipt of English proficiency scores, the immigration forms will be issued by the English language school.

Conditional Admission - International

International applicants whose academic record is sound but whose English language proficiency fails to meet the UNC minimum admission standard (TOEFL score of 550 or greater) may be granted a conditional admission to UNC. However, as the condition for admission, they must first study English to improve their proficiency. They may not enroll in graduate courses or gain regular admission status until they have improved their proficiency to the level necessary for successful graduate study. Students in this program register as full-time students at the University of Northern Colorado but may not register for graduate courses until approved to do so by the Director of International Education at UNC and the respective graduate advisor. Students enrolled in this program will receive all the benefits and services provided to full-time students at UNC. Once conditionally admitted international graduate students have successfully completed an intensive English program (either at another institution or the one provided by UNC), they must provide evidence of improved English proficiency to the Graduate School (this may be in the form of TOEFL scores or other method approved by the Graduate Dean) in order to gain regular admission.

Language Bridge Program

International applicants for both undergraduate and graduate admission can benefit from the new University of Northern Colorado Language Bridge Program. The Bridge Program allows international student applicants whose language skills are above the intermediate level to enter the University and take six hours of academic course work. The cost of the English language instruction is covered in the regular out-of-state tuition that is paid by undergraduate and graduate students. The cost for the six-week summer Language Bridge Program is $400 per credit hour.

Qualification Criteria. Applicants who have a 475 on the Test of English as a Foreign (TOEFL) written version or a 152 on the computer-based test (CBT) and are academically admissible can qualify for the Bridge Program. The University also accepts the results of the International English Language Test (IELT) (minimum score of 4.5). Results of the TOEFL are not required if an applicant has completed the highest level of instruction at an intensive English language program.

Classes Offered in the Bridge Program. The purpose of the Language Bridge Program is to increase the language proficiency of students to a level at which they can fully benefit from being a regular undergraduate or graduate student at UNC. Classes include English composition, English grammar, listening comprehension and pronunciation. The Bridge Program is offered fall semester, spring semester, and each summer beginning in July for six weeks.

Length of Bridge Program. Typically, students enroll in two classes of English and two regular academic classes for two semesters. However, it is possible for students to complete the Bridge Program after one semester. Undergraduate students must present a score of 520 on an institutional TOEFL examination and achieve a grade point average of 2.00 in academic classes. (Prospective business majors must present a TOEFL score of 550.) Graduate students must present a TOEFL score of 550, unless a lower score is acceptable by a program area, and achieve a grade point average of 3.00 in their academic classes. Students can also complete English 122 with a grade of B. The summer program lasts for six weeks and is the equivalent of one semester of language student. Classes will meet daily.

Housing

In fall and spring semesters, international students who are admitted to the University and the Language Bridge Program will be given priority for living in the International Living Center. This Center pairs international and American students in a newly renovated dormitory and provides a special cross-cultural living environment for students at the University.

Additional Options

Applicants for admission whose TOEFL scores are below 475 can apply for conditional admission. However, if admitted, the student must attend a regular intensive English language program. UNC maintains an affiliation with two such programs: Spring International Language Center, 2625 West Church Avenue, Littleton, Colorado 80120 (www.silc-usa.com) and the Colorado Intensive Language Institute, Aims Community College, P.O. Box 69, Greeley, Colorado 80632 (www.aims.edu).

Special Admissions

On rare occasions, individuals without a baccalaureate degree and individuals with a baccalaureate degree from a non-accredited institution are accepted into a master's degree program (accreditation status is determined from the institution's standing at the time the applicant attended). Individuals wishing to be reviewed for special admission into the Graduate School should contact the Graduate School directly for information on application procedures and criteria for evaluation. Prospective students pursuing a special admission will verify that they have completed the equivalent of a four-year college education and possess the ability to do graduate work.

Minimum requirements for consideration of special admissions include the following:

- Completion of General Education requirements at UNC, or equivalent. At UNC, General Education is a program with a minimum of 40 semester hours selected from three skill areas and four content areas. As part of the application process for special admission, a student without a baccalaureate degree or with a baccalaureate degree from a non-accredited institution applies as an undergraduate transfer student to UNC prior to being considered for special admissions. Doing so provides an official evaluation for General Education and an evaluation of courses completed in the proposed field of study.
- Graduate Record Examination (GRE) test scores (50th percentile or above) or the Miller Analogies Test (MAT) scores (50th percentile or above for intended majors).

- In-depth knowledge in the proposed area of study as substantiated by college level courses with a 3.0 grade point average; vocational, industrial, and military courses; advanced placement test scores; CLEP subject examinations; publications, performances, and extensive work in the area of the proposed graduate degree.
- Ability and preparation to pursue graduate work in the proposed field of study. Ability and preparation might be documented with a resume, narrative of professional accomplishments, lectures presented and honors received, letters of recommendation attesting to the academic potential of the applicant, etc. The program area in which the student proposes to study may have additional graduate admission requirements.

Satisfaction of these criteria will be verified by the Graduate School. If the minimum criteria are met, the completed application is reviewed by the Non-Baccalaureate Coordinating Committee. If approved by the Coordinating Committee, the application is sent to the department/division/school offering the degree program for review. This unit offers a recommendation to the Graduate Dean for admission or denial.

Applicants applying under the provisions of Special Admissions may not take graduate level courses until they are officially admitted.

Visa Processing

Students who are admitted to the Language Bridge Program are issued regular certificates of eligibility with which to apply for either an "F" or "J" visa. Students who study English at Spring International Language Center or the Colorado Intensive Language Institute can also use the UNC visa documents if they are offered conditional admission.

Admission To Master's Enroute To The Doctoral Degree

Students who have been admitted to a doctoral program may complete a master's degree in the same discipline enroute to completion of the doctoral degree if this option has been previously requested by the department and approved as a program modification for this degree program through the curriculum approval process. Students should contact the Graduate School for details concerning this policy.

Interdisciplinary Studies: Graduate Interdisciplinary Degree Program

General Information. The Graduate Interdisciplinary Degree Program is designed to be a rigorous, quality program which will give an opportunity to qualified students to meet career goals by combining two or more disciplines into a single degree program. To ensure the quality of the program, the student will require close supervision, participation, and coordination from all assigned committee members of each discipline concerned. It is imperative that the program be truly interdisciplinary and represents an integration of the subject matter of the component disciplines. Programs that parallel other degree programs are not acceptable as interdisciplinary degree programs. Applicants for the Graduate Interdisciplinary Degree Program are encouraged to consult with the Graduate Student Services Specialist prior to submitting their applications. The applicant must follow the student administered application procedure. The complete application packet should include the following:

- The degree application located in the "Guidelines for Interdisciplinary Degree Programs" with the appropriate non-refundable application fee.
- Two official copies of the applicant's transcripts from all colleges or universities attended (including UNC) that contributed to previous degrees and any graduate work for which credit is intended to apply to the proposed program.
- If applying for a doctoral program, one official copy of the applicant's GRE General Test scores (not more than five years - 1,825 calendar days old) be sent from Educational Testing Service to the Graduate School. A student copy of the GRE results will be accepted in the packet for processing to the program area for screening. No admission will be granted until the official GRE report is received from Educational Testing Service.

- Three letters of recommendation from appropriate professional sources attesting to the applicant's ability to pursue the intended graduate interdisciplinary program.
- A detailed written statement of career goals and objectives and a rationale for pursuing the proposed interdisciplinary program. This must be a compelling statement clarifying why no single existing degree program could satisfy these goals.
- Identification of two primary disciplines (departments/divisions/schools) which will be combined in the proposed program. At least one of the primary disciplines listed must offer a program leading to the desired degree, i.e. MA, MS, DA, or Ed.D. Secondary disciplines may also be included.
- A current resume that summarizes academic and professional experiences, activities, publications, and other pertinent information.

Preliminary Review. The Graduate Interdisciplinary Degree Coordinating (GIDP) Committee, comprised of interdisciplinary coordinators from each college, conducts a mid-semester preliminary review of all completed applications from individuals who satisfy the minimum admission requirements of the Graduate School. Applicants who do not meet the minimum admission requirements of the Graduate School will be denied admission (see the current University Catalog for admission standards for each degree level).

If the GIDP Committee finds the application to have merit, the Graduate School forwards the application materials to the appropriate GIDP College Coordinator who contacts the disciplines (departments/divisions/schools) for their evaluation and recommendation. If the GIDP Committee finds the application to lack merit or compelling rationale for interdisciplinary studies, the Graduate School notifies the applicant of the committee's concerns. Those applicants who receive such notification may resubmit their application materials after addressing the concerns of the GIDP Committee.

Upon receipt of the application materials from the Graduate School, the GIDP College Coordinator and the faculty in the appropriate disciplines evaluate the application and recommend to the Graduate School that the applicant be granted or denied provisional admission status. Each discipline recommending provisional admission must designate an advisor.

All disciplines included in the proposal must recommend provisional admission and must designate Graduate Faculty advisors before the Graduate School confers provisional admission status.

Program Criteria. The Plan of Study must meet the following criteria:

- If the Graduate Faculty advisors determine that a student has any deficiencies in his/her background, the proposal must list the course work necessary to alleviate those deficiencies. (Deficiency courses must be completed at the earliest possible date).
- SRM 600 (master's) or SRM 700 (doctoral) or one of the research oriented substitute course approved by the Graduate Council must be proposed. The proposal must also contain at least one additional research methods, statistics, or applied research course (i.e. computer science, tests/measurements, etc.).
- Master's Degree: Proposed course work must equal at least thirty (30) semester hours of graduate-level courses plus any deficiency credits.
- Doctoral Degree: Proposed course work must equal at least sixty-four (64) semester hours beyond a master's degree excluding any deficiency credits. If an applicant does not hold a master's degree, the proposed course work must equal at least ninety-four (94) semester hours.

- Master's Degree: At least twelve (12) semester hours of graduate level course work must be proposed in each of at least two primary disciplines (departments/divisions/schools). Courses numbered 622 and 699 may not be used to meet this requirement.
- Doctoral Degree: At least fifteen (15) semester hours of graduate level course work must be proposed in each of at least two primary disciplines (departments/divisions/schools). If an applicant does not hold a master's degree, the proposed course work in each of at least two primary disciplines must equal a minimum of eighteen (18) semester hours. Courses numbered 622, 797 and 799 may not be used to meet this requirement.
- Secondary disciplines (departments/divisions/schools) are defined as those disciplines in which nine (9) to eleven (11) semester hours of course work are proposed at the master's levels or those disciplines in which nine (9) to fourteen (14) semester hours of course work are proposed at the doctoral level. If identified in the program proposal, these disciplines must assign an advisor and approve the selected course work.
- Proposed courses must be offered with sufficient frequency to allow completion of the degree requirements within a reasonable amount of time, e.g. two years for a thirty (30) semester hour program or three to four years for a sixty-four (64) semester hour program. Furthermore, research and library resources must be available to facilitate the completion of the thesis, if applicable, or dissertation.
- No more than one-third of the proposed courses may be double-numbered courses offered simultaneously toward undergraduate and graduate students.
- No more than nine (9) semester hours, individually or in combination, of courses numbered 508, 513, or 622 may be proposed or counted in the degree program.
- Master's Degree: If a thesis is proposed, the thesis must be a minimum/ maximum of six (6) semester hours.
- Doctoral Degree: Include four (4) semester hours of proposal (XXX 797) and twelve hours (12) semester hours of doctoral dissertation (XXX 799).
- Master's: One of the designated advisors must be named as the Program Advisor.
- Doctoral Degree: When there are only two primary disciplines proposed, one of the two designated Graduate Faculty advisors must be named as the Program Advisor. In addition, the two designated advisors and the student must recommend at least one additional Graduate Faculty advisor, subject to approval by his/her department/division/school chairperson and the Dean of the Graduate School.
- Program proposals must conform to all other Graduate School policies and procedures, e.g. transfer of credit. Prior to submission to the Graduate School, the "Graduate Interdisciplinary Degrees Plan of Study" form must be signed by the student, all Graduate Faculty advisors, and all primary and secondary department/division/school chairpersons. Until an approved plan of study is filed with the Graduate School, a "hold" is placed on an interdisciplinary student's ability to register for classes.

Regular Admission. Upon receipt of the completed "Graduate Interdisciplinary Degrees Plan of Study" form, the Graduate School will forward the form and the original application materials to the GIDP Committee for final review. The student, the Graduate Faculty advisors, and the primary and secondary departments/divisions/schools will be notified by letter regarding program approval or disapproval. If approved, the student will be granted regular admission. NOTE: Until such a letter is received, the student remains on provisional admission status. The decision of the GIDP Coordinating Committee and the Dean of the Graduate School shall be final.

Advising. Together, the Graduate Faculty advisors are known as the program advisory committee. It is the responsibility of the program advisory committee to assist the student in planning and coordinating the degree program. Any deviation from the approved proposal must be approved in advance by the program advisory committee and the Graduate School.

Committees. At the doctoral level, the Program Advisory Committee plus a Graduate Faculty representative appointed by the Dean of the Graduate School shall serve as the doctoral committee. The doctoral dissertation proposal and dissertation shall be under the supervision of a Research Advisor who is a member of the Graduate Faculty and holds doctoral research endorsement.

Comprehensive Examinations. Each interdisciplinary degree program student must pass a written comprehensive examination which is designed, administered, and evaluated by the Program Advisory Committee and by other qualified individuals as identified by the program advisor. All doctoral students must also pass an oral comprehensive examination (see the "Comprehensive Examination Sections" of this manual for further details).

All Graduate School policies apply to interdisciplinary students.

On-Campus or Off-Campus Admission

Each department/division/school sponsoring on-campus and off-campus graduate programs will utilize the same criteria for admission to the program.

Enrollment Prior to Admission to a Graduate Program

Students who have applied for admission to a graduate degree program at UNC are not permitted to enroll for more than 9 hours as an unclassified student (no more than one semester of full time enrollment). The Graduate School places holds on the registration of such students. They are not permitted to continue to enroll until an admission decision has been made. Thus, the student's application must be complete and the program faculty must recommend either a regular admission or must deny admission by the end of the first semester or nine semester hours, whichever is later.

GRADUATE PROGRAM POLICIES

Program Advisor

Policy. Each student will be assigned an academic advisor upon acceptance into a graduate program. Only members of the Graduate Faculty are authorized to serve as program advisors for graduate students. The program advisor is responsible for helping students understand the expectations and requirements of their academic programs and planning their programs to satisfy all requirements. The program advisor is responsible for assisting students with questions regarding their academic programs such as expectations for comprehensive examinations, theses, or internships, as guided by department/ division/school, university and Graduate School policies and procedures. The program advisor is also responsible for professional advising and guidance including assisting students with planning for their academic and professional future.

Procedure. It is the responsibility of the department/ division/school to submit an advisor assignment form to the Graduate School. The advisor assignment is entered into the student database and maintained with the student file. To change an advisor assignment, a new advisor assignment form must be submitted to the Graduate School so that the appropriate records can be updated. Any advisor-approved deviations from published program requirements or plans of study are communicated to the Graduate School, in writing, by the program advisor to assist the graduation check process.

Note. The importance of the program advisor cannot be overstated. Program advisement includes all aspects of students' present and future academic and professional planning. It is often the program advisor who is able to help students conceptualize their academic program within the context of their own professional goals and aspirations. This responsibility is likely to involve extensive discussions of academic or professional goals well beyond the current program.

English Competency: Spoken and Written

A student is expected to have competency in English usage and speech skills that will enable the student to progress satisfactorily in the chosen curriculum and to perform adequately in the chosen vocation. Consequently, a student may be counseled or required by a department/ division/ school and/or advisor to enroll in an English and/or a speech course(s).

COURSE AND COURSE CREDIT

University Authorized Credits

Policy. Graduate credit is granted for courses taught by a faculty member who has been appointed to the Graduate Faculty or appointed as a Graduate Lecturer. With the exception of special assignments for XXX 513 courses approved by the college and Graduate Deans no graduate credit is granted for any course taught by a faculty member who is pursuing an advanced degree at this institution.

Unclassified Course Credit

Policy. A maximum of 9 semester hours of course work taken while in an unclassified status may be used toward a graduate degree program. Unclassified status refers to a student who has at least a baccalaureate degree and has not been admitted into a graduate degree program or is not seeking admission into a graduate degree program.

Enrichment Credits from Other Institutions

Policy. At the request of the student or the department/ division/school, the Graduate Dean may send a graduate student to another accredited institution offering graduate degrees to earn a maximum of 10 semester hours of specific course credit.

Colorado Reciprocal Course Agreement

Policy. A full-time graduate student on one campus may take one approved course per term without additional tuition at one of the following institutions: the University of Colorado, Colorado State University, and Colorado School of Mines. Such work will count toward the doctoral student residency requirement and will appear on the UNC transcript.

Procedure. Those students interested in this arrangement may obtain the guidelines and the proper form in the Registrar's Office or from the Graduate School Office. Forms must be completed and approved before the term that a student proposes to take a course.

Counting Work Toward Next Higher Degree

Policy. While completing one degree, students may count a maximum of 12 graduate credits applicable to the next higher degree. Such dual enrollment is limited to two consecutive semesters. All credits applicable to graduate degrees must be earned within the time limits specified for each degree program. The initial date for the next higher degree will be the date of the first course credits counted toward that degree.

Procedure. If students desire to count work toward the next higher degree, they must have:

1. applied for and been admitted to the next higher degree program;
2. applied for graduation in the current degree program;
3. submitted a "Petition to Count Work Toward the Next Higher Degree" form to the Graduate School before starting any courses that are to count on the next higher degree.

Note: Seniors registering for master's degree work according to this procedure will continue to be classified as undergraduates until they have been awarded their baccalaureate degrees.

TRANSFER CREDIT

General Transfer Policies

- Transfer work is not used in the calculation of the graduate grade point average.
- Graduate credit earned in off-campus or "extension" courses is not transferable unless it is acceptable to the major department/division/school and to the Graduate School.
- Transfer credit will not be accepted if the work was used to obtain a degree or is included as part of another degree at any institution.
- Transfer work must be approved by the department and must be "A" or "B" work.
- Transfer credit cannot be used to meet any residency requirement.
- Transfer credit cannot be used to make up "D," "F," or "U" grades received in required courses. Courses graded "S/U" are not transferable unless documentation can be obtained from the originating institution stating that the "S" grade granted is equivalent to an "A" or "B" grade.
- All program requirements, including transfer work, must be completed within the time limits of the degree program, i.e., five years for the master's degree, six years for the specialist degree, or eight years for the doctoral degree.
- Transfer courses must be numbered as graduate level according to the course numbering system at the originating institution.
- Transfer courses must be from accredited institutions of higher education that offer equivalent level degrees (e.g., doctoral degrees if transferring graduate credit into a doctoral program).

Procedure. A student who wishes to transfer credit must obtain and complete a "Petition to Count Work in a Degree Program" form and must obtain an official transcript(s) showing the course(s) to be transferred. The student must then present the completed petition and transcript to the program advisor for approval or disapproval. If the program advisor approves and signs the petition, it be must sent to the Graduate School for final approval/disapproval. This process must occur no later than three weeks prior to the end of the semester that the student plans to graduate. Courses requested for transfer must meet all criteria for credit transfer (see general transfer policies) to be approved by the Graduate School.

Degree Specific Transfer Policies

- Master's and Specialist Degree Policy. Students must complete a minimum of 24 credits through the University of Northern Colorado as part of their master's degree or post-master's specialist degree. Thus, students can transfer up to six (6) credits from another accredited institution into a 30 credit hour master's or specialist degree program. If the program requirements exceed the minimum 30 credits, students are allowed to transfer additional credits as determined by the department or program faculty. Students without a master's degree must complete 48 semester credit hours at UNC of the 60 required credits for a specialist degree. Students are encouraged to check departmental policies regarding transfer of credit.
- Doctoral Degree Policy. Students must complete a minimum of 40 semester hours through the University of Northern Colorado of the 64 minimum required for a doctoral degree. If the program requirements exceed the 64 credit minimum, students are allowed to transfer additional credits as determined by the department or program faculty. Doctoral students without a master's degree must complete 64 of the 94 required credits at UNC for a doctoral degree. The student plan of study will indicate transfer credits to be included in a student's program. Students are encouraged to check department policies regarding transfer of credit.

Note: These policies allow programs that exceed the 30 credit minimum for a master's/ specialist and 64 credit minimum for a doctoral degree to establish departmental transfer limits and guidelines that exceed current minimums. As long as the minimum number of credits through UNC are observed, transfer credit allowances to students will be determined by program faculty and can vary on a case by case basis. The Graduate School will not approve students for graduation with fewer than the required UNC credits.

Credit by Course Numbers

Policy. Graduate students may not count courses numbered 100-499 toward graduate degree programs; courses numbered 700-799 may be taken for specialist or doctoral credit only. Upon prior written permission of the instructor, the major advisor, and the department/division/ school chairperson, an undergraduate student may take 500-level courses. Only those undergraduate students who have been previously approved to count work toward the next higher degree will be permitted to take 600 level courses (see Counting Work Toward Next Higher Degree policy and procedures).

Note: Courses at the University are sequentially numbered. Courses numbered 100 to 499 are for undergraduate credit, and courses numbered 500 to 799 are for graduate credit.

Multiple Numbered Courses

Policy. Upon approval by the Graduate Council, courses numbered 400-599 may be double- numbered allowing undergraduate and graduate students to enroll simultaneously. All double-numbered courses may also be offered independently at either the graduate or undergraduate level. No course identified as an undergraduate General Education course may be double-numbered. At least two-thirds of a student's master's degree program must be in courses that are not double-numbered courses or in courses that have been taught solely as 500-level or above graduate courses.

Procedure. The Graduate Council will utilize the following guidelines in the process of evaluating new course proposals involving multiple numbering:

- All programs requesting approval of multiple numbered courses must demonstrate in the Rationale of the Course Proposal the academic value of and need for the proposed course in this format.
- In situations where a non-graduate degree program is seeking to include a multiple numbered course in its offerings that is intended to serve other units of the University, the requesting program must include supporting materials from those units.
- Non-graduate degree programs requesting approval of multiple numbered courses must demonstrate that the necessary expertise to teach the course exists in the faculty of that program.
- The practice of the Graduate School/Graduate Council will be to limit the number of graduate level courses offered by non-graduate degree programs. The specific number of courses will be determined on a case by case basis.
- All requests for multiple numbered courses must be simultaneously submitted to the Undergraduate Council and the Graduate Council for approval.
- All new requests for multiple numbered courses should try to pair a 500 level course with a 400 level course.
- Many course proposals are submitted with little or no distinction made in the qualitative differences between the graduate and undergraduate components of the course. It is the concern of the Graduate Council that the significant differences in this regard should be clearly articulated in terms of all aspects of the proposed course. It is considered insufficient to require graduate students to perform the same work as undergraduate students, but at a significantly higher level of accomplishment, without a clear delineation of those qualitative criteria. It is also considered insufficient to merely require a research paper/project of a brief nature, as the "graduate" component of the course. Therefore, all new course proposals must clearly distinguish, in the syllabus, the qualitative differences between the graduate and undergraduate components of the course. The significant differences in this regard should be clearly articulated in terms of expectation of outcomes, specific course content, course delivery, and evaluation of work.

Note: Multiple numbered courses are generally discouraged on the grounds that the practice tends to limit the expectations of the graduate component of the course by grouping together undergraduate and graduate level students. While this may be seen to be challenging and advantageous to the undergraduate students, the concern exists that graduate students will not be presented with true graduate-level education because of “watering down” the content to meet the needs of the undergraduate students.

Course Load Limits

Policy. The maximum load for a graduate student is 17 hours per semester during the academic year. During the summer term, student course load will be a maximum of 9 hours for 6 weeks and 10 credits for 8 weeks. A total student course load will be a maximum of 15 hours for the entire summer. Course load limitations for graduate students refer to all courses taken on-campus or off-campus (or a combination of the two) while enrolled as a graduate student in a graduate degree program, a non-degree licensure program, or any combination thereof.

Procedure. Requests for exception to the course load policy are made within the student's department/division/school. Forms can be obtained from department offices. The student is expected to explain the need for exception to the course load policy and how the overload would contribute to the quality of their academic program. The student must also provide evidence of noteworthy academic performance to assure continuation of quality academic work. Approval is not automatic and major consideration is given to maintaining the academic integrity of the student's program of study.

Course Repeatability

Although approved courses may be repeated for credit, some courses may have limits to the amount of credit earned. Repeated courses are recorded on the transcript for every individual registration; all latter grades count toward the cumulative grade point average. A non-repeatable course may be repeated but will be counted in total credits toward graduation only one time.

For repeated courses, grades of “F,” “U” and “I” that have not been completed within the allotted time, the credit hours are bracketed on the transcript and not included in total credits.

Variable Topics Courses

Policy. A maximum of nine semester hours, individually or in combination, of courses numbered 508, 513, or 622 may be counted toward a graduate degree except

- Masters: A maximum of three semester credits of 513 (Professional Renewal) may be counted toward the master's degree.
- Specialist: For baccalaureate only students, a maximum of 12 semester hours of 508, 513 or 622, individually or in combination, will be counted toward a specialist degree.
- Course Repeatability: Although approved courses may be repeated for credit, some courses may have limits to the amount of credit earned. Repeated courses are recorded on the transcript for every individual registration; all latter grades count toward the cumulative grade point average. A non-repeatable course may be repeated but will be counted in total credits toward graduation only one time.
 - For repeated courses, grades of “F,” “U” and “I” that have not been completed within the allotted time, the credit hours are bracketed on the transcript and not included in total credits.

Distance Delivered Course Credit

Courses delivered through alternative means (e.g., distance delivery, independent studies, communications technology or computer assisted delivery) must be approved by the sponsoring department/division/school, college dean and the Dean of the Graduate School to be considered for graduate program credit. Courses shall have a defined relationship and applicability to degree and/or licensure programs as electives, support courses, or courses that fulfill program requirements.

Concentrated Delivery Format (Short Courses)

Policy. The following concentrated course delivery format is intended to provide guidance and a clear policy statement for short courses offered by UNC. All courses of brief duration should be consistent with these requirements. Exceptions to this policy may be granted by the appropriate academic dean for undergraduate courses and the academic and Graduate Dean for graduate courses. However, all courses, regardless of format, are expected to meet minimum CCHE requirements (750 minutes of class contact per semester credit hour) and contain sufficient opportunities for reflection and consolidation of course content. Due to the nature of content, certain courses are not appropriate for concentrated delivery.

Contact Minute Requirements

1 credit hour	750 contact minutes
2 credit hours	1500 contact minutes
3 credit hours	2250 contact minutes
4 credit hours	3000 contact minutes
5 credit hours	3750 contact minutes

Instructional Length of Day, Breaks, Lunches, Travel Time, etc.

Maximum Daily Contact	8 contact hours maximum instruction hours per day
Blocks	115 minutes maximum continuous block of time
Breaks	2-4 hours must incorporate a 15 minute break
Lunch	4 or more hours must incorporate a lunch break
Travel time	travel time will not be counted in instructional time
Maximum Consecutive	5 days

Consecutive days: Credit Hour/Meeting Days Minimum Requirement

1 credit hour class	2 1/2 days
2 credit hour class	5 days

Consecutive day formats for courses above 2 credit hours must be proposed to and approved by the academic dean (and Graduate Dean for graduate courses) on a case-by-case basis.

Weekend Format: Credit Hour/Meeting Days Minimum Requirement

1 credit hour class	2 days
2 credit hour class	4 days over 2 weekends
3 credit hour class	6 days over 3 weekends
4 credit hour class	8 days over 4 weekends

Preparation, Study and Reflection Time

Syllabus should be provided to students a minimum of two weeks before the class meets and should include preparatory readings and assignments needed prior to the first day of the class. Research papers/projects/monitored exams should be due or administered two weeks after the end of class.

Directed Study

Policy. Students may register for directed study if a directed study course option is available in the department. Directed studies are courses in which a qualified student may receive university credit for undertaking an individualized investigation under the direct supervision of a UNC faculty member.

- The faculty member providing the supervision must be approved to teach graduate level courses. However, no faculty member will be authorized to supervise a directed study during a semester that he/she is not actually employed on-campus at UNC.
- Unless specifically recommended by the program advisor and the department/division/school chairperson and approved by the Graduate Dean, a directed study investigation must be on a specific topic that is not duplicated by an existing course within the University's curriculum. The nature of the study must involve intensive use of relevant literature, materials, or techniques, and the study report must reflect a synthesis of the information or techniques acquired.
- No more than two directed studies with a combined total of no more than six semester hours may be taken in a semester. Furthermore, each study is limited to the maximum number of credits listed in the Catalog for the approved XXX 622 in the specified program.

Procedure. The student shall apply through the department/division/school that the study is to be supervised.

Requests to engage in a directed study for credit must be approved by the student's program advisor, the faculty member supervising the study, and the chairperson of the major department/division/school. A Rationale for Course Credit form should be completed and filed in the academic department.

All persons receiving credit for a 622-numbered course must submit two copies of a final report to the supervising faculty member. While the final report may be in the nature of a scholarly research paper, it may also take the form of a report or a summary of the activities undertaken. The format and writing style of the final report must be in keeping with the style manual used by the discipline concerned. It is the student's responsibility to acquire the appropriate style manual for reference.

The faculty member must submit one copy of the final report to the appropriate department/division/school office with the final grade assignment.

CREDIT HOUR REQUIREMENTS

Master's Degree

Policy. The Graduate School requires a minimum of 30 semester hours for a master's degree. This includes at least 24 semester hours of discipline content courses. Chemistry and Biological Sciences master's programs require a minimum of 20 semester hours of discipline content courses. Departments/divisions/schools may have requirements that exceed the minimum standards established by the University.

Specialist Degree

Policy. A student entering a specialist degree program who possesses a master's degree must earn a minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate credit beyond the master's degree. A student entering a specialist degree program who possesses only a baccalaureate degree must earn a minimum of 60 semester hours of graduate credit beyond the baccalaureate degree. Departments/divisions/schools may have requirements that exceed the minimum standards established by the University.

Doctoral Degree

Policy. A student entering a doctoral program who possesses a master's degree must earn a minimum of 64 semester hours of graduate credit beyond the master's degree. This includes a minimum of 48 semester hours of graduate level discipline content courses and 16 semester hours of research credit.

A student who possesses only a baccalaureate degree must earn a minimum of 94 semester hours of graduate credit beyond the baccalaureate degree. This includes a minimum of 78 semester hours of graduate level discipline content courses and 16 semester hours of research credit.

A student who possesses a master's degree but who is attempting to obtain a second master's degree plus a doctoral degree must meet the same credit hour requirements as the baccalaureate only student.

A student who possesses a specialist degree may count a maximum of 21 semester hours of specialist work in the doctoral program with the approval of the Graduate School, the program advisor, and all members of the doctoral committee. Departments/divisions/schools may have requirements that exceed the minimums established by the University.

Selection of Major Program

Change of Major

Policy. Currently enrolled graduate students may change their major from one graduate program to another or from one emphasis to another with the approval of the department/division/school for both program areas and final approval by the Graduate School.

Procedure. If a student is admitted to and begins work (registers for courses) in a degree program and if the student desires to change programs, the student must complete a "Request for Change of Major" form and receive appropriate department/division/school approvals. If the student is admitted to but does not begin work in a degree program (has not registered for courses) and if such a student desires to change programs, the student must request that the Graduate School cancel the original admission and send the applicant materials to a new degree program.

Double Major

Policy. Only one degree will be awarded (e.g., MA, MS, MEd) and only one degree will be reflected on the transcript, but both majors will be noted. The student must specify, therefore, which degree is to be used for degree purposes. Double majors must meet all requirements and must apply for, take, and pass the comprehensive examination or approved equivalent in each major. No degree will be awarded until all requirements for both majors are complete.

Note: If a student is interested in obtaining two master's degrees, it is recommended that they complete one degree program completely before applying to the other. Students are commonly advised that it is most often to their advantage to seek a higher degree (specialist or doctorate) upon completion of a master's degree rather than obtaining two master's degrees. Additional consultation from the student's program advisor or the Graduate School regarding a decision to declare a double major or to seek two master's degrees should be pursued.

Drop of Double Major

A student with a double major may drop one of the majors before taking either comprehensive examination only if he/she has a UNC grade point average of 3.00 in the major being dropped. Once a student has taken the comprehensive examination for one of the majors, the other major cannot be dropped.

Doctoral Minor

Doctoral minors consist of a minimum of 15 semester hours of course work in a discipline different from the doctoral program. The doctoral minor must be approved by the college and Graduate Council. Graduate students admitted to doctoral programs may, upon approval of their doctoral program advisor, select a minor program of study for inclusion in their doctoral program. Completion of the doctoral minor will be indicated on the student's transcript.

Procedure. Doctoral students who have been approved by the department to pursue a doctoral minor will include the requirements for completion of the minor in their doctoral plan of study. Approval of the plan of study will be construed as permission to pursue the doctoral minor. Any department with at least one approved graduate degree program (master's, specialist, or doctorate) is eligible to offer doctoral minor(s). Application for approval to offer a doctoral minor is submitted through the curriculum approval process from a department as a program change. Upon approval, the doctoral minor will be listed in the University catalog.

Note: The credit hours associated with an approved doctoral minor would count toward the total doctoral degree program hours required only when they overlap with electives or research core requirements. No course would be allowed to count for double credit hours. Students would not be allowed to pursue a minor offered under the same program name as the doctoral program to which they are admitted. To complete a minor, the student must first be officially admitted to a doctoral degree program.

Second Doctorate Guidelines

Policy. Double majors are not permitted at the doctoral level. A student may receive a second doctoral degree from UNC provided that the requirements for the first doctoral degree have been completed before initiating the second degree program and provided that no course work from the first degree is counted toward the second degree.

GRADES

Calculating Grade Point Average

Grades of "A," "B," "C," "D," and "F" are used and are computed in the grade point average. Other marks used are:

"I"	Incomplete
"W"	Withdrawal
"UW"	Unauthorized Withdrawal
"S"	Satisfactory
"U"	Unsatisfactory
"NC"	No Credit
"NR"	No Report

"S," "U," "UW," "W," "NC," and "NR" grades are not counted in determining grade point average. Courses for which "D," "F," "U," "W," "UW," "NR," or "I" grades are awarded will not count in graduate degree programs and will not satisfy program deficiency requirements.

To amend a grade of "I" with an earned grade on a student's transcript, the student must complete all incomplete course work by the last day of the following semester including summer term. Along with assigning an "I" grade, the instructor must include a written notice of the specific work that must be completed before the final grade is determined; the student and the department chair/unit director will be provided a copy of the notification. If a student does not complete the academic requirements within these time limitations, the grade will be recorded as "I/F" or "I/U" on the academic records. The "I/F" will be computed into the student's grade point average as an "F" grade.

Grades can be changed, using the Special Grade Report, within the first two weeks of the semester following the receipt of the original grade by the Records Office. However, students wishing to appeal an assigned grade must follow the academic appeals procedure and must initiate the appeals process within the semester following receipt of the contested grade.

A No Report ("NR") will be recorded for the number of hours in a Master's Thesis or Creative Project, a Specialist Degree Practicum, a Doctoral Proposal, or a Doctoral Dissertation when a student has not completed the work by the end of the semester. The "NR" will be replaced by an "S" or "U" when the work is completed.

GPA Requirement

Policy. In order to remain in a graduate program, a graduate student must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 in graduate level courses. A graduate student may not graduate with a cumulative grade point average below 3.00. If student's cumulative grade point average drops below 3.00 after taking at least 9 graduate level credit hours, a warning letter will be sent to the student. The degree program of a student who has been sent a warning letter will be terminated if the student's grade point average is below 3.00 after completing an additional 9 or more graduate level credit hours in which grades of "A," "B," "C," "D," or "F" are earned. All grades earned during the semester that the 9th hour is earned are used in the calculation of the grade average.

EXTERNAL DEGREE PROGRAMS

Students admitted to external degree programs must meet the same degree and grade point average requirements as on-campus students. Additional policies regulating external degree programs can be found in the Statewide Extended Campus Policies and Procedures Manual available at the Office of Extended Studies.

PROGRAM TERMINATION POLICIES

Policy. A student's degree program may be terminated for one or more of the following reasons:

- Based on an overall evaluation of a student's progress, the major department/division/ school recommends that the student's program be terminated.
- The department/division/school declines to issue a letter of continuation based on an overall evaluation of a specialist or doctoral student's progress.
- The student fails to maintain the cumulative 3.0 grade point average standard.
- The student fails the retake of the written comprehensive examination or its approved equivalent.
- The student fails the retake of the oral comprehensive examination.
- The student submits an unsatisfactory thesis or dissertation.

Readmission Subsequent to Program Termination

Policy. A student whose degree program has been terminated may be admitted to a different degree program. The following policies apply:

- The student must apply for admission to a different degree program.
- If admitted, the student must complete all standard requirements of the program to which he/she has been admitted.
- A maximum of 9 semester hours from the terminated program may be counted in the new program if approved by the new program advisor and the Graduate School.
- If the student's former program was terminated due to failure of the retake of the comprehensive examination or its equivalent, the student will be allowed only one opportunity to pass the comprehensive examination or approved equivalent in the new program.

PROGRAM TIME LIMITS

Master's Degree

Policy. The maximum time allowed for the completion of the master's degree is five calendar years beginning with the first semester of enrollment after admission has been granted. However, if a student has approval to count work taken before first enrollment after admission, the student must complete the degree within five calendar years beginning with the earliest work counted in the program.

Specialist Degree

Policy. The maximum time allowed for completion of the Specialist in Education degree is six calendar years beginning with the first semester of enrollment after admission has been granted. However, if a student has approval to count work taken before first enrollment after admission, the student must complete the degree within six calendar years beginning with the earliest work counted in the program.

Doctoral Degree

Policy. The maximum time allowed for completion of a doctoral degree is eight calendar years beginning with the student's first semester of enrollment after admission has been granted. However, if a student has approval to count work taken before first enrollment after admission, the student must complete the degree within eight calendar years beginning with the earliest work counted in the program.

If a student has completed a Specialist in Education degree at the time he/she begins a doctoral degree program and if the student is permitted to include 21 semester hours of his/her specialist degree credit in the doctoral program, the student shall have a maximum time limit of five calendar years to earn the doctoral degree.

CONTINUOUS REGISTRATION FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS

The Graduate School encourages students to make continuous progress toward the completion of their degree requirements. Procedures for implementation of a revised Continuous Registration Policy are under review by governance units at the time this catalog is being prepared. To learn about continuous registration requirements, graduate students should check the web site of the Graduate School or contact the Graduate School directly.

Procedure. The Graduate School will not waive this requirement but can approve an appropriate substitute research methodology course. The program advisor must provide a written request to substitute an alternative course, a syllabus for the course, and rationale for the requested substitute to the Graduate Dean. If the student earned a graduate degree from an accredited institution within the last five years in which an equivalent research course was taken, the program advisor must provide a written request to waive the UNC research requirement based on the previous degree granted.

Doctoral Degrees

Policy. Doctoral students must complete a departmentally prescribed core of at least 12 semester hours of research courses or methods of inquiry designated as appropriate to the discipline and approved by the Graduate Council. Departmental courses numbered XXX 622 (Directed Studies) shall not be used to substitute for courses in the research core.

Procedure. The Graduate School will not waive this requirement but can approve appropriate substitute research courses or methods up to the full 12 semester hours. The program advisor must provide a written request to substitute an alternative course, a syllabus for each course, and rationale for the requested substitute(s) to the Graduate Dean.

Doctoral Research Tools

Policy. All Ph.D. students must demonstrate competency in two acceptable research tools. A research tool is defined as advanced knowledge and/or set of skills related to a specifiable technique or method that contributes to the student's ability to conduct doctoral level research in the discipline.

Departments will determine acceptable research tools such as languages, applied statistics, mathematical statistics, and computer languages/applications. With the approval of the major department/division/school and the Dean of the Graduate School, however, doctoral students may use a collateral field of study as a substitute for one of the research tools. A collateral field of at least 12 credit is defined as advanced and specialized or focused knowledge and competence within a specifiable content area or skill area from a related discipline that contributes to the student's ability to conduct doctoral level research in their major discipline, e.g., advanced cognitive theory, applications of distance education technology or multimedia technology to the classroom. The level of competency and the assessment of competency is established by each department/division/school and must be approved by the Dean of the Graduate School.

Procedure. Means of evaluating the student's knowledge or skill must be included on the plan of study to indicate how each research tool requirement is to be satisfied. Acceptable evaluation of research tools might include examinations in academic courses, competency demonstrations evaluated by advisors and committee members, or alternative testing or competency demonstration procedures developed within the department or program.

RESEARCH ISSUES

Internal Review Board (IRB) Policy

Before any research involving human subjects can be conducted under the auspices of the University, an Internal Review Board (IRB) review is required. Data from human subjects are not to be collected until written approval is received from the University Internal Review Board. The main considerations and responsibilities of the IRB are to assure that ethical standards and the protection of human rights are maintained in any research conducted while at UNC.

Procedure. Researchers are advised to obtain and submit an IRB packet early in their research process to allow time for a thorough review. Applications are available for graduate students as part of the Thesis and Dissertation Manual (latest edition) which can be purchased at the UNC Bookstore. Faculty members can request an IRB packet from the Sponsored Programs and Academic Research Center (SPARC) or on the SPARC website.

Student Liability

To protect against liability claims, all research involving subject consent requires a statement informing potential subjects that their participation is not covered by university liability insurance. The subject consent form must include the following statement:

If injuries occur during the course of research, subjects are advised that the University of Northern Colorado is a publicly-funded institution of higher education and as such, liability may be limited under and governed by the Colorado Governmental Immunity Act.

Notes: The State of Colorado's Risk Management Division (the unit responsible for UNC's liability insurance) has concluded that student researchers are not protected by the state against claims unless they are student employees, interns, or authorized volunteers assigned to a research project (most student researchers would not be). This means that most graduate students working on their master's theses or doctoral dissertations are not protected by the state of Colorado against claims resulting from their research. This decision has serious implications for student researchers who are working with human subjects. Any student researcher who is placing subjects at some level of risk should be concerned. For example, student researchers are engaged in a variety of activities that could potentially harm their subjects (e.g., they draw blood, conduct therapy sessions, evaluate physical conditioning). Regardless of how responsible researchers may be, accidents can happen. Though the researcher is ultimately responsible for the health and safety of research subjects, low risk research, as defined by Health and Human Services (HHS) Guidelines and described in the IRB instruction packet, may not be recommended for special liability insurance coverage. For moderate to high risk procedures, the IRB committee will strongly recommend that you purchase liability insurance either through your professional association or an alternative source.

PLAN OF STUDY

Master's Degree

Policy. The program listed in the University Catalog will serve as the plan of study for master's programs.

Procedure. Written requests for changes or substitutions in the plan of study must be signed by the program advisor and submitted to the Graduate School. Students should take the responsibility to make sure any deviations from the Catalog are documented in their Graduate School file. Departments/divisions/schools are also encouraged to identify any deficiency courses a student must complete, at the time of screening for admission.

Specialist Degree

Policy. In conjunction with the supervising committee, each specialist degree student must prepare a plan of study that clearly specifies core requirements and identifies elective, transfer, and double numbered course work. A two-person committee recommended by the department/division/school and approved by the Dean of the Graduate School shall supervise a student's specialist degree program.

Procedure. The plan must be formalized on a "Plan of Study Form" and the completed form, including the signatures of the supervising committee members, must be filed with the Graduate School by the end of the student's first semester of enrollment after admission. Upon receipt of a properly signed "Plan of Study Form," the Dean of the Graduate School or his/her designee shall review the plan and approve or disapprove the plan. If approved, the "Plan of Study Form" will be filed in the student's folder. If disapproved, the "Plan of Study Form" will be returned to the student for correction and re-submission. Because the plan of study will be the basis for the graduation check, any deviation from the plan of study must be approved by the supervising committee and the Dean of the Graduate School or his/her designee. Requests for changes to the plan of study must be approved by the advisor and submitted in writing to the Graduate School with copies sent to all committee members.

Doctoral Degree

Policy. A committee of at least three persons appointed and approved by the major department/division/school and, if applicable, by any supporting area department/division/school shall supervise the planning of a student's doctoral degree program. In conjunction with the doctoral committee, each doctoral student must prepare a long-range plan of study that clearly specifies core requirements, elective, transfer, double numbered course work, research tools (if applicable), and doctoral minor (if applicable).

Procedure. The plan must be formalized on a "Plan of Study Form" and the completed form, including the signatures of the committee members, must be filed with the Graduate School by the end of the student's first semester of enrollment after admission. Upon receipt of a properly signed "Plan of Study Form," the Dean of the Graduate School or his/her designee shall review the plan and approve or disapprove the plan. If approved, the "Plan of Study Form" will be filed in the student's folder. If disapproved, the "Plan of Study Form" will be returned to the student for correction and re-submission. Because the plan of study will be the basis for the graduation check, any deviation from the plan of study must be approved by the committee and the Dean of the Graduate School or his/her designee. Requests for changes to the plan of study must be approved by the advisor and submitted in writing to the Graduate School with copies sent to all committee members.

PROGRAM PROGRESS REVIEW

Policy. Departments/divisions/schools are to evaluate and provide an annual program progress report for each doctoral student until the student passes the oral comprehensive examination.

Procedure. Doctoral student advisors will be responsible for obtaining and reporting at least the following information for each assigned advisee:

- Student's self evaluations of their academic performance and professional development.
- Student's grades in all graduate courses during the evaluation period.
- Performance ratings from instructors for all graduate courses during the evaluation period.

Assessment of the student's professional development from appropriate departmental faculty. Based on the data collected, each doctoral advisor will meet with each student's doctoral committee to develop and provide a summary of the student's strengths and area(s) for improvement. Emphasis should be placed on acknowledging accomplishments and professional growth where appropriate.

Recommendations for improvement should include specific changes expected in the student's performance or behavior, means of assessing the changes, and the time period by which the change is expected to occur. Improvements or lack of change in areas recommended from prior progress reports should be documented. Signatures of the advisor and all committee members are required on the progress report.

The progress report will include a clear recommendation to the chair of the Department Graduate Program Committee (DGPC) of whether the student is to be continued each year without conditions, continued with conditions, or not supported for continuation. If conditions for improvement are stipulated, the student must be informed by the Department Graduate Program Committee (DGPC), in writing, of the conditions and specific changes required to satisfy the conditions. If the department does not have a DGPC, the report will be submitted directly to the chair of the department.

The following procedures must be followed prior to submitting a recommendation to discontinue a doctoral student's program for causes other than poor academic performance:

- The student must be informed of the pattern of behavior or incident(s) that has given rise to concern among the departmental faculty members and that led to the recommendation for program discontinuation.
- The student must be given an opportunity to meet with and address the observed behavior or incident with the Department Graduate Program Committee (DGPC) or with the student's doctoral committee for departments with no graduate program committee. Following the meeting, the DGPC or doctoral committee must either reassert the concerns or withdraw the concerns in writing to the department chairperson.

If the complaint arises from an unprofessional behavior or other behavioral concerns, the student will be given a clearly defined probationary period during which clear behavioral objectives are provided to either rectify the concerns or change the behavior. Clear means of assessing improvement will be provided.

If the complaint results from an egregious violation of laws or published university or departmental policy, rules or professional ethics, clear documented evidence of the incident(s) must be provided with the recommendation.

Copies of the progress report are to be provided by the DGPC or student doctoral committee to the department chair/division director no later than April 15 of each year and copied to the student. A chair/division director may agree or disagree with the DGPC's or doctoral committee recommendation. If in agreement with the recommendation, the chair/division director will approve and submit the progress report to the Dean of the Graduate School and a copy to the college dean by May 1. The student and DGPC or doctoral committee will be informed in writing of the approval. If in disagreement with the DGPC's or doctoral committee's recommendation, the department chair/division director will invite the student's program advisor and the DGPC chair or doctoral committee members to discuss the disagreement. After the meeting, the DGPC chair or student's doctoral advisor will approve and submit the original progress report recommendation to the Graduate Dean with a copy to the college dean and student. Modify and submit the recommendation to include conditions agreed to by the department chair/division director and DGPC or doctoral committee (or add conditions) to the Graduate Dean with a copy to the college dean and student;

or

Change and submit the recommendation as agreed to by the department chair/division director and DGPC or doctoral committee with explanation any additional documentation and signed acknowledgement from the department chair/division director and DGPC chair or doctoral committee members. The advisor and DGPC members or doctoral committee members may submit additional comments or documentation to support the DGPC chair's decision or to express opposition to the chair's decision. The changed recommendation will then be submitted to the Dean of the Graduate School with a copy to the college dean and student.

DOCTORAL RESIDENCY

Policy. Each student must complete at least two terms of full-time study in residence after having been admitted to the doctoral degree program. A term in residence is defined as an academic term during which a student completes nine or more credit hours of on-campus course work applicable to the doctoral degree. Non-scheduled courses (e.g., internships, externships, directed studies and doctoral research) will not be counted in the nine or more credit hours unless a student also completes at least six other credit hours of on-campus course work applicable to the doctoral degree.

Procedure. Departments/divisions/schools may request approval of alternative requirements. Proposals for alternative residency requirements must assure extensive immersion in discipline research or practice under close supervision of departmental graduate faculty or field professionals approved for graduate faculty equivalent status. Further, alternative proposals should address how the requirements promote appropriate values and professional motivation of a doctoral student beyond the training or academic experience that the individual will receive. Approvals will be applicable only to the program(s) specified in the proposal. Proposals should be submitted as a program curriculum request in accordance with the current curriculum review process. Alternative proposals must be approved by Graduate Council and Graduate Dean prior to implementation for any individual student.

Note: The purpose for this residency requirement is to encourage immersion of the doctoral student in the program of study, the department and the discipline. Part-time or sporadic participation in a doctoral program is discouraged. A residency requirement does not guarantee total focus on doctoral studies. It does extend the message that a doctoral program involves more than attending some classes and completing program requirements. It also includes refinement of professional values and developing the intrinsic motivation required to contribute to the discipline.

Policy. If a University of Northern Colorado or Aims Community College employee cannot meet the above prescribed residency requirement due to employment restrictions, he/she may satisfy the requirement by completing 20 or more credit hours of on-campus work applicable to the degree during consecutive, academic year terms. Such a student must receive written permission from his/her immediate supervisor and a recommendation from his/her major department/division/school to fulfill the residency requirements in this manner. The supervisor's permission and the department's/ division's/school's recommendation must be filed with the Graduate School.

COMMITTEES NEEDED

Master's Thesis Committee

Policy. Whether the master's thesis is to be completed as an additional program requirement or as a project in lieu of the written comprehensive examination, a thesis committee of at least two Graduate Faculty members is required. If the thesis is in lieu of the written comprehensive examination, departmental procedures for determining comprehensive examination eligibility are to be used prior to conducting the thesis research and at least two signatures from Graduate Faculty members must be obtained to indicate the successful completion of the thesis.

Policy. If the master's thesis is required in addition to the comprehensive examinations, the student needs only to submit the thesis signed by two Graduate Faculty members to the Graduate School upon completion. The Graduate Dean will be the final approval signature on the thesis.

Policy. If the student plans to complete a thesis, whether in lieu of the comprehensive examination or in addition, the student must register for a minimum of six (6) semester hours of 699-Thesis. No more than six hours of thesis may be applied to the minimum credit requirements of a student's program.

Specialist Supervising Committee

Policy. A two-person specialist supervising committee, recommended by the department/division/school, will supervise a student's specialist degree program. The supervising committee will assist the student in preparing a plan of study, oversee comprehensive examinations where appropriate, and direct the student's practicum.

Doctoral Committee

Policy. Besides the doctoral program advisor appointed by the department/division/school, each doctoral student will have a doctoral committee.

At minimum, a doctoral committee must consist of a chair or co-chair who holds Doctoral Research Endorsement; a faculty representative who has Graduate Faculty status (with or without DR); and two additional faculty members from within the area of inquiry, at least one of whom must have Graduate Faculty equivalent.

The Dean of the Graduate School or his/her designee will appoint a faculty representative from another department/division/school. The faculty representative is a full voting member with all the rights and responsibilities of any other member and must be present at the student's doctoral oral examination and dissertation defense. The faculty member must hold graduate faculty status and should be in a tenure track position in a department/division/school program unit different from that of the student's program. The student may nominate a faculty representative from outside the program discipline. The nomination should be based upon the methodological, theoretical, or content expertise that this person will bring to the committee. The final approval of the faculty representative is the responsibility of the Graduate Dean.

No faculty member will be appointed to a doctoral committee without his/her consent.

University employees who are not members of the Graduate Faculty shall not be appointed as members of doctoral committees.

The doctoral committee must be appointed before the written comprehensive examination is taken; the appointment shall occur no later than the end of the semester prior to the scheduled comprehensive examination. The student and all member of the doctoral committee will receive confirmation of the approved committee assignments.

Unless the student or committee chairperson otherwise informs the Graduate School or the Graduate School informs the student of the need for a change, the doctoral committee membership will remain the same from the oral comprehensive examination through the dissertation research stages of the program. The Graduate School will confirm that the student's committee membership is appropriate as a doctoral research committee upon receipt of the results of the oral examination. The research committee is comprised of a chair who is doctoral research endorsed or is a Graduate Faculty member who is co-chairing with a doctoral research endorsed member of the Graduate Faculty, at least two departmental Graduate Faculty members (or a representative from a supporting area if applicable and a departmental/program member), and a faculty representative. The faculty representative is expected to contribute conceptual, theoretical, methodological, and/or academic expertise from an alternative disciplinary perspective.

Procedure. If a committee member other than the faculty representative is absent during the semester that an oral examination or defense is scheduled, the major department/division/school will appoint a replacement subject to approval by the Dean of the Graduate School. If the faculty representative is absent during the semester that an oral examination or defense is scheduled, the advisor shall notify the Graduate School at least three weeks (21 calendar days) before the exam or defense. The Graduate School will select an appropriate replacement for the faculty representative.

The concerns and recommendations of all committee members, including the faculty representative, are crucial to the dissertation approval process. The student and all members of the research committee will receive confirmation of the approved committee assignments.

Faculty Committee Load Policy

Policy. An individual Graduate Faculty member may serve on ten active doctoral research committees at any one time and may serve as the dissertation director or research advisor for no more than five of these ten committees. Exceptions to the committee maximums may be permitted only if agreed to by the Graduate Faculty member, department/division/school chair and College Dean as follows:

- The faculty member involved agrees that his or her load (current or projected) allows adequate time to take on an additional student without adversely affecting the responsibility of the department/division/school to other students and to programs offered by the department/division/school.
- The department/division/school chairperson approves the additional student. Approval indicates that the chairperson has reviewed the current load of the faculty member and does not feel the additional load will adversely affect the responsibility of the department/division/school to other students and to programs offered by the department/division/school.
- The Graduate Dean has approved the exception(s).

Note: An individual department/division/school may elect to impose more stringent limitations on its faculty with respect to the number of committees on which they may serve. An active doctoral student will be defined as one who is currently enrolled or is paying a continuous registration fee.

WRITTEN COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATIONS

Master's Degree Written Comprehensive Examinations/Thesis or Project in Lieu of:

Policy. Each master's degree student must pass a written comprehensive examination or otherwise show competency in the discipline by successfully completing a department/division/school specified equivalent that has been approved by the Graduate Council (thesis or project in lieu of comprehensive examinations). Defense of a project or thesis in lieu of comprehensive examinations is equivalent to administering the comprehensive examination. The major department/division/school is responsible for determining the student's eligibility for taking the examination as well as scheduling the time, date, and place of the examination. This examination or its approved equivalent may not be taken until the student has:

- been granted regular admission to the program
- completed departmentally specified course requirements
- maintained a GPA of at least 3.0 in their program
- received approval from the program advisor.

Procedure. The student will apply in the academic department/division/school office for the written comprehensive examination or to defend the thesis before the thesis committee. The comprehensive examination permit is valid only for the semester that it is issued. The program advisor must be consulted for information regarding examination format, procedures, time, date, and place.

Note: If the student plans to graduate at the end of the semester in which he/she takes the comprehensive examination or completes the project/thesis in lieu of comprehensive examination, the student must apply for graduation during the preceding semester or very early in the semester in which the graduation is to occur. Students should not wait until they have been notified of comprehensive examination results before applying for graduation.

Policy. Once the comprehensive examination session begins, it is considered a take of the examination. If the student leaves the examination session and does not return, the examination will be considered taken and the exam will be evaluated accordingly and reported to the Graduate School.

Procedure. Once the examination has been evaluated or the project/thesis has been defended, the program advisor must return the signed report form to the Graduate School indicating a pass or failure of the examination. This must be done on or before the published deadline to submit the results of the written comprehensive examination for that semester.

Policy. A retake may not be scheduled during the same semester that the original examination was completed. Failure of the retake of the examination or its equivalent will result in the termination of the student's degree program.

Policy. The thesis must be signed by a minimum of two thesis committee members.

Procedure. One original and three copies of the thesis plus an additional copy of the abstract (150 words) must be submitted to the Graduate School along with a non-plagiarism affirmation form. If a project in lieu of the comprehensive exam is to be copyrighted, Proquest Information and Learning requires an abstract of the project. These items must be submitted to the Graduate School at least four weeks (28 calendar days) before the student's anticipated graduation date. Upon filing a thesis, the Graduate School will require each student to complete specific forms related to the thesis and pay the current fees for binding, mailing, publishing, and microfilming, if applicable.

All four copies of the thesis will be bound. After binding, the original and one copy will be filed in the University Library, one copy will be forwarded to the student's research advisor, and one copy will be sent to the student.

Specialist Degree

Policy. Each specialist student must pass a written comprehensive examination in the area of specialization and pass any other examination(s) the supervising committee may require. The written comprehensive examination may not be taken until the student has:

- been granted regular admission to the degree program
- filed an approved plan of study
- completed at least 20 semester hours (50 semester hours if baccalaureate only student) of work applicable toward the degree, not including the practicum
- maintained a grade average of at least 3.00 in his/her graduate degree program
- received a letter of continuance from the department/division/school
- obtained approval from the supervising committee.

Procedure. The major department/division/school is responsible for scheduling the date, time, and place of the examination(s). Each student must check the departmental/divisional requirements at the beginning of his/her program.

Policy. Once the comprehensive examination session begins, it is considered a take of the examination. If the student leaves the examination session and does not return, the examination will be considered taken and the exam will be evaluated accordingly.

Procedure. Once the examination has been evaluated, the program advisor must return the signed report form to the Graduate School indicating a pass or failure of the examination.

Policy. A retake may not be scheduled during the same semester that the original examination was completed. Failure of the retake of the examination or its equivalent will result in the termination of the student's degree program.

Doctoral Degree

Policy. Each doctoral student must pass a written comprehensive examination that is designed, administered, and evaluated by the Graduate Faculty of the major department/division/ school and by other qualified individuals as specified by the program advisor. This examination may not be taken until the student has:

- been granted regular admission to the degree program
- filed an approved plan of study
- completed at least 36 semester hours (60 semester hours if baccalaureate only student) of work applicable toward the degree -- at least 24 semester hours must have been completed on-campus
- maintained a grade average of at least 3.00 in his/her graduate degree program
- had a doctoral committee appointed
- obtained approval from the program advisor to take the exam.

Procedure. The major department/division/school is responsible for scheduling the date, time, and place of the examination(s). Each student must check the departmental/divisional requirements at the beginning of his/her program.

Policy. Once the comprehensive examination session begins, it is considered a take of the examination. If the student leaves the examination session and does not return, the examination will be considered taken and the exam will be evaluated accordingly.

Procedure. Once the examination has been evaluated, the program advisor must return the signed report form to the Graduate School indicating a pass or failure of the examination.

Policy. A retake may not be scheduled during the same semester that the original examination was completed.

Failure of the retake of the examination or its equivalent will result in the termination of the student's degree program.

Record Files of Written Comprehensive Exams

Policy. Written comprehensive examinations are maintained in the departmental office for a period of 12 calendar months. These examinations are to be confidential and only available to the student who completed an exam and department/division/school faculty to address potential appeals and/or questions of administration and grading procedures. Students may request to review their comprehensive examination but may not be allowed access to written responses of other students. Past comprehensive examination responses with identification removed can be used by program faculty as models for instructional purposes.

Oral Comprehensive Examinations

Policy. After passing the written comprehensive examination, each doctoral student must pass an oral comprehensive examination. Permits for the oral comprehensive examination will not be released and the oral examination will not be authorized until the written examination report is filed with the Graduate School indicating that the student passed the written examination.

The results of the written comprehensive examination must be on file in the Graduate School two weeks prior to the scheduling of the oral comprehensive examination.

Procedure. The program advisor, who will serve as chairperson of the oral comprehensive examination committee, should direct the student to arrange the date, time, and place of the oral examination. After all arrangements have been made, the student or program advisor will notify the Graduate School by forwarding a completed "Request to Schedule Doctoral Examinations" two weeks (14 calendar days) before the exam date. Requests submitted with greater advance notice are encouraged and appreciated. The student's performance on the examination will be evaluated as (a) pass, (b) will pass if meets stated conditions, (c) unsatisfactory, retake permitted, (d) fail, retake not permitted, program terminated. At least three-fourths of the committee members must agree on the final evaluation.

The Graduate School will approve and publicize the examination date, time and place in the UNC REPORT or in any other appropriate university publication.

Note: All members of the faculty are invited to attend and may ask questions of the student after the committee members finish their questioning. Other graduate students may also attend with permission from the chairperson of the committee.

Passed Orals

Policy. If the student passes the examination, the program advisor must obtain the signatures of at least three-fourths of the committee members on the "Report of the Oral Comprehensive Examination" form and return the form to the Graduate School.

Passed With Conditions

Policy. If the student is evaluated will pass if meets stated conditions, the report stating the conditions must be signed and returned to the Graduate School. The student must subsequently meet the stated conditions. No student will be admitted to candidacy until at least three-fourths of the committee affirm that the conditions have been met.

Failed Orals

Policy. If the student's performance was unsatisfactory, the report must be signed and returned to the Graduate School.

The student may retake the oral examination during a subsequent semester. At this point, the membership of the student's committee may not be altered without approval by the Graduate School. Failure to pass the oral retest or failure to meet conditions specified after an oral retest will terminate the student's degree program. If the student failed the examination with no retake permitted, the report must be signed and returned to the Graduate School. The Graduate School will terminate the degree program, and the student will not be permitted to do further work or take further examinations in that degree program.

DISSERTATIONS

Policy. A dissertation pertaining to a significant topic in the candidate's major subject field is required for each doctoral program. The dissertation proposal is 4 semester hours.

Minimum credit for the doctoral dissertation is 12 semester hours. Any program requirement exceeding 12 credits of dissertation hours must first be approved by the Graduate Council and Graduate Dean.

Policy. A dissertation proposal is to be developed and presented to the student's doctoral committee for approval and submitted to the Graduate School prior to engaging in final data collection. Preliminary data collection necessary for developing appropriate skills and methods pertaining to the project is acceptable prior to approval of the proposal.

Policy. All 797 and 799 hours will result in a grade of "NR" until completion of the proposal and final dissertation. Upon successful completion of the Dissertation and submitting the Report of the Dissertation Defense Form to the Graduate School with approval signatures, the Graduate School and Registrar are authorized to change all prior grades for 799 to "S".

Note: The proposal is a crucial step in the dissertation process and should culminate with a formal and public dissertation proposal hearing with the full committee present. Approval of the dissertation proposal establishes the expectations for the final dissertation and assures agreement among the committee with the student's methods and research strategy prior to proceeding to the final stages of the project. The proposal hearing also allows the committee to introduce required changes or additions to a student's proposed project while changes are still possible. The student should consult department/ division/school procedures for scheduling the defense of the proposal.

Doctoral Candidacy

Policy. Doctoral students advance to candidacy upon passing the written and oral comprehensive examinations and filing an approved dissertation proposal in the Graduate School.

Plagiarism

Policy. The following is the approved definition of plagiarism: Plagiarism is the act of appropriating the written, artistic, or musical composition of another, or portions thereof; or the ideas, language, or symbols of same and passing them off as the product of one's own mind. Plagiarism includes not only the exact duplication of another's work but also the lifting of a substantial or essential portion thereof.

Regarding written work in particular, direct quotations, statements which are a result of paraphrasing or summarizing the work of another, and other information which is not considered common knowledge must be cited or acknowledged, usually in the form of a footnote. Quotation marks or a proper form of indentation shall be used to indicate all direct quotes.

As long as a student adequately acknowledges his/her sources and as long as there is no reason to believe that the student has attempted to pose as the originator, the student will not be charged with plagiarism even though the form of the acknowledgment may be unacceptable. However, students should be aware that most professors require certain forms of acknowledgment and some may evaluate a project on the basis of form.

Procedure. The student shall sign the plagiarism affirmation when the proposal is filed and shall be told that another affirmation must be signed and filed in the Graduate School office with the corrected dissertation following the defense.

Dissertations: Proposal to Defense

The student should confirm the composition of the research committee prior to registering for 797. This same committee will serve as research and oral comprehensive examination committee unless a change is deemed appropriate by the student and student's research advisor. If there is to be a difference in the doctoral committee structure for the oral comprehensive examination and the dissertation research, the student must submit a change of committee membership form to the Graduate School.

The student will then register for Doctoral Proposal credits (XXX 797).

Students should prepare their dissertation proposal in collaboration with their research advisors. Dissertation proposals and proposal hearings are required for all doctoral students. Other committee members are to be consulted when appropriate but the major interaction and editorial work should be with the student's research advisor. Students should avoid sending portions of the dissertation proposal to all committee members for their review and comment. Unless otherwise agreed by the committee members, only completed copies of the proposal or dissertation are to be distributed and reviewed by the committee.

The proposal is then presented to the student's entire committee at least three weeks prior to the scheduled formal proposal hearing. Arrangements for a room are made with the research advisor. Students must make sure all committee members are available and aware of the time and place. The faculty representative must be present at both the proposal hearing and the final dissertation defense which will be a public hearing open to the academic community.

After the proposal hearing, the proposal is to be revised according to committee requirements. During the proposal hearing, committee members will direct questions to the student and point out concerns regarding the proposed project. It is a good idea for the student to take careful notes of all comments and concerns made and then review the notes with the committee before the hearing is over to insure that all the requested changes are included on the list. It will be the student's responsibility, in consultation with the research advisor, to address those concerns in a revised proposal. It is recommended that the student summarize the changes that have been incorporated into the revised proposal to assist the committee in identifying and locating the changes that have been made.

The revised proposal should then be circulated with a signature page to the committee for review and signature if they approve of the revisions. A second committee meeting is optional but could be required by the committee due to the extensive nature of the expected changes or to expedite the approval process. All committee members' signatures are required.

The approved proposal is then submitted to the Graduate School. All doctoral students must submit a paper copy of the signature page with signatures of all committee members. Students must also assume responsibility for maintaining their own paper copy of the entire proposal in a secure location until the time of their graduation. Students have the option of submitting a paper copy or electronic copy of the proposal narrative to the Graduate School. Doctoral students who elect to submit an electronic copy of their proposals must remain prepared to submit a paper copy at any time if requested to do so by the Graduate School or by a member of their committee. Students wishing to submit electronic copies should submit the proposal on high-quality floppy, zip, or compact disk and send the proposal as an e-mail attachment to the Graduate School (check with Graduate School regarding particular e-mail address). A description of the operating system and word processing system should accompany electronic submissions.

The Graduate School will consider the proposal to be accepted unless the Graduate Dean would object to the proposal. If the Dean objects, the proposal would be sent to the student and Research Advisor with specific written requests for revision. After submitting the dissertation proposal to the Graduate School, students may then register for departmental prefix 799, Doctoral Dissertation. Approval from the appropriate institutional review board (IRB for human subject research or IACUC for animal research) must be obtained prior to collecting data for the dissertation.

The student will complete the project and write the dissertation in close collaboration with the research advisor. The student will submit a Request to Schedule a Doctoral Examination form to the Graduate School to request a defense date. The Graduate School will send the research advisor a copy of the confirmed schedule and a defense evaluation. The scheduled defense date must be at least two weeks (14 calendar days) following the request to allow for publicizing the defense to the academic community. Requests for defense submitted more than two weeks in advance are welcomed and appreciated.

The defense must occur at least four weeks (28 calendar days) before the anticipated graduation date or the student cannot graduate until the following semester.

All members of the graduate faculty may attend the defense and may ask questions of the student after the committee members finish their questioning. Other graduate students may attend with permission from the research advisor.

Dissertation Defense. The research advisor should discuss the nature and purpose of the dissertation defense with the student. Generally, the student is instructed to prepare a brief description of the entire study from the purpose to the results and discussion. The committee is free to ask any questions pertaining to the dissertation. The student is expected to understand all aspects of the study including the data analyses and theoretical implications and should avoid being unaware of the procedure or logic followed in the data analyses even if he/she contracted the services of a statistical consultant to complete the analyses. The committee will expect the student to demonstrate himself/herself as an expert on the topic and thesis of the dissertation. It should be recommended that the student bring copies of the signature pages for the dissertation to the defense in the event that the committee evaluates the performance as pass. They can then sign the evaluation form and the signature pages. The dissertation committee will evaluate the student's performance at the defense as well as the written dissertation as a pass, pass with conditions, or failure on the Report of Defense of Dissertation.

If the student passes the defense, the research advisor shall obtain the signatures of the research committee members on the Report of Defense of Dissertation Form and submit the form to the Graduate School. The student shall proceed to make any corrections required by the research committee and submit the corrected dissertation to the committee members for their signatures. The student must provide all necessary copies of the signature page.

If the research committee requires the student to meet stated conditions, the research advisor shall list the conditions on the Report of Defense of Dissertation Form, obtain the signatures of the committee members on the form, and submit the form to the Graduate School. The list of conditions must include a statement regarding the number of additional defense meetings authorized and the amount of additional time allowed by the research committee.

If the student subsequently satisfies the stated conditions, the research advisor shall obtain the original Report of Defense of Dissertation Form from the Graduate School, shall obtain the signatures of the research committee members on SECTION II of the form indicating approval, and resubmit the form to the Graduate School. The student shall proceed to make any corrections required by the research committee and submit the corrected dissertation to the committee members for their signatures.

If the student does not meet the stated conditions, the research advisor shall obtain the original Report of Defense of Dissertation Form from the Graduate School, shall obtain the signatures of the research committee members on SECTION II of the form indicating that they do not approve, and resubmit the form to the Graduate School. The Graduate School shall then notify the student that the degree program is terminated.

If a student fails the defense, the research advisor shall obtain the signatures of the research committee members on the Report of Defense of Dissertation form and submit the form to the Graduate School. The Graduate School shall then notify the student that the degree program is terminated.

Objection to the Dissertation

Policy. If a dissertation is filed with all but one of the signatures of the research committee members, the Dean of the Graduate School or his/her designee will ask the non-signing member if he/she wishes to enter a formal objection(s). If a formal objection is filed, the Dean of the Graduate School will appoint a review committee to assess the specific objection(s) of the dissenting dissertation committee member. If the review committee rules that the objection(s) does not justify the rejection of the study, the chairperson of the review committee will sign the dissertation in place of the dissenting faculty member. If the review committee rules that the objection(s) is valid, the student must take appropriate steps to modify the dissertation in order to gain the approval of the original dissertation committee.

Filing the Dissertation

Upon completing any necessary revisions and successful approval of the dissertation by the student's committee, one copy of the final dissertation is to be submitted to the Graduate School. The Graduate School will conduct an editorial review to check for grammar and spelling. The student will then be asked to make revisions and/or submit the additional three copies of the final dissertation for the Dean of the Graduate School to sign. The dissertation is not approved until signed by the Graduate Dean.

The original and each additional copy must contain an originally signed approval sheet and a 350 word abstract. (Proquest Information and Learning will not publish an abstract that exceeds the 350 word limitation.) Furthermore, the student must submit one extra copy of the abstract to the Graduate School for publication purposes.

If the dissertation is not filed with the Graduate School at least four weeks (28 calendar days) before the student's anticipated graduation date, the student may not graduate until the following semester.

Upon filing the dissertation, the Graduate School will require each doctoral student to complete specific forms related to the dissertation and pay the current fees for binding, mailing, microfilming, and publishing the dissertation. All four copies of the dissertation will be bound by the University. The dissertation will be microfilmed and the abstract will be published in Dissertation Abstracts.

After binding, the original and one copy will be filed in the University Library, one copy will be forwarded to the student's research advisor, and one copy will be sent to the student.

GRADUATION CHECK

Master's and Specialist Students

Policy. All master's and specialist students must apply for graduation no later than the end of the semester preceding the semester that a student plans to graduate. A late fee will be assessed for late applications. The student has the responsibility for determining that the application has been filed with the Graduate School. The Graduate School will not accept a graduation application that is not signed by the student and program advisor.

If the student does not complete all requirements for the degree and, therefore, does not graduate at the end of the proposed semester, the application will be placed in the deferred file. The student must give written notice to the Graduate School when he/she wishes to appear again on the tentative list of graduates.

Procedure. Graduation requirements are checked in accordance with one specific University Catalog. The Catalog used to meet graduation requirements is normally the one published for the academic year during which the student first enrolls after admission to the University. The student must specify the Catalog under which he/she wishes to be evaluated and must meet all requirements in that Catalog.

The student may select any subsequent Catalog up to and including the current one, provided the student was in attendance at the University during that academic year. However, a student may not choose to meet some requirements in one Catalog and other requirements in another Catalog.

Policy. The University reserves the right to modify or change Catalog provisions from time to time in order to fulfill the University role and mission or to accommodate circumstances beyond its control. Any such changes or modifications may be implemented as applicable to all or some students without prior notice, without obligation, and unless specified otherwise, are effective when made. The University reserves the right to terminate or modify program requirements, content, and the sequence of program offerings from time to time for educational or financial reasons that it deems sufficient to warrant such actions.

Doctoral Students

Upon admission to doctoral candidacy, the Graduate School will conduct a preliminary graduation check of those doctoral students newly admitted to candidacy. Any discrepancies between the transcript and the plan of study must be corrected with either a new plan of study or a correction memo initiated by the advisor. Upon receipt of the preliminary graduation check, the student must thereafter notify the Graduate School IN WRITING the semester he/she wishes to graduate. Therefore, doctoral students will not need to apply for graduation.

Note: All graduating students are encouraged to attend graduation. Those students participating in the graduation ceremony are required to wear appropriate academic regalia. Diplomas are not issued at the graduation ceremony. They will be mailed to addresses supplied by the students to the Graduate School. Failure to supply the mailing address could result in a delay in receipt of the diploma. No diploma will be issued until all requirements for graduation have been met.

Doctoral Hooding

Policy. The candidate's research advisor shall hood the candidate at the graduation ceremony.

Letter of Completion

Usually, an official transcript is your proof of completion of your degree. If you need proof of your degree prior to the availability of official transcripts with degree indicated, you may contact the Graduate School for a letter of completion. A letter of completion can only be issued after all the degree requirements have been officially verified as completed including posting of grades for the current semester by the Registrar.

The Graduate Dean's Citation for Excellence

The Graduate Dean's Citation is awarded each semester to students nominated by their division, department or school in recognition of superior achievement in their graduate studies. Each division, department or school may recommend graduate students completing their programs during a specific term (fall, spring or summer) provided that they meet these minimum criteria:

- a cumulative graduate grade point average of at least 3.75
- documented evidence of superior accomplishment while a graduate student at UNC

The nomination should be supported by:

- written recommendations from graduate faculty of the academic program outlining the student's accomplishments and/or
- special recognition by an agency or organization (outside UNC) for scholarly accomplishment, academic achievement or contributions to society.
- Student resume or vita.

Awardees are reviewed by the Executive Committee of the Graduate Council. Their recommendations for awards will be forwarded to the Graduate Dean for final selection. The total number of awards will not exceed 3% of the graduating class.

The Graduate Dean's Citation for Outstanding Thesis and Dissertation

The Graduate Dean's Citation for Outstanding Thesis and Dissertation may have four awards each semester: two for outstanding master's thesis and two for outstanding doctoral dissertation. Faculty may nominate a thesis/dissertation by submitting a letter of nomination that specifies contributions of the study to the discipline.

OTHER GRADUATE SCHOOL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Graduate Student Petitions for Exception

Policy. Graduate students may petition for exceptions to certain procedures, rules, policies, and requirements.

Procedure. The Graduate Student Petition for Exception forms are available in department/ division/ school offices. When petitioning for an exception to a rule, policy or requirement, explain how the exception would enhance the academic program, allow the continuation of a productive academic program, allow recovery from lost opportunity due to health or traumatic events or allow the student to profit from unique educational opportunities impeded by Graduate School regulations. When requesting an extension of program time limit, describe specific steps, proposed scheduling and evidence of progress toward completing degree/program requirements. Signatures of the program advisor and department/division chair indicating approval of and support for the request will be required on this form prior to submitting the request to the Graduate School.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Associate Deans: Maria E. Lopez, Ph.D.; Richard G. Trahan, Ph.D.

INTRODUCTION

The College of Arts and Sciences provides the foundation for a liberal arts education through studies intended to impart general knowledge and to develop the intellectual capacities of reason and judgment. The broad areas included are the humanities, natural sciences and social sciences.

General Education courses, predominantly offered by disciplines in this college, give UNC graduates a background in the liberal arts and sciences to better prepare them for living in our complex society.

The College of Arts and Sciences at UNC is committed to serious scholarly work, superior instruction and research. The knowledge, understanding and perceptions that lead to critical and independent thought are fostered by the faculty and administration of the college, and these qualities serve to enrich the lives and careers of its graduates.

Arts and Sciences majors are broadly educated and well prepared to enter a wide variety of occupations. Many areas prepare students specifically for positions in industry and government. Pre-professional studies in law, medicine, dentistry, engineering and education are all based on a liberal arts foundation and many businesses today prefer their employees to have a liberal arts background to support on-the-job training. As Americans change jobs more and more frequently, a broad liberal arts background makes these changes possible and successful.

The college maintains a number of specialized facilities used by many departments. They include: the foreign language lab, a television studio, the English writing lab, the animal care facility, the greenhouse, computer facilities in Ross and Candelaria Halls and Michener Library, a computerized news-writing lab, the math lab and the psychology lab.

Performance based standards for degree programs in the College of Arts and Sciences are available online at http://asweb.unco.edu/prog_rev.htm.

ARTS AND SCIENCES ADVISING CENTER AND LEARNING COMMUNITIES

Director: Phyllis S. Endicott

Director: Sharon S. McMorrow-SI, Ascent and Cluster Programs

Assistant Director: Jean A. Kramlich

The Arts and Sciences Advising Center provides information and support for students, faculty and staff interested in Arts and Sciences majors and minors, general education programs and teacher education programs, as well as information on University services, policies and procedures. In addition this office and the Arts and Sciences Learning Communities Office coordinate several learning communities for entering students. These programs are designed to help new students with their transition into the university community by connecting them with faculty, peers, academic areas, and/or pre-professional fields. Most Arts and Sciences learning communities involve cohorts of students in general education coursework, new student seminars (ID 108), and the preparation of four-year graduation plans. These efforts combine with other Arts and Sciences Academic initiatives to support student satisfaction, retention and success.

AFRICANA STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Location: Michener L137 Telephone: 970.351.2685

Chair: Osita G. Afoaku, Ph.D.

Professors: Osita G. Afoaku, Ph.D.; Hermon George, Jr., Ph.D.; Anthonia C. Kalu, Ph.D.

Associate Professor: George H. Junne, Jr., Ph.D.

The Department of Africana Studies offers an interdisciplinary curriculum that promotes the study of the history, culture, philosophy, economy and political experience of people of African descent, especially those living in the United States, on the African continent itself, in Latin America and in the Caribbean. The curriculum is based on the assumption that there exists a substantive, intrinsically valuable body of knowledge that expresses the black experience.

As an academic discipline, the Africana Studies curriculum is divided into two foci: social and behavioral studies and cultural studies. Coursework in the social and behavioral studies focus includes such topics as history of African descended people, nationalism, cultural heritage, the effects of racism and the social scientific study of African American communities. The cultural studies focus emphasizes literature by authors of African descent, music, religion, identity and the family.

ANTHROPOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Location: Candelaria 0190 Telephone: 970.351.2021

Chair: James A. Wanner, Ph.D.

Professors: Robert Brunswig, Ph.D.; Sally McBeth, Ph.D.; James A. Wanner, Ph.D.

Lecturer: Kirsten E. Bell, Ph.D.

Anthropology is the study of the nature of humans and of human relations, both within one's own society and in other societies. It helps one to think internationally and interculturality. It teaches one to evaluate current developments and trends in a global perspective.

The discipline of anthropology is subdivided into cultural/social anthropology, archaeology, physical anthropology and anthropological linguistics. Cultural/social anthropology, archaeology and physical anthropology are stressed at UNC.

Laboratories in physical anthropology, archaeology, ethnology and media are utilized in the instructional program. Ethnology and archaeology courses include all areas of the world, but focus on peoples of the New World. Social processes such as culture change, acquiring culture, ethnicity, urban anthropology, the biological basis for culture and society and current problems are stressed.

Students in Anthropology will gain the following skills in the specific subfields:

- Cultural Anthropology — Cultural awareness, participant observation, interviewing, listening, and ethnographic description, interpretation, and comparison in the development of ethnographic assessments.
- Physical Anthropology — Techniques of paleoanthropology, microevolutionary analysis, forensic anthropology, and statistical methods in applied settings.
- Archaeology — Field and laboratory techniques, interpreting site and survey data, report writing, interdisciplinary approaches, integration of subfields in cultural resource management and heritage preservation.
- Multicultural Studies — Multicultural awareness, critical thinking, empathy for others, ability to conceive and apply alternative interpretations to the contemporary problems of culturally diverse societies.

Associate Professors: Robert J. Reinsvold, Ph.D.; Gerald W. Saunders, Ph.D.

Assistant Professors: Richard Robert Jurin, Ph.D.; Neil Snow, Ph.D.

Lecturers: Gregory K. DeKrey, Ph.D.; Kathleen S. Jones, Ph.D.; Angela C. Morrow, Ph.D.

The biological sciences study the diverse forms of life ranging from microorganisms and mammals to fungi and vascular plants. Study of these organisms includes how they interact with each other and with their environment, their strategies for obtaining energy and maintaining themselves, and the impact they have on our society.

All undergraduate programs require a core of common courses with a varied emphasis on development, structure and function, heredity and diversity among organisms. These emphases provide students opportunity for preparation in liberal arts, field biology, human biology, cell biology, and secondary teaching in biology. Graduate programs are designed to meet the unique needs of students, enhancing their understanding of the biological sciences for teaching or for research.

Students are encouraged to participate on independent research projects or internships with both faculty members and agencies outside the University to gain experience not available in the classroom.

Animal maintenance facilities, a museum, herbarium and greenhouses are available for laboratory support and research. Field studies are encouraged, since there is ready access to both prairie and mountain habitats. Expertise and research interests of the faculty include taxonomy of plants, animals and microorganisms; genetics; molecular biology; reproductive biology; plant and animal ecology; community and ecosystem structure; mammalogy; ornithology; plant and mammalian physiology; anatomy; and biology and science education.

Biological Sciences Requirements

The State of Colorado has mandated that institutions of higher education assess student outcomes resulting from their college education. The Department of Biological Sciences requires that all undergraduate students entering under this Catalog meet the following conditions in addition to meeting the general graduation requirements of the University:

1. In the senior year of study all undergraduates will take the Educational Testing Service's nationally standardized exam in Biology.
2. All departmental majors are required to have a minimum of a 2.0 GPA in all BIO prefix courses taken to meet their major requirements. Students receiving "D" or "F" grades in BIO courses taken to meet their major requirements must repeat the courses or take suitable alternate courses approved by their major advisor.

CHEMISTRY/BIOCHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT

Chair: Richard M. Hyslop, Ph.D.

Professors: Clark L. Fields, Ph.D.; Richard M. Hyslop, Ph.D.; Loretta L. Jones, Ph.D.; Marcus K. Meilahn, Ph.D.; David L. Pringle, Ph.D.; James O. Schreck, Ph.D.; Richard W. Schwenz, Ph.D.

Associate Professor: Aichun Dong, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor: Kimberly J. Smith, Ph.D.

Lecturer: Kimberly A. Operman Pacheco, Ph.D.

The goal of the Department of Chemistry is to provide a high-quality education in chemistry for several different groups of students:

- Those individuals who wish to become chemists or to pursue professional programs that may build on a strong background in chemistry, such as health-related careers, etc.
- Those individuals whose career choices require a background in chemistry, such as nursing, dietetics and nutrition, biology, etc.
- Those individuals who elect to study chemistry as a part of their General Education program.
- Those students with a background in chemistry who wish to undertake advanced or graduate studies.

The chemistry faculty is committed to the attainment of this goal and has set excellence in instruction as its highest priority. Relatively small classes and dedicated teachers help accomplish this goal. Students and faculty have the opportunity to know each other very well. This facilitates obtaining help on an individual basis when it is needed for coursework and for program planning.

We are proud of the fact that our undergraduate degree has been approved by the American Chemical Society since 1968 and that our recently revised program was accepted.

Graduates who elect to follow the approved program receive certification for this accomplishment.

Although the Chemistry Department is not formally divided, the areas of analytical, biological, inorganic, organic and physical chemistry and chemical education are well represented in the backgrounds of our faculty. This enables us to offer a well-balanced program.

Laboratory facilities are available and the experimental aspects of chemistry are included as an integral part of all chemistry programs. Modern chemical instrumentation is available for student use. Students are taught how to operate these instruments and how to interpret and apply the results. They are encouraged to use as much of this instrumentation as possible in their programs.

Access to microcomputers and to terminals of the large campus computers makes use of computers within chemistry courses possible.

Research opportunities are available to chemistry students in all programs. Students can work with faculty who are involved in research selected from most of the basic areas of chemistry, including chemical education.

At the undergraduate level, students are encouraged to work on independent research problems in their junior and senior years and to present the results of their work in departmental seminars and at the regional meeting of the affiliates of the American Chemical Society and the Colorado-Wyoming Academy of Science.

At the graduate level, most degree programs require research. The results of a graduate student's efforts are reported in a dissertation or thesis and may be presented at meetings and submitted for publication.

EARTH SCIENCES DEPARTMENT

Chair: William H. Hoyt, Ph.D.

Professors: Richard D. Dietz, Ph.D.; Kenneth D. Hopkins, Ph.D.; William H. Hoyt, Ph.D.; William D. Nesse, Ph.D.

Associate Professors: Catherine A. Finley, Ph.D.; Bruce D. Lee, Ph.D.; Jared R. Morrow, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor: Michael R. Taber, Ph.D.

The Department of Earth Sciences includes the disciplines of geology, meteorology, oceanography and astronomy. Geology is the study of the earth, its structure, composition and history. Meteorology is the study of the atmosphere and the weather phenomena that affect our daily lives. Oceanography is the study of the physical, chemical and biologic characteristics of the world's oceans. Astronomy is the study of the planets, stars and galaxies that make up our universe.

The undergraduate program in the earth sciences provides preparation for professional careers in geology, meteorology, secondary-level earth science teaching, and the environmental industry. The general earth sciences program is appropriate for individuals seeking a broad background in the sciences. The major allows students to create programs of studies that are tailored to individual interests and goals. The graduate program is designed to meet the needs and interests of individuals who wish to expand their knowledge of the earth sciences as science teachers or in other careers that require a knowledge of the earth sciences.

The Department of Earth Sciences emphasizes the integration of field and laboratory study and students are encouraged to undertake independent research projects and internships.

ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Chair: Patricia E. Graham, Ph.D.

Professor: Marie L. Livingston, Ph.D.

Associate Professors: David R. Aske, Ph.D.; Patricia E. Graham, Ph.D.; Kelfala M. Kallon, Ph.D.; Bruce A. McDaniel, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor: Laura S. Connolly, Ph.D.

Lecturers: Rhonda R. Corman, M.A.; Christine E. Marston, Ph.D.

The economics discipline provides a logical, orderly way of describing, analyzing and finding solutions to the numerous diverse economic problems and issues that people and societies face.

Topics in economics have a broad range, including how individuals and businesses make intelligent economic decisions to how governments deal with vital current problems like unemployment, inflation, international trade and economic growth.

As a discipline, economics is attractive to students and commands prestige because it is challenging, has a wide focus and is not static; the discipline contains theory, mathematics, models and scientific method.

The Economics Department takes part, with other College of Arts and Sciences departments and programs, in offering quality liberal arts education, but the department also has close ties with the College of Business Administration and several interdisciplinary programs, including the International Trade and Relations program and Life of the Mind.

Students graduating with an Economics-Business Economics emphasis will also have demonstrated knowledge of the basic elements of business activity, including accounting, management, and marketing.

Economics major and minor students usually take other social science courses such as political science and sociology, and supporting and elective courses in business, mathematics and computer science.

The department participates in the Honors program and arranges limited internships.

The discipline of English treats literature and language and several related subjects such as creative writing, film, folklore and myth. Creative artists refuse to be limited in their subjects or approaches.

Literature, as one writer has said, is "an eloquent artistic document, infinitely varied, of mankind's journey; the autobiography of the race's soul." The questions we ask in studying literature are as "infinitely varied" as those asked by poets, playwrights and novelists: What does it mean to be human? How is the individual related to society? By what values should one lead his or her life?

The study of literature and language requires rigorous discipline and sensitivity, a strict adherence to the highest standards of logic, evidence and argumentation, as well as creative response to language and form. One learns to think, research and write critically, while simultaneously developing sensitivity to language and to the complexities of people and situations.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES DEPARTMENT

Chair: Peter Kastner, Ph.D.

Professors: David Caldwell, Ph.D.; Peter Kastner, Ph.D.

Lecturers: Maria G. Langley, Ph.D.; Marie-Laure Marécaux, Ph.D.; Helen Kathleen Ulrich, M.A.

The undergraduate program in French or German offers the student the opportunity to acquire the four language skills—speaking, listening, reading and writing and to study the culture and literature of the country.

Because it is necessary to attain a high level of skill for all careers in the field of foreign languages, our classes are performance-oriented. Conversational abilities are stressed at all levels and a number of advanced level skill-building courses are offered to promote the greatest possible fluency.

In addition, courses are conducted almost exclusively in the target language. The department also provides a cutting edge computer language laboratory for individual work.

We hope it is possible for many of our majors and minors to study in their target countries as a normal part of their professional development. There is an exchange program with the Université de Tours in France, as well as three exchange programs with German universities.

In addition to our conventional classroom program, we offer a number of extracurricular programs and activities for our students. Conversation hours are regularly held on various parts of the campus to give the students opportunities to practice their foreign language. There is also a German Club and a French Club whose activities are open to all students studying the language.

Mathematics and related areas have been important human endeavors since ancient times. Mathematics is a discipline with its own questions, methods and content. It has also been used as a tool to explain the natural world for centuries

Mathematics, statistics and computer science have become essential to almost every other discipline such as business, economics, psychology and the social sciences.

Mathematics, statistics and computer science reflect the dual nature of these programs. Undergraduate courses, minors, and majors from these areas can be used as important components within a variety of other programs.

PHILOSOPHY DEPARTMENT

Location: Weber House Telephone: 970.351.2572

Professors: Paul F. Hodapp, Ph.D.; Jack Temkin, Ph.D.

Associate Professor: Richard A. Blanke, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor: Thomas K. Trelogan, B.A.

Lecturer: Lisa A. King, Ph.D.

Philosophy is the ongoing attempt to remain true to the spirit of the Socratic dictum: "The unexamined life is not worth living." As such, it entails serious reflection on all of our fundamental convictions and beliefs, with an eye in particular to the clarification of the concepts that these involve and the discovery of reasons for regarding these convictions and beliefs as either true or false. The Department of Philosophy places special emphasis on helping its students to become capable of such serious reflection and it does so not only in the courses it offers primarily for its majors and minors, but in those it offers primarily as service courses for students of other disciplines as well.

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT

Chair: Willard L. Fadner, Ph.D.

Professors: Willard L. Fadner, Ph.D.; Cynthia S. Galovich, Ph.D.; Robert A. Walch, Ph.D.; Courtney W. Willis, Ph.D.

Associate Professors: Kendall E. Mallory, Ph.D.; Ruwang Sung, Ph.D.

Lecturer: Matthew R. Semak, Ph.D.

Small, personalized classes are a hallmark of all the programs offered by the Physics Department. The student is assured of consideration and expert guidance, with excellent opportunities to thoroughly develop personal skills at a pace compatible with needs. From the earliest to the most advanced physics courses, the student has direct contact with faculty members. Junior and senior laboratories, in which students work on sophisticated experiments extending over several weeks, are common. Students are encouraged to become involved in their own research projects under faculty guidance. These investigations often extend over several semesters or are pursued through cooperative internships in government laboratories or industry.

The Physics department has a well-equipped electronics lab. A lab with high-speed personal computers is adjacent to the Physics Office. Computer use is thoroughly integrated into physics classes and curricula. The department has developed award-winning computer software to enhance the first-year laboratories. A well-equipped nuclear laboratory features a neutron howitzer, radioactive materials, various detectors and multichannel analyzer equipment. A General Electric X-Ray diffraction unit is available for studying the structure of minerals. Spectrophotometers, a Bausch and Lomb spectrometer, a mass spectrometer and a Varian nuclear magnetic resonance instrument are available in cooperation with the Chemistry department. The optics laboratory includes facilities for holography, gas and organic dye lasers and a photographic darkroom.

An electronics technician and an instrument fabricator are available to help with classroom needs, as well as in special projects and research. The machine shop and electronics shop are available for various projects.

In addition to degree programs, the Department of Physics offers a selection of general education courses concerned with energy problems, space travel, the cosmos, science and society, scientific revolutions and a survey course in physical science.

This multidisciplinary Bachelor of Arts program provides a general, theoretical and applied background in the social sciences and selected areas of the humanities. In particular the curriculum gives students a basis for thinking analytically about human behavior and the social environment with a broad introduction to the social sciences.

Students may elect to emphasize in one of three areas: Liberal Arts, Middle School Education or Social Studies - Secondary Licensure Program.

The Liberal Arts emphasis prepares students for careers in human services, research, program planning, graduate school and law school. Examples of human services careers include positions such as agency management, probation counseling, environmental and social impact analysis, city planning and local, state and federal government positions.

The Middle School Education emphasis specifically prepares students for careers in teaching in middle schools. These students also must complete the Professional Teacher Education Program and meet all the requirements described in the Middle Grades Certification program sections of this Catalog.

The Social Studies - Secondary Licensure Program emphasis provides students with the academic subject content background necessary for teaching social studies at the secondary (grades 7-12) level in Colorado. Upon successful completion of this program and the requirements of the Professional Teacher Education Program, students will qualify to be licensed to teach social studies at the secondary level.

Sociology is the study of social life. It is the scientific investigation of human society and the social interactions that emerge among people. The main focus of sociology is the group rather than the individual. Sociologists attempt to understand the social and cultural forces that operate throughout society and the forces that mold individuals, shape their behavior and thus determine social events.

Sociologists attempt to understand the world of human relations. In order to carry out their investigations, sociologists employ methods of gathering data from the social world. Generally, methods are either quantitative (e.g., survey) or qualitative (e.g., participant observation). Sociological theories accompany methods in enabling us to understand the social world. Social theories are explanations offered to account for a set of social phenomena. Together, methods and theory provide the foundation for the science of sociology.

Sociologists perform a wide variety of tasks. Most are employed as teachers, researchers, administrators, counselors or policy consultants. One area in which sociologists receive training is statistical techniques and analysis, which are useful in a wide variety of careers. Many sociologists are engaged in basic research, the acquisition of knowledge for its own sake, while others are involved in applied research that provides directives, suggestions or answers related to a particular problem. An increasing number of sociologists are electing to apply their skills to the government, business and industry, health services and welfare as well as other nonprofit agencies (e.g., family planning, youth counseling, city planning). According to the American Sociological Association, "sociology's career potential is just beginning to be tapped" and "many sociologists predict that the next quarter century will be the most exciting and most critical period in the field's 150 year history.

Sociology Admission Requirements

First year students are admitted to degree programs in the Department of Sociology and UNC based on standards developed by the Colorado Commission on Higher Education as measured by a selectivity index created from high school performance and standardized test score. Sociology candidates must have a selectivity index of 94 or above. An index of 94 represents a cumulative high school GPA of 2.9 and an ACT composite of 22 or an SAT combined score of 1,000. A higher ACT/SAT score can compensate for a lower GPA and a higher GPA can compensate for a lower test score.

Transfer students are admitted to degree programs in the Department of Sociology provided that they meet the admission requirements in place at the time of application. Students who transfer with less than 30 semester hours of college level course work may qualify for admission to degree programs in the Department of Sociology provided they meet the first year student admission requirements specified above.

International students are admitted to degree programs in the Department of Sociology if they meet the University admission requirements noted above and score 540 or higher on the TOEFL. International students can obtain additional information about admissions from the Department of Sociology.

Students denied admission to degree programs in the Department of Sociology may petition for a special admission through a faculty-diversity student mentorship program.

Change of Major/Minor Requirements

UNC students may change their major to sociology or may change from one sociology emphasis area to another provided that they have completed 30 semester hours of university level coursework with at least 15 semester hours at UNC. Students must meet the Change of Major and Minor requirements established by the department emphasis area in which they wish to take their sociology emphasis. Copies of these requirements are available in the Department of Sociology.

Students enrolled in the Fresh Start Program should contact the Department of Sociology for information on program-specific policies regarding admission. The Department of Sociology uses grades from all classes taken at UNC when computing the student's GPA.

UNC students with less than 30 semester hours of university level coursework may change to a Sociology major provided that they had met the first year student entry requirement specified above for admission and are in good academic standing at UNC.

Students must meet all departmental entrance requirements in effect at the time they apply for their major.

Program Assessments

The State of Colorado has mandated that institutions of higher education undertake assessment of students and their programs. It is the responsibility of students to participate in any assessment activities that are determined by the department and the University to meet this state mandate.

This degree will prepare future educators for effective communication with students, parents, and other school professionals. Students preparing for careers in elementary and middle grades education may select the Human Communication Emphasis. Students preparing for careers in Secondary Education must select the Emphasis in Secondary Education. All requirements for the Professional Teacher Education Program, as described in the UNC Catalog, must be met.

Africana Studies offers an interdisciplinary curriculum that promotes the study of the history, culture, philosophy, economy and political experience of people of African descent, especially those living in the United States, on the African continent, in Latin America and in the Caribbean. The curriculum is based on the assumption that there exists a substantive, intrinsically valuable body of knowledge that expresses the black experience. The program's courses are organized into two foci: social and behavioral studies and cultural studies.

Graduates in Africana Studies will be prepared to enter professional and academic careers in the humanities and social sciences. They will possess accurate information about the histories and identities of people of African descent. They will be exposed to and contribute to scholarship about people of African descent and will have a liberal arts education and those skills necessary for working in multicultural environments.

They will understand the struggles of people of African descent. As a job-related field, Africana Studies fosters the intellectual and professional expertise valuable for positions in teaching (elementary, secondary and post-secondary levels), business, criminal justice, counseling, education and health-related fields. Additional applications include community resource development, urban planning, public and social policy analysis, law, social services, government (local, state and federal) and international relations. Graduates also qualify for graduate work in Africana Studies or Pan African Studies.

The science of meteorology seeks to understand the atmosphere and its phenomena by considering the forces that act on it, the processes that determine its behavior and the interaction between it and the earth beneath. This program provides a broad background in meteorology and stresses practical interpretation of weather data and the importance of meteorology to many aspects of human endeavor.

Graduates of the meteorology program will be prepared for entry-level positions as meteorologists with government agencies and private companies, as weather forecasters with the United States Air Force and as team members with firms concerned with environmental monitoring. Meteorology is also an excellent major for individuals planning careers in either civilian or military aviation. The program provides the background necessary for admission to graduate programs in the atmospheric sciences.

Economics majors and minors learn the traditional tools and concepts of economics, theories and quantitative procedures applicable to economics and related disciplines and techniques and methodologies employed by economic practitioners. The department concentrates on teaching core courses commonly taught at major universities and requires students to complete supporting courses in mathematics, statistics and information systems.

The goal of the department is to graduate students who are highly qualified to pursue careers in industry and government service or who are capable of pursuing graduate study in economics or business. Economists work with government and industry information, quantitative data, theories, models, graphics and computers, especially microcomputers. For students planning to teach economics at the university level, a graduate school degree is necessary.

The French Liberal Arts Major stresses acquisition of the four language skills (listening, speaking, reading, writing) through performance-oriented classes at all levels, conducted in French. Students develop skills in critical thinking as they acquire familiarity with contemporary issues in the French-speaking world, a basic knowledge of French civilization, and a facility for reading and interpreting French literature. The faculty encourages and assists students in arranging study opportunities with our exchange program at the Université de Tours, elsewhere in France, or in another French-speaking country.

Participation in such a program creates opportunities for improved language proficiency and first-hand experience with French culture. The department's extracurricular activities likewise encourage cultural awareness and communication skills.

French Liberal Arts majors may choose to pursue graduate study in French or, having combined their language study with other fields such as business, political science, international trade and relations, history, fine arts and others, can become involved in careers in international business, government, social work, publishing, or the arts.

In preparing majors for careers in secondary school teaching of French, this program stresses acquisition of the four language skills (listening, speaking, reading, writing) through performance-oriented classes at all levels, conducted in French. Students develop skills in critical thinking as they acquire familiarity with contemporary issues in the French-speaking world, a basic knowledge of French civilization, and a facility for reading and interpreting French literature. Participation in such a program creates opportunities for improved language proficiency and first-hand experience with French culture. The department's extracurricular activities likewise encourage cultural awareness and communication skills while developing leadership and organizational and promotional abilities important to the foreign language teaching profession. Teaching skills are developed through advising and consultation with Department faculty, through FL 341, and through the courses in the Secondary Professional Teacher Education (PTEP).

Completion of the French teaching major prepares the student for State of Colorado Licensure to teach French in the secondary school and for graduate study in French. Students who combine their language study with other fields such as business, political science, international trade and relations, history, or fine arts can become involved in careers in international business, government, social work, publishing, or the arts.

The use of geographic concepts of location, distribution and diffusion for the analysis of patterns of economic, social, political and environmental behavior is at the core of applied geography. Beyond analysis, the dynamic application of these concepts makes possible the prediction and planning of significant human activities.

Those electing an applied major in geography are generally preparing for careers in cartography, location analysis, urban and regional planning, or geographic information systems. Examples of specific employment opportunities include computer map design and construction, market research, commercial site and industrial location analysis. Additional positions include transportation planning, land use and real estate analysis and planning, environmental management and community development. Students should select either the applied geography or the liberal arts emphasis in conjunction with their career goals.

Geography is the study of the social, environmental and locational processes that create diversity from place to place on the earth's surface. The geographic perspective helps to explain the reasons for and the significance of local, regional and world patterns and analyzes the role of locational factors in human affairs.

Those electing a liberal arts major in geography are generally preparing for careers in middle school teaching, cartography, recreation/travel planning, military or political intelligence or resource management. Examples of specific employment opportunities include map design and construction, international business representative, tour planning/operation and area specialist. The German Liberal Arts Major stresses acquisition of the four language skills (listening, speaking, reading, writing) through performance-oriented classes at all levels, conducted in German.

Students develop skills in critical thinking as they acquire familiarity with contemporary issues in the German-speaking world, a basic knowledge of German civilization, and a facility for reading and interpreting German literature. The German program participates in a student exchange agreement between UNC and the Universität Oldenburg, the Pädagogische Hochschule Karlsruhe, and the Fachhochschule Furtwangen. Participation in this exchange can provide first-hand experience with German life and society and helps improve language proficiency. The Department's extracurricular activities likewise encourage cultural awareness and communication skills.

German Liberal Arts majors may choose to pursue graduate study in German or, having combined their language study with other fields such as business, political science, international trade and relations, history, fine arts and others, they may become involved in careers in international business, government, social work or the arts.

In preparing majors for careers in secondary school teaching of German, this program stresses acquisition of the four language skills (listening, speaking, reading, writing) through performance-oriented classes at all levels, conducted in German. Students develop skills in critical thinking as they acquire familiarity with contemporary issues in the German-speaking world, a basic knowledge of German civilization, and a facility for reading and interpreting German literature. Participation in this exchange provides first-hand experience with German life and society and helps improve language proficiency. The department's extracurricular activities likewise encourage cultural awareness and communication skills while developing leadership and organizational and promotional abilities important to the foreign language teaching profession. Teaching skills are developed through advising and consultation with Department faculty, through FL 341, and through the courses in the Secondary Professional Teacher Education Program (PTEP).

Completion of the German teaching major prepares the student for State of Colorado Licensure to teach German in the secondary school and for graduate study in German. Students who combine their language study with other fields such as business, political science, international trade and relations, history, or fine arts can become involved in careers in international business, government, social work, publishing, or the arts.

Historical study is concerned with the record of the human past and forms the indispensable background for all other areas of knowledge in the humanities, the social sciences and the sciences. A well-rounded curriculum of American and world history courses is provided in which students are encouraged to be critical and analytical in thought as well as to be incisive and cogent in their writing. The capstone of a student's study is a seminar during the senior year, which includes an extensive research paper as the central component.

Graduates with a bachelor's degree in history generally enter teaching or affiliated academic professions. They also go into law, government service or medicine, or occupy various positions in the business world; additionally, they are qualified to do graduate study in history. The University has designated the Department of History as a Center of Excellence.

The Department of History fulfills an important role in training teachers at the undergraduate and graduate levels. In addition to its emphasis in content areas of history and social science, it participates in the UNC/partner school program and the student-teaching experience/placement for its students. Experienced history faculty are regularly assigned the responsibility of observing our student teachers in the field. The end result of a student's study is a senior seminar completed under the direction of a faculty advisor during the senior year in residence.

A graduate with a bachelor's degree in history and who receives departmental endorsement in the social studies licensure area is qualified to teach in the secondary schools and to pursue graduate study in history. Additionally, with a major in history a student may seek licensure for middle school teaching. The University has designated the Department of History as a Center of Excellence.

This interdisciplinary emphasis focuses on the power of the integrated, interdisciplinary nature of anthropology to understand human cultural and biological variation in an historic, prehistoric and global context. Anthropology is devoted to understanding what it means to be human. This knowledge is valuable, not only for itself, but also for how it can be applied to a variety of professional settings. The interdisciplinary complement of the emphasis allows students to draw on a variety of disciplines to extend their knowledge and skills beyond anthropology into related fields.

The core of the program provides a blend of content and inquiry based instruction. Courses in anthropology emphasize both theory and methods through which students learn a variety of qualitative and quantitative techniques for analyzing anthropological problems. The individually designed interdisciplinary complement allows students to integrate anthropology with a wide range of fields that offer opportunity for applying anthropology in numerous career choices.

Interdisciplinary students with an anthropology emphasis often pursue graduate study and academic careers. They also follow careers in both the public and private sectors, finding work in almost every area of society, including public planning, public health, education, journalism, social services, rural development, urban planning, immigration, public archaeology, public policy evaluation, business, international development, public and private research and a variety of advocacy and public interest occupations. The interdisciplinary structure of this program greatly enhances career options for students preparing for life in the modern world.

Students who wish to pursue other languages are responsible for supplementing UNC course offerings with outside language study (e.g., regular courses at other universities, long distance education, and/or tutoring) in order to achieve proficiency.

A thesis is required to graduate from the program. The thesis topic and faculty thesis advisor must be approved by the ITR Director. It is recommended that the student begin the thesis two semesters before graduation. Thesis credit will be taken as a directed study in the department of the thesis advisor.

The coursework in this major is designed to provide students with an interdisciplinary liberal arts education. The general education courses provide the broad foundation, with courses from seven general categories required. The required core courses narrow the focus to four disciplines or clusters of disciplines - math, science, history and the social sciences and language and literature. These courses examine ways of thinking within and across broadly related disciplines. Concentration areas provide students with more in depth study of academic disciplines.

Elementary licensure candidates also must complete the PTEP courses and the required supporting courses in Speech Communications. Those not completing the PTEP and Speech Communications courses must, in consultation with their advisors, choose a minor or a second Concentration area which is complementary to the first and may also, with advisor's permission, substitute appropriate courses for those marked here with this symbol: ++

JOURNALISM AND MASS COMMUNICATIONS MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

To become a major in the Department of Journalism and Mass Communications, you first become a pre-JMC major. This is done by filling out a "Change of Major/Minor" form, available from the department. The pre-major should be declared in the freshman or sophomore year.

Application for admission to full JMC-major status should take place during the sophomore year. It is important to note that the JMC major is a two-year program beyond the time at which a pre-major is admitted with full JMC major status. Whether admitted as a sophomore, junior or senior, the newly admitted JMC major will often need two full academic years to complete the major course requirements. In particular, seniors and transfer students who are considering applying to become JMC majors are advised that it is not usually possible to complete the process of application to the major and all the required coursework in fewer than four regular semesters.

Students may apply to become a JMC major after completing JMC 100 and 30 hours of undergraduate semester credit. To apply:

- Complete and submit an "Application for Admission to Journalism and Mass Communications Major" form, available from the department three weeks before each deadline;
- Submit official transcripts from all colleges and universities attended other than UNC, if any, with the form noted above.

Mail or deliver the materials noted above to the Department of Journalism and Mass Communications, Candelaria Hall, Room 123, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, CO 80639.

Your application must reach the Department Office by the deadlines indicated below:

- Fall semester admission: February 15
- Spring semester admission: October 15
- No admission decisions are made during the summer.

Students are permitted to apply to the major only once a semester, for only one emphasis per semester.

Should the number of qualified applicants exceed space available in required courses, the department will admit only those students ranking highest in cumulative grade point averages.

JMC majors may not take the Media Studies minor. Students cannot declare a minor until they have been admitted to the major.

JMC majors must complete courses for only one JMC emphasis, and changing from one emphasis to another after admission to the major may be prohibited by the department.

The JMC department is committed to liberal arts education. For this reason, students majoring in JMC are not permitted to apply more than 36 hours with a JMC prefix toward meeting the required of 120 semester hours for graduation. Students taking more than 36 hours in JMC will need 84 hours outside of JMC in order to graduate, making the total number of hours needed for graduation in excess of 120. JMC majors are also required to take 65 hours of the total 120 needed for graduation in liberal arts courses outside the JMC department.

The objective of the Bachelor of Arts in Mexican American Studies is to promote the study of the Mexican American experience. The content of the program is designed to develop a knowledge base integrating the academic, professional and personal development domains of the learner.

Prospective students are encouraged to be critical and analytical in thought as well as incisive and cogent in their writing and research as they are guided by experienced faculty through the program. The capstone course is a seminar during the senior year which will include an extensive research project as the central component. This program is designed to enable prospective students to integrate knowledge of literature, history, politics, psychology, sociology, gender, as well as language policy and bilingualism in application to the historical experience of the Mexican American.

After the war between Mexico and The United States ended in 1848 and the subsequent signing of the Treaty of the Guadalupe Hidalgo tens of thousands of Mexican individuals found themselves citizens of a new land dominated by people whose language, heritage and culture were much different from their own and whose primary object was to insure that these citizens became integrated to the United States culture. A major in Mexican American Studies allows the student to examine the development of Mexican history and culture from their origins to the present including the sociopolitical, historical and economic results of direct contact with the United States culture.

This major will enable undergraduate students to pursue careers in law, urban affairs, business relations, environmental protection, human development and international relations as well as other fields of public service.

Philosophy is the attempt to remain true to the spirit of the Socratic dictum: "The unexamined life is not worth living." It thus entails serious reflection on all our fundamental beliefs with an eye to the clarification of the concepts they involve and the discovery of reasons either for continuing to accept them or for giving them up as false.

The major in philosophy is designed to provide both a solid undergraduate education in philosophy and a foundation for the further study of philosophy at the graduate level. It is an excellent major not only for students interested in philosophy itself but also for pre-professional students—especially, perhaps, for those who intend to study the law. Students may want to consider a double major because of the ways the study of philosophy can enhance one's ability to investigate fundamental issues in other fields.

Electives should be chosen in consultation with the major advisor. No more than 6 credit hours of PHIL 497 may be counted toward the major.

A minor of at least 18 hours is required unless the philosophy major is part of a double major. The minor should be chosen in consultation with the major advisor.

In addition, the Department of Philosophy recommends that philosophy majors take at least two years of a foreign language—preferably French or German.

To graduate, students must complete both the department's assessment examination (administered in the Advanced Seminar, PHIL 495) and the department's major evaluation form.

In a society that offers most of its students only technical training, those who wish to distinguish themselves in their chosen fields must pay special attention to questions of ethics and public policy. Many programs claim to teach students how to get where they are going. Applied philosophy teaches them to evaluate their goals—both those they set for themselves and those they set for their society. Applied philosophy is thus relevant to students' vocations in the traditional sense of the word: instead of being just the first in a series of trainings and retrainings designed to keep them abreast of recent developments in the changing job market, it provides students with a firm foundation for further learning, whatever their callings might be.

The computer science emphasis of the physics major focuses on the connection and mutual interaction of physics, electronics and computer science through a combination of courses in these fields. This emphasis is strongly oriented toward the physical construction and interfacing of computers. Students can take additional courses in programming and computer architecture to broaden their backgrounds.

Upon completion of this emphasis, students will have a solid foundation of knowledge in physics, electronics and computer science. They will be prepared for employment in industry or research laboratories and for graduate study in these fields.

A thesis, completed as part of PHYS 470, is required for this major. A "C" average or better is required in PHYS prefix courses for graduation.

The Engineering emphasis of the BA in Physics provides practical application of the theories and methods of physics. Students take more courses in the theory of physics than they would in the typical engineering curriculum and more courses in applications related to the engineering fields than they would in the traditional physics degree.

Graduates will be well prepared for engineering-type positions in industry and research laboratories or for graduate work in engineering or physics-related fields. Because of the strong emphasis on both theory and applications, graduates can quickly assimilate rapid changes in these fields.

A thesis, completed as part of PHYS 470, is required for this major. A "C" average or better is required in PHYS prefix courses for graduation.

Political Science is the study of how societies are organized and how they change. Political Scientists are, therefore, concerned with how public policy is made and the normative values that undergird political thinking. The department emphasizes the development of undergraduate writing skills; it also offers qualified students opportunity to complete an internship in organizations such as Weld County government, the United States Congress and the Colorado Governor's Office. The department values serious discussion of political issues among faculty and students and conducts many classes as discussions rather than as lectures.

The Department of Political Science labors in the cause of citizenship by providing a foundation of information upon which informed judgments can be made by developing the analytical skills necessary to think critically and by promoting reflection about values. The department also seeks to prepare students in this way for professional success in local, state and federal government, the law, journalism, public relations, teaching and business. Graduates of the program are also qualified for graduate work in various emphases of political science.

Psychology is the scientific study of behavior. The goal of psychology is to understand the processes involved in actions, feelings, thoughts, and experiences. Psychologists study these processes in both humans and animals. Psychologists develop theories to explain behavior and to generate hypotheses that are tested through scientific, both quantitative and qualitative, research methods. Depending on the situation, psychologists may attempt to describe, explain, predict, and change behavior.

The Department of Psychology offers a quality, comprehensive, and coherent program. Students learn the research methods and core theories employed by psychologists. Students are also exposed to the diversity of psychology through a range of elective courses. The variety of courses offered permits students to choose a set of psychology courses that are related to their interests and career goals. All psychology students are given the opportunity to design, conduct, and write up their own research project. Students also participate in a field experience in which they work in a supervised psychology-related setting.

Psychology students develop transferable skills in several areas including research design and analysis, the ability to understand human behavior, recognition of and tolerance for diversity, report writing and presentation, establishing rapport in groups, and critical thinking. With these skills, graduates gain employment in a wide variety of careers including educators, counselors, administrators, managers, personnel analysts, researchers (including market researchers), police and corrections officers, and sales people. Graduates also enter masters and doctoral programs in many areas of psychology and in rehabilitation, special education, business and social work. Recent demographic analyses predict a continued high demand for individuals with a background in psychology.

This multidisciplinary B.A. program provides a general, theoretical and applied background in the social sciences and selected areas of the humanities. In particular the curriculum gives students a basis for thinking analytically about human behavior and the social environment with a broad introduction to the social sciences.

The program prepares students for careers in human services, research, program planning, graduate school and law school. PRE-DEGREE PROGRAMS

ENGINEERING PROGRAM (PRE-ENGINEERING)

The pre-engineering program is designed for students who intend to enter an engineering field. Many of these students take approximately two years of coursework at UNC before transferring to a university that offers a degree in engineering. Alternatively, after their second year, students may elect to complete the Engineering Physics Emphasis B.A. program or other science or math program at UNC.

On successful completion of this program, the student will be eligible to transfer to an engineering school in Colorado or elsewhere, or transfer to another science or mathematics program at UNC.

Required Credits

CHEM 111 Principles of Chemistry I (5)

ENG 122 College Composition (3)

MATH 132 Calculus II (4)

MATH 233 Calculus III (4)

PHYS 240 General Physics I (5)

PHYS 241 General Physics II (5)

PHYS 321 Elementary Modern Physics (3)

and select one of the following two courses:

CG 120 Pascal Programming (3)

CG 130 C++ Programming (3)

Notes: Elective courses should be carefully selected in consultation with one's advisor. Consult for optimum transfer of credits to an engineering school. Some engineering fields require a second semester of chemistry.

Students in this program register under a physics major with pre-engineering as a second major and must have an advisor in the physics department.

HEALTH SCIENCES (PRE-PROFESSIONAL STUDIES)

Students interested in preparing for careers in the Health Sciences (Human Medicine including allopathic, osteopathic and podiatric medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, optometry, pharmacy and chiropractic for example) and those interested in various allied health sciences* (e.g., dental hygiene, physician's assistant, optometry assistant, veterinary assistant, physical therapy) should participate in this program.

Professional studies in the health sciences have traditionally been built on a strong liberal arts foundation. Pre-professional studies that prepare students for professional schools are available at UNC. Advisors with knowledge about careers in the health sciences, requirements for admission to professional schools and UNC courses and degree programs assist students planning to apply for admission to professional schools. Competition for admission to these programs is keen and completion of a pre-professional program does not guarantee admission to the professional school. Academic performance, scores on selected examinations, results of interviews, personal characteristics and experiences are all taken into consideration. Special national aptitude or admissions tests are required by many of these programs. Special application processes are used by some of the programs. Pre-professional committee recommendations may be required. UNC's Pre-Professional Committee of faculty is dedicated to providing timely and informed advising to students interested in health-related careers.

Careful program planning is essential and students are encouraged to meet regularly with their pre-professional advisor.

Students will be encouraged to select courses that will meet the requirements of a degree that provides maximum flexibility in career choices. Professional schools have requirements that range from a minimum of two years of undergraduate studies to four years and a bachelor's degree. Although common requirements exist within areas, sufficient differences exist that wise students will work closely with their advisor to be certain that all program and degree requirements are being met.

At a minimum, allied health science programs will require a year of general biology, a year of general chemistry and a year of English composition. A second year of chemistry, additional biology, physics and college mathematics, as well as courses in social sciences and humanities are required in the health science areas.

Although no specific undergraduate major is required by professional schools, students in our program will be encouraged to select a major and work towards a degree. Most students elect a major from one of the biological or physical sciences. For information on the requirements for specific programs contact Dr. Tomasi at 970.351.2559.

 Nursing and Medical Technology are included in this group of careers, but since professional education in these careers is available at UNC they are not listed in this program. For more information about these programs consult the index of this Catalog.*

LAW PROGRAM (PRE-LAW)

Contact Paul Hodapp, Department of Philosophy, Weber House, 970.351.2572, for pre-law information and a list of recommended courses.

UNC offers an excellent pre-law program, as well as a number of pre-law activities for undergraduate students interested in pursuing a career in the legal profession. UNC has an active Pre-Law Society as a chartered organization.

It should be noted, however, that like most American universities, UNC does not offer a pre-law major or minor; however, UNC does offer a Minor in Legal Studies.

Law schools do not identify any specific major as most desirable, but they do require a bachelor's degree as a prerequisite for law school admission. Most pre-law programs are built around majors from the College of Arts and Sciences and from the College of Business Administration.

Cultural studies is an interdisciplinary field in which the traditional concerns of the humanities and social sciences intersect. Cultural studies' understanding of "cultural" includes objects and practices (popular or mass culture, for example) not normally associated with the definition of culture as art or "taste." Cultural studies is a method which interprets cultural productions (for example: film, fashion, food, popular music, architecture and cityscapes) as if they were texts. The minor will familiarize students with the critical traditions underlying the cultural studies approach and its roots in such disciplines and schools as anthropology and folklore, feminism and post-structuralism, the Frankfurt and Birmingham schools. Students will also learn to employ a critical interpretive vocabulary in analyses of cultural productions.

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES MINOR

Program Requirements

Required Environmental Studies credits	6
Required elective credits	16
Total credits required for this minor	22

The environmental studies minor enhances a student's ability to help find solutions to the growing environmental problems facing humanity caused by increasing human demands on the finite physical resources of the planet. This focus has two branches: 1) increasing the knowledge base about the natural resource and human components of environmental issues, which includes population growth; pollution of land, air and water; urban and rural land use; food production possibilities; existing and alternative energy technologies; wilderness preservation; and species extinction; 2) developing an understanding of the methods and paradigms of various disciplines from the natural sciences, the social sciences and the humanities and their potential contributions and limitations in the context of environmental problems. Thus, students develop insights and problem-solving skills not as readily available within single disciplines.

The minor is useful for students majoring in disciplines that contribute to the solution of environmental problems. Students acquire a broad perspective of the nature of environmental problems and their possible solutions. The minor facilitates cooperative, interdisciplinary problem-solving in subsequent employment or graduate study.

Employment opportunities are diverse and are shaped by the student's major. Environmental jobs can be laboratory, people, writing or outdoor oriented. Typical employers include resource development companies, environmental consulting firms, government agencies, educational facilities (public and private, traditional and innovative) and environmental groups. There are also self-employment opportunities.

Total credits required for this minor	18

This minor has been designed for students who wish a coherent study of film as an art form. This interdisciplinary program will allow students to proceed beyond an introduction to film to specialized courses which consider cinema from distinct aesthetic, cultural, historical, and theoretical perspectives. Introductory and variable topics courses will allow students to consider both western and non-Western cinema, however this minor places more emphasis on better understanding American film within the context of western aesthetic and narrative traditions and theories. A capstone course, FL 400, which may be team taught, encourages students to use their interpretational research skills in order to forge connections between differing film traditions and understand contemporary cinema in a more global context.

ENGLISH, M.A.

Program Requirements

Complete the required course specified here 3

Complete program electives specified here 33

The master's degree program provides focused, in-depth study of literature, practical experiences in literary criticism and research and opportunities for advanced levels of writing. Judicious selection of courses under the guidance of the student's advisor may provide additional focus to the program through special course clusters in areas such as pedagogy, literary theory, or specific periods of interests.

Graduates of the program will be prepared to enter a wide range of fields and/or to pursue additional advanced levels of study such as the Ph.D. in English. The program enables teachers currently in the field to develop special areas of interest, to pursue these in depth, and to enhance their skills in teaching, research, and writing. In addition, graduates can pursue professional study in law, theology, medicine (with appropriate science and mathematics preparation), library science, communications, media, and business. The M.A. in English is excellent preparation for any profession or occupation that stresses language usage, such as writing.

Required Credits — 3 semester hours

ENG 600 Introduction to Graduate Study (3)

Required Elective Credits — 33 semester hours

A minimum of six courses must be selected from ENG 600-level offering (27)

Additionally, all students must choose one of the following options:

- a traditional thesis;
- a creative project, such as a novel or a collection of poetry;
- an additional six semester hours (two ENG 600-level seminars).

The thesis or creative projects may be written under ENG 699 for 6 semester hours credit (6).

Notes: To increase the flexibility of this program for teachers and to provide further work to help them improve their instructional skills, a block of pedagogical coursework (6 semester hours) may be taken. The student and graduate advisor will plan according to individual needs.

Completion of a Master of Arts degree in English does not meet all the College of Education PTEP requirements for licensure in English. Students must consult their departmental advisors and/or the College of Education PTEP office if they are interested in elementary or secondary licensure.

Candidates must take a poetry explication examination during the first semester of enrollment; if necessary, this exam may be retaken until the student's performance is satisfactory.

All master's candidates must take a written, comprehensive examination.

HISTORY, M.A.

Program Requirements

Complete the required courses specified here 3
Complete program electives specified here 27

The master's degree in history has been designed with several options in mind. It may be taken as a foundation for further advanced graduate work; as part of an individualized program that prepares students for a secondary teaching career; or as a terminal degree. Whichever option a student selects, faculty will stress the development of research techniques, analysis of historical data and expository writing skills.

Students receiving a master's degree in history will be competent in research methodology, writing skills and content in selected areas of history. Opportunities include advanced work in history, teaching at the secondary level (with licensure) or in junior and community colleges.

Additionally, graduates may apply for professional schools, e.g., in law, library science, theology, museum curatorship and archival work. The University has designated the Department of History as a Center of Excellence.

Required Courses — 3 semester hours

HIST 600 Introduction to Graduate Historical Study (3)

Elective Courses — 27 semester hours

Elective courses may be taken from any course numbered 500 or 600 with a HIST prefix. Additionally, students are permitted to take up to nine hours of history courses that are double-numbered, i.e. 300/500 or 400/500.

Notes: Candidates for the M.A. in history should consult with the chair of the history department and the departmental graduate coordinator as soon as possible during the first semester of graduate work so that a major field advisor may be assigned. A plan of study will be approved by the advisor and the graduate coordinator. Candidates, in consultation with the major field advisor, will select two other department members who together will constitute the candidate's examining committee. Candidates are urged to consult frequently with the faculty who compose their committee.

Each candidate for the master's degree will receive in his or her first week on campus a departmental "packet," containing a description of the program, a reading list to be mastered before the taking of the comprehensive examination or the thesis oral and a bank of comprehensive examination questions.

Thesis Option

A minimum/maximum of six hours may be earned in HIST 699 by writing a thesis on a subject that falls within the student's concentration. At least 15 hours of coursework, in addition to the six thesis hours, must be concentrated in one of the following areas: United States; European; Africa/Asia/ and Latin American history. The remaining six hours in history that round out the candidate's program should be taken from outside the concentration area. Research and writing of a thesis precludes comprehensive examinations. An oral examination will be held after the student's major professor has accepted the thesis for presentation to the candidate's committee. Students will be responsible on the oral for a mastery of their field, including the reading list they have received during their first week in the program.

Candidates have one opportunity to retake a failed oral examination. At least one full semester must elapse between the failure of the first examination and the reexamination. A failing grade on the second examination will eliminate the student from the master's degree program in history.

Non-Thesis Option

Candidates must concentrate fifteen hours of coursework in one of the following areas: American History, European History, African/Asian/Latin American History. The area chosen will become the student's major field. Twelve additional hours of history courses at the 500/600 level, or up to nine hours at the 300/500 or 400/500 levels plus three hours at the 500/600 level, must be completed outside the student's concentration area.

Students who elect this option are required to pass written and oral examinations in their concentration area. The written examination will be three hours in length and may be taken no earlier than the second semester of graduate study. Within two weeks of the written examination, candidates receiving a passing grade from each member of their examining committee on the comprehensive will be examined orally, usually for two hours, over the concentration. Students will be responsible on the oral for a mastery of their field of study, including the reading list they have received during their first week in the program.

Candidates have one opportunity to retake a failed written or oral examination. At least one full semester must elapse between the failure of the first examination and the re-examination. A failing grade on the second examination will eliminate the student from the master's degree program in history.

Comprehensive and Thesis Fields In History:

European	United States	Africa/Asia/Latin American
Ancient Medieval Early Modern Modern	Colonial Period to the Present	Comprehensive or thesis to be developed with candidate's graduate advisor and committee.

Notes: Candidates must obtain a permit from the Department of History allowing them to take their comprehensive or thesis/oral examination. OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Dean: Joe F. Alexander, D.B.A.

Associate Dean: Gerald Shadwick, B.S., J.D.

The Kenneth W. Monfort College of Business offers a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration with opportunities for students to pursue specialized study in the emphasis areas of Accounting, Computer Information Systems, Finance, Management, Marketing and General Business. The College also offers Minors in Business Administration and Computer Information Systems.

The College of Business was established in the summer of 1968 as an autonomous degree-recommending unit, with a primary mission to provide education for business administration.

Since that time, the College has become an integral part of the University and is committed to advancing the Mission, Goals and Values of UNC (as specified in earlier pages of this Catalog). The College's own mission statement has been developed to support that of the University.

Performance based standards for degree programs in the Kenneth W. Monfort College of Business are available online at <http://www.mcb.unco.edu>.

MISSION STATEMENT

The primary mission of the Kenneth W. Monfort College of Business is to provide high quality undergraduate instruction leading to a baccalaureate degree in business administration. The College's programs and faculty are committed to preparing students to function as effective and contributing members of the business and professional community. The College values, encourages, and supports the scholarly and professional service contributions of its faculty. These activities enrich instruction as well as serve the College's objective of preparing its graduates for entry into and advancement in business and in graduate degree programs.

AACSB ACCREDITATION

The Monfort College is one of just six undergraduate-only programs in the U.S. to hold AACSB-accredited status in business administration and accounting. AACSB International (The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business) is the premier accrediting agency for business school quality in the U.S. According to a recent Business Week article, "Today, just having the degree isn't as important as where you get it...As corporations become savvier buyers of...talent, they are giving more weight to the AACSB seal...Accreditation shows that a business school cares about the quality of its program." The Monfort College's programs have been AACSB-accredited since 1992.

BUSINESS MAJOR/MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Admission Requirements

Freshman students are admitted to the College of Business major and minors if they unconditionally meet the Colorado Commission of Higher Education (CCHÉ) requirement for admission to a level II Colorado institution. At the time of publication, the admission requirement was set at a CCHE composite index of 98.

The CCHE composite index is a sliding scale based on achievement test score and high school rank. A 98 index score centers on an ACT score of 24 or SAT of 1070 and a high school GPA of 3.0. A 98 index score is maintained at lower test scores or high school GPA provided that the candidate has offset a lower qualification on one measure with a higher qualification on the other.

Transfer students are admitted to the College of Business major and minors provided that they meet the admission requirements in place at the time of application. Students who transfer with less than 30 semester hours of college level coursework may qualify for admission to the College of Business provided they meet the freshman admission requirements specified above.

International students are admitted to the College of Business if they meet the University admission requirements noted above and score 550 or higher on the TOEFL. International students can obtain additional information about admissions from the MCB Advising Center, 970.351.1233.

Coursework Requirements

The College requires that the 120 required credits of a Business major's coursework be split evenly between business and non-business courses (courses with and without a BA_ _ prefix). To comply, a student must have completed a minimum of 60 business credits and 60 non-business credits in order to be eligible for graduation.

The College enforces prerequisites for enrollment in its business courses. Students should check the most current UNC Catalog for a list of course prerequisites being enforced.

The following business courses will not count toward the minimum of 120 credits needed for graduation: BA 100, BA 101, BA 251, BAFN 240 and BAMK 260.

Change of Major/Minor Requirements

UNC students may change their major to business or may change from one business emphasis area to another provided that:

1. They have completed 30 semester hours of university level coursework with at least 15 semester hours at UNC. UNC students with less than 30 semester hours of university level coursework may change to a business major or minor provided that they have met the freshman entry requirement specified above for admission to MCB and are in good academic standing at UNC.
2. They meet the Change of Major and Minor requirements established by the department in which they wish to take their business emphasis. Copies of these requirements are available in MCB department offices and at MCB's Advising Center. Students must meet all departmental entrance requirements in effect at the time they apply for their business major or minor.

Students enrolled in the Fresh Start Program should contact MCB's Advising Center for information on program-specific policies regarding admission to MCB. The College of Business uses grades from all classes taken at UNC when computing the student's GPA.

Graduation Requirements

To graduate with a baccalaureate degree in Business Administration a student must:

1. complete a minimum of 120 semester hours of University coursework.
2. Satisfy the following requirements:
 - a. University requirements (e.g., General Education, etc.)
and;
 - b. College of Business requirements (e.g., Required Major Credits, Elective Major Credits, Required Supporting Credits, etc.)
and;
 - c. elective coursework to bring the total to at least 120 semester hours.
3. Meet the following course distribution requirements: MCB requires that the 120 credits required of a Business major's coursework be split evenly between business and non-business courses (courses with and without a BA__ prefix). To comply, a student must have completed a minimum of 60 business credits and 60 non-business credits in order to be eligible for graduation.
4. At least 50 percent of the credit hours in Business Administration required for the degree must be earned at UNC.
5. Attain a 2.0 or greater cumulative Business GPA and attain at least a "C" grade in each course in the Business Administration Core. To graduate with a Business minor, a student must attain a 2.0 or greater cumulative business GPA or attain a grade of "C" or better in every course required for the minor. To graduate with a Computer Information Systems minor, a student must attain at least a "C" grade in each course required for the minor.

These requirements apply to the total credits required to complete a business degree, regardless of whether the courses were taken at UNC or in transfer.

General Education Program Requirements

Students should be aware that the General Education Program at UNC requires a minimum of 40 semester credit hours selected from three skill areas and four content areas. At least 30 credit hours of these shall be taken in content areas (Categories 4-7).

Second Bachelor's Degree

Students who have previously earned a Bachelor's Degree and seek to earn a second Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration must complete a minimum of 36 semester hours at UNC. Individuals should contact the MCB Advising Center for more information on the Second Bachelor's Degree option.

Evening Program

Business courses required to complete the Business Core, the Business Minor and the emphasis in General Business are offered at night. All courses required within the Business Core and the Business Minor are offered once each year. Courses required for the emphasis in General Business are offered once every three semesters (excluding the summer terms). Students may obtain a schedule of MCB's evening classes at the MCB Advising Center, Kepner 1055, phone 970.351.1233.

Continuation Requirements

A student who has attempted at least nine UNC credits in Business Administration courses must maintain a 2.00 grade point average in all business core and emphasis courses.

After attempting at least nine business core and emphasis credits at UNC, if a student's cumulative business grade point average falls below 2.00, the student will be placed on academic suspension and his/her business administration major terminated. The student immediately becomes an undeclared major, and his/her business class registration options are limited. If the student raises his/her cumulative GPA to 2.00 or better no later than at the end of the semester in which they have accumulated at least nine additional UNC business credits (may include retaking previous business courses with grades lower than "C"), the student is eligible for automatic readmission to their previous emphasis.

If a student's cumulative business GPA remains below a 2.00 after completing their next semester in residence (or their next nine or more business hours), the student will be denied automatic readmission. Such students may then appeal for readmission to the Dean through the MCB Advising Center. Readmission is not automatic, and the decision of the Dean is final.

Enrollment in Business Administration Courses

Only students who have a declared major in business administration may count more than 30 semester credits in business administration (courses with a BA__ prefix) toward their graduation. For more information, please contact the MCB Advising Center, Kepner 1055, phone 970.351.1233.

Transfer Credit

Credit from other Colorado institutions as specified in the UNC Transfer Guides may be transferred at the time of admission to the College of Business. Transfer credit from other institutions will be evaluated for acceptance towards a UNC degree on an individual basis.

Each emphasis notes the limits on transfer credit. The College requires that at least 50 percent of the business credit hours required for the degree in Business Administration must be earned at UNC. In addition, no more than 12 semester hours of the Business Administration Core may be transferred in toward a Business Administration major or minor.

UNC Business majors who plan to earn credit toward their degree from another institution must obtain prior written approval from their department chair and the MCB Advising Center, Kepner 1055, 970.351.1233.

The College offers business students a number of options for participating in an international student exchange program. Participation will require prior approval and may, in some instances, involve validation of courses taken at the foreign institution. All students interested in such programs should contact the MCB Advising Center for more information.

Time Limitation on Credit Earned Toward a Bachelor's Degree

Coursework completed by a student within the preceding 10 years may apply as credit toward a bachelor's degree. However, coursework taken before the 10-year limit will not count as credit toward the bachelor's degree.

Course Prerequisites

The student is held responsible for having met the current UNC Catalog prerequisites in all business courses for which he or she has registered. Students who register for business classes in which they do not have the prerequisites listed in the current UNC Catalog may be dropped from the class at any time by the instructor, department chair, or dean.

Students will be dropped from all upper division (300 or 400 level) business courses if they have not reached junior standing (at least 60 semester credits) before the first class meeting.

Computing Proficiency

The College maintains a computing proficiency requirement as a prerequisite to certain business courses. It is expected that most students will demonstrate this proficiency as they enter the program by passing a proficiency exam. Students may also meet the proficiency requirement by substituting a satisfactory grade in BA 101 Business Computing (3) or its equivalent from another institution. Students should note, however, that the credits from BA 101 or its equivalent will not count toward the minimum of 120 credits needed for graduation.

Academic Honesty

MCB students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the highest standards of academic honesty. Cheating, plagiarism, illegitimate possession and disposition of examinations, alteration, forgery, or falsification of official records or documents and similar acts or the attempt to engage in such acts are grounds for disciplinary action.

This action can include any of the following, in addition to any University disciplinary action:

- A failing grade for an assignment.
- A failing grade for a class.

- Suspension from the College of Business
- Expulsion from the College of Business

Students are referred to the UNC Student Handbook as to details of “University Standards of Conduct” and “Academic Expectations.”

Incomplete Grades

A grade of “I” is assigned when coursework is incomplete at the end of the semester and is used only when a student cannot fulfill his or her academic responsibilities during the last week of a semester or because he or she missed the final examination due to sickness, emergency in the family, or other serious emergency.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Students enrolled in the Monfort College of Business have the opportunity to join a number of business clubs and organizations. Each of the organizations listed below is chartered by the College to assist students to prepare for careers in their discipline areas. Beyond this, business clubs provide hubs for student social activities within the College.

See "Coursework Requirements" on page 144. In addition to meeting these requirements, one-half of the 60 business credits must be in non-accounting credits. The total number of hours in accounting coursework cannot exceed 30 hours of 300 and 400 level accounting courses.

Students interested in taking the CPA exam should consider taking six hours of their business electives in accounting courses, such as BAAC 326, 426, or 429. Students interested in taking other professional exams, such as the CMA, CFP, CFM, CISA, should consult their advisor for suggested electives.

See "Computing Proficiency" on page 145.

In addition to fulfilling the basic requirements for the Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration, a graduation requirement is the achievement of a grade point average of 2.00 for all upper division (300/400-level) accounting (BAAC) courses completed at the University of Northern Colorado.

A student transferring from another four-year institution shall be allowed to transfer a maximum of nine semester hours of upper division accounting courses (300/400-level).

BAAC 220 and BAAC 221 will not count toward the satisfaction of the grade point requirement, and the "C" or better course prerequisites (as indicated in the upper-division accounting course descriptions) must be satisfied. Students will be dropped from any class at any time during the semester if it is found they do not meet the prerequisites in the course descriptions.

Credit hours for courses that are retaken do not count more than once toward the 120 credit hour requirement for graduation. However, if a student receives a final grade each time he or she has enrolled in a course, both grades are used in calculating the student's cumulative, business and accounting grade point averages.

The primary objective of the Computer Information Systems Emphasis is to provide the applicable coursework and experiences to allow graduates to secure industry positions in the fields of programming, systems analysis, systems design, database design/administration and telecommunications.

The program is also designed to prepare students with a solid academic background suitable for graduate work in computer information systems. Within the curriculum, particular attention is paid to the strategic nature of technology. In the CIS program, students acquire knowledge of computer programming, micro and mainframe computers, data communications, systems analysis and design, database management systems and decision support systems.

Graduates of the CIS program usually enter the job market as programmers/analysts or networking personnel. Subsequent positions may include systems analysts, database administrators and data communications specialists. For the most part, the graduate's activities will focus on creating and implementing software and procedures used to service large and small organizations including manufacturing, retail, wholesale, financial, insurance, communications and government groups.

The emphasis allows students the opportunity to apply financial concepts to real world situations and to interact with professionals in the finance field. Throughout the program of study, students are also taught how to integrate primary financial databases, online services and other relevant software to the field of finance.

Finance graduates must be able to recognize ethical dilemmas in finance and to make ethical business decisions. PROFESSIONAL TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAMS (PTEPs)

INTRODUCTION

The University of Northern Colorado offers four Professional Teacher Preparation Programs (PTEP) that are designed to prepare teacher education candidates for Colorado Licensure. The 2000-2001 Professional Teacher Education Programs include: Elementary Education (K-6), Middle Grades Education in specific and support teaching areas (5-9), Secondary Education in specific teaching areas (7-12), and K-12 Education in the areas of Physical Education, Music Education, Visual Arts Education, and Special Education.

A list of program outcomes for students who complete the University's teacher education program are available at http://www.unco.edu/sstte/int_lic/secondary/sec_outcome.htm.

A student interested in obtaining a Colorado Provisional Teacher License must apply, be admitted to, and complete one of the Professional Teacher Education Programs. Students who have completed a baccalaureate degree, but do not hold a Colorado teacher license, are encouraged to contact the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education in McKee 216 to receive information on post-baccalaureate programs for teacher licensure.

Full licensure program descriptions can be found in the section on licensure and endorsement programs at the end of the College of Education section of this catalog.

Please See "Professional Teacher Education Programs (PTEPs)" on page 23.

Standards of Professional Practice for Continuation

Students admitted to professional teacher education programs are expected to maintain accepted standards of professional behavior in all aspects of their work in their program. Appropriate program faculty will periodically review the suitability of candidates for continuation in their professional teacher education program. Students who do not attain or uphold such standards are subject to academic sanctions, including denial, suspension or dismissal from the professional teacher education program.

PROGRAM COMPLETION AND LICENSURE

Candidates for initial Colorado Licensure are required by the Colorado Department of Education to demonstrate competence in content area knowledge (academic major) by successfully passing a state mandated test. Students who wish to take the test must register for the Program of Licensing for Colorado Educators (PLACE) examination directly with National Evaluation Systems. Test catalogs, testing dates and more information are available from the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education in McKee 216.

Upon satisfactory completion of a teacher education program and any additional requirements imposed by state law, a student is eligible for institutional recommendation to the Colorado Department of Education for licensure in the State of Colorado. Recommendations for licensure are made only when students have successfully completed an approved teacher education program. A recommendation for licensure cannot be made when a student has completed only a teaching minor.

Upon completion of an approved program a student may be recommended for licensure in states other than Colorado. Completion of the UNC program does not assure licensure in other states, as there may be specific requirements not found in the Colorado requirements. Students expecting to seek licensure in other states should check with the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education in McKee 216 or correspond with the respective State Department of Education early in their program to learn of any additional requirements.

PTEPs/Licensure/Endorsement Areas

Programs listed under PTEPs, Licensure and Endorsement areas have been approved by the Colorado State Board of Education for licensure/endorsement.

Additional information regarding licensure/endorsement areas is available through the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education in McKee 216.

EARLY CHILDHOOD PROFESSIONAL TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

Program Requirements

Complete General Education Program	40
Complete Required Courses for EC/P PTEP	39
Complete the Liberal Arts Interdisciplinary Major	40
Total minimum credits.	120

This program is being revised; therefore, admission has been suspended for the 2002-2003 Academic Year.

The Early Childhood/Primary PTEP is designed to prepare students to teach children birth-8 years. Students will be assigned an early childhood education advisor beginning with their enrollment in EDEC 210.

One of the major features of this program includes affording students in the program opportunities to acquire and demonstrate knowledge of theory and practice necessary to plan and implement curriculum for individual children and groups. In addition, the program is designed to provide opportunities for students to acquire and demonstrate the ability to apply and analyze the core knowledge and to systematically develop curriculum, as well as to develop and conduct assessments of individual children and groups.

Another major feature of this program is the emphasis placed on preparing entry-level early childhood professionals who are able to reflect on their practices so that improved programming for children will result. In addition, the program is designed to help beginning professionals understand the importance of advocating for (and generate the will to advocate) policies designed to improve conditions for all children, families and the profession.

The ultimate goal of the Early Childhood/Primary Teacher Education Program is to help entry-level early childhood professionals acquire the knowledge, skills, and dispositions to teach and perform effectively in the following areas:

- Planning and implementing instruction
- Assessment of learning, development and instruction
- Interpersonal relations with children, colleagues and parents
- Personal and professional behavior

Note:

1. A student's program in General Education will be the same requirements as for a student enrolled in the Elementary PTEP.

The underlying philosophy of programs in Educational Leadership at UNC is that educational leaders possess knowledge of self, others, organizations and society necessary to perform creatively and effectively in diverse environments. They engage people in identifying and working toward the accomplishment of a shared vision for the organization. Leaders incorporate the ideas, values, and experiences reflective of a pluralistic society and promote continual learning.

The program is exemplified by the following beliefs:

- Human growth and development are lifelong pursuits;
- Organizations are artifacts of a larger society;
- Learning, teaching, and collegiality are fundamental activities of educational organizations;
- Validated knowledge and active inquiry form the basis of practice;
- Moral and ethical imperatives drive leadership behavior;
- Leadership encompasses a learned set of knowledge, skills, and attitudes;
- Effective leadership in educational organizations depends on individual and team efforts;
- Leaders' behavior and actions model their beliefs and values;
- Leaders effect positive change in individuals and organizations.

SCHOOL COUNSELING, M.A.

Program Requirements

Complete the required credits specified here 52

This program is accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs.

Philosophy

The Counseling faculty views potential candidates as unique, with strengths and assets to be identified, encouraged and developed during their graduate education. The knowledge and human relations skills necessary to help individuals recognize their own and other persons' unique promise and discover opportunities for its expression form the core of professional preparation for students in professional counseling. Such knowledge and skills are learned in part from research and study in the behavioral and social sciences, various skill development activities and supervised practice. Opportunities for a broad understanding of human behavior and human relationships are included in the education of the student in Counseling.

Program Objectives

The Counseling faculty is committed to the development of broadly based competent professional counselors skilled in helping people with personal, career and leisure concerns in educational institutions. The requirements of the program are conceptualized within the framework and standards set forth by the counseling profession, Colorado state law, Graduate School and job requirements.

The School Counseling program is designed at the master's level to develop a professional who counsels with children and adults in various settings, especially in elementary, middle and secondary schools.

Admission

In addition to meeting the admission requirements of the Graduate School, the student must apply for admission to and be accepted by the program area faculty. Admission to the program requires a GPA of 3.0 on the last completed degree. If the student's GPA is below 3.0, the Graduate Record Exam (General Test) score must be submitted. It is recommended that the student have a total score that meets or exceeds 1350 on the Verbal, Quantitative and Analytical subtests. It is highly recommended that the Analytical score meets or exceeds 475. A Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory - 2 (MMPI - 2) is required. Attendance at a pre-admission workshop is required for this admission process to be completed. When attendance at the pre-admission workshop is an extreme hardship for the applicant, special arrangements are made. These may include a conference telephone interview with faculty, contact with references and/or campus interviews at alternate times.

Acceptance is based on consideration of the following criteria:

- Clarity of career goals.
- Intellectual qualities.
- Professional judgment of appropriate personality characteristics as evidenced by personality assessment, a structured interview, interpersonal communication style and personal references.

Prerequisites

Students entering the master's program should have completed a course in Life Span Development or Human Growth and Development. Those who have not completed coursework in this area will need to complete it as deficiency coursework not to be included in the 52 hours required for the degree.

School Psychologist Licensure

Institutional recommendation for endorsement in School Psychology is based on the completion of the Ed.S. or the Ph.D. program in School Psychology. No prior teaching experience is necessary.

Students wishing to obtain Colorado licensure in this area are required to pass proficiency examination(s). Students should contact the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education: Office of Student and Program Services in McKee 216 for information.

Students desiring licensure in states other than Colorado should note that requirements for licensure are set by each state's Department of Education and should become familiar with the requirements for any other state from which they seek licensure.

Near the end of the semester that the licensure program is to be completed, the candidate should complete application forms in the School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education: Office of Student and Program Services. Applications are processed as soon as official transcripts, ordered by the applicant, are received from the Registrar showing completion of requirements. Departmental recommendations are required before institutional endorsement is granted.

DOCTOR OF EDUCATION (ED.D.)

EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP, ED.D.

Program Requirements

Complete the required credits specified here

minimum64 (beyond M.A.)

The University of Northern Colorado has a long history of preparing individuals to assume leadership roles in education. Over the years, superintendents, principals, deans, program directors, professors, presidents and other persons in leadership positions in Colorado and across the nation have received academic degrees from the University. The current focus of the Ed.D. is preparing K-12 leaders for public and private schools and other educational organizations.

The underlying philosophy of the Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) program is that educational leaders possess knowledge of self, others, organizations, learning and society necessary to perform creatively and effectively in diverse environments. They engage people in identifying and working toward the accomplishment of a shared vision for the organization. Leaders incorporate the ideas, values and experiences reflective of a pluralistic society and promote continual learning.

The doctoral program in Educational Leadership is exemplified by these beliefs:

- Human growth and development are lifelong pursuits;
- Organizations are artifacts of a larger society;
- Learning, teaching, and collegiality are fundamental activities of educational organizations;
- Validated knowledge and active inquiry form the basis of practice;
- Moral and ethical imperatives drive leadership behavior;
- Leadership encompasses a learned set of knowledge, skills, and attitudes;
- Effective leadership in educational organizations depends on individual and team efforts;
- Leaders' behavior and actions model their beliefs and values;
- Leaders effect positive change in individuals and organizations.

The purpose of the Ed.D. program is to engage educators in P-12 and other education-related settings in the advanced study of educational leadership so they can critique and improve their own practice. The program focuses on problems of practice - studying practice, engaging in constructive critique of practice, and improving one's practice. Coursework in the program is designed to be highly relevant to the participants' jobs and careers.

The Educational Leadership Approach to Doctoral Study

Features that make this program attractive to current and aspiring educational leaders:

- Collaborative and collegial learning community;
- Challenging, provocative, research-based knowledge;
- Cohort approach to learning for 3 semesters of enrollment;
- Instructional techniques emphasizing practices of adult learning;
- Emphasis on problems of practice;
- Professional networking with area P-12 educational leaders;
- National and internationally recognized university faculty and affiliates;
- Faculty and cohort commitment that all participants successfully complete the program.

Admission

Ed.D. program applicants must submit an application form, official transcripts, three letters of recommendation, Graduate Record Examination General Test Scores and processing fee directly to the Graduate School. In addition, an application packet available through the Division Office (McKee 418) describes materials required for admissions by the Educational Leadership Program: a resume, a written statement of goals, an essay on a current problem of practice, and Professional Assessment Forms. Applicants complete an interview with the Educational Leadership Program faculty. For students who live out-of-state, the interview may be conducted by a conference call. Although admissions decisions are made throughout the year, students who complete the application process by February 15, including the interview, are given priority screening for Fall admissions of that year and have increased opportunities for financial assistance. The application process, including interview, is typically completed by May 1.

The doctoral program expands upon the foundation gained in study for the master's, specialist, and/or licensure programs. It provides opportunities for candidates to develop breadth in understanding leadership, policy, and research methodologies, and also depth in one or more areas of specialization. The focus of this program is the refinement of students' understandings of leadership and policy development and analysis, ultimately culminating in the dissertation. The dissertation is meant to address a problem of practice in educational leadership.

Entering doctoral students who already possess a Master's Degree in Educational Leadership or a related field complete a minimum of 64 semester hours of graduate credit beyond the Master's degree. Students with an Educational Specialist's degree enroll in a minimum of 42 semester hours beyond the specialist's degree. These semester hour requirements are minimum expectations for students' performance. Credit requirements are a function of the types of learning experiences needed by students to achieve their goals.

Program of Study

The nature of doctoral studies implies a blend of required learning experiences and individualized program development to reflect the personal, professional, and academic goals of each student. Each doctoral student admitted to the program works with an advisor and a program planning committee to develop a plan of study.

SPECIAL EDUCATION, ED.D.

Program Requirements

Complete the required credits specified here 56-62

Complete elective credits specified here 9

Total credits required for the degree 65-71

The Ed.D. in Special Education is a flexible doctoral program with provisions for individual planning to prepare special education professionals for positions of leadership in public and private schools and for colleges, universities, agencies, businesses and government entities. Major emphases are internally flexible and may be established to fit a variety of interests in the field of special education. Graduates develop leadership knowledge and skills in special education related to five major themes: theory, effective teaching, inquiry, scholarly production and intra-interpersonal skills. The program is designed to prepare students for creative leadership in a rapidly changing world that is experiencing increasing cultural diversity, curriculum and structural reforms in schools and pedagogical innovations across the educational spectrum.

Admission

In addition to meeting the admission requirements of the Graduate School, the student must receive a positive recommendation by the Division of Special Education Doctoral Admissions and Review Committee. When a prospective student has met general University requirements for admission, his or her application is submitted to the Division of Special Education for evaluation. The Division requires submission of:

1. a resume;
2. a written statement of academic and professional goals;
3. three letters of recommendation;
4. a published or professional writing sample. A personal interview with members of the faculty is also required.

The Committee reviews each application for admission to determine evidence of:

- potential for scholarship;
- relevant formal training at the undergraduate and/or graduate level;
- evidence of successful teaching or clinical experience with persons who have exceptionalities for a minimum of two years;
- potential for leadership;
- professional commitment;
- clarity and rationality of professional and personal goals;
- potential for effective teaching;
- potential for conceptualization of and reporting research. Each applicant must receive a positive recommendation from a majority of the Doctoral Admissions and Review Committee members to be recommended for admission to the Graduate School.

The philosophy of the doctoral program is based on the concept that learning is an active, self-regulated process. Therefore, doctoral programs are individually tailored through interactive planning that involves the student, the advisor, the doctoral committee, other students and people from outside the University.

Students are expected to enter the program with a clear sense of personal direction and a set of learning goals. In this context, a personalized program is developed in which the focus is on finding innovative and flexible ways to meet the needs of each student while insuring that the student develops advanced skills and knowledge. The overall goal of each student's program is to develop leadership abilities in five major themes in relation to special education, namely: theory, effective teaching, inquiry, scholarly production and intra-interpersonal skills.

Upon admission to the doctoral program, each student will be assigned an advisor. In consultation with this advisor, she or he should determine courses for the first semester.

In joint planning sessions the student and advisor, in consultation with the doctoral committee, other students and people from outside the University, should establish a tentative doctoral program during the first and second semesters on campus.

This program should be based on past experience and training and on student interests and goals. The program must include an emphasis on critical thinking, breadth and depth of theoretical understanding, apprenticeships that lead to scholarly production before completion of the program, methods of inquiry in education and direct experiences in schools with diverse population. The program plan must include a statement of goals and rationale for proposed coursework and educational experiences. The program and rationale must then be submitted to the Division of Special Education Doctoral Admissions and Review Committee for approval. If the Committee is concerned with elements of the plan, they will make recommendations for revisions or additions. Enrollment in third semester courses without an approved program may lead to the inclusion of courses not ultimately approved as part of the doctoral plan.

Required Credits — 76 semester hours

Note that students will be required to demonstrate literacy and competency in computer applications as part of the program.

The Counselor Education and Supervision program at the doctoral level prepares an individual for employment as a counselor educator and supervisor for colleges and universities offering training in school counseling, community counseling, marriage and family counseling/therapy, and counseling with children and adolescents. Graduates are also qualified for licensure as professional counselors, and may be employed in such sites as community agencies, schools, counseling centers, employee assistance programs, and private practice.

Admission

Application must be completed and on file in the Professional Psychology Office by January 1, with decisions announced by the first week of April.

- Total score of 1500 for the Verbal, Quantitative and Analytical subtests of the GRE is recommended.
- A master's degree in counseling or a related area is required.
- Three letters of recommendation are required from individuals who are familiar with the student's academic and clinical skills.
- Grade Point Average of 3.25 in the last completed degree is desired.
- Written statement must be completed regarding the relationship of the doctoral program to the future career goals of the applicant.

Applicants must first apply to the Graduate School, after which a further review process is conducted by the Counseling faculty for admission to a specific program. Attendance at a pre-admission workshop is required for the admission process to be completed.

Admission decisions are based on the professional judgment of the Counseling faculty, considering the above data, including personal characteristics and interpersonal communications style as assessed in the pre-admission workshop. Applications are evaluated on a competitive basis for a limited number of positions.

The overall goal of the program is to produce scholars capable of undertaking original basic and applied research in psychological processes as they apply to education.

There is considerable emphasis on research training within the program. Research topics of the faculty pertain to fundamental processes in learning and development, to research design and statistics and to applications of the findings from educational psychology to educational settings.

M.A. Degree in Route to the Ph.D. in Educational Psychology

Students may apply for admission to the Ph.D. in Educational Psychology and complete their M.A. in Educational Psychology on the way to the doctoral degree. The application process and the admission criteria are the same as for the Ph.D. program. Once admitted, the student will work with their academic advisor to develop a plan of study that meets both M.A. and Ph.D. program requirements. Students must complete all program requirements (including Comprehensive Examination) for the M.A. in addition to the minimum 66 hours required for the Ph.D. Students must be conferred with the M.A. degree prior to admission to doctoral candidacy.

Admission

Admission to the Ph.D. degree program is a two-step process. First, the applicant must apply to the UNC Graduate School. Upon meeting the admission criteria for the Graduate School, the candidate's application is forwarded to the program area faculty for review. Reviews by the program area faculty are typically conducted within four weeks of receipt of the application. All complete applications received by midterm are processed that term. Decisions regarding admission are communicated to the applicant before the beginning of the next semester. Although students may enroll any semester following admission, they are strongly encouraged to begin their program in either the summer or fall term in order to enter the proper sequencing of courses. Minimum criteria for acceptance include:

- GRE combined score of 1,650 on the verbal, quantitative and analytic sections, with a minimum verbal score of 500.
- GPA of 3.5 (4.0 scale) in the last 60 semester hours of academic work.
- Three letters of recommendation indicating a high potential for success in a doctoral research program.
- A written statement of career goals and a resume.
- Congruency between the applicant's career goals and the purpose of the Ph.D. program.

The doctoral program contains a common core of courses and three emphasis areas: Learning and Cognitive Processes, Human Development, and Research, Statistics and Measurement. All students must take the common core and then specialize in one of the emphasis areas. Depending upon the emphasis area chosen, students must take a minimum of 66 hours to graduate.

Research Tools

Ph.D. students in Educational Psychology must demonstrate competency in two out of the four areas listed below. The following details each research tool and the level of competency required for each:

- Research Design/Applied Statistics – Students must complete the requirements in the Research, Statistics and Measurement concentration with grades of B or better (directed research studies and research-related practica can be counted).
- Computer Applications – Students must complete a minimum of 8 semester hours in courses relating to computer use at the graduate level with grades of B or better.

or

A student can develop and demonstrate a computer program written to meet a specific educational research application. This program will be judged as "acceptable" or "unacceptable" by the student's advisor.

- Evaluation – Demonstration of competency in evaluation will involve completing a minimum of 12 hours in evaluation courses, e.g., SRM 670, SRM 671 and PPSY 781

(or their equivalent in transfer credits) with grades of B or better.

- Foreign Language – Students must pass the ETS (or other faculty approved) examination in any major modern foreign language with a score at the 50th percentile or better. Upon entrance, a candidate must be able to satisfy the core course requirements for the M.A. degree in educational psychology, or must take additional courses to meet those requirements. M.A. core courses that will not count toward the doctoral degree requirements include SRM 600, SRM 602, EPSY 530, EPSY 540 and EPSY 674. The remaining core courses may count as electives in the doctoral program: EPSY 661, SRM 670 and EPSY 663.

Program concentration areas are distinguished on three criteria: course emphasis, dissertation focus and practicum experience. For example, a student selecting the learning and cognition emphasis would take the required coursework in the learning and cognition area, write a dissertation on a problem related to learning and cognition and do a practicum related to that specialty area. Student competencies in the core and specialty areas are examined by both oral and written comprehensive examinations. Written exams are administered twice a year during fall and spring semesters. Specific procedures for comprehensive examinations are available from the program secretary. In addition, students will submit a written paper and give an oral presentation to the program faculty before the second letter of encouragement will be sent to the student as part of the review process.

EDUCATIONAL TECHNOLOGY, PH.D.

Program Requirements

Complete the required credits specified here 52
Complete program elective credits
(approved in plan of study) 15

The Doctor of Philosophy in Educational Technology program focuses around the convergence of three major communication and information industries (broadcasting and motion picture, print and publishing and computer) into a single industry. Educational Technology professionals must be prepared to function within the converged industries rather than in only one historically distinct industry. The UNC doctoral program in educational technology prepares graduates who will be leaders after the convergence. The doctoral program uses a community of scholars model of interaction among the students and the faculty members. The students are viewed as developing colleagues with progressively higher levels of responsibility as they move through the program. Cooperative research and other scholarly projects are encouraged among faculty members and students. The doctoral program in educational technology provides the students with a broad base of knowledge in the use of technology in educational and training settings.

The doctoral program is specifically designed to increase the levels of competence achieved in the master's degree program in educational technology. Students entering the doctoral program must have a master's degree in educational technology or a related field. Students in the educational technology program master a set of common program objectives and a set of objectives specific to an emphasis area in instructional development/design, interactive technologies, technology integration or distance education.

Master's Degree in Route to the Ph.D. Educational Technology

Students may apply for admission to the Ph.D. in Educational Technology and complete their M.A. in Educational Technology or Educational Media on the way to completion of the doctoral degree. The application process and the admission criteria are the same as for the Ph.D. program. Once admitted, the student will work closely with their academic advisor to develop a Plan of Study that meets both M.A. and Ph.D. program requirements. Students must complete all program requirements (including comprehensive examination) for the M.A. in addition to the minimum 67 hours required for the Ph.D. Students must be conferred with the M.A. degree prior to admission to doctoral candidacy.

Western Regional Graduate Program

The Ph.D. program in educational technology is a member of the Western Regional Graduate Program. Under this program any Ph.D. student in educational technology, who is a resident of selected western states pays in-state tuition rather than out-of-state tuition. The selected states include: North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Washington, Oregon, Alaska and Hawaii.

Admission

The program is designed to be rigorous but practical, encouraging the serious, mature, motivated and competent student to apply for admission. Applications are reviewed by the educational technology faculty during the middle of each semester. Although the students may enroll any semester following admission, they are strongly encouraged to begin their program in either the summer or fall semester in order to enter the proper sequencing of courses.

All applications must include the following items:

- Graduate Record Examination Scores
- Transcripts from all previous undergraduate and graduate work
- Two page statement of career goals
- Three letters of recommendation
- Description of previous teaching and other work experience
- In addition, an interview will be arranged with the faculty.

Minimum criteria for acceptance include:

- Minimum combined verbal, quantitative and analytical score of 1,650 on the Graduate Record Examination taken within the last five years with individual verbal, quantitative and analytical scores above 500.
- Grade point average of 3.2 on the most recent 60 semester hours of coursework.
- Congruency between the applicant's career goals and the goals of the doctoral program.
- Letters of reference indicating a strong potential for academic success, interpersonal competency and growth of the individual as a designer, producer, implementor, teacher, scholar, evaluator and researcher in educational technology.
- Relevant work experience is desirable.
- Successful interview with the faculty.

Program and Graduation Requirements

Once admitted to a program, students must maintain a satisfactory grade point average of 3.2. The student must complete a minimum of two consecutive semesters as a full-time student (9 semester hours) and be registered for resident credit offered on-campus and applicable to the doctoral degree. A minimum of 67 semester hours beyond the master's degree is required for the doctorate in educational technology.

Students will receive an annual letter of progress providing feedback regarding their individual progress toward completion of their doctoral program.

Each doctoral student must pass a written comprehensive examination for the degree. This examination cannot be taken until the student has completed the residency requirement and at least 36 semester hours beyond the master's degree with a grade point average of 3.2 or higher. Two unsuccessful performances on the written examination will result in dismissal from the program. Successful performance on the written comprehensive examination is a prerequisite to entrance to the oral examination. The oral examination may include questions from any part of the student's program and is designed to test the student's understanding of the field of educational technology. Two unsuccessful performances on the oral examination will result in dismissal from the program. Successful performance on both written and oral examination is a prerequisite to both doctoral candidacy and the dissertation.

The dissertation research advisor and the research committee for the dissertation are appointed after the student has passed both written and oral comprehensive examinations. The dissertation proposal and dissertation are completed under the supervision of the research advisor and research committee. Once the dissertation proposal has been accepted by the research committee and by the Graduate School, the student's name will be submitted to the Graduate School for admission to doctoral candidacy. The doctoral dissertation will be examined by members of the research committee in an oral defense.

Required Credits — 52 semester hours

Since the program of study builds upon the requirements for the M.A. degree in educational technology, students must have taken comparable coursework to satisfy the educational technology core requirements of the UNC M.A. degree in educational technology or must take these courses as electives in the doctoral program. The program of studies is designed to prepare professionals for college and university leadership positions in higher education and student affairs. The educational model on which the program is based maintains that student affairs professionals must possess a broad knowledge base, a variety of specific skills and be persons oriented toward personal growth. A strong background in the liberal arts, basic helping skills and an interest in research evaluation and statistics are desirable assets for those wishing to enter the program. The curriculum is based on a process-outcome model that prepares leaders for higher education and student affairs positions at the highest levels.

Program Approach to Doctoral Study. The division of Educational Leadership and Policy Studies uses a community-of-scholars model of interaction among students and faculty. The students are viewed as colleagues with progressively higher levels of responsibility and expertise. Cooperative research and other scholarly projects are encouraged among faculty members and students.

Admission. In addition to meeting the admission requirements of the Graduate School, the student must have a master's degree in student affairs, counseling, or a related field from an accredited institution, at least two years of successful experience in student affairs work and an acceptable personal interview with the program admissions committee.

SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY, PH.D.

Program Requirements

Complete the required credits specified here 123-135

The Ph.D. program is fully accredited by the American Psychological Association and the National Association of School Psychologists.

The principal goal of the doctoral program is the training of a professional psychologist who, in addition to possessing general practitioner skills, has developed proficiency in the areas of psychological intervention, psychological assessment, consultation, systems change, research and evaluation. Doctoral graduates, in addition to being eligible for state and national licensure as school psychologists, may also be qualified to assume positions as therapists, university professors, educational evaluators and private consultants.

Doctoral students in School Psychology are required to engage in research with a school psychology faculty member for five hours per week (equivalent, one semester hour) for a minimum of two semesters.

Admission

In addition to meeting the admission requirements of the Graduate School, the student must submit the following data to the Professional Psychology Office by January 15. Decisions announced by April 15. The master's degree is not required for admission.

- Academic transcripts of all college or university training. A grade point average of 3.5 in the last 90 hours of academic work is preferred.
- Scores on the Graduate Record Examination. (Transcripts and GRE scores must be sent to the Graduate School before January 15.)
- Three letters of recommendation from immediate supervisors or professors. These letters should be addressed to the Graduate School/School Psychology Program.
- A written statement regarding the relationship of the doctoral program to the personal and professional goals of the applicant. This statement should be forwarded to the school psychology admissions coordinator.

Applications are evaluated competitively for a limited number of positions. The applicant must demonstrate clear potential for success in a doctoral program in School Psychology.

Prerequisites

The following program is based on the student entering with a bachelor's degree. A student with a master's or specialist's degree in psychology or professional psychology should meet with his or her advisor to develop a specific plan of study. A course in tests and measurements is a prerequisite to the program and must be completed upon entry by any student who has not had it. In consultation with the advisor a student should select the number of hours and specific courses to meet licensure requirements, complete the program and prepare to be a professional school psychologist.

SCHOOL OF KINESIOLOGY AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Kinesiology

Location: Gunter 2590 Telephone: 970.351.2535
Fax: 970.351.1762

Director: Dianna P. Gray, Ph.D. Telephone: 970.351.1712

Kinesiology is the study of human movement with special emphasis on sport, dance and exercise performance. This study provides a foundation for students entering the professions of physical education, dance, coaching, athletic training and fitness and exercise kinesiology. Undergraduate emphasis areas are available in athletic training, fitness and exercise, biomechanics and social psychological kinesiology. Courses provide a scientific basis for the study of physical activity, emphasizing theoretical and practical approaches to the improvement of human performance. Each emphasis in the program area provides classroom, laboratory and supervised practical experience.

Graduate programs in kinesiology provide an opportunity to go into greater depth in the study of human movement. Many research opportunities are available in the kinesiology laboratories. Physiological kinesiology facilities are available for the assessment of biochemical and general physiological adaptations to acute and chronic exercise. Emphasis is on the physiological adaptations of the muscular and cardiorespiratory systems to exercise.

Biomechanical facilities include a motion analysis system for three-dimensional data acquisition using video cameras and computerized data reduction to determine the mechanical parameters of total body motion. There is a computerized system for acquiring electronic data through the use of a force platform. Research in social psychological kinesiology is primarily conducted with individuals in natural or "field" settings. In addition, laboratory equipment is also available for motor learning and motor control research.

Physical Education offers many majors in physical education. Majors in this field provide students an in-depth understanding of pedagogy, kinesiology and the analysis of sport skills.

The strength of Physical Education programs at UNC is based on a unique emphasis. The undergraduate programs prepare students to create and provide meaningful movement experiences for persons from early childhood through adulthood. The curriculum is comprised of both required and elective courses that provide opportunities for developing expertise in understanding human movement. In all classes, the theory and application of physical activity is explained – both the "whys" and "hows" are examined carefully.

Focus is on putting theory into practice to improve human performance and all undergraduate programs provide experiences on the sports fields, in the classrooms and in the laboratories.

Minors in physical education and coaching are offered. The physical education minor is a teaching minor, whereas the minor in coaching is designed to provide skills and theory to students who wish to study coaching in a non-teaching setting.

Graduate programs in Physical Education provide students with an opportunity to go into greater depth in the study of pedagogy, sport administration and coaching. Both theory and professional applications are emphasized.

Many laboratory research opportunities are available within the buildings used by the School of Kinesiology and Physical Education. Facilities are available for the study and analysis of teaching physical education. The teaching research laboratory is equipped with state-of-the-art interactive video and computer equipment that is available for student and faculty use. This laboratory is the focal point for the analysis of teaching physical education. The University also operates a large challenge course and indoor climbing facility.

The undergraduate program in nursing is a nine (9) semester program (4 years including one summer) leading to a bachelor of science degree. Qualified students are prepared to be professional nurses and receive a foundation for graduate study in nursing. The Master of Science in Nursing Program has two emphases available: a nursing education with a clinical emphasis in chronic illness and the Family Nurse Practitioner emphasis. Full and part-time options are available.

The School of Nursing subscribes to the philosophy that nursing is both an art and a science which promotes, supports and restores optimal health in individuals, families and communities. Nursing is a caring profession that is an integral component of the health care delivery system.

Nursing students have a variety of clinical experiences in hospitals, nursing homes, industry, schools and community agencies, primarily in northern and southeastern Colorado communities. Clinical practice is concurrent with nursing theory (classes) and is guided by nursing faculty. Health policies, OSHA requirements, and CPR certification are required.

UNDERGRADUATE NURSING MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Admission Requirements

Pre-clinical Major. Students interested in nursing are accepted as pre-clinical nursing majors if they meet the general admission requirements of the University. Formal application is made to and obtained from the University of Northern Colorado Office of Admissions.

It is highly recommended that students planning a career in nursing include chemistry, biology and algebra in their high school programs. Proficiency in mathematics is essential to success in the nursing program.

Students enrolled in the pre-clinical major will receive academic advisement from members of the School of Nursing faculty.

Clinical Major. The designation of pre-clinical nursing major does not assure admission to the clinical nursing program. A separate application and acceptance process during the sophomore year is required for the student to enter clinical nursing courses in the junior year. Forms for applying to the clinical program and information about application procedures are obtained at the School of Nursing during late fall semester.

The following factors will be considered by the nursing faculty in the selection of students:

- Cumulative grade point average at UNC and/or all previous institutions. Contact the School of Nursing for specifics on the GPA calculation;
- Only applicants who, at the time of application, have earned a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 in the required science courses or as many as have been completed of the following: BIO 101, BIO 341, BIO 350, BIO 351 and CHEM 108, will be considered;
- Other selection variables may include: Letter of recommendation, personal essay, hours at UNC, ethnic background, and rural residency.

The number of students admitted to the clinical nursing program is determined by available resources. Available resources may also limit possibilities for readmission to the program for those students who withdraw for any reason. Scores on selected tests measuring such factors as aptitude, cognitive, affective and psychomotor skills and achievement may be used for advisement.

All students entering the professional clinical nursing major must be certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) for the adult and child as evidenced by current CPR card. This certification must be maintained while in the program. Nurse Aid coursework is also required for application. CNA and CPR courses are available outside the School of Nursing.

Registered Nurses Pursuing B.S. Degree.

Graduates of state-approved diploma or associate degree programs in nursing are eligible to apply for admission to the on-line baccalaureate program in nursing. The program to be pursued by R.N. students has been designed to be as flexible and responsive to individual student needs as possible, within the constraints and resources of the School of Nursing.

Progression. Nursing majors must earn a minimum grade of "C" or satisfactory in all required nursing courses for progression to the next semester in the nursing major. The nursing program faculty reserves the right to place on probation or to require the withdrawal from the nursing program of any student whom in their professional judgment fails to satisfy the requirements of scholarship, health status and/or performance. A student receiving a grade less than "C" in a nursing course will be readmitted to that course on a space-available basis only.

RN-BSN Progression. The length of the program for the registered nurse student depends upon the amount of transfer credit and successful completion of prerequisite course challenge examinations, if needed. The Colorado Nursing Articulation Model permits RNs to receive credit for prior nursing course work without testing. Individuals seeking admission must be admitted to the University of Northern Colorado following the procedures outlined in this Catalog. Students should contact the School of Nursing at the same time for information about R.N. criteria for admission to the nursing major and the specifics of the R.N. program.

L.P.N. Progression. As an L.P.N., challenge options are available in certain required prerequisite courses. Progression planning for the LPN through the clinical program is done with the Assistant Director.

Policies. Probation/Termination Policy, Critical Behaviors for Satisfactory Achievement in Clinical Nursing Courses, Withdrawal, Alcohol and Drug Abuse, Cheating/Plagiarism and Health Policies are published in the required Student Handbook.

Missed or Repeated Courses. Students who must repeat a clinical nursing course or who fail to enroll or complete a course on their scheduled rotation will be readmitted for clinical courses on a space-available basis only. Courses may not be offered every semester.

Successive Enrollment. A student who does not enroll for either required support courses or nursing courses for two successive semesters and has not made prior arrangements with the Director will not be considered a nursing major.

Graduation. The degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing will be granted by the Board of Trustees upon recommendation of the faculty of the School of Nursing, to those who have successfully completed the prescribed curriculum with an average of “C” or above.

Health Policies. Within the academic year preceding the first clinical course, the student must have met the University's requirements regarding immunizations, received any necessary update in immunizations (such as Rubella Titer, PPD, Diphtheria, Tetanus and Rubeola/Rubella/Mumps) and have on record a completed physical examination. Hepatitis B vaccination is required. Thereafter, an annual PPD is required, as well as completion of OSHA requirements.

School Nurse Provisional Licensure. Graduates seeking school nurse Licensure should contact the Teacher Education & Certification Unit of The Colorado Department of Education at 201 E. Colfax Avenue, Denver, Colorado 80203 for an application packet.

Additional Expenses. Clinical nursing majors may anticipate the following expenses in the spring semester before the junior year.

- Uniforms – $100
- Lab coat – $25
- Chest x-ray – $20
- White shoes – $30
- Penlight – $3
- Scissors – $4
- Rubella Titer – $8
- Hepatitis B Vaccine – $150
- Watch with second hand – $30
- Nursing Achievement Examinations – $30
- Stethoscope – $25
- Travel – Cost varies

Required uniforms are ordered the semester before clinical assignment. Costs listed here are approximate and subject to change.

Senior Year Expenses:

- School pin (optional) – Cost varies
- Travel – Cost varies

Clinical Practice. Student practica are offered in agencies according to available resources. All placements require transportation and may necessitate moving from the Greeley area. Students are responsible for their own transportation to all clinical practicums.

The major focus of the bachelor of arts degree program in Dietetics is in the field of health. It is a useful and practical area of study for students interested in health maintenance and rehabilitation through the science of nutrition. Physiological, biological and behavioral sciences provide the foundation for a wide range of studies applicable to community, clinical, private practice and management aspects of nutrition in health care.

The dietetics program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education (CADE) of The American Dietetic Association. Students in this program develop human relationship skills and expertise in addressing nutritional needs for human growth and development throughout the life cycle. Upon completion of the prescribed course of study, students are qualified for entry level careers in community, clinical, consultative dietetics and food service management positions in business and industry. At the senior level, a student may apply for a dietetic internship accredited by CADE of The American Dietetic Association. After completion of the internship the student is eligible to take the registration exam to become a Registered Dietitian.

The designations of Athletic Training as a major does not assure admission to the Clinical Athletic Training Program. The number of students enrolled to the clinical program is limited. Students must make a separate application to the Clinical Athletic Training Program typically during the fall semester of their sophomore year. Applications are only accepted during fall semester. Prior to application, students must complete the prerequisite courses: CHEM 108, KINE 181, KINE 220, KINE 380, BIO 101, BIO 341 and PE 233. To apply students must possess a minimum GPA of 2.8. Admission is based on available openings, GPA grades in the prerequisite courses and an interview.

Notes: Students must complete the full five semester Clinical Program to graduate with the Athletic Training degree and to be eligible to take the NATA certification exam.

Any student receiving a grade of “D” or lower in any of the required athletic training courses in the major must retake the course until a grade of “C” or higher is achieved.

Physical Education Teacher Education Mission Statement:

The mission of the Kinesiology and Physical Education pedagogy program is to prepare professionals capable of delivering programs that promote self-directed, responsible, physically active lifestyles in school-aged children and youth across the state and region. The focus of Physical Education Teacher Education (sport and fitness focus) is to graduate entry level professional physical educators who possess a personal and professional commitment to physical activity and will demonstrate the knowledge and skills requisite to promoting learning in the area of physical activity.

Students who plan to use this emphasis as a licensure program for teaching physical education must complete the Professional Teacher Education Program. Students who wish to be licensed to teach in the State of Colorado must make application upon completion of their program.

Students who plan to apply for K-12 Teacher Licensure in the State of Colorado must student teach at both the elementary and secondary levels. Before student teaching, students must have completed all required Kinesiology and Physical Education K-12 Licensure Program courses (40 semester hours).

2. Have two years of work experience (or equivalent, as determined by the department's graduate faculty) in the field of rehabilitation. This must include the minimum of one year's experience before receipt of the master's degree and completion of a minimum of two years of work experience before receipt of the doctorate.
3. Meet all University of Northern Colorado Graduate School requirements.
4. Submit all requested materials to the Graduate School.
5. Participate in a personal interview on request. Admission decisions are based on multiple criteria, without fixed weights for any individual criterion.

Telephone: 970.351.2194

Dean: Kathleen Rountree, D.M.

The College of Performing and Visual Arts believes that the arts are the most powerful tools available for refining and broadening human experience. They represent beauty and order in our environment and are important to the perpetuation of our cultural heritage. The specific role of the arts at UNC is to address the aesthetic and creative potentials of students by blending theory with practical study.

The College's performing groups, artists and art works have brought regional and national recognition to UNC, as well as many opportunities for the placement of graduates in prestigious performance and educational positions.

The College of Performing and Visual Arts stresses a rigorous curriculum and maintains an annual calendar of more than 300 cultural events.

The three divisions within the College - the School of Music and the Departments of Theatre Arts/Dance and Visual Arts - provide valuable experiences for students by enabling them to demonstrate their talents through numerous exhibits, concerts, operas, musicals, recitals, dance and theatrical performances.

The college maintains Helen Langworthy Theatre, a 612-seat fully rigged theatre with production areas; Norton Theatre, an experimental space seating up to 125; and Foundation Hall, which seats 550 and is used primarily by the School of Music.

Performance based standards for degree programs in the College of Performing and Visual Arts are available online at <http://arts.unco.edu/pva/assessment/default.html>.

Approximately 450 music majors annually have made UNC their choice for many reasons. The School of Music offers nationally recognized faculty with specialists on every instrument, including harp, string bass, harpsichord, tuba and classical guitar. The School maintains more than 50 performing ensembles, a number of which are nationally recognized.

The UNC School of Music, with 34 full-time and eight part-time faculty, is organized into eight departments, each headed by a chairperson and five performance programs, each with a director. The departments are Brass and Percussion, History and Literature, Keyboards, Music Education, Strings, Theory and Composition, Voice and Woodwinds. The performance programs are Bands, Choirs, Opera Theatre, Orchestras and Jazz Studies.

Students may choose from a full range of degrees, bachelor through doctoral programs and from emphases in performance, conducting, pedagogy, music education, music theory, music history and music theatre. Considerable variety and depth of course offerings are available at UNC. The academic year program is augmented by a comprehensive summer schedule with a full complement of music theory, music history, music education and applied music opportunities; and with workshops in special areas such as jazz, strings, Orff Schulwerk, recorder performance, multicultural education, choral issues, music technology, conducting and many others.

In addition, UNC possesses one of the most active summer performance programs in the Rocky Mountain region. The Summer Performing Arts Program, a definite asset for undergraduate and graduate majors, offers concentrated, pre-professional performance experience and association with outstanding guest artists, conductors and clinicians.

General objectives of the University of Northern Colorado School of Music are based on service and leadership in the arts at local, state, regional and national levels.

An integral unit within the University, the School of Music embraces the role and mission statements of the University of Northern Colorado and has designed its goals and objectives to support and enhance institutional purposes and directions. The School of Music lends considerable support through its course offerings to programs in Elementary Education, Special Education and Recreation.

The primary goal of the UNC School of Music is to develop skilled and sensitive musicians at the undergraduate, master's and doctoral levels, including performers, conductors, educators, composers, historians, theorists and administrators. The UNC School of Music maintains a two-fold objective of providing the strongest preparation possible in music education, theory and history, while encouraging the highest standards of performance.

Students planning to major in music are required to submit an application to the School of Music. The music application and appropriate instructions are provided by the Admission's Office upon request, or upon receipt of an Application for Admission that specifically indicates a music major.

Auditions are required of all applicants to the School of Music. Information concerning auditions may be requested from the School of Music, University of Northern Colorado, Frasier Hall, Greeley, Colorado 80639, phone 970.351.2194.

The Department of Visual Arts offers the opportunity to study the artistic aspects of our heritage, our culture, visual communications and personal artistic expression, as well as the arts of other cultures and civilizations. It is the purpose of the department to provide a comprehensive education in the visual arts through studio practice, art history, cultural studies and critical studies.

Students learn to produce works of art in a variety of media and to understand the processes of various art forms as they relate to personal expression and professional application. Through the programs of the Art Department, students learn to analyze and make reasoned, critical judgments about the significance and quality of works of art. This approach gives students an excellent background for recognizing and understanding art in context, which is necessary preparation for the many careers in the visual arts.

In addition, students pursuing Art Education Studies will have demonstrated the ability to teach art effectively in grades K-12.

Notes: Admission to the Bachelor of Arts in Theatre Arts degree program with concentration areas of acting, directing, design technology and the general theatre option is by audition and interview.

The Department of Theatre Arts requires student majors to consult with and be advised by a faculty member teaching in the department.

The student must apply and be accepted to one of the concentration areas by the end of the sophomore year. The student must then complete all of the required courses in the concentration area prior to achieving the Bachelor of Arts in Theatre Arts degree. The exception to this rule are students enrolled in the General Theatre Arts Option.

Students must receive an "A" or "B" in THEA 135 and THEA 149 and THEA 240; formally apply, and receive an outstanding evaluation by the directing faculty in the sophomore level directing assessment.

Any student receiving a grade of "D" or lower in a course in the required core or concentration area must retake the course until a grade of "C" or higher is achieved.

First semester (non-Design Technology Concentration Area) freshmen do not take THEA 100 Individual Performance in Theatre, but are required to take THEA 100 all other academic year semesters in residence.

Attendance at or involvement in all productions of the Little Theatre of the Rockies is required during residency.

The Colorado Commission on Higher Education and this Department requires the completion of a yearly assessment process. The assessment, which includes an evaluation of your year's progress as well as a yearly audition or interview, may be the basis of your continuance in this concentration area.

In order to take the comprehensive review, students must have completed the prerequisites and be currently enrolled in the art education emphasis.

Students being reviewed make a presentation to the committee in accordance with the requirements specified in the art education guidelines. All students preparing for the review should work closely with their advisor. At the time of the review, the student is evaluated on the basis of the following: oral presentation, visual presentation, use of media and techniques, design qualities, artistic excellence, knowledge of art and art history, ability to talk about art, intentions of his/her art, knowledge of teaching art, attitude and poise and self-confidence.

The committee will determine whether the student: satisfactorily passes the review and is approved to student teach; passes with stated conditions that must be met before gaining approval to student teach; or fails to pass the review. A student who fails the review will not be approved to student teach, but may apply for a second review the following semester. Failure to pass the review a second time will be considered grounds for terminating the student's art teacher licensure program. The decision of the committee on a second review may be appealed.

Eligibility to student teach is based on the satisfactory completion of the Art Education PTEP review, required and elective art courses, required art education courses, PTEP courses, PLACE examinations and exit or competency examinations as they pertain.

Course Numbers. The University divides its courses into four groups identified by course numbers. These numbers generally indicate the difficulty of a course and its location on a continuum of systematic study that will lead to general mastery of the content and methodology of a discipline.

Basic Skills courses are designed to teach academic skills and general competencies necessary to succeed in college. These courses, numbered 001 through 009, do not count in term, cumulative or total credits and are not calculated into the GPA.

Lower division courses include those numbered in the 100 range for freshmen students, and those numbered in the 200 range for sophomores.

Upper division courses include those numbered in the 300 range for juniors, and those numbered in the 400 range for seniors.

Graduate courses include those numbered in the 500, 600 and 700 ranges. Qualified juniors and seniors may be admitted to 500 level courses by special permission of the instructor, but no undergraduates may be admitted to 600- or 700-level courses.

New courses approved between catalogs will end with a "98." These courses are not listed in the Catalog, but will appear in the Schedule of Classes. For example, a new course in Geology might be GEOL 398.

The permanent course number will be implemented in the next Catalog.

Course Prefixes. In addition to a number that identifies where a course fits within a discipline, each course is assigned a prefix that identifies the appropriate discipline, field or department. For example, the numerical designations for the courses in Communication Disorders are preceded by CMDS; the numerical designations for courses in Mathematics are preceded by MATH; and the numerical designations for courses in Visual Arts are preceded by ART.

Course Credit. As indicated elsewhere in this Catalog, The University operates on a semester system. All credit toward graduation is computed in "semester" credit hours. "One credit hour" means a course is taught for one hour one day each week through the academic semester of approximately 15 weeks.

Courses may be repeated for credit only when the Catalog so indicates and only up to the maximum number of credits shown.
